Amendment adopted.

AMENDMENT NUMBER SIXTEEN.

On page 17 of the printed bill, as amended, after line 32, add the following:

"SEC. 27. Section 326 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows: 326. Certificates for shares. All stock corporations must issue certificates for shares, when fully paid, which shall state:

(1) The name of the record holder of the shares represented thereby;

(2) The number, designation, if any, and class or series of shares represented thereby;

(3) The par value, if any, of the shares represented thereby, or a statement that such shares are without par value;

(4) If the shares of the corporation be classified or if any class of shares have two or more series, a statement of the rights, preferences, privileges and restrictions granted to or imposed upon the respective classes or series of shares and upon the holders thereof, and of the number of shares constituting each series, or a summary of such preferences, privileges and restrictions with a reference to the articles therefor, or a statement that the board of directors has authority to fix the dividend rate, conversion rights, voting rights, the redemption price and/or the liquidation preferences of any wholly unissued class or of any wholly unissued series of any class of shares or the number of shares constituting any unissued series of any class of shares;

(5) If redeemable, a statement of that fact and the redemption price;

(6) If convertible, a general statement of the essential terms and period for conversion;

(7) If the shares be subject to liens or to restrictions upon transfer or upon the voting power the fact shall be indicated;

(8) If the shares be assessable, or if assessments are collectible by personal action, the fact shall be plainly stated on the face of the certificate.

Subject to the provisions of sections 322, 330.15 and 334a of this title no restriction of the right to transfer shares stated in the articles or by-laws, and no power of assessment, and no liens on shares for assessments or for the unpaid subscription price or other lien in favor of the corporation, shall be effective against a transferee of such shares unless stated on the face of the certificate.

Every certificate for shares issued by a corporation must be signed by the president or a vice president and the secretary or an assistant secretary, or must be authenticated by facsimiles of the signatures of its president and secretary or by a facsimile of the signature of its president and the assistant secretary or the secretary or an assistant secretary. Before it becomes effective every certificate for shares authenticated by a facsimile of a signature must be countersigned by a transfer agent or transfer clerk and must be recorded by an incorporated bank or trust company, either domestic or foreign, as register of securities.

In case any officer or officers who have signed, or whose facsimile signature has been written, printed or stamped on any certificate or certificates for shares, cease to be such officer or officers of such corporation, because of death, resignation or otherwise, before such certificate or certificates have been delivered by such corporation, such certificate or certificates nevertheless shall be conclusively deemed to have been adopted by such corporation by the one next delivering thereof and shall be as effective in all respects as though signed by a duly elected, qualified and authorized officer or officers, provided it or they be countersigned and registered as above provided.

SEC. 28. A new section is hereby added to the Civil Code, to be numbered 526b, and to read as follows:

326b. Compulsory exchange of certificates. When the articles are amended in any way affecting the statements contained in the certificates for outstanding shares, or it becomes desirable for any reason, in the discretion of the board of directors, to cancel any outstanding certificate for shares and issue a new certificate therefor conforming to the rights of the holder, the board of directors may cause any holder of outstanding certificates for shares to surrender and exchange them for new certificates within a reasonable time to be fixed by the board of directors.

Such order may provide that no holder of any such certificate so ordered to be surrendered shall be entitled to vote or to receive dividends or exercise any of the other rights of shareholders of record until he shall have complied with such order, but such order shall only operate to suspend such rights after notice and until compliance. Such duty of surrender of any outstanding certificates may also be enforced by action at law.

SEC. 29. Section 328 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

328. Proof of right to transfer. When a transfer of shares of a domestic or foreign corporation on its books is requested and there is a transfer agent, as to the right of the person seeking such transfer, the corporation or its transfer agent, before recording the transfer of the shares on its books or issuing any certificate therefor, may require from such person reasonable proof of his right to such transfer, and if there remain a reasonable doubt in respect thereto may refuse a transfer unless such person give adequate security or a bond of indemnity executed by a corporate surety or by two individual sureties satisfactory to the corporation as to form, amount and responsibility of sureties. If not satisfactory to the corporation, the surety or sureties shall justify before a judge of any court of record in the county where the transfer is sought and he shall determine the amount of the security or bond, and the responsibility or sufficiency of the sureties, after opportunity has been given the corporation to examine the surety or sureties as to their personal responsibility. The bond shall be conditioned to protect the corporation, its officers and or its transfer agent or agents and or registrar or registrars, against any loss, damage, expense or other liability to the owner of the shares by reason of the recordation of the transfer or the issuance of a new certificate for shares.

If any such proof, security or bond be not furnished when required, as herein provided, neither the corporation nor any officer thereof shall be liable for refusing to record the transfer on its books or issue a new certificate for shares.

SEC. 30. Section 328a of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

328a. Adverse claims to shares. If a certificate for shares in a domestic corporation or in a foreign corporation keeping its transfer books in this State, and used by the record owner, be presented for transfer on the books and an adverse claim be made either by the record owner or by any other person, the corporation nevertheless may transfer the shares on its books at the instance of the person presenting such certificate without liability to the adverse claimant, unless the adverse claimant give written notice of his claim and within five days after giving such notice give adequate security or bond of indemnity, executed by a corporate surety or two individual sureties, satisfactory to the corporation as to form, amount and responsibility of sureties. If not satisfactory to the corporation the surety or sureties shall justify before a judge of a court of record of the county where the transfer is sought and he shall determine the amount of the security or bond, and the responsibility or sufficiency of the sureties, after opportunity has been given the corporation to examine the sureties. The bond shall be conditioned to protect the corporation, its officers, transfer agents and registrars, and the record holder, if other than the claimant, and the person demanding the transfer, against damage, expenses or other liability by reason of the refusal to record the transfer and issue a new certificate for shares. The adverse claimant shall commence an action within sixty days after giving notice of his claim to establish his rights in such shares or the certificate therefor. The corporation, its officers, registrar and transfer agents shall be exempt from liability to an adverse claimant who fails to give the written notice or the security or bond or commence an action as provided in this section, if the corporation, its officers and/or transfer agent record a transfer at the instance of the holder of a certificate duly indorsed and issue a new certificate for shares.

SEC. 31. Section 328b of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

328b. Transfers by trustees. Whenever certificates for shares or other securities issued by a domestic or foreign corporation are to be or have been issued or transferred to a person or corporation as trustee on the books or records of the corporation, whether or not such certificates or other securities or the instrument of transfer describe the trust or identify any beneficiary, it shall be presumed in favor of such corporation and its transfer agent that such trustee has the power to accept and transfer title to such certificates or other securities and there shall be no duty upon the corporation or its registrar or transfer agent to inquire into or determine the existence or validity of any trust or the terms thereof, or whether the trustee is committing a breach of obligation or exceeding his authority. The corporation shall be liable for recording a transfer of such certificates or other securities only if this is done with actual knowledge of a breach of trust or the invalidity of the trust or if it has been enjoined therefrom by a court of competent jurisdiction.

SEC. 32. Section 328d of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

328d. Transfers to and by foreign executors, administrators, and guardians. If a certificate for shares or a registered bond or other security of a domestic or foreign corporation standing in the name of a deceased person, or of a minor, ward, or incompetent, not a resident of this State, be presented for transfer, accompanied by letters testamentary, or of administration, or of guardianship, issued by a court of the decedent's, minor's, ward's, or incompetent's domicile, or accompanied by a certified copy thereof, together with such other instrument or order of court or certified copy thereof as may be required under the law of such domicile to authorize a transfer, the shares or bond or other security shall be transferred to the executor or administrator or guardian, or at his order.

No such transfer of shares or other security standing in the name of a deceased person shall be made except on the written consent of the State Controller or person by him authorized to issue such consent under the inheritance tax laws of this State.

SEC. 33. Section 328e of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

328e. Transfers by minors and incompetents. Neither a domestic corporation nor a foreign corporation keeping transfer books in this State shall be or become liable to a minor or incompetent person in whose name shares are of record on its books because of their transfer on its books at the instance of such minor or incompetent or the recognition of or dealing with such minor or incompetent as a shareholder whether or not such corporation shall have had notice, actual or constructive, of the nonage of such minor or of such incompetency.

SEC. 34. Section 330.6 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

330.6. Indorsement or delivery effectual in spite of fraud, duress, mistake, revocation, death, incapacity or lack of consideration or authority. The indorsement of a certificate by the person appearing by the certificate to be the owner of the shares represented thereby, or the delivery of a duly indorsed certificate, is effectual except as provided in section 330.7 of this title, though the indorser or transferor—

(a) Was induced by fraud, duress or mistake to make the indorsement or delivery; or

(b) Has revoked the delivery of the certificate or the authority given by the indorsement or delivery of the certificate; or

(c) Has died or become legally incapacitated after the indorsement, whether before or after the delivery of the certificate; or

(d) Has received no consideration.

SEC. 35. Section 330.13 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

330.13. Issue of new certificates. Except when a certificate has been lost or destroyed or the shares evidenced by a certificate have been sold for a delinquent assessment or nonpayment of the subscription price, a corporation shall not be compelled to issue a new certificate for shares until the old certificate is surrendered to it. In case any part of the delinquent shares represented by an outstanding certificate are sold or forfeited, such certificate must be surrendered to the corporation before the holder thereof shall be entitled to a new certificate for the unsold or unforfeited shares.

SEC. 36. Section 330.24 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

330.24. Mutual water companies. Any corporation organized for or engaged in the business of selling, distributing, supplying or delivering water for irrigation purposes, or for domestic use, may provide in its articles or by-laws that water shall be sold, distributed, supplied or delivered only to owners of its shares and that such shares shall be appurtenant to certain lands when the same are described in the certificate issued therefor; and when such certificate is so issued and a certified copy of such articles or by-laws recorded in the office of the county recorder in the county where such lands are situated the shares of stock shall become appurtenant to the said lands and shall only be transferred therewith, except after sale or forfeiture for delinquent assessments thereon as provided in section 331 of this title.

SEC. 37. Section 231 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

331. Assessments, how levied. (1) Shares issued by stock corporations are not assessable except as provided in the articles. If the articles expressly confer such authority upon the corporation or the board of directors, the directors, subject to any limitations contained in the articles, in their discretion may levy and collect assessments upon all shares of any or all classes made subject to assessment by the articles. This authority is additional to that of making calls for the unpaid subscription price of shares.

(2) Nonstock corporations may levy dues or assessments or both upon their members, if such authority be conferred either by the articles or by their by-laws; and subject to any limitations therein contained. Such dues or assessments or both may be levied upon all classes of membership, upon, or in different amounts or proportions of upon a different basis upon different classes of membership and memberships of one or more classes may be made exempt from either dues or assessments or both, in the manner and to the extent provided either in the articles or the by-laws.

The amount of the levy and method of collection of such dues or assessments or both of nonstock corporations may be fixed in the articles or by-laws, or the articles or by-laws may authorize the board of directors to fix the amount thereof from time to time, and make them payable at such times or intervals and upon such notice, and by such methods of collection as the directors may prescribe. They may be made enforceable by action or by forfeiture of membership or both upon reasonable notice.

(3) Any corporation organized for or engaged in the business of selling, distributing, supplying or delivering water for irrigation purposes or for domestic use, and which provides in its articles or by-laws that water shall only be sold, apportioned, supplied, or delivered to owners of its shares, and that such shares shall be appurtenant to certain lands described in the certificate issued therefor, may levy assessments upon its shares, whether or not fully paid, unless precluded otherwise by its articles or by-laws. If any shares of any such corporation become delinquent in the payment of assessments, the right to receive water thereon may be denied, and such shares may be sold to pay such delinquent assessments and thereafter may be transferred without said lands as though not appurtenant thereto, and the purchaser or the holder of such shares shall acquire the right to receive the same quantity of water as though such shares had remained appurtenant to said lands, or such shares may be forfeited to the corporation.

SEC. 38. Section 332 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

332. Resolution levying assessment what to specify. Every resolution of a stock corporation levying an assessment must specify the amount thereof, to whom and where payable; fix a day on which the unpaid assessments shall be delinquent, not less than thirty nor more than sixty days from the date of passing the resolution levying the assessment; and fix a day for the sale of delinquent shares not less than fifteen nor more than sixty days from the date on which the shares become delinquent. The resolution also shall fix the hour and place of sale, which place must be in the county where the principal office of the corporation is located.

SEC. 39. Section 333 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

333. Notice of levy and sale. Upon the passing of the resolution levying an assessment by a stock corporation, notice thereof shall be given in substantially the following form:

(Name of corporation in full. Location of principal office.)

Notice is hereby given that at a meeting of the board of directors held on the (date) an assessment of (amount) per share was levied upon the shares of the corporation payable (to whom and where). Any shares upon which this assessment remains unpaid on the (day fixed) will be delinquent, and unless payment be made prior to delinquency the said shares, or as many of them as may be necessary, will be sold at the (particular place) on the (date) at (the hour) of such day, to pay the delinquent assessment, together with a penalty of five per cent of the amount of the assessment on such shares, or be forfeited to the corporation. (Name of secretary with location of office.)

SEC. 40. Section 334 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

334. Service of notice. The notice shall be served upon each shareholder personally. In lieu of personal service the notice may be sent through the mail addressed to each shareholder at his last address, as it appears on the books of the corporation, or if it does not appear, at the place where the principal office of the corporation is located, and published once in some newspaper of general circulation published at the city or town of the principal office of the corporation. If there be no newspaper published in the city of the principal office of the corporation, the publication must be made in some newspaper of the county if there be one, or if there be none then in some newspaper published in an adjoining county. Such personal service or service by mail and publication shall be made at least ten days prior to the date of delinquency.

SEC. 41. Section 334a of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

334a. Lien for assessments. The assessment shall be a lien upon the shares assessed from the time of personal service or the publication of the notice of assessment, unless the articles or by-laws provide for such lien from the time of the resolution levying the assessment. A transfer of the shares on the books after the lien of an assessment has attached shall be a waiver of such lien.

SEC. 42. Section 336 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

336. Sale or forfeiture. At the place and time appointed in the notice of levy and sale, the assistant secretary, secretary or any officer or an attorney of the corporation, shall, unless otherwise ordered by the directors, sell or cause to be sold to the highest bidder for cash as many shares of each delinquent holder of the assessed shares of stock as may be necessary to pay the assessment and charges thereon according to the notice. If payment be made after delinquency and before the sale, the shareholder shall pay a penalty of five per cent of the amount of the assessment on such shares in addition to the assessment. The person offering at such sale to pay the assessment and penalty for the smallest number of shares is the highest bidder, and the shares purchased must be transferred to him on the share register of the corporation on the payment of the assessment and penalty and a new certificate therefor issued to such purchaser. No corporation shall be required to accept an offer for a fraction of a share. If no bidder offer to pay the amount due on the shares, together with the penalty of five per cent thereof, the shares shall be declared forfeited to the corporation in satisfaction of the assessment and penalty thereon. The only remedy for the collection of an assessment on fully paid shares shall be by sale or forfeiture unless the remedy by action is expressly authorized in the original articles or by an amendment of the articles heretofore adopted, or by an amendment hereafter adopted by unanimous consent of the shareholders, and unless a statement of such remedy appears on the face of any share certificate hereafter issued.

SEC. 43. Section 337 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

337. Surrender of old certificate. After a sale or forfeiture of shares for non-payment of an assessment or of a call for the unpaid balance of the subscription price, the holder or owner of delinquent shares shall surrender his certificate for shares to the corporation for cancellation. This duty may be enforced by order or decree of court and such holder or owner shall be liable for damages to the corporation for failure to surrender the certificate for cancellation upon demand without good cause or excuse. Any certificate not so surrendered forthwith shall become null and void and shall cease to be evidence of the right or title of the holder or any transferee to the shares purporting to be represented thereby and neither the corporation nor the purchaser of such shares shall incur any liability thereon to any such transferee. The purchaser of any shares, at a sale for delinquent assessments thereon, whether heretofore or hereafter made, shall be entitled to the issuance of a new certificate representing the shares so purchased.

SEC. 44. Section 341 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

341. Powers of corporations. Every corporation heretofore or hereafter organized has power:

- (1) To sue and be sued in any court;
- (2) To adopt, use and at will alter a corporate seal, but failure to affix a seal shall not affect the validity of any instrument;
- (3) To acquire, hold, lease, encumber, convey or otherwise dispose of real and personal property within or without the State and to take real and/or personal property by will, gift or bequest;
- (4) To appoint such subordinate officers or agents as its business may require, and to allow them suitable compensation;
- (5) To purchase or otherwise acquire its own bonds, debentures or other evidences of its indebtedness or obligations, and subject to the provisions of this title, to purchase or otherwise acquire its own shares;
- (6) To assume any obligations, enter into any contracts or do any acts incidental to the transaction of its business or to the issue or sale of its securities, or expedient for the attainment of its corporate purposes;
- (7) Subject to the provisions of its articles, to redeem shares thereby made subject to redemption;
- (8) To make by-laws;
- (9) To borrow money and to issue bonds, debentures, notes, and evidences of indebtedness, and to secure the payment or performance of its obligations by mortgage, deed of trust, pledge or otherwise;
- (10) To qualify to do business in any other State, Territory, dependency or foreign country and to conduct business within or without the State;
- (11) To acquire, subscribe for, hold, own, pledge and otherwise dispose of and vote and represent shares of stock, bonds and securities of any other corporation, domestic or foreign;
- (12) To do any act authorized under this title.

Sec. 45. Section 342 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

342. Acquisition by a corporation of its own shares and shares of a holding corporation. A corporation may not purchase directly or indirectly any shares issued by it or by any corporation by which it is controlled, except as follows:

(1) To collect or compromise in good faith a debt, claim or controversy with any shareholder;

(2) From shareholders who by reason of dissent from any proposed corporate action are entitled under section 369 of this title to be paid the fair market value of their shares;

(3) From one who as an employee other than as an officer or director has purchased such shares from the corporation under an agreement reserving to the corporation the option to repurchase or obligating it to repurchase such shares;

(4) To eliminate fractional shares;

(5) To redeem or purchase shares subject to redemption at prices not exceeding the redemption price thereof;

(6) To carry out provisions of its articles authorizing conversion of its shares;

(7) Pursuant to section 348b of this title; or

(8) Subject to any limitations contained in its articles out of earned surplus.

Shares may be acquired either out of stated capital or from any surplus under subdivisions (1) to (5) inclusive of this section. Purchases from earned surplus under subdivision (8) of this section are not limited to cases authorized under other subdivisions of this section.

Upon any purchase of such shares out of earned or paid-in surplus when authorized under this section, the earned or paid-in surplus shall be reduced by an amount equal to the purchase price of such shares, but the stated capital shall not be affected thereby.

A corporation may acquire its own shares or shares of any other corporation, domestic or foreign, by gift or bequest or upon a merger or consolidation with or by distribution of the assets of another corporation, domestic or foreign.

A corporation shall not purchase or redeem shares of any class under this section in any case when there is reasonable ground for believing that the corporation is unable, or, by such purchase or redemption, will be required, unable, to satisfy its debts and liabilities when they fall due, except such debts and liabilities as have been otherwise adequately provided for. No redemption of shares shall be made if there be reasonable ground for believing that the net assets would be reduced thereby to an amount less than the lowest aggregate liquidation preferences of shares to remain outstanding having prior or equal claims to the assets.

The payment of a debt or liability shall be deemed to have been adequately provided for if the payment thereof shall have been assumed or guaranteed in good faith by a financially responsible person or persons.

Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit shares being forfeited to a corporation for delinquent assessments or nonpayment of the subscription price thereon.

A corporation shall be deemed to be controlled by another corporation when such other corporation is a holding corporation thereof as defined in this title.

Sec. 46. Section 342a of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

342a. Effect of acquisition of own shares. When a corporation acquires its shares out of earned surplus, pursuant to subdivisions (1) to (8), inclusive, of section 342, Civil Code, or out of paid-in surplus under subdivisions (1) to (5), inclusive, of section 342, Civil Code or by gift or bequest, or upon the distribution of the assets of another corporation, or upon forfeiture, such shares may be carried as treasury shares or may (at the option of the board of directors) be retired, but no change in the stated capital shall be made either upon the acquisition or retirement of such shares unless proceedings are duly taken to that end under section 348, Civil Code, except that when a corporation acquires its shares by purchase or forfeiture upon which part of the agreed subscription price remains unpaid, the stated capital shall be reduced by the amount unpaid upon such shares without further proceedings.

When a corporation acquires its shares out of stated capital, under subdivisions (1) to (5), inclusive, of section 342, Civil Code, such shares shall be restored to the status of authorized but unissued shares and the stated capital may be reduced by resolution of the board of directors by the amount of stated capital attributable to such shares. The amount of stated capital attributable to a share shall be determined by dividing the stated capital attributed to the class or series of shares to which such shares belong by the number of shares of such class or series outstanding immediately prior to the acquisition of such shares.

When a corporation acquires its shares out of surplus arising from reduction of stated capital, such surplus shall be reduced by the amount of the purchase price thereof and such shares shall be restored to the status of authorized but unissued shares without reduction of stated capital.

If the articles prohibit the reissue of any shares acquired, then upon their acquisition the authorized number of shares of the class to which such shares belonged shall be reduced by the number of shares so acquired.

Shares of the corporation surrendered to it on the conversion or exchange thereof into or for other shares of the corporation pursuant to authority or provision of the articles, shall, after such conversion or exchange, have the status of authorized but unissued shares, and the stated capital shall remain unchanged thereby and by the issue of the new shares in place of those so retired.

SEC. 47. Section 342b of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

342b. Treasury shares. Treasury shares shall not carry voting or dividend rights and shall not be counted as outstanding shares for any purpose, nor as assets for the purpose of computing a surplus available for dividends or the purchase of shares issued by the corporation or the making of any other distributions to its shareholders. Unless otherwise provided in the articles, such shares may be retired and restored to the status of authorized and unissued shares without reduction of stated capital or may be disposed of for such consideration as the board of directors may fix, and the consideration received shall be added to paid-in surplus except as far as needed to write off a deficit of net assets below the amount of stated capital.

Redeemable shares which have been acquired from earned surplus and carried as treasury shares may be retired by resolution of the board of directors and stated capital may be reduced thereon as if acquired out of stated capital without proceedings under section 348, Civil Code.

SEC. 48. Section 343 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

343. Sale or transfer of entire assets. No corporation may sell, lease, convey, exchange, transfer or otherwise dispose of all or substantially all of its property and assets except under section 344 of this title, unless under authority of a resolution of its board of directors and with the approval of the principal terms of the transaction and the nature and amount of the consideration by vote or written consent of shareholders entitled to exercise a majority of the voting power of such corporation. Such approval may be given before or after the adoption of the resolution by the board of directors, and before or after any such transfer or disposition. Such sale, lease, conveyance, exchange, transfer, or other disposition may be made upon such terms and conditions and for such considerations, which may be money, property, shares of stock and or other securities of any other corporation or corporations, domestic or foreign, as the board of directors may deem for the best interests of the corporation. The articles may require on such proposal the vote or consent of a larger proportion of the shareholders or the separate vote of a majority or a larger proportion of any class or classes of shareholders.

SEC. 49. Section 346 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

346. Cash or property dividends. A corporation may declare dividends payable in cash or in property only as follows:

(1) Out of earned surplus; or

(2) Despite the fact that the net assets of the corporation amount to less than the stated capital, out of net profits earned during the preceding accounting period which shall not be less than six months nor more than one year in duration; or

(3) Out of paid-in surplus or surplus arising from reduction of stated capital subject to the provisions of section 348b, Civil Code only upon shares entitled to preferential dividends; provided that notice shall be given to the shareholders receiving such dividends of the source thereof prior to or concurrently with the payment thereof.

If the value of the net assets amounts to less, through depreciation, depletion, losses, or otherwise, than the aggregate amount of stated capital attributed to shares having liquidation preferences, the corporation shall not declare dividends out of net profits pursuant to subdivision (2) of this section, except upon such shares, until the value of the net assets has been restored to such aggregate amount of the stated capital attributed to outstanding shares having liquidation preferences.

No dividends shall be declared when there is reasonable ground for believing that thereupon the corporation's debts and liabilities would exceed its assets, or that it would be unable to meet its debts and liabilities as they mature.

No dividends shall be declared out of the mere appreciation in the value of its assets not yet realized, nor shall any dividends be declared from earned surplus representing profits derived from an exchange of assets unless and until such profits have been realized or unless the assets received are currently realizable in cash.

A wasting asset corporation, that is a corporation engaged solely or substantially in the exploitation of mines, oil wells, gas wells, patents or other wasting assets, or organized solely or substantially to liquidate specific assets, may distribute the net income derived from the exploitation of such wasting assets or the net proceeds derived from such liquidation without making any deduction or allowance for the depletion of such assets incidental to the lapse of time, consumption, liquidation or exploitation; subject, however, to adequate provision for meeting debts and liabilities and the liquidation preferences of outstanding shares and to notice to shareholders that no deduction or allowance has been made for such depletion.

SEC. 50. Section 346a of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

346a. Share dividends. A corporation may declare dividends payable in shares of the corporation only as follows:

(1) Out of earned surplus; or

(2) Out of paid-in surplus and/or surplus arising from reduction of stated capital, provided that notice shall be given to shareholders receiving such dividends of the source thereof prior to or concurrently with payment thereof.

Unrealized appreciation of assets, if any, shall not be included in the computation of surplus available for a dividend in shares.

Upon the declaration of a dividend payable in shares the amount of surplus from which such dividend is declared shall be transferred to stated capital. If a dividend is declared in shares having a par value, the aggregate par value of such shares shall be deducted from the surplus and added to stated capital.

If the dividend is declared in shares without par value, then if such shares are preferred shares they shall be valued at the amount to which such shares are entitled in preference to shares of another class upon liquidation. If such shares are common shares or have no liquidation preference they shall be valued upon the basis of the estimated fair value of such shares upon terms as determined and stated by resolution of the board of directors. Upon the declaration of a dividend payable in shares notice shall be given to the shareholders of the amount per share transferred from surplus and of the particular surplus from which such amount was transferred.

Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent or limit the power of a corporation to split up or subdivide its shares into a larger number of shares without transferring surplus to stated capital. Upon any such split up or subdivision of shares into shares without par value, the shareholders shall be given notice of the book value of each share prior and concurrent therewith.

SEC. 51. Section 348 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

348. Reduction of stated capital. A reduction of stated capital may be authorized by a resolution of the board of directors approved by the vote or written consent of the holders of a majority of outstanding shares, regardless of limitations or restrictions on voting rights. The resolution of the directors shall set forth the amount of reduction of stated capital and the method by which outstanding par value shares, if any, shall be adjusted to the new stated capital, or any such adjustment is necessary.

No such reduction in the stated capital of the corporation shall be made to an amount less than the aggregate par value of all par value shares without liquidation preference to remain outstanding after such reduction and the aggregate amount of the liquidation preferences upon involuntary liquidation of preferred shares with or without par value to remain outstanding after such reduction.

SEC. 52. Section 348b is hereby amended to read as follows:

348b. Distribution of surplus resulting from reduction of stated capital. If the amount of stated capital be reduced in any manner permitted by law, including any reduction authorized upon retirement of shares, any surplus resulting therefrom shall be transferred to a redemption surplus account and shares to any amount or amounts not exceeding the amount of such surplus, subject to any limitations contained in the articles, may be distributed or withdrawn only as follows:

(1) If there be but one class of shares outstanding, a distribution pro rata in cash or in property to the shareholders may be made by the board of directors, or a purchase of any outstanding shares may be authorized by the vote or written consent of the holders of two-thirds of such shares other than those to be purchased.

(2) If there be more than one class of shares outstanding, then with due regard to the relative priorities of the various classes of shares the board of directors may declare dividends on outstanding preferred shares subject to the conditions and restrictions imposed by law on the payment of dividends or may authorize the redemption or purchase of preferred shares subject to redemption at prices not exceeding the redemption price thereof, or may authorize the purchase of preferred shares not subject to redemption upon reasonable and nondiscriminatory terms not exceeding the lowest liquidation preference thereof.

No distribution or withdrawal of such reduction surplus may be made under the authority of this section unless the board of directors determine that by such distribution or withdrawal the corporation will not be rendered unable to satisfy its debts and liabilities when they fall due and that the assets of the corporation after such distribution or withdrawal taken at their fair present value will at least equal one and one-quarter times its debts and liabilities. No director shall be held liable to the corporation or any creditor or shareholder thereof for any determination made under this section if he acted in good faith and with reasonable care.

At least fourteen days before any distribution or withdrawal of such reduction surplus there shall be filed with the Secretary of State a certificate signed and acknowledged by the president or a vice president and also by the treasurer or an assistant treasurer of the corporation stating that the stated capital has been reduced, specifying the amounts from which and to which it has been reduced, the estimated amount of its debts and liabilities, the estimated fair present value of its assets, the amount of the reduction surplus and the amount proposed to be distributed or withdrawn, and stating that the board of directors has determined that by the proposed distribution or withdrawal of such surplus the corporation will not be rendered unable to satisfy its debts and liabilities when they fall due and that the assets of the corporation after such distribution or withdrawal taken at their fair present value will at least equal one and one-quarter times its debts and liabilities.

After such certificate is filed with the Secretary of State, a copy thereof certified by him shall be filed by the corporation in the office of the county clerk in the county in which the corporation has its principal office.

SEC. 53. Section 348a of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

348a. Adjustment of shares to reduction. Adjustment of outstanding par value shares to correspond with the stated capital of a corporation as reduced may be effected:

(1) By the voluntary exchange or substitution of par value shares of any class for a different number of shares of the same class or for the same or a different number of shares of another class of a different par value or without par value; or

(2) By the redemption, purchase and or retirement of shares subject to redemption, purchase and or retirement in accordance with the provisions of this title; or

(3) By the change of one or more classes of shares from shares having a specified par value into shares having a lesser specified par value or into shares without par value, pursuant to amendment of the articles.

(4) In any other way not repugnant to law.

SEC. 54. Section 355 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

355. Inspection of corporate records. The share register or duplicate share register, the books of account, and minutes of proceedings of the shareholders and the board of directors and of executive committees of the directors of every domestic corporation and of foreign corporations keeping any such records in this State, shall be open to inspection upon the written demand of any member or shareholder or holder of a voting trust certificate at any reasonable time, and for a purpose reasonably related to his interests as a shareholder or as the holder of such voting trust certificate, and shall be exhibited at any time when required by the demand of ten per cent of the shares represented at any shareholders' meeting.

Such inspection may be made in person or by agent or attorney, and includes the right to make extracts. The right of the shareholders to inspect the corporate records may not be limited in the articles or by-laws.

Demand of inspection other than at a shareholders' meeting shall be made in writing upon the president, secretary, assistant secretary or general manager of the corporation.

SEC. 55. A new section is hereby added to the Civil Code, to be numbered section 356, and to read as follows:

356. Director's right to information concerning corporation and its subsidiary corporations. Every director shall have the absolute right at any reasonable time to inspect all books, records, documents of every kind and the physical properties of the corporation, domestic or foreign, of which he is a director, and also of its subsidiary corporations, domestic or foreign. In the case of foreign corporations the right given by this section shall extend only to such books, records, documents and properties of such corporations as are kept or located in this State.

SEC. 56. Section 357 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

357. Investigation by order of court. Upon refusal of a lawful demand for inspection or upon petition of the holders of ten per cent (10%) of the issued and outstanding shares, the superior court of the county in which the principal office or in which the records are located may enforce the right of inspection with just and proper conditions, or may appoint one or more competent inspectors or accountants to audit the books and records kept in the State, and to investigate the property, funds and affairs of any domestic corporation or any foreign corporation keeping records in this State and of any subsidiary corporation thereof, domestic or foreign, keeping records in this State, and to report thereon in such manner as the court may direct.

It shall be the duty of all officers and agents of the corporation to produce to the inspectors or accountants so appointed all books and documents in their custody or power, under penalty of punishment for contempt of court.

All expenses of the investigation or audit shall be defrayed by the applicant unless the court shall order them to be paid or shared by the corporation.

SEC. 57. Section 358 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

358. Annual report. The board of directors of every stock corporation shall cause to be sent to the shareholders not later than one hundred twenty days after the close of the fiscal or calendar year an annual report unless such report be expressly dispensed with in the by-laws.

Such annual report shall include a balance sheet as of such closing date and a statement of income or profit and loss for the year ended on such closing date. Such financial statement shall be prepared from the books and shall be in accordance therewith and shall be certified by the president, secretary, treasurer, or a public accountant, and shall be prepared in a form sanctioned by sound accounting practice for the particular kind of business carried on by the corporation.

Such balance sheet itself or comments accompanying it shall set forth: (1) the bases employed in stating the valuation of the assets and any changes in such bases during the preceding year; (2) the amount of the surplus, the sources thereof and any changes therein during the past year; (3) the number of shares of each class of stock authorized and outstanding and the number of shares, if any, owned as treasury shares, the cost thereof and the source from which such cost was paid; (4) the amounts, if any, of loans or advances to or from officers, shareholders and employees.

Such statement of income or profit and loss shall be of such form as to disclose the amount of income or loss, in such classification as may be appropriate to the business of the corporation, and the additions thereto and deductions therefrom, setting forth in particular the amounts of depreciation, depletion, amortization, interest and extraordinary income or charges, whether or not included in operating income, and the amount and nature of income from subsidiary corporations.

The balance sheet of a holding corporation may be either its separate balance sheet or a consolidated balance sheet of the holding corporation and its subsidiary corporations. If not consolidated, it shall show as separate items the aggregate amount of the investment in shares of subsidiary corporations, the aggregate indebtedness of the holding corporation to subsidiary corporations, the aggregate indebtedness of subsidiary corporations to the holding corporation, and may and in what amounts the profits or losses of subsidiary corporations have been taken from the accounts of the holding corporation. If consolidated, the balance sheet shall state or be accompanied by a statement of the name of each subsidiary corporation and shall be accompanied by a separate balance sheet of the holding corporation, which separate balance sheet shall contain the same information as though it were not accompanied by a consolidated balance sheet.

Sec. 58. Section 359 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

359. Financial statement to shareholders. Shareholders holding at least ten per cent of the number of shares of any corporation other than a bank, a building and loan association, an insurance company, a public utility, or a nonprofit corporation, may make a written request to the secretary, and assistant secretary or treasurer of the corporation for a statement of its affairs in such form of statement has been given in written form to its shareholders within the preceding six months.

The statement shall be in the form prescribed for the annual report in so far as such form may be applicable to a balance sheet at a date other than the end of the fiscal year and to a statement of income and profit or loss for a period less than a full fiscal year. The balance sheet shall be as of the end of the calendar month preceding the date of receipt of the written request and the statement of income and profit or loss shall be for the period between the end of the preceding fiscal year and the end of said preceding calendar month. The statement shall be certified to by the president, secretary, treasurer or a public accountant and shall be delivered or mailed to the person or persons making the request within thirty days thereafter, and a copy thereof shall be kept on file in the principal office of the corporation for twelve months, and at all reasonable times shall be exhibited to any shareholder demanding an examination thereof, and a copy thereof shall be sent to such shareholder. Except upon order of court for good cause shown, the corporation shall not be required to prepare more than one such statement in any one period of six months. The superior court shall enforce the duty of the making and mailing or delivering of the financial statements provided by sections 358 and 359 and, for good cause shown, may extend the time therefor.

The corporation, upon the written request of any shareholder, shall mail to him a copy of the last annual constitutional or quarterly audit and loss statement and balance sheet, together with a copy of the certificate. If any of the company's auditors on said statement and balance sheet.

This section shall also apply to foreign corporations having the principal place for the transaction of their business in this State or customarily holding meetings for their boards of directors therein.

Sec. 59. Section 361 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

361. Merger and consolidation of corporations. Any two or more corporations may be (a) merged into one of such constituent corporations, which is hereby designated as "the surviving corporation," or (b) consolidated into a new corporation, which is herein designated as "the consolidated corporation," as follows:

(1) The board of directors of each corporation, by resolution shall approve an agreement which shall set forth the terms and conditions of merger or consolidation, and the mode of carrying the same into effect, as well as the manner and basis of converting the shares of the constituent corporations into the shares of the consolidated or surviving corporation. The agreement also may provide for the distribution of cash, property, or securities, in whole or in part, in lieu of shares, to shareholders of the constituent corporations or any class of them; provided, however, that upon such distribution of cash, property or securities, the liabilities of the consolidated or surviving corporation, including those derived by it from the constituent corporations, plus the amount of the stated capital of the consolidated or surviving corporation, shall not exceed the value of the assets of such consolidated or surviving corporation.

If the agreement be for a consolidation, it shall state the matters required to be stated in articles of incorporation, and these statements shall be deemed to be the articles of the new or consolidated corporation.

If the agreement be for a merger, it shall state any matters with respect to which the articles of the surviving corporation are amended, and the articles shall be deemed to be amended accordingly upon the filing thereof with the Secretary of State.

(2) The agreement shall be signed by the president or a vice president and the secretary or an assistant secretary of each corporation, and acknowledged by the officers executing the same on behalf of their respective corporations.

(3) The agreement must be approved by the vote of the holders of not less than two-thirds of the issued and outstanding shares of each class, even though their right to vote be otherwise restricted or denied, of each of the constituent corporations, at a meeting duly called upon notice of the time, place and purpose thereof, duly given to each shareholder at least twenty days prior to the date of such meeting. There shall be mailed with the notice of such meeting a statement of the general terms of the proposed agreement. Different series of the same class of shares shall not be construed to constitute different classes of shares for the purposes of voting by classes.

The approval of the shareholders may be given either before or after the approval of the agreement by the board of directors.

After such approval by the directors and shareholders has been given, the president or a vice president and the secretary or an assistant secretary of each corporation shall execute a certificate, which shall be verified by their oath and shall set forth:

- (a) The time and place of the meeting of the board of directors;
- (b) A copy of the resolution adopted thereat;
- (c) The vote in favor of such resolution;
- (d) The time and place of the meeting of the shareholders, and the total vote of each class of shares by which the agreement was approved;
- (e) The total number of outstanding shares of each class;
- (f) A statement of the mailing of the notice of the time, place and purpose of the meeting of the shareholders.

(4) Any amendment to the agreement may be adopted, and the agreement so amended may be approved, by like vote at such meeting of any of the constituent corporations, and if the agreement so amended be approved by like vote at such meeting and by the board of directors of each of the constituent corporations, the agreement so amended shall be signed and acknowledged and shall have certified therewith the approval of the directors and of the shareholders in the same manner as provided for the original agreement, and shall then be considered the merging or consolidating agreement.

(5) The agreement so approved, executed and acknowledged and the certificates of its approval shall be filed with the Secretary of State, and shall thereupon become effective, and the several parties thereto shall be one corporation. A copy of said agreement, certified by the Secretary of State, shall be filed with the county clerks of the counties in which the principal office of each corporation is located and a copy of said agreement so certified shall be filed in the office of the county clerk of each county in which each corporation holds real property. A copy of such agreement or of a certified copy thereof certified by any official having custody thereof shall have the same force in evidence as the original, and, except as against the State, shall be conclusive evidence of the performance of all conditions precedent to such consolidation or merger, and the creation or existence of the consolidated or surviving corporation.

(6) The surplus appearing on the books of the constituent corporations, to the extent to which it is not capitalized by the issue of shares or otherwise, may be entered as earned or paid-in surplus, as the case may be, on the books of the consolidated or surviving corporation, and may thereafter be dealt with as such.

(7) Upon the merger or consolidation, as provided herein, the separate existence of the constituent corporations shall cease, except that of the surviving corporation in case of merger, and the consolidated or surviving corporation shall succeed, without other transfer, to all the rights and property of each of the constituent corporations, and shall be subject to all the debts, and liabilities of each, in the same manner as if the surviving or consolidated corporation had itself incurred them.

All rights of creditors and all liens upon the property of each of said former corporations shall be preserved unimpaired, limited in lien to the property affected by such liens immediately prior to the time of the consolidation or merger.

Any action or proceeding pending by or against any of such constituent corporations may be prosecuted to judgment, which shall bind the consolidated or the surviving corporation, or the consolidated or surviving corporation may be proceeded against or substituted in their place.

The directors of the corporation may, in their discretion, abandon such merger or consolidation subject to the rights of third parties under any contracts relating thereto, without further action or approval by the shareholders of the corporation, at any time before the merger or consolidation has been completed.

SEC. 60. Section 362 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

362. Amendment of articles. By complying with the following provisions, a corporation may amend its articles for any or all of the following purposes:

(1) To adopt a new name, subject to the restrictions contained in section 291 of the Civil Code;

(2) To change or add to its powers or purposes, or to set forth different or additional powers or purposes;

(3) To change the location of its principal office or place of business to any other county or city and county within the State; but no amendment need be made to change the principal office from one location to another in the same county or city and county;

(4) To change the authorized number of directors or to state the authorized number of directors as changed by amendment of the by-laws or other lawful proceeding, or to limit or forbid change thereof by the by-laws;

(5) To increase or decrease the authorized number of its shares of any class, issued or unissued, or the par value thereof; or to increase or decrease the authorized number of shares of any series, issued or unissued;

(6) To provide for the classification of its shares, or for the subdivision of any class or classes of shares into series, in which event there must be set forth a statement of the number of shares of each class or series and of the preferences, privileges and restrictions granted to or imposed upon the respective classes or series of shares and/or upon the holders thereof;

(7) To change the statement, as to shares issued or unissued, of the classification of shares and of the subdivision of any class of shares into series, and/or of the preferences, rights, privileges or restrictions of the shares of any class or series, or to repeal such statement of classification of shares, or of the subdivision of any class of shares into series;

(8) To authorize the board of directors, within limitations and restrictions stated in the amendment, to fix or alter, from time to time, the dividend rate or the redemption or liquidation price of any class or of any series of any class, or the number of shares constituting any series of any class or all classes or any of them, in respect of shares then unissued;

(9) To change shares having par value into the same or a different number of shares without par value, to increase or reduce the par value of shares, to change shares without par value into the same or a different number of shares with or without any par value;

(10) To create classes of par value shares together with classes of shares without par value, or to create classes of shares of different par values, or to restrict, limit, create or enlarge the voting rights of certain classes of shares, or to grant to any class or classes of shares preemptive rights to subscribe for shares, or to enlarge or restrict or revoke existing preemptive rights of any class or classes of shares;

(11) To repeal and restore any provision of its articles which has been superseded or changed by any certificate, instrument or proceeding pursuant to law;

(12) Generally, to add to, omit from, remove or otherwise alter the provisions thereof in any respect lawful at the time of the amendment and not inconsistent with the law under which the corporation exists.

No corporation shall amend its articles to alter the statements which appear in the original articles of the names and addresses of the first directors or of the number of shares subscribed and by whom.

No amendment changing the aggregate par value of par value shares or the number of shares without par value shall affect the stated capital of a corporation.

SEC. 61. Section 362a of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

362a. Proceedings to amend articles. Amendments of the articles may be adopted as follows:

(1) Before any shares have been issued or subscriptions for shares other than those set forth in the articles have been accepted or before any members of a non-stock corporation have been admitted other than the incorporators, any amendment may be adopted by a writing signed by two-thirds of the incorporators of any such corporation.

(2) After any shares have been issued or subscriptions for shares have been accepted or members have been admitted by a nonstock corporation other than the incorporators, amendments may be adopted by resolution of the board of directors and the vote or written consent of shareholders holding at least a majority of the voting power given either before or after the adoption of the resolution of the board of directors.

If the purpose of an amendment be to change the preferences or restrictions of any class or series of outstanding shares or to authorize the corporation to levy assessments on fully paid shares, such amendment must be approved by resolution of the board of directors and by the vote or consent of the holders of at least two-thirds of the outstanding shares of each class regardless of limitations or restrictions on the voting power thereof. Different series or subdivisions of the same class of shares shall not be construed to constitute different classes of shares for the purpose of voting or consent by classes except when such series is adversely affected by an amendment in a different manner than other shares of the same class.

If the purpose of an amendment be to reduce the authorized number of directors of a stock corporation below five such amendment must be approved by resolution of the board of directors and by the vote or consent of the holders of more than eighty per cent of the voting shares.

The resolution of the board of directors and the resolution or consents of such shareholders approving any amendment, or the writing signed by the incorporators, shall establish the wording of the amendment or amended articles by providing that the articles shall be amended to read as therein set forth in full, or that any provision thereof, which shall be identified by the numerical or other designation given it in the articles or by stating the wording thereof, shall be amended to read as set forth in full in such resolution or consent and, or that the matter therein stated shall be added to or stricken from the articles.

SEC. 62. Section 362b of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

362b. Certificate of amendment. Upon the adoption of any amendment to the articles a certificate stating the manner of its adoption shall be filed as follows: In case of an amendment adopted by the incorporators the certificate shall state that the signers thereof constitute at least two-thirds of the incorporators and that they adopt the amendment therein set forth, and in the case of a stock corporation that it has issued no shares and accepted no subscriptions therefor since the filing of its articles with the Secretary of State or in the case of a non-stock corporation that it has admitted no members other than the incorporators. The certificate shall be signed by at least two-thirds of the incorporators and shall be verified by the oath of each signer thereof.

In case of an amendment adopted by the shareholders or by the directors or by the board of directors and shareholders, the certificate shall be signed by the president or a vice president and the secretary or an assistant secretary and shall be verified by their oaths. The certificate shall set forth a copy of the resolution of the board of directors, if required, the time and place of the meeting of the shareholders and a copy of the resolution adopted thereat, if the vote or consent of the shareholders be required, and the total vote by which the amendment was approved or adopted, or, if the approval or adoption was by written consent, the number of shares or members consenting thereto and a copy of the form of written consent, and the total number of shares or members entitled to vote on or consent to the adoption of such amendment; provided, however, if the amendment be required to be adopted by the vote of different classes of shares, the certificate, in addition to the foregoing requirements, shall state the total number of outstanding shares of each class and the number of shares of each class consenting to or voting in favor of the resolution amending the articles.

The certificate shall be submitted to the Secretary of State, who shall file the same and put an indorsement of filing thereon if he find that it shows a compliance with the provisions of the law. Thereupon the articles of incorporation shall be deemed amended in accordance with such certificate and a copy of such certificate, certified by the Secretary of State, shall be prima facie evidence of the performance of the conditions necessary to the adoption of such amendment.

A copy of said certificate certified by the Secretary of State shall be filed with the county clerk of the county in which the principal office of the corporation is located and of every county in which the corporation holds real property.

SEC. 63. Section 362c of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

362c. Extension of existence. Every corporation formed under the laws of this State for a limited period may at any time prior to the expiration of the term of its corporate existence extend such term by an amendment to its articles or certificate of incorporation removing any provision limiting the term of its existence and providing for perpetual existence. Such amendment may be made if adopted either by the vote or written consent of shareholders or members holding at least a majority of the voting power or by resolution of the board of directors adopted by a two-thirds majority of the members of the board, and a certificate of amendment shall be made setting forth the vote or consent by which the amendment was adopted, in the manner and with the effect prescribed by section 362b of this code. This section shall apply to all corporations organized either before or since this code took effect and whether the corporations organized before have heretofore elected or shall hereafter elect to continue their existence under this code or not.

SEC. 64. Section 363 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

363. Unlawful dividends, purchases and distribution. Except as provided in this title, the directors of a corporation shall not authorize or ratify the purchase by it of its shares or declare or pay dividends or authorize or ratify the withdrawal or distribution of any part of its assets among its shareholders.

In case of any willful or negligent violation of the provisions of this section, the directors under whose administration the same shall have happened, except those who may have caused their dissent therefrom to be entered on the minutes of the meeting at which such action was authorized, or who were not present at the time the board acted, shall be jointly and severally liable to the corporation or to its receiver, liquidator or trustee in bankruptcy for the benefit of the creditors of the corporation or any of them and of the shareholders and owners of shares at the time of such violation, for its debts and liabilities existing at the time of such violation, and for the full amount of any loss sustained by such holders and owners of shares other than shares upon which any such payment or distribution was made, in any such case not exceeding the amount of such unlawful dividends, purchase price, withdrawal or other distribution.

Any judgment creditor of the corporation, or two or more such creditors, if the debt or claim arose prior to the time of such violation, may sue the corporation and any or all of its directors in one action and recover judgment for the amount due such creditors or claimants from the corporation against any or all of such directors guilty of any such violation up to the amount of such unlawful dividends, purchase price, withdrawal or other distribution. An action against such directors for any such violation may be brought by the corporation or by its receiver, liquidator or trustee in bankruptcy for the benefit of all of such creditors, owners of shares and shareholders without the necessity of any prior judgment against the corporation, for the recovery of the amount of such dividends, purchase price, withdrawal or other distribution as far as needed to satisfy such debts and liabilities and the full amount of loss sustained by such shareholders.

Any and all directors who satisfy a judgment or claim against the corporation or other liability under this section shall have a right of reimbursement and contribution against any and all shareholders who received any dividend, purchase price, withdrawal or distribution with knowledge of facts indicating that it was not authorized by this title, and such shareholders shall pay or contribute in proportion to the amounts received by them respectively, unless they have returned such amount to the corporation.

Except in case of participation in a fraud, any director who satisfies more than his share of a claim asserted under or pursuant hereto, shall be entitled to contribution from other directors who are liable, pro rata according to the number of such directors. Any number of directors may be sued in the same action.

A director shall not be held to have been negligent within the meaning of this section if he relied and acted in good faith upon a balance sheet or profit and loss statement of the corporation furnished or exhibited to him by the president or the officer of the corporation having charge of or supervision of its accounts, or certified to be correct and according to the books of the corporation by a public accountant or firm of public accountants selected with reasonable care.

SEC. 65. Section 364 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

364. Improper dividends. Any shareholder or owner of shares who receives any dividend not authorized by this title with knowledge of facts indicating the impropriety thereof shall be liable to the corporation or to its receiver, liquidator or trustee in bankruptcy for the amount so received by him with interest thereon at seven per cent per annum until paid in the event that the corporation is adjudged insolvent or bankrupt in any action or proceeding begun within one year after the receipt of such dividend. Any number of shareholders may be sued in the same action.

SEC. 66. Section 365 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

365. Unauthorized sale of shares. When a corporation, in violation of any provision of this title, purchases shares issued by it, any shareholder or owner of shares who sells such shares knowing that the corporation is the purchaser with knowledge of facts indicating the impropriety of such purchase shall be liable to the corporation or its receiver, liquidator or trustee in bankruptcy to the extent of the payments received therefor and for the unpaid balance of the subscription price due thereon, if any, in the event that the corporation is adjudged insolvent or bankrupt in any action or proceeding begun within one year after such purchase.

SEC. 67. Section 366 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

366. Loans to and guaranties of the obligations of officers, shareholders or others. No corporation or any of its subsidiary corporations shall make any loan of money or property to or guarantee the obligation of (a) any director or officer of any such corporations, directly or indirectly, (b) or any person upon the security of the shares of any such corporations; provided that any such loan or guaranty may be made by the vote or written consent of the holders of two-thirds of the shares of all classes regardless of limitations on voting rights, other than the shares held by the benefited director, officer or shareholder.

If any such loan or guaranty be made without such vote or written consent of the shareholders, the directors, officer or officers of any such corporation who authorize it or assent thereto shall be jointly and severally liable to the corporation as guarantors for the repayment or return of the sum or value so loaned with interest thereon at the rate of six per cent per annum until paid, or for any liability upon such guaranty.

Any officer or director held liable under this section who satisfies any such liability shall be entitled to contribution from any other officer or director who participates in authorizing, making or allowing any such loan or guaranty, and shall be subrogated to all and all rights of the corporation against the borrower or principal obligor.

The provisions of this section shall not apply to banks, building and loan associations, industrial loan companies or credit unions or to loans permitted under any statute regulating any special class of corporations.

SEC. 68. Section 368 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

368. Penalty for failure to comply with various requirements. Every corporation which neglects, fails, or refuses: (a) to keep or cause to be kept or maintained the share register or the books of account required by this title to be kept or maintained; or (b) to prepare or cause to be prepared or submitted the financial statements required by this title to be prepared or submitted, shall be subject to a penalty of ten dollars for each day up to a maximum of one thousand dollars, beginning thirty days after receipt of written request that such duty be performed from one entitled to make the same, that such failure or refusal continues, to be paid to the shareholder or shareholders jointly making such request therefor and damaged thereby, if suit therefor be commenced within ninety days after making such written request; provided, however, that the maximum daily penalty hereunder because of failure to comply with any number of separate requests made on any one day or for the same act shall be one hundred dollars.

If any officer of a corporation charged with the duty of entering a transfer of shares upon the books of the corporation and issuing a share certificate unreasonably neglects, fails or refuses to perform such duty after written request by any person entitled thereto, he shall be subject to a penalty of $100 and the further penalty of $10 for each day beginning five days after such request that such default shall continue, up to a maximum of $500, to be paid to each such person aggrieved, which penalty shall be enforced by action and shall be in addition to all other remedies. Every director or other officer unreasonably causing such neglect, failure or refusal to make such entries upon the books of the corporation or to issue a certificate for shares to a person entitled thereto shall be subject to a like penalty.

Any penalty prescribed by this section shall be in addition to any remedy by injunction or action for damages or by writ of mandate for the nonperformance of acts and duties enjoined by law upon the corporation or its directors or officers.

The court in which an action for any such penalty is brought may reduce, remit or suspend such penalty on such terms and conditions as it may deem reasonable when it is made to appear that the neglect, failure or refusal was inadvertent or excusable.

SEC. 69. Section 369 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

369. Compensation of dissenting shareholders.

(1) In the event that the requisite number of shareholders of a corporation approve its merger or consolidation with another corporation, domestic or foreign, then any holder of voting or nonvoting shares who shall not have approved such merger or consolidation at the meeting at which the same was approved may make written demand upon the corporation of which he is a shareholder for the payment to him of the fair market value of his shares. Such value shall be determined as of the day before the vote of the shareholders approving such action, excluding any appreciation or depreciation in consequence of such proposed action.

(2) Such demand must be received by the corporation or any transfer agent thereof within thirty days after the date on which the notice of the approval by the shareholders was mailed to the shareholder. Such demand shall state the number and class of the shares held of record by such shareholder in respect of which he claims relief, and shall contain a request that the corporation state what it claims to be the fair market value of such shares as of the day before the vote of the shareholders approving the merger or consolidation.

(3) Within said period of thirty days the shareholder shall submit to the corporation at its principal office or at the office of any transfer agent thereof his certificates for shares in respect to which he claims such relief, to be stamped or indorsed with a statement that such shares are dissenting shares. Upon subsequent transfers of such shares on the books of the corporation the new certificates issued therefor shall bear a like statement together with the name of the original dissenting holder of said shares.

(4) The terms "dissenting shares" and "dissenting shareholder" as used herein refer to shares and the holders thereof of record where the steps mentioned in the above paragraphs have been taken with reference to such shares and shall include transferees of record. Holders of dissenting shares shall continue to have all the rights and privileges incident to their shares save as expressly limited by this section, until such time as the fair market value of their shares be agreed upon or determined. A dissenting shareholder may not withdraw his dissent or demand for payment unless the corporation by its board of directors shall consent thereto.

(5) Within five days after receipt of a copy of such demand, the corporation shall deliver or mail to the holder of dissenting shares at his last known address, a written offer to pay for such shares at a price or prices deemed by the corporation to represent such fair market value if such shareholder be entitled to relief. If the corporation and the holder of dissenting shares agree upon the price of such shares, the dissenting shareholder shall be entitled to such price with interest thereon at the rate of seven per cent per annum from the date of the agreement. Any agreements fixing the fair market value of any dissenting shares as between the corporation and the holders thereof shall be filed with the secretary of the corporation.

(6) If any dissenting shareholder shall fail to agree with the corporation upon such fair market value, then such dissenting shareholder if he first shall have complied with the conditions provided in paragraphs (2) and (3) of this section, or any interested corporation, within six months after the date on which notice of the approval by the shareholders was mailed to the shareholder, but not thereafter, may file a complaint in the superior court of the county in which such corporation has its principal office praying the court to determine the fair market value of the dissenting shares, or may intervene in and pending action for the appraisal of any dissenting shares. If such complaint be not filed or intervention made within such period as to any dissenting shares the purchase price of shares has not been agreed upon, then such shares shall lose their dissenting status and be deemed to be assenting shares.

(7) Two or more dissenting shareholders may, with or without, or be joined as defendants in any such action and two or more such actions may be consolidated. Dissenting shareholders may intervene in any pending action for the appraisal of any dissenting shares.

(8) On the trial of the action, the court shall determine whether the dissenting shareholder is entitled to relief, and if the court shall so find, the court shall determine or shall appoint three impartial appraisers to determine the fair market value of said shares.

(9) The appraisers forthwith shall proceed to determine said fair market value per share, and said appraisers or a majority of them, shall make a report within the time fixed by the court, and shall file such report in the office of the clerk of the court, whereupon, on the matter of said report, said report shall be submitted to the court and considered on such evidence as the court may consider relevant, and if said award be found to be reasonable and be confirmed by the court, judgment shall be rendered against the corporation for payment of an amount equal to the fair market value of such shares multiplied by the number of dissenting shares in respect of which the court shall have found any dissenting shareholder who is a party, or who has intervened, is entitled to relief, with interest thereon at seven per cent per annum from date on which judgment was rendered.

(10) If such appraisers be not appointed, or a majority of them fail to make and file a report within ten days, or within such further time as may be allowed by the court, or the award be not confirmed by the court, the court shall determine the fair market value of said dissenting shares and render judgment thereon as aforesaid.

(11) Any such judgment shall be payable, with interest, to the dissenting shareholder and delivery to the corporation of the certificates for the shares described in the judgment. Any party shall have the right of appeal from such judgment.

(12) The costs of the action, including reasonable compensation to the appraisers to be fixed by the court, shall be assessed on application in the court and be recoverable, but if the appraisal exceed the price offered by the corporation, the corporation shall pay such costs.

(13) Payment of the fair market value of dissenting shares shall be made within thirty days after the amount claimed has been ascertained, unless payment of the certificates therefor unless provided otherwise by agreement.

(14) Cash dividends paid by the corporation upon the dissenting shares after the day on which the vote was taken and prior to payment for such shares by the corporation shall be credited upon the later amount to be paid by the corporation therefor. Any share dividends declared after the shares become dissenting shares shall be treated as part of the dissenting shares.

(15) The right of a dissenting shareholder to relief hereunder shall cease if and when the corporation shall abandon the merger or consolidation entitling the dissenting shareholder to relief. Upon abandonment of the merger or consolidation, any dissenting shareholders who have instituted proceedings in good faith under this section shall be entitled to recover from the corporation all necessary expenses incurred in such proceedings and reasonable attorneys fees.

(16) This section shall not apply to classes of shares whose terms and provisions specifically set forth the amount to be paid in respect to said shares in the event of consolidation or merger.

(17) The rights and remedies of any shareholder at law or in equity to object to or litigate as to any such merger or consolidation shall be and are hereby limited to the right to receive the fair market value of his shares in the manner and upon the terms and conditions provided in this section, except actions to test whether the number of legal votes of shareholders required by statute to authorize or approve the proposed action of the corporation has been given.

(18) If litigation be instituted to test the sufficiency or regularity of the votes of the shareholders in authorizing such merger or consolidation, the proceedings for compensation of any dissenting shareholders shall be suspended until final determination of such litigation.

Sec. 70. Section 370a of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

370a. Proof of existence of foreign corporations. In any action or proceeding, civil or criminal, in any court of this State, a copy of the articles or certificate of incorporation or other incorporation papers of a foreign corporation purporting to be duly certified by the Secretary of State or other competent official of the State, government, Territory or country under the laws of which such corporation purports to be incorporated or the original of any such instrument, or copies of such certified copies duly certified, shall be admitted in evidence by all courts and shall be prima facie evidence of the incorporation, existence and powers of such corporation.

Certified copies of such instruments filed in the county clerk's office in the county where such foreign corporation hold or holds real property shall be conclusive evidence of the incorporation and powers of such corporation in favor of any bona fide purchaser or encumbrancer of such property for value, whether the corporation be doing business in this State or not.

SEC. 71. Section 373 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

373. Designation of person upon whom process may be served. Every domestic corporation may file with the Secretary of State a designation of a natural person, stating his residence or business address in this State, as its agent for the purpose of service of process, and the delivery to such agent of a copy of any process against such corporation shall constitute valid service on such corporation. Such corporation shall file with the Secretary of State notice of any change in the address of the person thus designated, and may revoke any such designation by filing notice of the revocation thereof with the Secretary of State.

If such designation has not been filed with the Secretary of State, and if personal service of process against such domestic corporation can not be made with the exercise of due diligence in any other manner provided by law and the fact appears by affidavit to the satisfaction of the court or a judge thereof, such court or judge may make an order that the service be made upon such corporation by delivering to the Secretary of State, or to any person employed in his office in the capacity of assistant or deputy, one copy of such process for each defendant to be served. Service in such manner shall be and constitute personal service upon such corporation. Upon the receipt of such copy of process, the Secretary of State shall give notice of the service of such process to the corporation at its principal office in this State, by forwarding to such office, by registered mail with request for return receipt, such copy of such process. The defendant shall appear and answer within thirty days after delivery of such process to the Secretary of State.

The Secretary of State shall keep a record of all process served upon him under this title, and shall record therein the time of such service and his action with reference thereto.

This section shall not apply to banks, trust companies, insurance companies or any corporation subject to the jurisdiction of the Railroad Commission.

SEC. 72. Section 399 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

399. Continuation of corporation after dissolution. A corporation which is dissolved by the expiration of its term of existence, by forfeiture of existence by order of court, or otherwise, nevertheless shall continue to exist for the purpose of winding up its affairs, prosecuting and defending actions by or against it, and enabling it to collect and discharge obligations, dispose of and convey its property, and collect and divide its assets, but not for the purpose of continuing business except in so far as necessary for the winding up thereof. No action or proceeding to which a corporation is a party shall abate by the dissolution of such corporation or by reason of proceedings for dissolution and winding up thereof.

Any assets inadvertently or otherwise omitted from the winding up shall continue in the dissolved corporation for the benefit of the persons entitled thereto upon dissolution of the corporation, and on realization shall be distributed accordingly.

SEC. 73. Section 399a of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

399a. Corporations dissolved prior to August 14, 1929. Nothing in this title shall be taken to have terminated the authority, powers, or liability of directors or other persons as trustees for the creditors, stockholders or members for the purpose of winding up the affairs of any corporation whose term of existence expired prior to August 14, 1929, and was not extended, or which was dissolved prior to August 14, 1929. Such trustees shall have all the powers and duties conferred by this title upon directors in case of winding up or dissolution.

Any deed or conveyance heretofore executed in the name of a corporation dissolved prior to August 14, 1929, by the president or a vice president and the secretary or an assistant secretary or by a majority of the directors or trustees after dissolution of such corporation and duly recorded for a period of three years in the proper book of records of the county or counties in which the land so conveyed is situated shall have the same force and effect as though executed and delivered prior to such dissolution.

SEC. 74. Section 400 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

400. Voluntary winding up and dissolution. Any corporation may elect to wind up its affairs and voluntarily dissolve by the vote or written consent of the holders of shares representing a majority of the voting power or of a majority of the members entitled to vote stating such election to wind up and dissolve.

The board of directors of any corporation which has not begun the business for which the corporation was created and which has issued no shares, or of any corporation which has been adjudged to be bankrupt, may elect by resolution to wind up and dissolve the corporation.

If the term of existence for which any corporation was organized expire without renewal or extension thereof or if the corporation be otherwise dissolved, it shall be the duty of the directors to terminate its business and wind up its affairs.

Whenever the winding up and dissolution of a corporation is authorized by the vote or consent of shareholders or members or by resolution of the directors a certificate stating that the corporation has elected to wind up and dissolve and showing by what vote or consent such election was made, signed and acknowledged by the president or a vice president and the secretary or an assistant secretary or by a majority of the directors, or by at least three shareholders or members authorized by the shareholders or members to sign such certificate, shall be filed in the office of the Secretary of State and a copy thereof certified by the Secretary of State shall be filed in the office of the county clerk of the county in which the principal office of the corporation is located.

SEC. 75. Section 400a of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows: 400a. Commencement, revocation and effect of winding up proceedings. Proceedings for winding up the corporation shall be deemed to commence:

(1) If the proceeding be voluntary, upon the adoption of the resolution of shareholders, members or directors of the corporation electing to wind up and dissolve, or upon the filing with the corporation of the written consent of shareholders or members thereto. If such proceedings be instituted because of the expiration of the term of corporate existence or other dissolution of the corporation, then at the date of termination of its corporate existence.

(2) If the proceeding be involuntary, when the order for winding up is entered.

When a proceeding for winding up has commenced under subsection (1) above the corporation shall cease to carry on business except to such extent as may be necessary for the beneficial winding up thereof and the directors forthwith shall cause written notice of the commencement of the proceeding for such winding up to be given by mail to all shareholders and to all known creditors and persons whose addresses appear on the records of the corporation. When a proceeding for winding up has commenced under subdivision (2) above the corporation shall cease to carry on business except as aforesaid and the directors shall give written notice as aforesaid unless the order for winding up has been stayed by appeal therefrom or otherwise, or unless the proceeding or the execution of the order has been completed.

When the winding up and dissolution of a corporation has been authorized by vote or consent of the shareholders or members or directors, such action may be revoked by similar vote or consent at any time prior to completion of the assets and a certificate of such revocation shall be executed and filed in the same manner as the certificate of such election.

SEC. 76. Section 401 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

401. Directors' powers and duties. The board of directors in event of either voluntary or involuntary winding up or dissolution of a corporation, shall continue to act as a board and shall have full powers to wind up and settle its affairs. Unless otherwise organized by the election of the officers specified in this section they shall organize by the election of a president, vice president and secretary and such assistants and other officers as they may deem proper. Any act authorized or approved by a majority of the directors acting as a board shall be valid and binding as though authorized and consented to by all of the directors.

The directors shall have, without prejudice to the generality of their authority, the power and duty in the name and on behalf of the corporation:

(1) To sue, in the name of the corporation, for all sums due or owing to the corporation or to recover any of its property;

(2) To carry out contracts and collect, pay, compromise and settle debts and claims for or against the corporation, and to defend suits brought against the corporation;

(3) To sell at public or private sale, exchange, convey, or otherwise dispose of, all or any part of the assets of the corporation, upon such terms and conditions and for such considerations as such board may deem reasonable or expedient, and to execute bills of sale and deeds of conveyance in the name of the corporation. If such sale or exchange of all or substantially all of the assets of a corporation for profit in the process of winding up be made for a consideration consisting in whole or in part of shares, obligations or securities of another corporation, domestic or foreign, or any consideration other than money, it shall be approved or ratified by the vote or written consent of holders of shares entitled to exercise a majority of the voting power of the corporation, either before or after the action of the directors;

(4) To collect any amounts remaining unpaid on subscriptions to shares or any overpayments or unlawful distributions;

(5) To continue the conduct of the business in so far as necessary for the disposal or winding up thereof;

(6) To elect officers and to employ agents and attorneys to liquidate or wind up its affairs;

(7) In general to make contracts and to do any and all things in the name of the corporation which may be proper or convenient for the purposes of winding up, settling and liquidating the affairs of the corporation.

SEC. 77. Section 401a of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

401a. Distribution to shareholders. After determining that all the known debts and liabilities of a corporation in the process of winding up have been paid or adequately provided for, the directors shall distribute all the remaining corporate assets among the shareholders and owners of shares according to their respective rights and preferences. If the winding up be by court proceeding or subject to court supervision, such distribution shall not be made until after the expiration of any period for the presentation of claims which may have been prescribed by order of court. Distribution may be made either in money or in property or securities, if this can be done fairly and ratably and in conformity with the provisions of the articles and the rights of the shareholders, and shall be made as soon as reasonably consistent with the beneficial liquidation of such assets. At the discretion of the directors distribution under this section may be made in installments from time to time or as a whole.

The payment of a debt or liability shall be deemed to have been adequately provided for if the payment thereof has been assumed or guaranteed in good faith by one or more financially responsible corporations or other persons, and such provision was determined in good faith and with reasonable care by the board of directors to be adequate at the time of any distribution of the assets by the directors hereunder.

A distribution of shares, obligations or securities of any other corporation, domestic or foreign, or any assets other than money, among shareholders in accordance with the terms and conditions and on the basis set forth in a plan of distribution authorized and approved by the directors and shareholders as provided in section 401c of this title shall be deemed to be a fair and ratable distribution and a distribution in accordance with the respective rights and preferences of the shareholders and in conformity with the provisions of the articles.

SEC. 78. Section 401c of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

401c. Distribution of securities or assets in kind. A plan of distribution among the shareholders and owners of shares, common and preferred, of a corporation in process of winding up, of the shares, obligations or securities of any other corporation, domestic or foreign, or assets other than money, may be adopted if such distribution be approved by a resolution of the directors and by the vote or written consent of holders of two-thirds of the shares of each class regardless of any limitation or restriction upon their voting power. Such distribution may be provided to be in complete or partial satisfaction of the rights of any of such shareholders upon distribution and liquidation of assets.

Such plan so approved shall be binding upon all the shareholders except as hereinafter provided. Notice of the adoption of such plan shall be given by mail within twenty days after its adoption to all holders of shares having a liquidation preference.

Shareholders having a liquidation preference who dissent from such plan of distribution shall be entitled to be paid the amount of such liquidation preference in cash if they file written demand for such payment with the corporation within thirty days after the date of mailing of the notice of the adoption of such plan of distribution, unless such plan of distribution be abandoned as hereinafter provided. Such demand shall state the number and class of the shares held of record by such shareholder in respect of which he claims payment.

In case any such dissent and demand for cash payment be filed, the directors of the corporation in their discretion may abandon such plan of distribution without further action or approval by the shareholders of the corporation and all shareholders shall then be entitled to distribution according to their rights and liquidation preferences in the process of winding up.

SEC. 79. Section 402 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

402. Liability of shareholders for improper distributions. Whenever in the process of winding up a corporation any distribution of assets has been made, otherwise than under an order of court, without prior payment or adequate provision for payment of any of the debts and liabilities of the corporation, any amount so improperly distributed to any shareholder or owner of shares may be recovered by the corporation or by its receiver, liquidator or trustee in bankruptcy. Any of such shareholders or owners may be joined as defendants in the same action or brought in on the motion of any other defendant.

Shareholders or owners of shares who satisfy any liability under this section shall have the right of ratable contribution from other distributees. Any shareholder or owner of shares who has been compelled to return to the corporation more than his ratable share of the amount needed to pay the debts and liabilities of the corporation may require that the corporation recover from any or all of the other distributees such proportion of the amounts received by them upon such improper distribution as to give contribution to those held liable under this section and make the distribution of the assets fair and ratable, according to the respective rights and preferences of the shares, after the payment or adequate provision for payment of all the debts and liabilities of the corporation.

SEC. 80. Section 402a of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

402a. Service of summons or process. Summons or process against a dissolved corporation may be served by delivering a copy thereof to an officer, director, or person having charge of its assets, or if no such person can be found, to any person who is, or at the time of dissolution was, an agent for service of process. If no such person can be found summons or process may be served upon the dissolved corporation by delivering a copy thereof to the Secretary of State or an assistant or Deputy Secretary of State.

Upon receipt of such process and a fee of five dollars, the Secretary of State forthwith shall give notice by mail of the service of such process to the corporation at its last known address. The defendant shall appear and answer within thirty days after the Secretary of State gives notice as aforesaid.

SEC. 81. Section 403 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

403. Supervision of court over winding up. If a corporation is in the process of voluntary winding up, the superior court in and for the county where the principal office of the corporation is located, upon the petition of the corporation or the holders of five per cent or more of the number of its outstanding shares or of three or more creditors, upon such notice to the corporation and to other persons interested in the corporation as shareholders or creditors as the court may order shall have power to order and adjudge as to any or all matters in and for the winding up of the affairs of the corporation including:

(1) The presentation and proof of all claims and demands against the corporation, whether due or not yet due, or contingent, or undischarged or sounding only in damages, and the barring from participation of creditors and claimants failing to make and present claims and proofs as required by any order.

All creditors and claimants may be barred from participation in any distribution of the general assets if they fail to make and present claims and proofs within such time as the court may direct, which shall not be less than three nor more than six months after the first publication of notice to creditors, unless it appears by affidavit that there are no claims, in which case the time limited may be three months. If it be made to appear that the claimant had not received notice by reason of being out of the State or for other cause shown, the court may allow a claim to be filed or presented at any time before distribution is completed.

Such notice to creditors must be published not less than once a week for three consecutive weeks in some newspaper published in the county of the principal office, if there be one, and if not in such newspaper as may be designated in the court directing creditors and claimants to make and present claims and proofs to the person, at the place and within the time limited by the order. A copy of such notice shall be mailed to each creditor or claimant shown as such by the books of the corporation at his last known address.

Holders of secured claims may prove for the whole debt in case of insolvency or deficiency. If such creditors fail to present their claims they shall be barred only as to any right to claim against the general assets for any deficiency in the amount realized on their security.

Before any distribution is made the amount of any unadmitted, contingent or disputed claim against the corporation which has been presented and has not been disallowed, or such part of the same as the latter would be entitled to if the claim were due, established or absolute, must be paid into court and there remains to be paid over to the party when he becomes entitled thereto, or if he fail to establish his claim, to be paid over or distributed with the other assets of the corporation to those entitled thereto, or such other provision for the payment of such claim shall be made as the court may deem adequate. If a creditor whose claim has been allowed but is not yet due consent to the payment of the present value of such claim he shall be entitled to such present value upon distribution being made.

Suits against the corporation on claims which have been presented shall be commenced within thirty days after written notice of rejection thereof is given to the claimant.

(2) The settlement or determination of all claims of every nature against such corporation or any of its property, or the amount of money or assets required to be retained to pay or provide for the payment of such claims, or any claim, or the amount of money or assets available for distribution among shareholders from time to time. The court may order the bringing in of new parties as far as may be deemed proper for the determination of all questions and matters.

(3) The determination of the rights of shareholders and of all classes of shareholders in and to the assets of the corporation.

(4) The presentation and the filing of intermediate and final accounts of the directors and hearings thereon, and the allowances, disallowance or settlement thereof, and the discharge of the directors from their duties and liabilities.

(5) The appointment of a referee to hear and determine any or all matters with such power or authority as the court or such judge may deem proper.

(6) The filling of any vacancies in the number of directors which the directors or shareholders are unable to fill.

(7) The removal of any director if it be made to appear that he has been guilty of dishonesty, misconduct, neglect or abuse of trust in conducting the winding up, or if he be unable to act. The court may order an election to fill the vacancy so caused, and may enjoin, for such time as it may consider proper, the reelection of the directors so removed; or the court, in lieu of ordering an election may appoint a director to fill the vacancy caused by such removal. Any director so appointed by the court shall serve until the next annual meeting of shareholders or until his successor is elected or appointed.

(8) The notice to be given of any hearing or any order. Except in the case of notices for which special provision is made in this title any notice may be given by mail if so ordered.

(9) Staying the prosecution of any suit, proceeding or action against such corporation and requiring the parties to present and prove their claims in the manner required of creditors.

(10) Determining whether adequate provision has been made for payment or satisfaction of all debts and liabilities not actually paid.

(11) The revocation of the election to wind up and dissolve by the shareholders, and the making of orders for the withdrawal and termination of proceedings to wind up and dissolve, subject to conditions for the protection of shareholders and creditors.

(12) The making of an order, upon the allowance or settlement of the final accounts of the directors, that the corporation has been duly wound up and is dissolved. Upon the making of such order, the corporate existence shall cease except for purposes of further winding up if needed.

(13) Any and all other matters concerning the winding up of the affairs of the corporation.

SEC. 82. Section 403a of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

403a. Vacancies in office of director. A vacancy occurring in the office of director by death, resignation, failure or inability to act, or otherwise, during voluntary or involuntary dissolution or winding up of a corporation, may be filled by the vote or written consent of the holders of shares representing a majority of the voting power. Until such action by shareholders a majority of the remaining directors, though less than a quorum, may fill such vacancy; but at any time thereafter the person so appointed may be removed and his successor elected by the vote of the holders of shares representing a majority of the voting power.

SEC. 83. Section 403b of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

403b. Determination, removal and appointment of directors and trustees. Upon the dissolution of any corporation by forfeiture of charter, expiration of term of existence, order of court or otherwise, or after the commencement of dissolution or winding-up proceedings, whether heretofore or hereafter occurring, if the identity of the directors, or their right to hold office be in doubt, or if they be dead or be unable or fail or refuse to act or their whereabouts can not be ascertained, any director, trustee, creditor, shareholder or member, or their assigns or successors in interest, whether or not of record, may petition the superior court in and for the county in which the principal office of such corporation was located at the time of dissolution or the commencement of the dissolution or winding-up proceedings, setting forth the facts of dissolution or of commencement of dissolution or winding-up proceedings and the names and addresses of the persons who were directors of such corporation as far as known to the petitioner, or the fact that they are dead, unknown or unable to act in the winding up of the affairs of the corporation, with a request that the court determine the identity of or appoint directors or trustees to act in the winding up of the affairs of the corporation.

Upon the filing of such petition the court shall fix a time for hearing and shall prescribe by order the giving of such notice as may be reasonable by personal service or by publication for three consecutive weeks in some newspaper published in the county, and mailing a copy of such notice to the corporation and the known directors and officers and persons named in such petition as directors of the corporation at the time of its dissolution, or to the persons having charge of its assets.

Any person claiming to be a director or trustee or receiver for such corporation, or named in such petition as a respondent, may answer such petition and may be heard thereon by the court.

The court shall have power to determine the identity of the directors or trustees, if the same be in doubt, to appoint successors for such directors or trustees as are dead, to remove from office any directors or trustees who are unable or refuse to act or whose whereabouts is unknown or whose identity is not established and to appoint fit and proper persons as directors or trustees in the place of those who are removed. The person so appointed shall be selected by the court if possible from among persons nominated by those interested in the corporation as shareholders or creditors.

The provisions of this section shall not impair or affect any remedy or proceedings otherwise provided by law for winding up the affairs of a corporation.

SEC. 84. Section 403c of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

403c. Order or Certificate of Winding Up and Dissolution. (1) When a corporation has been completely wound up without court proceedings therefor, all of its known debts and liabilities actually paid or adequately provided for or paid as far as its assets permit, and its known property distributed, a majority of the directors or trustees shall sign and acknowledge a certificate stating that the corporation has been completely wound up, its known assets distributed, any tax or penalty due under the Bank and Corporation Franchise Tax Act paid, and its other known debts and liabilities actually paid or adequately provided for or paid as far as its assets permit.

and that the corporation is dissolved. Such certificate shall be filed in the office of the Secretary of State and a copy, certified by him, shall be filed in the office of the county clerk of the county in which the principal office of the corporation is located. Thereupon corporate existence shall cease except for the purpose of further winding up if needed.

(2) In lieu of filing the certificate provided for in subsection 1 of this section the directors or trustees, if the winding up has been accomplished without court proceedings, may petition the superior court of the county in which the principal office of the corporation is located for an order declaring the corporation duly wound up and dissolved. Such petition shall be filed in the name of the corporation. Upon the filing of such petition the court shall make an order requiring all persons interested to show cause why an order should not be made declaring the corporation duly wound up and dissolved and shall direct that the order be served by publication of a copy thereof in a newspaper of general circulation in the county where the principal office of the corporation is located, if there be one, or if not, in such newspaper as may be designated by the court, once a week for a period of three consecutive weeks. Any persons claiming to be interested either as shareholders, creditors or otherwise shall have the right to appear in said proceeding and to contest said petition. Upon the hearing of said petition the court may make an order declaring the corporation duly wound up, its known assets distributed, any tax or penalty due under the Bank and Corporation Franchise Tax Act paid, and its other known debts and liabilities wholly paid or adequately provided for or paid as far as its assets permit, the accounts of its directors settled and the directors or trustees discharged from their duties and liabilities to creditors or shareholders, and declaring the corporation dissolved, or it may make such other order and grant such other relief as it may deem proper upon the evidence submitted. If an order be made that the corporation has been duly wound up and dissolved a copy of such order, certified by the clerk of the court, shall be filed in the office of the Secretary of State. Upon the making of such order, corporate existence shall cease except for the purposes of further winding up if needed and the directors or trustees shall be discharged from their duties and liabilities.

SEC. 85. Section 403d of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

403d. Unclaimed and disputed shares and debts. Deposit of distributive shares of unknown claimants or shareholders. If the holders of shares be unknown or fail or refuse to accept their distributive shares in cash or property or if their whereabouts cannot be ascertained after diligent inquiry, or if the ownership of any shares be in dispute, the corporation shall deposit the distributive shares of such claimants or shareholders with a savings bank or trust company in the county in which the principal office of the corporation is located, at interest if possible for the benefit of those who lawfully are entitled thereto. Such distributive shares shall be paid over by such bank or trust company to the lawful owners of the said shares, their representatives or assigns, upon satisfactory proof of the title being made.

In case of winding up under court supervision, whether voluntary or involuntary, such distributive shares shall be deposited with the State or county treasurer, for the benefit of those who lawfully are entitled thereto. Such distributive shares shall be paid over by said State or county treasurer to the lawful owners of said shares, their representatives or assigns, upon satisfactory proof of title being made.

If no claimants have made satisfactory proof of title within three years from the time of such deposit the property so unclaimed shall be distributed pro rata among those others who were shareholders at the time of distribution and their successors. Such unclaimed property may be distributed at any time among the known and existing shareholders upon a suitable bond or security being given to the bank or trust company or to the State or county treasurer with which such deposit was made, for the payment of any claimants who appear and establish their claims against the corporation within three years from the time of such deposit.

If a corporation be in process of being wound up or dissolved and there be any unclaimed deposit or dividend or any debt owed by it to any person whose whereabouts is unknown to the directors or trustees or other persons conducting the winding up, they shall deposit the amount due such person with the State or county treasurer or with some bank or trust company in this State accompanied with a statement of the name of the person entitled to such deposit or entitled to such dividend or debt, the time when the deposit was made, the dividend declared, or the debt created, and any information possessed as to the residence of the person entitled to the deposit or dividend or debt.

The amount of all unclaimed deposits, dividends or debts, so deposited with the State or county treasurer or deposited with a bank or trust company shall be deposited at interest if possible for the benefit of those who appear and establish their claim thereto within three years from the time of such deposit after which time any such deposits shall be dealt with in the same manner as deposits of distributive shares of unknown claimants or shareholders as provided in this section.

SEC. 86. Section 404 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

404. Involuntary winding up and dissolution and appointment of provisional director. A complaint for involuntary winding up or dissolution of a corporation other than one subject to the Bank Act, the Public Utility Act or the Building and Loan Act may be filed in the superior court of the county where the principal office is located either by a majority of the directors or by a shareholder or shareholders who have been record holders for a period of not less than three months of not less than twenty-five per cent of the number of outstanding shares or under subdivision (3) of this section by any shareholder.

The court, upon filing of a complaint duly verified, may entertain proceedings for the involuntary winding up or dissolution of a corporation, when it is made to appear:

- (1) That the corporation has abandoned its business for more than one year; or
- (2) That a corporation has an even number of directors who are equally divided and can not agree as to the management of its affairs so that its business can not longer be conducted to advantage and there is danger that its property and business will be impaired and lost, and the holders of the voting shares of the corporation are so divided into factions that they can not agree upon or elect a board of directors consisting of an uneven number; or
- (3) That the period for which the corporation was formed has terminated without extension of such period.

In case of a deadlock in the board of directors as set forth in paragraph (2) of this section, the superior court of the county where the principal office of the corporation is located may, in an action for an involuntary winding up or dissolution of the corporation or in an independent action filed by the holders of not less than fifteen per cent of the outstanding shares, appoint an impartial person, who is neither a shareholder nor a creditor of the corporation, to act as a provisional director with all the rights and powers of a director, entitled to notice of the meetings of the board of directors and to vote at such meetings, until such time as the deadlock in the board of directors is broken or until he be removed by order of the court or by vote or written consent of the holders of a majority of the voting shares. Such provisional director shall be entitled to receive such compensation as may be agreed upon between him and the corporation, and in the absence of such agreement he shall be entitled to such compensation as shall be fixed by the court. The court may grant relief by way of the appointment of a provisional director notwithstanding any provisions of the articles or by laws of the corporation and whether or not an action is pending for the involuntary winding up or dissolution of the corporation.

The relief by way of involuntary winding up or dissolution shall not be granted by the court, except under paragraph (3), unless no other method of relief or redress for the protection of the interests of the shareholders of the corporation is adequate under the circumstances.

SEC. 87. Section 404a of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows: 404a. Procedure and jurisdiction. Upon the filing of a verified complaint for involuntary winding up or dissolution of a corporation a summons shall be issued and served on the corporation as in other civil actions.

At any time prior to the trial of the action any shareholder or creditor may intervene therein.

The superior court of the county of the principal office shall have jurisdiction of said action, and may make such orders for winding up and dissolution of the corporation as justice and equity require, including those providing for the presentation of claims of creditors and the barring from participation of creditors and claimants failing to make claims and present proofs as required, as in case of proceedings for voluntary winding up and dissolution.

Unless other persons be appointed by the court on good cause shown to conduct the winding up, the board of directors shall conduct the winding up of the affairs of the corporation, subject to the supervision of the court and the power to make orders as in case of voluntary winding up. The directors or such other persons shall have the same powers and authority in general as the directors in case of voluntary winding up and dissolution and subject to any restrictions imposed by the court, may exercise all their powers through the executive officers without any order of court.

SEC. 88. Section 404b of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows: 404b. Action by State to dissolve and forfeit corporate existence.

(1) The Attorney General may bring an action against any corporation or purported corporation, in the name of the people of this State upon his own information, or upon complaint of a private party, to procure a judgment dissolving the corporation and annulling, vacating or forfeiting its corporate existence upon the ground that:

(a) The corporation has seriously offended against any provision of the statutes regulating corporations, or fraudulently has abused or usurped corporate privileges or powers; or

(b) If the corporation has violated any provision of law by any act or default which under the law is a ground of forfeiture of corporate existence.

(2) If the cause of action be a matter or act which the corporation has done or omitted to do that can be corrected by amendment of its articles or by other corporate action, such suit shall not be maintained unless and until the Attorney General, at least thirty days prior to the institution of such suit, give the corporation written notice of the matter or act done or omitted to be done, and the corporation fails, neglects or refuses to institute proceedings to correct the same within said thirty-day period or thereafter fails to prosecute such proceedings.

(3) In any such action, the court may order dissolution or such other or partial relief as it seems just and expedient, and the court also may appoint a receiver or receivers for winding up its affairs or may order that such corporation be wound up by its board of directors subject to the supervision of the court and to its power to make orders as in case of voluntary dissolution and winding up.

SEC. 89. Section 405 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

405. Articles and statement to be filed. In this chapter the term "foreign corporation" means a corporation not incorporated under the laws of this State. The term "articles" includes the articles or certificate of incorporation or other document filed for the purpose of creating the corporation with the Secretary of State or other official of the State Territory, or government under the laws of which such corporation is created, and any amendments thereof, any constitutions, supplemental thereto, or any special charter, statute, or governmental act creating it, and any charter, statute or governmental act amendatory thereof or supplementary thereto. The term "transact intrastate business" as used in this chapter means carrying into repeated and successive transactions of its business in this State other than interstate or foreign commerce.

No foreign corporation shall transact intrastate business in this State until it has filed with the Secretary of State a copy of its articles and charters verified by the Secretary of State or other official of the government under the laws of which it was created, together with a verified translation into English if the original be written in a foreign language, nor until it has also filed with the Secretary of State a statement setting forth:

- (1) The location and address of its principal office;
- (2) The location and address of its principal office within this State;
- (3) The name of some person residing within the State upon whom process directed to such corporation may be served, and his residence, business or residence address, which must be in the county in which the principal office of the corporation in this State is to be located;
- (4) Its irrevocable consent to such service, and to service of process on the Secretary of State if the agent so designated or his successor be no longer authorized to act or can not be found at the address given.

A copy of such articles and any translation thereof duly executed by the Secretary of State of this State, shall be filed with the county clerk of the county in this State in which the principal office of the corporation is located, and with the county clerk of any other county in this State in which the corporation owns real property.

SEC. 90. Section 406 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

406. Designation, change and recognition of agent. No foreign corporation, which has filed with the Secretary of State a designation of an agent for the service of process, pursuant to the requirements of any law in force at the time of such filing, need file with the Secretary of State the statement provided for in section 405, except for the purpose of designating a new agent. A statement of the new business or residence address of its agent or of the new location of its principal office may be executed by any foreign corporation or by the agent of such foreign corporation and filed with the Secretary of State, whereupon the Secretary of State shall indorse such new address or location upon the designation on file in his office, together with the date of filing of such statement.

Any foreign corporation may designate a new agent for the service of process by filing with the Secretary of State a statement setting forth its recognition of the designation of the person last named as such agent and containing the name of the new agent and all other matters required by section 405, and any foreign corporation, upon withdrawing from this State and surrendering its right to transact intrastate business therein, may revoke any designation of such agent without naming a new agent by filing with the Secretary of State a statement of such revocation.

Any person who has been designated by a foreign corporation as such agent may file with the Secretary of State a signed statement that he is unwilling to continue to act as the agent of such corporation for the service of process, the execution of which statement must be duly acknowledged. Upon the filing of such statement with the Secretary of State the capacity of such person as such agent shall terminate and the Secretary of State forthwith shall give written notice, by mail, to such corporation of the filing of such statement and the effect thereof, which notice shall be addressed to such corporation at its home office.

SEC. 91. Section 406a of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

406a. Service of process. Process directed to any foreign corporation may be served upon such corporation by delivering a copy to the person designated as its agent for service of process or authorized to receive service of process, or to the president or other head of the corporation, a vice president, a secretary, an assistant secretary, the general manager in this State, or the cashier or assistant cashier of a bank. In the event that no agent so designated can be found with due diligence at the address given, or if the agent so designated be no longer authorized to act, or if no person has been designated and if no one of the foregoing officers or agents of the corporation can be found after diligent search, then service shall be made by delivery to the Secretary of State or to an assistant or deputy Secretary of State. A copy of such designation, certified by the Secretary of State, is sufficient evidence of the appointment of such agent for the service of process.

If the corporation to be served has not filed with the Secretary of State the statement required by section 405, there shall also be delivered to the Secretary of State by the person desiring to make such service a statement of the address of such corporation to which notice, and a copy of such process, shall be sent. Upon receipt of such process and fee the Secretary of State forthwith shall give notice to the corporation by telegraph, charges prepaid, both to its principal or home office and to its principal office in the State, of the service of such process, and shall forward to each of such offices by registered mail, a copy of such process. If he have no record of such corporation or such offices, then such notice shall be telegraphed and such copy shall be mailed to the corporation at the address given in the statement delivered to the Secretary of State at the time of such service. The corporation shall appear and answer within thirty days after delivery of such process to the Secretary of State. The certificate of the Secretary of State, under his official seal, of such service shall be competent and sufficient proof thereof. The Secretary of State shall keep a record of all process served upon him and shall record therein the time of such service and his action in respect thereto.

A foreign corporation which has transacted intrastate business in this State and has thereafter withdrawn from business in this State may be served with process in the manner provided in this section in any action brought in this State arising out of such business, whether or not it has ever complied with the requirements of section 405, Civil Code.

SEC. 92. Section 408 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

408. Penalties on corporations. Any foreign corporation required to comply with the provisions of this chapter which transacts intrastate business in this State without complying therewith shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be subject to a fine of not less than five hundred dollars, nor to exceed one thousand dollars, to be recovered in any court of competent jurisdiction. Prosecution under this section may be brought by the Attorney General or by any district attorney. If brought by the latter, one-half of the fine collected shall be paid to the treasurer of the county in which the conviction was had, and one-half to the State Treasurer. If brought by the Attorney General the entire amount of fine collected shall be paid to the State Treasurer to the credit of the general fund of the State.

In addition to the penalty herein provided no such foreign corporation shall maintain any action or proceeding upon any intrastate business so transacted in any court of this State, commenced prior to compliance with this chapter until it shall have complied with the provisions thereof, and shall have paid to the Secretary of State a penalty of two hundred fifty dollars in addition to the fees due for filing the copy and statement required by section 405, and shall have filed with the clerk of the court in which the action is pending, receipts showing the payment of said fees and penalty and all franchise taxes and any other taxes on business or property in this State that should have been paid for the period during which it transacted intrastate business.

No foreign corporation which has failed to file a certified copy of its articles, and any translation thereof, in accordance with section 405 in a county in this State in which it holds real property can maintain any action or proceeding, commenced prior to such filing, in relation to such real property, its rents, issues or profits, until such certified copy of its articles and any translation thereof shall have been filed in the county in which such property is located, but shall incur no other penalty for such failure.

SEC. 93. Section 411 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

411. Surrender of right to transact intrastate business. A foreign corporation which has qualified to transact business in this State may surrender its right to engage in such business within this State by filing in the office of the Secretary of State a certificate executed and acknowledged by its president or vice president and secretary or treasurer, setting forth:

(1) That it surrenders its authority to transact intrastate business in this State.

(2) That it consents that process against it in any action upon any liability or obligation incurred within this State prior to the filing of the certificate of withdrawal may be served upon the Secretary of State.

(3) A post-office address to which the Secretary of State may mail a copy of any process against such corporation that may be served upon him.

The surrender of authority to transact business in this State shall not affect any action pending at the time. The mere retirement from transacting business within this State without filing a certificate of withdrawal shall not revoke the appointment of any agent upon whom process may be served within this State.

SEC. 94. Section 412 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

412. Liabilities of directors. The directors of a foreign corporation transacting business in this State shall be liable to the corporation, its shareholders, creditors, receiver, liquidator, or trustee in bankruptcy for the making of unauthorized dividends, purchases of its shares, or distributions of assets, or false certificates, reports or public notices or other violations of official duty, according to the laws of the State of incorporation, whether committed or done in this State or elsewhere. Such liabilities may be enforced in the courts of this State.

Sec. 95. Section 409 of the Civil Code is hereby amended to read as follows: 409. Any person who transacts intrastate business in this State on behalf of a foreign corporation which is not authorized to transact such business in this State, knowing that it is not so authorized, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and subject to a fine of not less than twenty five dollars nor more than three hundred dollars.

Sec. 96. Sections 343a, 347, 375, 401b and 587 of the Civil Code are hereby repealed."

COMMUNICATION

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL,
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, MAY 6, 1933.

Senators Rush, Allen, Dunsal, Haas, Jaeger, Martin and Smith, Senate Chamber, State Capitol, Sacramento, California.

In re: Senate Bill No. 632.

MY DEAR SENATORS: I have certain queries in relation to Senate Bill No. 632 which you might desire brought to your attention:

1. The title is too narrow, not broad enough to cover all the features of the bill.
2. In fixing certain "statutory" salaries, it is an "appropriation bill," which cannot be placed upon final passage in either house before the Budget Bill is finally enacted.

3. It contains more than one "item of appropriation." Surely such statutory salary is a separate item of appropriation, and for that reason the bill is unconstitutional, invalid and wholly nugatory.

4. The defects mentioned in paragraphs "2" and "3" probably could be cured by an amendment expressly declaring that no such item is an appropriation; that each is merely the fixing of the amount or rate of compensation, payable only in case some other statute makes money available for that purpose.

(Incidentally, the same observations are possibly true as to numerous national salary bills, many of which have already passed one house or the other, prior to enactment of the Budget Bill.)

5. In section 3 of Senate Bill No. 632, subdivision (d) is entirely too broad.

It purports to authorize the board to whose salary one with us constitutional officers. In the form in which expressed in this subdivision, probably the entire subdivision would necessarily be held invalid and of no effect.

6. The provisions of subdivision (g) of said section are likewise too broad.

7. The term "constitutional salaries" appearing in section 3a of the bill, would appear to be an unhappy selection. Any salary lawfully fixed is "constitutional," whether fixed by the Constitution, by statute, by the board of a department or by a board of control, if fixed in the course of due observance of applicable requirements of the Constitution.

8. Section 4 of the bill is open to the construction that it grants to the proposed "Personnel Board, Board of Control," successor to certain functions of the Civil Service Commission and of the Director of Finance, those certain functions being the following, and none other:

Powers and duties "with regard to the fixing or increasing" (but not decreasing) "of the compensation of any officer or employee in the executive branch."

However, this, which is obviously the purpose of the bill, should perhaps be more explicitly expressed. Otherwise, there is a very serious element of risk involved, for in its present form section 4 is susceptible to a dangerously broader interpretation—that of transferring to this new board all of the functions of the Civil Service Commission, abolishing the latter.

Yours very truly,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The following message from the Governor was received and read:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE.
SACRAMENTO, May 6, 1933.

To the Members of the Senate of the California State Legislature.

I am transmitting herewith copy of a telegram received by me today, dated May 5, 1933, from the Honorable Robert Fechner, Director of Emergency Conservation Work, Washington, D. C., together with a copy of my reply thereto.

It is respectfully requested that the Legislature give consideration to the suggestions of Mr. Fechner.

Respectfully submitted.

JAMES ROLPH, JR., Governor of California.

Western Union telegram (copy).

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 5, 1933.

James Rolph, Jr., Governor of California, Sacramento, California.

Before approving emergency conservation work projects on State, county and municipally owned land, President desires assurance that you will urge the State Legislature if now in session, or if not, at its next succeeding session to enact legislation providing that if, as a result of the work done, the State derives a direct profit from the sale of the land or its products, the proceeds will be divided equally between the State and the Federal government until the State shall have paid for the work done at the rate of one dollar per man per day for the time spent on projects, subject to a maximum of three dollars per acre. President desires that no work shall be done on privately owned land except as may be necessary in the public interest for regional or State-wide forest protection against fire, insects and disease and/or simple flood control measures to arrest gully erosion and flash runoff at headwaters of mountain streams. Where public interest demands work on privately owned land for these purposes, the President requests that it be conditioned on State assume responsibility for maintenance of works by landowners or otherwise, and obtaining contracts with the landowners by which the State reserves the right to remove at its option and without recompense to landowner any structures or other things of removable values which may result from the work done, including products of trees planted to arrest erosion. Please wire at your earliest convenience whether you agree to this plan.

ROBERT FECHNER,

Director of Emergency Conservation Work.

(COPY.)

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE.
SACRAMENTO, May 6, 1933.

Honorable Robert Fechner,

Director of Emergency Conservation Work, Washington, D. C.

Re telegram sixth, I shall urge Legislature to take action requested regarding conservation projects on State, county or municipally owned lands and work affecting private land as well. I am today transmitting copy of your telegram to the Legislature with request they give proper consideration to the matter.

JAMES ROLPH, JR., Governor of California.

Governor's message referred to Committee on Unemployment.

SECOND READING FILE

SECOND READING OF SENATE BILLS

Senate Bill No. 106—An act to provide for the construction and supervision of safe and sanitary low-cost dwellings and apartments, and for the rental or sale thereof at reasonable rates, and in connection therewith to authorize the incorporation and provide for the regulation of limited dividend housing corporations and prescribe the powers, rights and duties thereof; to regulate and limit the rate of return on securities to be issued by such corporations; to declare the urgency of this act and provide that it shall take effect immediately.

CONSIDERATION OF COMMITTEE AMENDMENTS

Pursuant to the report of the Committee on Finance, the following amendments to Senate Bill No. 106 were read:

AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE

Strike out the title of the printed bill, and insert in lieu thereof the following: "An act to add section 22a to the Limited Dividend Housing Corporations Act relating to the creation of a fund for the use of the Commission of Immigration and Housing in connection with the operation of said act, and making an appropriation therefor, to declare the urgency of this act and provide that it shall take effect immediately."

Amendment adopted.

AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO

On page 1 of the printed bill, strike out lines 1 to 20, inclusive, and all of pages 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"SECTION 1. A new section is hereby added to the act cited in the title hereof to be numbered 22a and to read as follows:

Sec. 22a. All moneys collected by the commission under the provisions of this act shall be deposited in the State treasury to the credit of the Commission of Immigration and Housing revolving fund, which fund is hereby created. Out of any of the money in the State treasury not otherwise appropriated there is hereby appropriated the sum of thirty thousand dollars to be placed to the credit of the Commission of Immigration and Housing revolving fund and to be expended by said commission in carrying out the purposes of this act. As soon as moneys are collected under the provisions of this act in amount sufficient for that purpose, the sum of thirty thousand dollars hereby appropriated shall be repaid from said fund to the credit of the general fund on the order of the State Controller.

SEC. 2. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure, necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV, of the Constitution of the State of California, and shall go into immediate effect. The following is a statement of the facts constituting such necessity:

It is necessary in the public interest to make provision for housing families of low income and to provide for the reconstruction of slum areas or elimination of congested and unsanitary housing conditions which exist in certain areas of the State and which are a menace to the health, safety, morals, welfare and reasonable comfort of the citizens of the State. Since it is now impossible to provide such housing for families of low incomes and to correct these unsanitary and congested conditions, it is essential that provision be made for the construction of new housing facilities under proper supervision and in accord with proper standards of sanitation and safety and at a cost which will permit monthly rentals or sales prices which persons and families of low income can afford to pay and for the gradual demolition of existing unsanitary and unsafe housing.

The United States of America, through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, has made funds available to corporations of the type to be formed under the provisions of this act to enable such corporations to carry out the purposes herein specified and provided. Since the building trades in the State of California are now dormant, it is of vital interest to the people of this State that corporations may be formed as provided in this act to take advantage of such proffered assistance to the end that such building trades be again revived and many thousands of people now unemployed be put to work. The funds now held by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation will be available, for a limited time only, to assist such corporations in the construction of their projects."

Amendment adopted.

Senate Bill No. 106 read second time, ordered to reprint, re-engrossment, and on file for third reading.

Senate Bill No. 55—An act making an appropriation to pay the claim of George W. Premo against the State of California.

Assembly Bill No. 374—An act to provide for the construction and supervision of safe and sanitary low-cost dwellings and apartments, and for the rental or sale thereof at reasonable rates, and in connection therewith to authorize the incorporation and provide for the regulation of limited dividend housing corporations and prescribe the powers.

rights and duties thereof; to regulate and limit the rate of return on securities to be issued by such corporations; to declare the urgency of this act and provide that it shall take effect immediately.

URGENT CLAUSE

Sec. 25. This act is hereby declared to be an urgent measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, and shall go into immediate effect. The following is a statement of the facts constituting such necessity:

It is necessary in the public interest to make provision for housing families of low income and to provide for the reconstruction of areas of concentration of congested and insanitary housing conditions, which exist in certain areas of the State and which are a menace to the health, safety, morals, welfare and comfortable comfort of the citizens of the State. Since it is now impossible to provide such housing for families of low incomes and to correct these insanitary and congested conditions, it is essential that provision be made for the construction of new housing facilities under proper supervision and in accord with proper standards of sanitation and safety and at a cost which will secure healthy rentals or sales prices, which persons and families of low income can afford to pay and for the gradual demolition of existing unsanitary and congested housing.

The United States of America, through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, has made funds available to reconstruct the State to be loaned under the provisions of this act to enable such corporations to carry out the purposes herein specified and provided. Since the building trades in the State of California are now dormant, it is of vital interest to the people of this State that corporations now be formed as provided in this act to take advantage of such available assistance to the end that such building trades be kept employed and thus the unemployed people now unemployed be put to work. The funds now held by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation will be available, for a limited time only, to assist such corporations in the construction of their projects.

Urgency clause read.

The question being on the adoption of the urgency clause.

AYES. Senators Breed, Egan, Harper, Hulse, Jones, Johnson, Jones, McKeeley, Mixer, Monahan, Peary, Powers, Rice, Sweeney, Sweeney and Williams—16.

Assembly Bill No. 1057—An act to amend an act entitled "An act providing for the incorporation, government and management of metropolitan water districts, authorizing such districts to incur bonded debt and to acquire, construct, operate and manage works and property, providing for the taxation of property therein and the performance of certain functions relating thereto by officers of counties, providing for the addition of area thereto and the exclusion of area therefrom and authorizing municipal corporations to aid and participate in the incorporation of such districts," approved May 10, 1927, as amended, designated the "Metropolitan Water District Act," by amending sections 5, 6, 7, 8, 10, 11 and 13 $\frac{1}{2}$ , all relating to the powers, government and management of metropolitan water districts, and the exclusion of area therefrom, and declaring the same an urgency measure.

URGENCY CLAUSE.

SEC. 9. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, and shall take effect immediately. The following is a statement of the facts constituting such necessity:

The peace, health and safety of the citizens of various cities in the southern part of this State are dependent upon the obtaining of an adequate supply of water for municipal and domestic use therein, from the Colorado River, by means of an aqueduct, diversion works and other facilities of such magnitude as to be possible only through the medium of a metropolitan water district, organized and functioning for the purpose of bringing such water to its component cities; that there is now a metropolitan water district, comprised of thirteen cities in the southern part of this State, organized and functioning for this purpose; that at an election held therein on the twenty-ninth day of September, 1931, the issuance of bonds sufficient to enable such district to commence the construction of the necessary diversion works, aqueduct and other facilities, and the acquisition of the rights of way required therefor, was authorized; that if the provisions of this act become a law immediately, the sale by such metropolitan water district of its bonds so authorized, will be furthered, and such district thereby will be enabled to obtain without delay the necessary funds for the construction of such diversion works, aqueduct and other facilities and the acquisition of the rights of way therefor and the doing of the other things immediately required of such district in order to function properly for the immediate preservation of the peace, health and safety of the citizens of the component cities of such district.

URGENCY CLAUSE.

SEC. 19. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, and shall go into effect immediately.

The following is a statement of the facts constituting such necessity. Unemployment has produced an alarming economic condition in the State of California. The adoption of this act will enable many cities, counties and districts of the State to finance the construction of sewer systems and works which otherwise can not be financed at this time. This development and construction will furnish employment to many persons now idle, and make them self-supporting, while at the same time nothing will be added to the tax burdens of the people. The furnishing of immediate employment is the most urgent question now before the Legislature.

Urgency clause read.

URGENCY CLAUSE.

Sec. 2. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure, necessary for the immediate preservation of public peace, health and safety within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, and shall take effect immediately. The following is a statement of the facts constituting such urgency:

There did appear in California early in March, 1933, a contagious disease affecting hogs, sufficiently serious as to require, after concurrence in decision with the Federal Bureau of Animal Industry, the slaughter of the infected animals in order to protect the welfare of the live stock industry of the State.

Because the particular disease is not specifically mentioned in the act cited in the title of this measure, it becomes necessary to require proper extension of authority in order that the animals may be slaughtered and the owners thereof properly indemnified in the event that such disease shall again appear. The urgency is necessary in order to govern the period between the effective date of this act and the time when the Agricultural Code, Chapter 25, Statutes of 1933, or amendments thereto, can become effective.

Urgency clause read.

The question being on the adoption of the urgency clause.

The roll was called, and the urgency clause adopted by the following vote:

Assembly Bill No. 2338. An act to add a new section to the Political Code to be numbered 3480d, relating to crediting on calls of installment of assessments made by reclamation districts amounts of outstanding bonds exchanged in refunding proceedings or otherwise canceled as provided by law, and to the redemption of property sold to reclamation districts for delinquent assessments and installments thereof, and to the sale by county treasurers of lands sold for delinquent assessments and installments thereof, and containing a provision declaring this act to be an urgency measure, stating the facts constituting such urgency and providing this act shall take effect immediately.

URGENCY CLAUSE

SEC. 2. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure within the meaning of section 1, Article IV, of the Constitution of the State of California, and it is deemed necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace and safety that this law shall go into immediate effect.

The following is a statement of facts constituting such urgency: Due to the agricultural depression which has existed for the past several years, many farm owners in reclamation districts in the State have been unable to meet their installments upon assessments with the result that their land has been sold to the district. The heavy penalties necessary to be paid as such property is sold, and which continually increase, make it impossible for the landowners to redeem their land and thousands of landowners are now threatened with the loss of their land. If the land is not redeemed and it is decreed to the district, it then becomes non-possessible for district purposes, and the burden becomes all the heavier on the other land owners in the district causing more delinquency and loss. Many reclamation districts have proceeded and are proceeding to collect their outstanding bonds. In such proceedings such outstanding bonds have been and will be deposited and exchanged for later maturing bonds issued and to be issued by said districts. Pursuant to law calls of installment of assessments have been made to meet the payment of such outstanding bonds exchanged and to be exchanged and otherwise provided as provided by law. Said calls have become delinquent and have been and are being and will be enforced and collected in the manner provided by law. Owing to the said refunding proceedings heretofore had and now in process or which will hereafter be had the collection and the enforcement of the payment of the whole of said calls has been, is and will be unnecessary for the reason that the payment of the principal of said maturities of said outstanding bonds for which said calls were levied to pay is not and will not be required. The Legislature hereby declares that the welfare of the State requires that the landowners in those districts be not unnecessarily dispossessed of their land, and that the land be redeemed so as to thenceforth bear its just proportion of taxation.

INTRODUCTION, FIRST READING AND REFERENCE OF BILLS—(RESUMED).

By Senator Crittenden: Senate Joint Resolution No. 26—Relative to extension of time by institutions receiving Federal aid or assistance for the payment of certain debts secured by mortgages or deeds of trust.

CONSIDERATION OF SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NUMBER TWENTY-SIX.

Senator Crittenden asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent for the consideration of Senate Joint Resolution No. 26, without reference to committee, for purpose of adoption.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 26.

Relative to extension of time by institutions receiving Federal aid or assistance for the payment of certain debts secured by mortgages or deeds of trust.

WHEREAS, The activity of the United States government in its present plan of aiding banks, insurance companies, building and loan companies and railroad companies, as well as in aiding agriculture and industry is viewed with appreciation and approbation by the Legislature of the State of California; and

WHEREAS, Said Legislature is especially in full accord with the extension of aid to banks which have loaned money to farmers and homeowners, secured by mortgages or deeds of trust on home or farm properties; and

WHEREAS, It has been brought to the attention of some members of the Legislature that some of the financial institutions receiving loans or other assistance from the United States government or its agencies do not extend and are not willing to extend reasonable time for payment of debts secured by deeds of trust or mortgages on homes and farm properties before foreclosing the mortgage or exercising powers of sale granted by the mortgage or deed of trust; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, jointly. That the Legislature of the State of California respectfully petitions and urges the United States government to use the strongest measures justifiable in requiring such institutions receiving such aid to cooperate with the Federal government, in its program for the restoration of prosperity to our country, by extending time for payment of the debts above mentioned; and be it further

Resolved. That duly authenticated copies of this resolution be sent forthwith, by the Secretary of the Senate of the State of California, to the President of the United States, to the President of the Senate of the United States, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States, and to the members of Congress from the State of California.

AMENDMENTS FROM THE FLOOR.

During third reading of Assembly Bill No. 2200, the following amendments, offered by Senator Sharkey, were read:

AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE.

In line 1 of the title of the printed bill, as amended, strike out the word "section", and insert in lieu thereof the following: "sections 528 and".

Amendment adopted.

AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO.

On page 1 of the printed bill, as amended, following the enacting clause insert the following:

"SECTION 1. Section 528 of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

528. 1. There must be printed of the laws of each session of the Legislature, two thousand two hundred fifty copies, in English, to be deposited with the Secretary of State, who, after retaining a sufficient number of said volumes for distribution, in accordance with the provisions of section 410 of the Political Code, shall sell the remaining copies at a price to be approved by the State Board of Control, who may authorize the Superintendent of Printing to compile and print any number of additional copies; the moneys thus received to be paid into the State treasury at the end of each month. Whenever any bill, joint or concurrent resolution, is passed to enrollment, by either the Senate or Assembly, the committee on enrollment of the house, in which the bill, joint or concurrent resolution originated, shall transmit the same, without delay, to the Superintendent of State Printing, who shall receipt for all such bills and resolutions, and proceed at once to have the same printed, in the order in which received, in the measure prescribed by law for the Statutes. So soon as printed, one copy, with proper blanks for the signatures of the officers whose duty it is to sign enrolled bills, shall be printed on bond paper, which, together with the engrossed bill, shall be sent to the committee on enrollment of the house in which the bill originated. Said committee shall compare such copy with the engrossed bill, and if it is found to be correct shall present it to the proper officers for their signatures. When such officials shall have signed their names, thereon, as required by law, it shall be an enrolled bill, and shall be transmitted to the Governor for his approval. If the same is signed by the Governor and becomes a law, the printed law shall go to the Secretary of State and become the official record.

2. Whenever a law is signed by the Governor, official notice shall be forwarded, in writing, to the Superintendent of State Printing of the fact. Upon the receipt of said official notice, the Superintendent of State Printing shall cause to be printed, for the use of the Legislature, two hundred forty copies of said law, joint or concurrent resolution, to be distributed, one-third to the Senate and two-thirds to the Assembly, the sergeant-at-arms of the respective houses to receipt to the Superintendent of State Printing for the same, whose receipt shall be a proper voucher for the work. He shall also cause to be printed the requisite number of sheets to make the number of copies of the statutes required by law to be printed, the one composition of type to answer the purpose of printing the three editions.

The Superintendent of State Printing shall have the Laws, Journals of Senate and Assembly, and the Appendices thereto, properly indexed and bound, the Laws in law buckram binding, and deliver the same to the Secretary of State for distribution as soon as practical after the final adjournment of the Legislature, and the receipt of the Secretary of State shall be his voucher therefor."

Assembly Bill No. 25--An act to amend sections 595 and 1054 of the Code of Civil Procedure, relating to postponement of trials and extensions of time in superior and inferior courts, declaring the urgency thereof and providing the same shall take effect immediately.

URGENCY CLAUSE.

SEC. 3. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution, and shall therefore go into effect immediately. A statement of the facts constituting the necessity is as follows:

The Legislature has declared a recess to permit certain proposed amendments to the Constitution of this State to be submitted to the people, and to allow the members of the Legislature the necessary time to draft and perfect legislation to effectuate the purposes of those constitutional amendments which are adopted by vote of the people. The members of the Legislature must make an extensive and careful study of these matters, for hastily drawn measures will retard the economic recovery of the State. If each member of the Legislature is permitted to devote his time and attention to a consideration of these matters, the time necessary to enact appropriate legislation, after the recess, will be materially lessened.

Urgency clause read.

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION No. 27.

Relative to memorializing Congress of the United States to adopt legislation providing for government use of American grown rubber.

WHEREAS, One of the greatest needs of this Nation is immediate relief of unemployment, both agricultural and industrial, and especially functioning private industry offers the most desirable employment opportunities; and

WHEREAS, It has been fully demonstrated and proven that a large portion of the rubber consumed in the United States could and would be produced in the United States if the industry was properly assisted and protected; and

WHEREAS, It has been proven by, first, the experimental and, second, the actual production of rubber on a commercial scale in the Salinas Valley, California, that rubber can be produced in the United States practically at the same cost as the plantation rubber produced in foreign countries; and

WHEREAS, The production of rubber used in the United States would necessitate the use of thousands of acres of land now producing competitive crops that are actually not bringing the producers the cost of production but are serving to produce an over production of various crops, thereby lessening the profits to all concerned; and

WHEREAS, This development would put into production thousands of acres that are not now producing anything, thereby giving a material advantage to thousands of people; and

WHEREAS, The milling of the rubber would require the construction of many mills, thereby giving the different industries involved in producing materials for such factory construction, employment and the actual operation of said mills would give employment to large numbers of industrial workers; and

WHEREAS, The value of producing such an article as rubber within the territorial limits of the United States from a standpoint of war insurance, and from the standpoint of actual value to the country in case of war, is perhaps of greater consideration than any other; and

WHEREAS, The development of acreage sufficient to take care of all the needs of rubber for this country would undoubtedly require a great many years; and

WHEREAS, There are several thousand acres of Guayule rubber in the Salinas and Santa Maria valleys, which is ready to be harvested and made into rubber but which is not being harvested due to the present price of rubber; and

WHEREAS, There are nurseries containing seedlings ready to be planted which take four years growth to produce rubber which are also not being used; and

WHEREAS, There is a danger of losing not only these thousands of acres of mature rubber and the seedlings ready to plant, but of losing the entire development to this country which has taken twenty or more years to develop, together with the expenditure of four million dollars, to bring it to its present state of development; and

WHEREAS, The immediate need is a clause in government supply bills requiring the purchase of rubber grown in the United States, in the same manner that other American products are included; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly and the Senate of the State of California, jointly. That the Legislature of the State of California respectfully urges and memorializes the Congress of the United States, now in special session, to enact legislation providing that in all Government contracts requiring the consumption or use of rubber the contract shall specify the rubber to be used must be raised within the territorial limits of the United States or Territories.

Resolved. That the Legislature of the State of California requests the honorable Senators and Representatives in the Congress of the United States to use every honorable means to secure the adoption of such legislation; and be it further

Resolved. That the Governor is respectfully requested to send copies of this resolution to the President of the United States and to the Senators and Representatives of the State of California in Congress; and be it further

Resolved. That the Governor is respectfully requested to send copies of this resolution to the Governors of all the States of the United States, requesting that the Legislatures of all the States pass and present similar memorials to Congress.

SECOND READING FILE.
SECOND READING OF SENATE BILLS.

Senate Bill No. 125—An act requiring the licensing of certain vehicles used for the transportation of property in this State, defining such vehicles, providing for the imposition, collection, and distribution of license taxes for the privilege of operating such vehicles in this State, making appropriations for the purposes of this act, prescribing penalties for the violation of this act, and providing that this act shall take effect immediately.

CONSIDERATION OF COMMITTEE AMENDMENTS.

Pursuant to the report of the Committee on Revenue and Taxation, the following amendments to Senate Bill No. 125 were read:

AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE.

On page 1 of the printed bill, strike out the title, and in lieu thereof insert the following:

"An act imposing a license fee or tax for the transportation of persons or property for hire or compensation upon the public streets, roads and highways in the State of California by motor vehicle and providing that this act shall take effect immediately."

Amendment adopted.

AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO.

On page 1 of the printed bill, strike out lines 1 to 21, both inclusive, and strike out all the remainder of said bill and in lieu thereof insert the following:

"SECTION 1. The words and phrases used in this act shall be construed for the purposes of said act, unless such construction be contrary to or inconsistent with the context thereof, as follows:

(a) The word "operator" shall include all persons, firms, associations and corporations who operate motor vehicles upon any public highway in this State and thereby engage in the transportation of persons or property for hire or compensation, either directly or indirectly.

(b) The term "registration certificate" shall include any and all certificates of registration of a motor vehicle issued by the Department of Motor Vehicles of the State of California.

(c) The term "motor vehicle" shall include all vehicles, automobiles, trucks, or trailers, not exempt from registration fees under the laws of this State, operated upon or over public highways of this State, whether the same be propelled or operated by steam or electricity, or propelled or operated by combustion of gasoline, distillate or other volatile and inflammable liquid fuels.

(d) The term "gross receipts from operation" shall include all receipts from the operation of such motor vehicle or motor vehicles beginning and ending entirely within this State and a proportion based upon the proportion of the mileage within this State to the entire mileage over which such business is done of gross receipts of such operator on all business passing through, into or out of this State, or partly within and partly without this State.

SEC. 2. Each operator of a motor vehicle within this State who transports or desires to transport for compensation or hire persons or property upon or over any public highway within this State shall make application to the State Board of Equalization, on such forms as said board may prescribe, for a license to operate motor vehicles for the transportation of persons or property for hire or compensation over public highways in this State.

All applications for licenses must be accompanied by a fee of twenty-five dollars. Upon the receipt of the application of any such operator, accompanied by such fee, the State Board of Equalization shall issue to such applicant a license to transport for compensation or hire persons or property upon or over any public highway within this State: provided that no license issued in pursuance of this act shall be construed to authorize the operation of any vehicle over or upon the public highways of this State contrary to the laws now or hereafter in effect regulating the operation of motor vehicles. No license issued hereunder shall be assignable by operation of law or otherwise.

All licenses issued under the provisions of this act shall expire on the thirty-first day of December next succeeding the date upon which they are issued. Licenses issued hereunder must be renewed annually upon application made to the State Board of Equalization on such forms as it may prescribe. All applications for renewal of licenses must be accompanied by a fee of fifteen dollars, and must be filed not later than the fifteenth day of December next preceding the year for which the renewal is sought; otherwise, any application must be considered as an application for a new license and the twenty-five dollar fee paid accordingly.

SEC. 3. After obtaining the license provided for in the preceding section, the operator of any motor vehicle or motor vehicles shall obtain from the Department of Motor Vehicles number plates or emblems for each motor vehicle operated by said operator indicating in such manner as said department may determine that the license herein provided for has been obtained. Such number plates or emblems shall be attached to and conspicuously displayed upon each of the motor vehicles authorized to be operated by said license in such manner as may be required and prescribed by the Department of Motor Vehicles.

Said department may charge and collect from operators required to display number plates or emblems under the provisions of this act, the pro rata cost to the State of the designing, manufacturing and distribution of said number plates or emblems.

It shall be unlawful from and after the effective date of this act for any person, firm, association or corporation to operate any motor vehicle for the transportation of persons or property for hire or compensation upon the public highways of this State without obtaining the license for which provisions are made in the preceding section or without having displayed upon such motor vehicle the number plates or emblems required to be displayed thereon by this act.

SEC. 4. On or before the tenth day of June, 1933, and on or before the tenth day of each calendar month thereafter, each operator shall file with the State Board of Equalization a verified report upon a form to be prescribed by said board, showing the gross receipts from operation of said operator for the preceding calendar month, and such other information relating to his or its operations as said board may require to enable the board to make its assessment for which provision is herein made. A license tax equal to three per centum of gross receipts from operation derived on and after May 1, 1933, shall be levied and assessed by said board.

If any operator shall fail, neglect or refuse to file said report within the time prescribed herein, the State Board of Equalization may from such failure, neglect or refusal upon the tax roll hereinafter assessed, and must estimate the gross receipts from operation of said operator, assessing the license tax thereon, adding to said license tax a penalty of twenty-five per cent thereon for failure, neglect or refusal to report, and said operator shall be obligated from completing of the amount of said estimate. Said penalty for failure to report shall not be in lieu of the penalty for delinquency prescribed by section 45 of this act.

The State Board of Equalization shall on or before the first day of JULY, 1933, and on or before the first day of each calendar month thereafter, assess the license tax due hereunder, and prepare and transmit its assessment roll showing the amount of the license tax assessed against each operator and immediately deliver said assessment roll to the State Controller.

SEC. 5. License taxes herein required to be paid shall be payable in monthly installments to the State Controller for the month ending May 31, 1933, and for each and every calendar month thereafter. The amount of said license tax for each month shall be paid on or before the tenth day of the second calendar month thereafter, and if not paid prior thereto shall become delinquent at the stroke of the afternoon of said day, and two percent penalty shall be added thereto for delinquency. Said penalty for delinquency shall apply only to the unexpired amount of such license tax and shall not be computed upon any penalty for failure to report prescribed by section 4 of this act.

All license taxes accruing hereunder shall be a lien upon all property of the operator used in producing gross receipts from operations as herein defined. Said lien shall attach at the time of the carrying of said gross receipts and shall have the effect of an execution duly levied against all such property of the operator and shall so remain until said taxes and all penalties accruing thereon are paid, or the property sold for the payment thereof.

The lien created by the provisions of this act shall be paramount to all private liens or encumbrances of whatever character, and to the rights of any conditional vendor, or other holder of the legal title, in or to any vehicle the privilege of operating which is subject to the license tax imposed hereunder.

In the event that any operator is delinquent in the payment of the license tax herein provided for, the Controller shall notify the State Board of Equalization forthwith and may give notice of the amount of such delinquency by registered mail to all persons having in their possession, or under their control, any credits or other personal property belonging to such operator, or owing any debts to such operator, at the time of receipt by them of such notice, and thereafter any person so notified shall neither transfer nor make other disposition of such credits, other personal property or debts until the Controller shall have consented to a transfer or disposition, or until twenty days shall have elapsed from and after the receipt of such notice. All persons so notified must, within five days after receipt of such notice, advise the Controller of any and all such credits, other personal property or debts, in their possession, under their control or owing by them, as the case may be.

Whenever any operator shall be delinquent in the payment of the license tax herein provided for, the Controller or his duly authorized representative shall proceed forthwith to collect the license tax due from such operator in the following manner: The Controller shall seize any property, real or personal, subject to the lien of said license tax, and thereafter sell at public auction such property so seized, or a sufficient portion thereof, to pay the license tax due hereunder, together with any penalty or penalties imposed hereby for such delinquency, and any and all costs that may have been incurred on account of such seizure and sale. Notice of such intended sale and the time and place thereof, shall be given to such delinquent operator in writing at least ten days before the date set for such sale by enclosing such notice in an envelope addressed to said operator at his last known residence or place of business in this State if any, and depositing the same in the United States mail, postage prepaid, and by publication for at least ten days before the date set for such sale in a newspaper of general circulation published in the county or city and county in which the property seized is to be sold; provided, however, that if there be no newspaper of general circulation in such county or city and county, then by the posting of such notice in three public places in such county or city and county for said ten-day period. The said notice shall contain a description of the property to be sold, together with a statement of the amount of the license taxes, penalties and costs, the name of the operator, and the further statement that, unless such license taxes, penalties and costs are paid on or before the time fixed in said notice for such sale, said property, or so much thereof as may be necessary, will be sold in accordance with law and said notice.

At any such sale, the property shall be sold by the Controller or by the duly authorized agent thereof in accordance with law and said notice, and the Controller shall deliver to the purchaser a bill of sale for the personal property, and a deed for any real property so sold, and such bill of sale or deed shall vest title in the purchaser. The unsold portion of any property so seized may be left at the place of sale at the risk of the operator. If, upon any such sale, the moneys so received shall exceed the amount of all license taxes, penalties and costs due the State from such operator, any such excess shall be returned to the operator, and his receipt therefor obtained. If, for any reason, the receipt of such operator shall not be available, the Controller shall deposit such excess moneys with the State Treasurer, as trustee for such owner, subject to the order of such operator, his heirs, successors, or assigns.

It is expressly provided that the foregoing remedies of the State shall be cumulative and that no action taken by the Controller shall be construed to be an election on the part of the State or any of its officers to pursue any remedy hereunder to the exclusion of any other remedy for which provision is made in this act.

SEC. 6. Every operator must keep a true and accurate record in such form as the State Board of Equalization may prescribe, of all gross receipts from operation of said operator. All such records required by this section must be available at all times for the inspection of said board or its representatives, who may require a statement under oath reflecting the contents thereof.

SEC. 7. The State Board of Equalization shall have the power, and it is hereby authorized, to prescribe the forms of all reports of gross receipts from operation, to prescribe the forms for keeping records of gross receipts from operation, and to make any and all such examinations of the records of operators and such other investigations as it may deem necessary in carrying out the provisions of this act. If such examinations or investigations made by said board shall disclose that any reports of operators theretofore filed with said board by said operators pursuant to the requirements of this act, have shown incorrectly the gross receipts from operation of such operators, said board shall have the power, and is hereby authorized, to make such changes in subsequent assessments of said operators under this act as it may deem necessary to correct the errors disclosed by its examination of the records of said operators or its investigations as hereinbefore authorized.

The State Board of Equalization may appoint accountants, auditors, investigators and such other expert and clerical assistants as it may from time to time deem necessary to enforce its powers and perform its duties under this act.

SEC. 8. The State Controller shall have the power to request the Attorney General to bring suit for the recovery of any unpaid license tax and costs. It shall be the duty of the Attorney General to bring such suit on the written request of said State Controller and in the name of said people of the State of California in a court of competent jurisdiction in the county of Sacramento; payment of an amount to said State Controller for and on account of such license tax and the acceptance thereof shall not bar an action by the State to recover an additional amount for the same month which may actually be due.

In any suit brought to enforce the rights of the State hereunder the assessment roll prepared by the State Board of Equalization pursuant to section 4 of this act, or a copy of so much thereof as is applicable in such suit, duly certified by the Controller showing unpaid license taxes assessed against any operator, shall be prima facie evidence of the assessment of the license tax, the delinquency thereof, the amount of the license tax, penalties and costs due and unpaid to the State, that the operator is indebted to the people of the State of California in the amount of such license tax and penalties therein appearing unpaid and that all the forms of law in relation to the assessment and levy of such license tax have been fully complied with by all persons required to perform administrative duties under this act.

SEC. 9. No injunction or writ of mandate or other legal or equitable process shall ever issue in any suit, action or proceeding in any court against this State or against any officer thereof to prevent or enjoin the collection under this act of any license tax sought to be collected by the Controller, but after payment of any such license tax under protest duly verified and setting forth the grounds of objection to the legality of such license tax, the operator paying such license tax may bring an action against the State Treasurer in the superior court of the county of Sacramento for the recovery of license tax so paid under protest. No such action may be instituted more than sixty days after the last day provided for the payment of such license tax without penalty, and failure to bring suit within said sixty days shall constitute waiver of any and all demands against this State on account of alleged overpayment of license taxes hereunder. No grounds of illegality of the license tax shall be considered by the court other than those set forth in the protest filed at the time of the payment of the license tax.

If in any such action judgment is rendered for the plaintiff, the amount of the judgment shall first be credited on any license taxes due from the plaintiff under this act, and the balance of the judgment shall be refunded to the plaintiff. In any such judgment, interest shall be allowed at the rate of six per cent per annum upon the amount of license tax found to have been illegally collected from the date of payment of such license tax to the date of allowance of credit on account of such judgment or to a date preceding the date of the return warrant by not more than thirty days, such date to be determined by the Controller.

In no case shall any judgment be rendered in favor of one chapter 9 in any action brought against the State Treasurer to recover any license tax paid hereunder, when such action is brought by or in the name of an assignee of the operator paying said license tax, or by any person, company or corporation other than the person, company or corporation that has paid such license tax.

If during any calendar year any operator pays hereunder license taxes which together with all other taxes and licenses, State, county and municipal, upon the property of such operator used exclusively by him in his business of transporting persons or property for hire or compensation over the public highways of this State, exceed five per cent of the gross receipts from operations of such operator in this State for such calendar year, the difference between five per cent of such gross receipts and the total amount of such taxes and licenses paid during the calendar year shall be credited on any license taxes thereafter due from such operator under this act, and the balance shall be refunded to such operator; but no credit or refund shall be allowed unless a refund claim is filed in duplicate within six months after the close of such calendar year with the State Board of Equalization on such form as may be prescribed by said board, provided that no credit or refund shall be allowed on account of the payment by any operator of taxes which become a lien on the first Monday in March of 1932 or prior thereto, and further provided that no such credit or refund shall be allowed to any operator unless he shall have first complied with all of the provisions of this act during such calendar year.

In the event that any operator is subject to the provisions of this act during only a portion of any calendar year, the credit or refund for which provision is herein made shall be allowed only in the proportion that the time within which such operator was subject to the provisions of this act bears to the entire calendar year.

SEC. 10. If any operator shall fail, neglect or refuse to obtain the license for which provision is made in section 2 of this act or to display emblems on his motor vehicles pursuant to the requirements of section 3 of this act, the Department of Motor Vehicles of the State of California, upon written complaint of the State Board of Equalization and upon ten days notice of such operator, shall suspend any and all registration certificates held by such operator for any motor vehicles operated by him or it which are named in said complaint as being operated contrary to the provisions of this act, until such time as the provisions of this act relating to such operation have been fully complied with by said operator.

SEC. 11. If any operator of any motor vehicle shall fail, neglect or refuse to file any report required to be filed by this act within ten days after the report is required to be filed, or if any operator shall fail, neglect or refuse to pay any license tax imposed hereunder within ten days after the license tax is delinquent, the State Board of Equalization shall immediately suspend the license issued to such operator and notify the Department of Motor Vehicles of such suspension. It shall thereupon be the duty of said department to forthwith suspend the registration of the motor vehicles of any such operator and to cause to be removed therefrom any or all number plates or emblems issued by said department for display upon such vehicles. Thereafter it shall be unlawful to operate such vehicles upon the public highways of this State until the license of the operator has been reinstated by said board and the registration thereof restored by said department.

Such reinstatement shall not be made until such board is satisfied that the amount of license tax actually due from the operator has been paid and has collected a fee of five dollars for reinstatement. Restoration of registration of such vehicles shall be conditional upon such reinstatement of the license hereunder and the payment to said department of a fee of five dollars for such restoration.

If the registration of any vehicle has been suspended as provided in this section, the Department of Motor Vehicles shall not thereafter reregister such vehicle or transfer the registration or ownership thereof upon the records of the department until such time as the license for the operation thereof required under this act has been reinstated.

Transfer by the Department of Motor Vehicles of the registered ownership of any vehicle licensed hereunder may be effected only after a certificate of license tax clearance has been issued therefor by the State Board of Equalization and a new license is issued in the name of the proposed transferee.

Upon the issuance of any number plates for display on any vehicle licensed hereunder, the Department of Motor Vehicles shall immediately notify the State Board of Equalization thereof.

SEC. 12. Any person, firm, association or corporation who shall use any public highway in this State for the transportation of persons or property for hire or compensation without first obtaining the license for which provision is herein made, or without carrying upon each motor vehicle so used the number plates or emblems for which provision is herein made, or who fails, neglects or refuses to make any return required hereunder or any report required by the State Board of Equalization, or who makes any false return, or who refuses to permit said board or any of its representatives to make the examination which said board is authorized to make, or who fails to keep records of gross receipts from operation as may be prescribed by said board, or who violates any other provision of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, unless such act is by any other law of this State declared to be a felony, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than five hundred dollars nor more than five thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

The State Board of Equalization shall have the power to revoke the license of any operator refusing or neglecting to comply with the provisions of this act.

SEC. 13. All sums paid to the State Controller or to the State Board of Equalization under and by virtue of this act shall be deposited in the State treasury to the credit of the motor transportation license fund, which fund is hereby created. All sums so paid to said board and so deposited, and ten per cent or so much thereof as may be necessary of all sums paid to the State Controller and so deposited, are hereby appropriated to be used by said board to pay expenses incurred by said board in carrying out the provisions of this act and there is hereby further appropriated five per cent or so much thereof as may be necessary of the amounts so deposited by said Controller to be used by him to pay expenses incurred by him in carrying out the provisions of this act. After allowing refunds for which provision is made in section 9 hereof, the balance of the amounts so deposited shall be transferred by the State Controller to the general fund of this State and is hereby appropriated to pay interest and redemption charges on bonds heretofore issued by the State of California for State highway construction.

SEC. 14. This act shall not apply to motor vehicles operated exclusively within incorporated cities or towns, nor shall it apply to such vehicles operating between incorporated cities or towns where no portion of public highway outside of the corporate limits of said cities or towns is traversed in said operation.

SEC. 15. All matters of procedure relating to refunds of taxes or the cancellation of any assessment levied under the provisions of this act shall be governed by the provisions of section 3669 of the Political Code.

SEC. 16. If any section, subsection, clause, sentence or phrase of this act which is reasonably separable from the remaining portions of this act is for any reason held to be unconstitutional, such decision shall not affect the remaining portions of this act. The Legislature hereby declares that it would have passed the remaining portions of this act irrespective of the fact that any such section, subsection, clause, sentence or phrase of this act be declared unconstitutional.

SEC. 17. This act, inasmuch as it provides for tax levies for the usual current expenses of the State, shall, under the provisions of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution, take effect immediately.

Whenever any warrant legally drawn on any fund of a school district shall have been lost or destroyed before the same shall have been paid by the county treasurer, the amount due thereon may be recovered by the legal owner or assignee thereof, by filing with the auditor of the county in the treasury of which the funds of the school district are deposited:

First—An affidavit setting forth the facts of the loss or destruction of such warrant, giving the number, date, amount and name of the payee, together with all material facts relative to the loss or destruction of the same.

Second—A bond of indemnity, with two good and sufficient sureties, in double the amount of the face of the particular warrant, which bond shall be referred to the county auditor and to the district attorney, county counsel, or other officer who is the legal advisor of the school district, for approval or rejection.

It shall be the duty of the county auditor and of the district attorney, county counsel or other officer who is the legal advisor of the school district to examine and to pass upon the sufficiency of said bond and to approve or reject the same within thirty days after it shall have been filed with the county auditor.

Upon the filing of the approved bond, the county auditor, with the approval of the county superintendent of schools authorized to approve demands on the funds of the school district, is hereby authorized and directed to issue and to deliver to the legal owner or claimant, on demand, a duplicate warrant for the full amount of the original warrant, and the county treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to pay the duplicate, in lieu of the original warrant.

The auditor and the treasurer shall each make the proper entries on their books, showing such warrants to have been lost or destroyed and the issuance of duplicate warrants in lieu thereof."

Amendment adopted.

CONSIDERATION OF COMMITTEE AMENDMENTS.

Pursuant to the report of the Committee on Judiciary, the following amendments to Assembly Bill No. 2398 were read:

AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE.

In line 3 of the title of the printed bill, strike out "public school", and insert in lieu thereof the following: "all city, county, school district, or other special district".

Amendment adopted.

AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO.

On page 1, lines 5 and 6, of the printed bill, strike out "public school buildings of the school districts", and insert in lieu thereof the following: "any buildings of any city, county, school district, or other special district".

Amendment adopted.

AMENDMENT NUMBER THREE.

On page 1, line 13, of the printed bill, strike out the word "school", and insert in lieu thereof the following: "buildings".

Amendment adopted.

AMENDMENT NUMBER FOUR.

On page 1, line 15, of the printed bill, strike out "schoolhouse", and insert in lieu thereof the following: "public building".

Amendment adopted.

AMENDMENT NUMBER FIVE.

On page 1, line 21, of the printed bill, strike out "school", and insert in lieu thereof the following: "buildings".

Amendment adopted.

AMENDMENT NUMBER SIX.

Strike out all of pages 2, 3, 4 and 5 of the printed bill, and insert in lieu thereof the following: "of any city, county, school district, or other special district concerned, replace or wholly or partially reconstruct such buildings belonging to the said city, county, school district, or other special district as may have been wholly or partially destroyed by earthquakes since January, 1933; (2a) to have prepared all necessary plans and specifications for all buildings constructed or wholly or partially reconstructed under the provisions of this act; (3) to establish and enforce such rules and regulations as it may deem necessary for the administration and execution of the purposes of this act; (4) to determine the terms and conditions under which buildings will be replaced or wholly or partially reconstructed; (4a) to rent any building or portion of a building constructed or reconstructed under the provisions of this act to the city, county, school district, or other special district wherein such building or portion of the building is located as hereinafter provided; (5) to fix the rental to be paid by any city, county, school district, or other special district for the buildings replaced or wholly or partially reconstructed by the Board of Public Building Reconstruction and rented to the city, county, school district, or other special district; (6) to fix the terms and manner of the payment of said rental; (7) to insure all buildings replaced or wholly or partially reconstructed in any city, county, school district, or other special district by said board until the total of the agreed rentals has been paid by the governing board of the said city, county, school district, or other special district; (8) to do any and all things and to perform any and all acts not heretofore enumerated and necessary to give full effect to the provisions of this act.

SEC. 4. The governing board of any city, county, school district, or other special district in which any building or buildings of the city, county, school district, or other special district have been wholly or partially destroyed by any earthquake since January, 1933, is hereby authorized to request the Board of Public Building Reconstruction to replace or reconstruct in whole or in part, as the case may be, such building or buildings and is hereby empowered to enter into, to comply with the provisions of, and to do all things necessary to carry out the terms of, any agreement which the said governing board may enter into with the said Board of Public Building Reconstruction, and which may be required or authorized by this act.

SEC. 5. Before replacing or reconstructing, in whole or in part, any building, an agreement between the governing board of the city, county, school district, or other special district and the Board of Public Building Reconstruction must be entered into. Such agreement shall fix the powers, duties, responsibilities and liabilities thereunder of the governing board of said city, county, school district, or other special district and the said Board of Public Building Reconstruction.

For the purposes of this act any building constructed or reconstructed by the Board of Public Building Reconstruction, and any portion of a building constructed or reconstructed by said board, as provided by this act, shall be, and is hereby declared to be, the property of the State and the city, county, school district, or other special district in which such building or portion of a building is situated shall have no interest therein until such building or portion of building is conveyed to the city, county, school district, or other special district by the Board of Public Building Reconstruction as in this act provided.

The governing board of any city, county, school district, or other special district which has entered into an agreement to pay rentals to the Board of Public Building Reconstruction under the provisions of this act must include in the budget of the said city, county, school district, or other special district for any year during which the agreement is in effect, an amount sufficient to pay such rental as may become due the said board during such year. The amount included in the budget of such city, county, school district, or other special district for the payment of such rental shall not be used for any other purpose than the payment of such rental.

SEC. 6. All rentals payable by a city, county, school district, or other special district shall be payable at such times as the Board of Public Building Reconstruction may designate, and when due shall be transmitted by the governing board of each city, county, school district, or other special district concerned to the Board of Public Building Reconstruction, which shall deposit said sums in the State treasury to the credit of the "public buildings reconstruction fund." The moneys in said fund shall be devoted solely to the purposes specified in this act and to the repayment of advances made by the Federal government and placed therein.

SEC. 7. The total rentals charged any city, county, school district, or other special district shall be fixed at such amount as will return to the State within such period as may have been agreed by the Board of Public Building Reconstruction and the governing board of the city, county, school district, or other special district concerned, the sums which the State, through the Board of Public Building Reconstruction, may have expended for the city, county, school district, or other special district under the provisions of this act plus an amount equal to the interest which the State may be required to pay to the Federal government on the sum expended by the Board of Public Building Reconstruction for said city, county, school district, or other special district.

Whenever the governing board of a city, county, school district, or other special district has paid to the Board of Public Building Reconstruction the total of the agreed rentals fixed by any agreement entered into under the provisions of this act, the Board of Public Building Reconstruction shall, and is hereby authorized to, convey to the said city, county, school district, or other special district in the name of the State the building or buildings mentioned in said agreement.

SEC. 8. The governing board of any city, county, school district, or other special district which has entered into an agreement with the Board of Public Building Reconstruction under the provisions of this act is hereby authorized, any law to the contrary notwithstanding, to pay the rental charged the city, county, school district, or other special district under such agreement out of any funds of the city, county, school district, or other special district the use of which for the payment of such rental is not prohibited by the Constitution of this State.

SEC. 9. All contracts by the Board of Public Building Reconstruction for the construction or the whole or partial reconstruction of any building shall be let by the said board to the lowest responsible bidder, who shall give such security as the board may require, or else the said board shall reject all bids and advertise for new bids.

For the purpose of securing bids the Board of Public Building Reconstruction must publish at least once a week for two weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published in the city, county, school district, or other special district in which such building is to be constructed or wholly or partially reconstructed, or if there is no such paper, then in some newspaper of general circulation circulated in the county, a notice calling for bids, stating the work to be done or materials or supplies to be furnished and the time when and the place where this will be opened.

SEC. 10. No contract shall be let by the Board of Public Building Reconstruction until the plans therefor have been approved by the Division of Architecture of the Department of Public Work, and in the case of schools by the Division of Schoolhouse Planning of the State Department of Education. The provisions of Chapter 59 of the Statutes of 1923 shall apply to all school houses constructed under the provisions of this act to the extent that said Chapter 59 of the Statutes of 1923 is not in conflict with, or inconsistent with, the provisions of this act.

SEC. 11. Every school district within which a public school building has been constructed or wholly or partially reconstructed by the Board of Public Building Reconstruction under an agreement entered into between the governing board of the school district and the said Board of Public Building Reconstruction under the provisions of this act, shall, any law to the contrary notwithstanding, be continued in existence as it existed at the time of making such agreement, for the purpose of fulfilling such agreement.

SEC. 12. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this act, is, for any reason, held to be unconstitutional, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this act. The Legislature hereby declares that it would have passed this act, and each section, subsection, sentence, clause, and phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses, or phrases be declared unconstitutional.

SEC. 13. This act is hereby declared to be an emergency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution and shall therefore go into immediate effect.

The facts constituting the necessity are as follows: The earthquakes in certain counties of this State since January, 1933, wholly or partially destroyed a large number of school and other public buildings in the said counties, thus making impossible the proper housing of the schools and other public agencies in the areas affected. The agencies affected are unable to finance the cost of replacing or reconstructing the buildings wholly or partially destroyed. The buildings affected must be replaced and reconstructed in order that the education of the pupils and other public functions be not interrupted and this act provides the only means whereby this may be done."

AMENDMENT NUMBER FOUR.

On page 4 of the printed bill, as amended, between lines 16 and 17, insert the following:

"Sec. 9a. Section 67b of the Code of Civil Procedure is hereby amended to read as follows:

67b. Whenever, in the opinion of the judge or a majority of the judges of the superior court of any county, or city and county, the public interests so justify or require, one or more sessions of said superior court, to be known as extra sessions of said superior court, may be held in addition to and at the same time as the other sessions of said court.

Whenever the judge or a majority of the judges of the superior court of any county or city and county shall decide that an extra session of said court shall be held, said judge or a majority of said judges shall appoint the time when said extra session shall be held, but no extra session of any superior court shall continue beyond the thirty-first day of December of the year in which such session is established. The judge or a majority of the judges of said superior court shall likewise appoint a place, within the county seat of said county or city and county, where such extra session of said court shall be held, and shall have the same power and authority to provide a place for holding such extra session of said court as is had by a judge of a superior court to provide a place for holding a session of a superior court.

Whenever, in a county or city and county having but one judge of the superior court, said judge shall provide for an extra session of said court, he shall, at the time of so providing or from time to time during the continuance of said extra session, apportion to the judge who may preside over said extra session such portion of the business of said court as he may desire, and at the close of such extra session shall order such portions of said business so apportioned and not transacted to be transferred to himself.

Whenever, in any county or city and county having more than one judge of the superior court, a majority of said judges shall provide for an extra session of said court, a majority of said judges, at the time so providing or from time to time during the continuance of said extra session, shall order upon ferret to the judge who may preside over such extra session from the judges to whom they have been assigned according to law or the rules of said court, such portions of the business of said court as they may select, and, at the close of such extra session shall order returned to the judges of said court such portions of said business so transferred as shall not have been transacted. Except as above provided, any rules of any superior court relating to the transfer of any business from one judge of said court to another shall apply to the transfer of any business duly assigned to the judge presiding over any extra session from said judge to any judge of said court.

Upon the request of the judge or a majority of the judges of the superior court of any county or city and county, the chairman of the Judicial Council shall designate and authorize, to hold and preside over such extra session of the superior court of said county or city and county, a judge of the superior court of some other county or city and county, and upon such designation and authorization such judge must so serve.

The judgments, orders, and proceedings of any extra session of any superior court, held in accordance with the provisions of this section, shall be equally effective as if any or all of the judges of said court presided at such session. Any judge or any number of judges of any superior court may hold and preside over any extra session of said court, with or without the judges designated and authorized to hold and preside over said session. Any judge of any superior court may perform in connection with any business duly assigned to the judge presiding over any extra session of said court any act which he could perform in connection with any business assigned to any other judge of said court. Any judge, holding or presiding over any extra session of a superior court, may perform in chambers or in court, in connection with any business duly assigned to him, any act which could be performed by any judge of said court, in chambers or in court, in connection with such business if duly assigned to himself; but no judge, holding or presiding over any extra session of any superior court, shall perform, in chambers or in court, any act in connection with any business that has not been duly assigned to him.

All provisions of the laws of this State applying to the compensation of a judge of a superior court, holding the superior court in a county other than his home county, shall apply to judges holding extra sessions of a superior court in any county other than his home county."

SEC. 85a. Section 564 of the Code of Civil Procedure is hereby amended to read as follows:

564. A receiver may be appointed, in the manner provided in this chapter, by the court in which an action or proceeding is pending in any case in which such court is empowered by law to appoint a receiver.

In superior courts a receiver may be appointed by the court in which an action or proceeding is pending, or by a judge thereof, in the following cases:

1. In an action by a vendor to vacate a fraudulent purchase of property, or by a creditor to subject any property or fund to his claim, or between partners or others jointly owning or interested in any property or fund, on the application of the plaintiff, or of any party whose right to or interest in the property or fund, or the proceeds thereof, is probable, and where it is shown that the property or fund is in danger of being lost, removed, or materially injured;

2. In an action by a mortgagee for the foreclosure of his mortgage and sale of the mortgaged property, where it appears that the mortgaged property is in danger of being lost, removed, or materially injured, or that the condition of the mortgage has not been performed, and that the property is probably insufficient to discharge the mortgage debt;

3. After judgment, to carry the judgment into effect;

4. After judgment, to dispose of the property according to the judgment, or to preserve it during the pendency of an appeal, or in proceedings in aid of execution, when an execution has been returned unsatisfied, or when the judgment debtor refuses to apply his property in satisfaction of the judgment;

5. In the cases when a corporation has been dissolved, or is insolvent, or in imminent danger of insolvency, or has forfeited its corporate rights;

6. In an action of unlawful detainer;

7. In all other cases where receivers have heretofore been appointed by the usages of courts of equity."

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, MAY 9, 1933.

MR. PRESIDENT: I am directed to inform your honorable body that the Assembly on this day concurred in Senate amendments to Assembly Bill No. 554. An act to amend the act entitled "An act to define building and loan associations and to regulate them and their organization, business, operation, merger, consolidation, and liquidation, and without limiting the generality of the foregoing, to do the following: to define and regulate the agents, subagents and employees of such associations, and to regulate their officers, directors, and employees; to define, authorize, and regulate the issuance of, shares, stock and investment certificates of such associations, and to prescribe the rights, remedies and liabilities of holders thereof; and to make such investment certificates legal investments for certain purposes; to prescribe the rights, powers, remedies, duties and liabilities of such associations and the rights and remedies of their creditors; to regulate the construction, issue and borrowings of such associations; and their accounts, reports, books, instruments and advertising; to create and continue the office of Building and Loan Commissioner; provide for and define the rights, powers, remedies and duties of the commissioner and his assistants and employees; to provide penalties for officers of such associations, their directors, officers, agents, subagents, creditors and employees and by other persons and corporations; and to repeal Part XVI of Part IV of Division 1 of the Civil Code, Chapter 354 of the Statutes of 1931 and all amendments thereto and supplemental thereto, Chapter 1 of the Statutes of 1927, and all other acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith," approved May 5, 1931, by amending #### COMMUNICATION.

The following communication from the Attorney General was read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, LEGAL DEPARTMENT.

SACRAMENTO, May 9, 1933.

*Hon. J. A. Beek, Secretary of the Senate,
State Capitol, Sacramento, California.*

DEAR SIR: With your letter of the sixth inst., you have submitted to me Senate Bill No. 1206, as amended in the Senate on May 5, 1933, with a request for an opinion as to the validity of the measure.

The particular portion, I assume, to which you have reference, pertains to the conditional features of the bill, depending upon the happening or not happening of an event, the measure providing that in the event Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 30 is not approved and ratified, then and in that event, one rate of taxation will apply, but in the event that amendment is approved and ratified, then another and different rate of taxation will apply.

It is my belief that such legislation is legally permissible, and I believe the measure to be a valid one.

Yours very truly,

JESS HESSION, Deputy Attorney General

CONSIDERATION OF DAILY FILE

THIRD READING OF ASSEMBLY BILLS.

Assembly Bill No. 1091—An act to amend sections 633a7, 633a16, 633a18, 633a24, 633a25, 633a27, 633a28, 633a29, and 633a31 of the Political Code, and to add a new section to said code, to be numbered 633a32, relating to the qualification, licensing and fees of insurance agents, brokers and solicitors, and declaring the urgency thereof.

URGENCY CLAUSE.

SEC. 11. This act is hereby declared an urgency measure necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety under the provisions of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution of this State. A statement of the facts constituting such necessity is the following:

The moneys in the insurance fund in the State treasury are almost exhausted. The entire expense of supervision and regulation of insurance companies is paid out of said fund. Unless additional revenues are immediately made available for the replenishment of this fund, such supervision and regulation can not efficiently be continued, and a breakdown of this vital function of State administration is thereby threatened. This act, by increasing the revenues payable into such fund, will tend to avert such a threatened breakdown and will thereby enable the State to continue to efficiently supervise and regulate the insurance business therein. As a failure of such supervision and regulation to efficiently function might result in tremendous losses to the people of this State, it is therefore necessary to the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety that this act take effect immediately.

Urgency clause read.

The question being on the adoption of the urgency clause.

The roll was called.

During third reading of Assembly Bill No. 2311, the following amendments, offered by Senator Crittenden, were read:

AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE

On page 1 of the printed bill, in line 1 of the title, after the word "act", insert the following: "to amend sections 9 and 12 of and

Amendment adopted.

AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO

On page 1 of the printed bill, strike out all of lines 9 to 11, inclusive, of the title, and insert in lieu thereof the following: "19, 1931 relating to bovine tuberculosis; to declare the urgency thereof".

Amendment adopted.

AMENDMENT NUMBER THREE

On page 2 of the printed bill between lines 9 and 10 insert the following:

"SECTION 1. Section 9 of the act cited in the title hereof is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 9. (a) The Department of Agriculture is hereby authorized and empowered to establish and maintain tuberculosis control areas within this State wherein said department shall examine and tuberculin test all dairy cattle, and with the consent of the owner, certain beef cattle, as often as may be deemed necessary, in order to determine which animals are affected with tuberculosis for the purpose of bringing said disease of tuberculosis under control in the State of California. Any tuberculosis control area shall consist of an entire county or group of entire counties. Immediately after this act becomes effective, the Department of Agriculture shall establish and maintain tuberculosis control areas in all areas in which tuberculosis eradication areas were established under the Bovine Tuberculosis Law, Chapter 47, Statutes 1927.

(b) All owners of cattle subject to examinations and tuberculin testing within a tuberculosis control area, shall upon request of the Department of Agriculture or duly authorized agent thereof, provide necessary facilities for making tuberculin tests, and render such assistance as may be required.

(c) Any bovine animal, in a tuberculosis control area, reacting positively to a tuberculin test conducted by a representative of the Federal or State Department of Agriculture, or adjudged tuberculous upon physical examination by said representative, shall immediately be segregated from other bovine animals which are not reactors. Within thirty days after the appraisal of said reacting bovine animal, as provided for herein, it shall be slaughtered under the direction of the Department of Agriculture, and in consideration of the fact that the eradication of bovine tuberculosis is beneficial to public health and welfare, before said animal is slaughtered, its value shall be determined by appraisalment by a representative of the said Department of Agriculture or a representative of the Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture, and the owner or his agent. In case of failure to agree on the valuation, said reacting bovine animal shall be appraised by the chief appraiser of said Department of Agriculture or his representative. In either event, the value determined shall be final. Except as hereinafter provided, the State of California shall pay to the owner of any reacting bovine animal slaughtered under the provisions of this section one-third of the difference between the appraised value of such reacting bovine animal and the proceeds from the sale of the salvage, and the owner shall also receive the proceeds from the sale of the salvage, provided that in no case shall any payment by the State of California, hereunder, exceed thirty-five dollars ($35) for any grade animal or seventy dollars ($70) for any purebred animal, and no payment shall be made unless the owner has complied with all the provisions of this act relating to tuberculosis control areas and the regulations promulgated by the Department of Agriculture for its enforcement.

(d) If at any time the Congress of the United States shall fail or refuse to make an appropriation to assist in the eradication of tuberculosis in cattle in California, or if at any time the Legislature of the State of California shall fail or refuse to make an appropriation for the eradication of tuberculosis and in payment for cattle destroyed under the provisions of this section, or if at any time an appropriation made by the Legislature of the State of California for such purposes shall become exhausted, the testing of cattle as provided for in this section shall be suspended until such time as money shall be available for payment for cattle slaughtered under the provisions of this section of this act.

(e) No indemnity shall be paid to any person in any of the following cases:

1. For any steer or grade bull determined to be a reactor.
2. For any bovine animal brought into a tuberculosis control area, which reacts to a tuberculin test applied within ninety days after arrival of said animal in such area, as provided for in this act, or which was brought into a tuberculosis control area, contrary to any provision of law or rules and regulations of the State or Federal Department of Agriculture.

3. For any reacting bovine animal until the premises, where said animal had been kept, have been cleaned and disinfected by the owner and in a manner approved by an agent of the State or Federal Department of Agriculture.

4. For any reacting bovine animal which has not been slaughtered within thirty days after such animal has been appraised as provided in this act.

5. For any reacting bovine animal owned by the United States, State of California, or any county, city, town or township, in the State of California.

No subsequent payment of indemnity shall be made to any person in any of the following cases:

1. Unless the provisions of this act have been fully complied with for each and every bovine animal added to his herd.

2. Unless and until the premises are and have been maintained in a sanitary condition satisfactory to the State or Federal Department of Agriculture.

(f) The pedigree of any purebred bovine animal shall be proved by a certificate of registry from the herd books where registered and said registration papers of any purebred bovine animal slaughtered on account of tuberculosis and for which indemnity is paid shall be marked 'canceled' by the Department of Agriculture.

(g) Each claim against the State for payment in consideration for the slaughter of any reacting bovine animal shall be presented to the State Controller, audited and paid out of appropriations or funds available therefor, in accordance with law.

(h) Whenever the Department of Agriculture shall establish a tuberculosis control area, said department shall issue a proclamation which shall designate the boundaries thereof; and said proclamation shall be published for three successive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation published in such area.

SEC. 2. Section 12 of the act cited in the title hereof is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 12. No cattle, except as otherwise provided, shall be permitted to enter any tuberculosis control area unless they are accompanied by a tuberculin test certificate, acceptable to the Department of Agriculture issued by a duly authorized veterinarian, showing said cattle to have negatively passed a tuberculin test applied within sixty days if entering from another State, or thirty days if from within the State, prior to the shipping, transporting, or moving of said cattle, and unless the entire herd or herds from which said animals originate are tuberculin tested and the number of animals reacting does not exceed ten per cent of the total number of the herd, and said cattle after arrival in a tuberculosis control area shall be held under supervision and tuberculin retested within ninety days by an agent of the State or Federal Department of Agriculture; provided, that cattle regularly tested and nonreacting in a tuberculosis control area and cattle from State and Federal accredited herds and modified accredited areas may be brought into a tuberculosis control area by permit from the Department of Agriculture; and provided, further, that cattle of beef breeds may be permitted to enter any tuberculosis control area, in accordance with the regulations of the Department of Agriculture; and, provided, further, that in the case of cattle which have been brought into any tuberculosis control area to be sold at public or private sale, the place where the sale is made shall not be construed to be the final destination as defined in this act, but said cattle may be reshipped under permit of the Department of Agriculture, and the destination of such reshipment shall be considered to be the final destination. A copy of each tuberculin test certificate accompanying cattle, entering any tuberculosis control area, shall be forwarded to the Department of Agriculture on or before the date of shipment or movement, and the forms for such certificates, to be issued for cattle originating within the State, shall be obtained from the Department of Agriculture."

AMENDMENT NUMBER FOUR.

On page 2, line 10, of the printed bill, strike out "Section 1", and insert in lieu thereof "Sec. 3".

AMENDMENT NUMBER FIVE.

On page 2, line 17, of the printed bill, strike out the period, and insert in lieu thereof a semicolon and the following: "provided, however, that whenever any county is withdrawn from a tuberculosis control area it shall become a provisional tuberculosis control area wherein no indemnity will be paid for reactors to the tuberculin test. In such provisional tuberculosis control area the director shall tuberculin test all cattle the owner or owners of which shall request in writing the tuberculin testing of such cattle.

All reactors found in a provisional tuberculosis control area shall be removed from such area within thirty days after detection."

Amendment adopted.

AMENDMENT NUMBER SIX

On page 2, line 18, of the printed bill, strike out "Sec. 2", and insert in lieu thereof "Sec. 4".

Amendment adopted.

AMENDMENT NUMBER SEVEN

On page 2 of the printed bill, between lines 23 and 24, insert the following:

"For the purpose of expediting the necessary testing and checking of cattle shipped into the State and entering tuberculosis control areas, and saving the expense incident to following up cattle after the 30-day period, sections 9 and 12 of the act cited in the title hereof must be amended. These same amendments are being made in the Agricultural Code but can not become effective until some attempt to make possible a saving of several thousands of dollars in special tests under the provisions of the present act."

AMENDMENT NUMBER EIGHT

On page 2, line 24, of the printed bill, strike out the word "There", and insert in lieu thereof the words "Also, there".

Amendment adopted.

Assembly Bill No. 2311 ordered to reprint, and on file for third reading.

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION No. 31

Relative to the use of granite in Federal construction projects.

WHEREAS, California is one of the leading granite producing States of the Union; and

WHEREAS, It is desirable that permanent public buildings should be constructed of dignified, durable and beautiful materials; and

WHEREAS, The benefits of Federal construction should not be confined to any one State or locality by the specific and general use of a material produced almost exclusively within the borders of such a State; and

WHEREAS, Granite is readily available in any of twenty-one States while the production of limestone is largely confined to the State of Indiana; and

WHEREAS, It is apparent from its general use in all sections of the country that undue favoritism has been shown to limestone in Federal construction with resulting aggravation of serious unemployment conditions in the granite producing States; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly and the Senate of the State of California, jointly, That the members of the Senate and House of Representatives from the State of California be and are hereby urged to secure proper consideration for the use of granite in Federal construction projects; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly be, and he is hereby directed to send copies of this resolution to each member of the Senate and House of Representatives from the State of California.

THIRD READING OF ASSEMBLY BILLS (RESUMED).

ASSEMBLY CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT No. 16.

A resolution to propose to the people of the State of California an amendment to the Constitution of said State, by adding to Article XVI thereof a new section to be numbered 9, authorizing the Legislature to provide for assistance by the State in the refinancing of irrigation and reclamation districts, and approving and ratifying the District Finance Act of 1933.

Resolved by the Assembly, the Senate concurring, That the Legislature of the State of California at its regular session commencing on the second day of January, 1933, two-thirds of the members elected to each of the two houses thereof voting therefor, hereby proposes to the people of the State of California that the Constitution of said State be amended by adding to Article XVI thereof, a new section to be numbered 9, to read as follows:

Sec. 9. The issuance and sale of bonds of the State in the total principal sum of fifty-five million dollars and the use and disposition of the proceeds of the sale thereof as provided in the District Finance Act of 1933, is hereby authorized, and regardless of any other provision in this Constitution said act is hereby approved and ratified and made fully and completely effective. All provisions of this section are self-executing and do not require legislative action in furtherance thereof but this does not prevent such legislative action except that no amendments by the Legislature shall be enacted which will affect the liability of the State for any indebtedness incurred under said act or impair the security which must be deposited with the State to insure the retirement of any such State indebtedness.

Assembly Bill No. 2294. An act relating to and providing for a moratorium with respect to the requirement for the performance of prospecting work contained in certain State mineral permits other than those issued for prospecting for oil or gas, under the authority contained in Chapter 303, Statutes of California, 1921, as amended, and declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately.

URGENCY CLAUSE.

SEC. 2. This act is hereby declared an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, and as such it shall take effect immediately.

The facts constituting such necessity are as follows: Due to the existing economic crisis and proclamation of the President of the United States and recent legislation imposing restrictions upon withdrawal of funds from banks it is at present impossible for permittees of said State mineral permits to obtain money with which to perform the required prospecting work. As a result, unless this act takes effect immediately, permittees will lose such State mineral permits and thereby suffer losses on account of investments made in prospecting work. It is, therefore, necessary that this act go into effect immediately to curb the effects of the existing national crisis.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 27

Relative to legislation by Congress to limit the jurisdiction of the Federal courts in suits brought to restrain State officers in the enforcement of public utility rate orders.

WHEREAS, There has been introduced in the Congress of the United States by the Honorable Hiram W. Johnson Senate Bill No. 752 designed to limit the jurisdiction of the District Courts of the United States over suits wherein injunctions are sought by public utility corporations to restrain the enforcement of orders issued by State administrative bodies fixing the rates of public utilities by amending section 24 of the Judicial Code of the United States so as to deprive the District Courts of jurisdiction in such suits when an adequate remedy is provided to utilities in the courts of a State; and

WHEREAS, Such legislation is deemed to be of vital importance for the preservation of the powers of the various States in the regulation of public utilities and to be in the public interest; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, jointly, That the Legislature of the State of California earnestly urges that the Congress of the United States immediately enact said Senate Bill No. 752; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this joint resolution be transmitted to the President and to the Vice President of the United States and to each member of the Senate and of the House of Representatives of the United States.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

CASE OF URGENCY.

RECOMMENDATION OF THE GOVERNOR.

In accordance with section 34 of Article IV of the Constitution, the Governor presented the following communication recommending the passage of Senate Bill No. 125.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,
SACRAMENTO, May 8, 1933.

To the Honorable Members of the Senate of the State of California

GENTLEMEN: Senate Bill No. 125 makes an appropriation out of the proceeds of the tax on motor vehicle transportation proposed therein for the payment from the general fund of amounts to cover interest and redemption charges on State highway bonds. This will also make provision for the appropriation of other amounts for administrative expenses of the act and refunds.

In my opinion, the appropriation for which provision is made in Senate Bill No. 125 is a matter of emergency within the meaning of Article IV, section 34 of the Constitution, and I therefore recommend the passage of this bill as an emergency measure.

Respectfully submitted

JAMES ROLPH, Jr., Governor of California.

URGENCY CLAUSE

SEC. 17. This act, inasmuch as it provides for tax levies for the usual current expenses of the State, shall, under the provisions of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution, take effect immediately.

PETITION

Senator Inman presented the following resolution from the board of supervisors of Sacramento County and upon his request, it was read and ordered printed in the Journal:

RESOLUTION AND ORDER No. 1955

WHEREAS, The board of supervisors of the county of Sacramento is advised that there is now before the Legislature of the State of California a bill providing for the calling and holding of a special election throughout the State of California in the month of June of this year for the purpose of submitting to the people certain amendments to the Constitution and certain proposed laws which are to be referred to the people for enactment; and

WHEREAS, The cost of said election in each county must be paid by the counties out of the income and revenue provided for the fiscal year 1932-1933, in accordance with section 18 of Article XI of the Constitution of the State of California; and

WHEREAS, The county of Sacramento has had the expense of two special elections during the fiscal year 1932-1933 in addition to the general election and other extraordinary expenses created by the unusual conditions existing at this time; and

WHEREAS, Various other counties of the State of California have had to meet the expense of special elections and other extraordinary expenses created by the unusual conditions existing throughout the State; and

WHEREAS, The expense of a special election in June of this year would create an embarrassing condition in the finances of the county of Sacramento and other counties of the State of California and further increase the burdens of the county governments which are now being operated at a multitude of expense; and therefore, be it

Resolved and ordered, That this board of supervisors of the county of Sacramento does hereby request the members of the Legislature of the State of California and the members of the Legislature from Sacramento County to consider the advisability of holding such special election sometime during the month of July rather than the month of June; it is hereby further

Resolved and ordered, That the clerk of this board forward to the Legislature of the State of California and to the members thereof representing the county of Sacramento copies of this resolution.

Adopted, This tenth day of May, 1933.

ASSEMBLY CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT No. 98.

A resolution to propose to the people of the State of California an amendment to the Constitution of said State by adding a new section to Article VI to be known as section 8½, relating to the election of judges of the superior courts of certain counties, the terms of office of such judges, and the filling of vacancies in such offices.

Resolved by the Assembly, the Senate concurring. That the Legislature of the State of California at its fiftieth session commencing on the second day of January, 1933, two-thirds of all the members elected to each of the two houses voting in favor thereof, hereby proposes to the people of the State of California that a new section be added to Article VI of the Constitution of this State to be known as section 8½ and to read as follows:

Sec. 8½. Any county having a population in excess of 1,500,000 may adopt the provisions of subdivisions 1, 2 and 3 of this section as applicable to such county if the majority of the electors of such county, voting thereon at a general election at which such question shall be submitted, shall vote in favor thereof. The provisions of subdivisions 1, 2 and 3 of this section may be adopted as applicable to such county in pursuance of an ordinance adopted by the vote of three-fifths of all of the members of the board of supervisors of such county, declaring that the public interest requires the submission at an election of the proposal to adopt the provisions of subdivisions 1, 2 and 3 hereof as applicable to such county, or in pursuance of a petition of qualified electors of said county as hereinafter provided, which petition must state the name and address of a person or persons to whom notice of the insufficiency of the petition shall be sent in the event that the petition shall not have the required number of signatures of the qualified electors signed thereto. Such petition, signed by fifteen per cent of the qualified electors of the county, computed upon the total number of votes cast therein for all candidates for Governor at the last preceding general election at which a Governor was elected, praying for the adoption of the provisions of subdivisions 1, 2 and 3 as applicable to such county, may be filed in the office of the county clerk. It shall be the duty of the county clerk, within twenty days after the filing of the petition, to examine the same and to ascertain from the record of the registration of the electors of the county whether the petition is signed by the requisite number of qualified electors. If required by the clerk, the board of supervisors shall authorize him to employ persons to assist him in the work of examining the petition, and the board shall provide for their compensation. Upon the completion of such examination, the clerk shall forthwith attach to the petition his certificate, properly dated, showing the results of his examination, and if the certificate shows that the petition is signed by the requisite number of qualified electors he shall immediately present the petition to the board of supervisors if it is in season, otherwise at its next regular meeting after the date of such certificate. If it appears on the certificate that the petition has not the required number of signatures, the clerk shall so notify the person or persons designated as the person or persons in whose behalf the petition is presented, and the petition shall be sent, when upon the petitioners shall have thirty days from and after the date of receiving such notice of insufficiency to present and file a supplement bearing additional signatures. Upon the receipt of the supplement the clerk shall present forthwith to the board of supervisors so that such examination shall be completed within ten days from the date of its receipt by him. If it appears that the additional signatures and those which have not been legally rejected upon the original petition total the requisite number, the clerk shall forthwith attach to the petition his certificate, properly dated, showing that the petition has been signed by the requisite number of qualified electors, and shall immediately present said petition to the board of supervisors if it is in season, otherwise at the next regular meeting after the date of such certificate. Upon the adoption of such ordinance, or the presentation of such petition, the board of supervisors shall submit the proposal to adopt the provisions of subdivisions 1, 2 and 3 of this section as applicable to such county to the electors of said county at the next succeeding general election occurring subsequent to ninety days after the adoption of such ordinance or the presentation of such petition. If the proposal is approved by a majority of the votes cast thereon, the board of supervisors shall cause a certificate, signed by the chairman of the board, to be filed with the Secretary of State, reciting that the proposal to adopt the provisions of subdivisions 1, 2 and 3 of this section as applicable to such county was approved by a majority of the votes cast thereon at such election, and upon the filing of such certificate the provisions of subdivisions 1, 2 and 3 of this section shall thereafter be applicable to such county, and effective as to all vacancies in the office of judge of the superior court in said county occurring after the date of filing of such certificate. The duties herein imposed upon the county clerk shall be performed by the registration officers in any county where the office of registration of voters exists. Any county which has adopted the provisions of subdivisions 1, 2 and 3 of this section as applicable to said county for the nomination and appointment of judges of the superior court by said county may withdraw from the provisions of said subdivisions in the same manner as heretofore set forth for the proposal thereto, and the duties and powers of the State and county officers herein specified shall be the same with respect to an ordinance or petition to withdraw from the provisions of said subdivisions as those above prescribed with respect to the adoption thereof. If the proposal to withdraw from the provisions of said subdivisions is approved at a general election the withdrawal shall become effective upon the filing with the Secretary of State of the certificate signed by the chairman of the board of supervisors reciting that the proposal to withdraw from the provisions of subdivisions 1, 2 and 3 of this section as applicable to such county was approved by a majority of the votes cast thereon at such election, and the general provisions of the Constitution with respect to appointment and election of judges of the superior court shall forthwith become effective in said county as to all vacancies then existing or thereafter occurring in the office of judge of the superior court in said county, but such withdrawal shall not in any way affect the validity of any appointment made or election held under the provisions of said subdivisions, nor the term of office of any judge so appointed or elected.

Subdivision 1. The term of office of judges of the superior court shall be six years from and after the first Monday of January after the first day of January next succeeding their election. Within thirty days before the first day of July next preceding the expiration of his term, any judge of the superior court may file with the officer charged with the duty of certifying nominations for publication in the official ballot a declaration of candidacy for election to succeed himself. If he does not file such declaration the Governor must nominate a suitable person for the office before the sixteenth day of September by filing such nomination with the officer charged with the said duty of certifying nominations, which nomination shall be made from candidates recommended in the same manner as those recommended for appointment to a vacant office under subdivision 2 hereof. In either event the name of such candidate shall be placed upon the ballot for the ensuing general election in November in substantially the following form:

For Judge of the Superior Court

Yes

Shall he be elected to the office for the term expiring in January, ----- ?

No

No name shall be placed upon the ballot as a candidate for such office except that of a person so declaring or so nominated. If a majority of the electors voting upon such candidacy vote "Yes," such person shall be elected to the said office. If a majority of those voting thereon vote "No," such person shall not be elected and said office shall be deemed vacant for the ensuing term.

Subdivision 2. A vacancy in the office of judge of the superior court shall be filled at the first general State election after the expiration of four years after the first day of April next succeeding the accrual of such vacancy, by the election in the manner provided in subdivision 1 of this section of a judge for a full term to commence on the first Monday in January after the first day of January next succeeding his election. The Governor, within thirty days after presentation to him of the names of candidates as hereinafter provided, must appoint a person to fill such vacancy until the commencement of such term, but no one who has been rejected at an election for said office shall be eligible for such appointment. Such appointment shall be made from candidates nominated by a board composed of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, the Presiding Justice of the District Court of Appeal of the appellate district in which such county is situated, or if there is more than one division of the District Court of Appeal in such appellate district, the Presiding Justice of the division of such District Court of Appeal first established, and the member of the State Senate representing said county. Said board, within sixty days after the accrual of such vacancy, must nominate and present to the Governor the names of not less than two nor more than three candidates for each such vacancy. Any such nomination must be the unanimous action of said board, except that in any case in which the board is unable to act unanimously within thirty days after the accrual of a vacancy, such nomination may thereafter be made by a majority of the board. If the Governor fails to appoint one of the persons so nominated to fill a vacancy within thirty days after presentation to him of the names of the required number of candidates, the board must appoint one of said candidates to fill the vacancy. The powers and duties of said board in such a case with respect to such appointment shall be the same as those of the Governor, and a commission executed and signed by a majority of said board shall in such event be of like validity and effect as if so executed and signed by the Governor.

Subdivision 3. In addition to the methods of removal by the Legislature provided by sections 16 and 18 of Article IV and by section 10 of this article, the provisions of Article XXIII relative to the recall of elective public officers shall be applicable to judges elected or appointed pursuant to the provisions of this section, so far as the same relate to removal from office.

All provisions in conflict with subdivisions 1, 2 and 3 of this section shall be superseded by said subdivisions in any county which adopts the provisions of said subdivisions.

"Sec. 8. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution and shall therefore go into immediate effect. The facts constituting the necessity are as follows:

The moneys in the insurance fund in the State treasury are almost exhausted. The entire expense of supervision and regulation of insurance companies is paid out of said fund. Unless additional revenues are immediately made available for the replenishment of this fund, such supervision and regulation can not efficiently be continued, and a breakdown of this vital function of State administration is thereby threatened. This act, by increasing the revenues payable into such fund, will tend to avert such a threatened breakdown and will thereby enable the State to continue to efficiently supervise and regulate the insurance business therein. As a failure of such supervision and regulation to efficiently function might result in tremendous losses to the people of this State, it is therefore necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety that this act take effect immediately."

PROPOSED TELEGRAM TO SECRETARY OF THE NAVY OF THE UNITED STATES.

Senator Breed moved that the following telegram be sent to the Secretary of the Navy of the United States:

SACRAMENTO, May 10, 1933.

Hon. Claude A. Swanson, Secretary of the Navy, Washington, D. C.

SIR: There is pending in the Legislature of California a bill granting to the City and County of San Francisco tide and submerged lands adjacent to and north of Yerba Buena Island. The area which it is proposed to grant is described as follows:

Beginning at a monument established near the westerly end of Yerba Buena Island by the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey about 75 feet above high tide, known and designated by said survey as Station Goat, located at latitude 37° 48' 40.387" north, longitude 122° 22' 17.657" west (values as determined by the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey as of the year 1930), and running thence N. 28° W. a distance of 8,000 feet, thence N. 62° E. a distance of 4,500 feet, thence S. 28° E. a distance of 8,000 feet, thence S. 62° W. a distance of 4,500 feet to the point of beginning; all bearings being referred to the true meridian through said Station Goat, excepting from said grant however all that portion of the lands now lying above high water mark, and also excepting from said grant that portion of the lands lying northerly of Yerba Buena Island and adjacent thereto, extending from high water mark to 900 feet beyond low water mark.

The bill provides that these lands shall be bulkheaded and filled and used as a public airport.

It has occurred to us that the Navy Department may desire these lands for governmental purposes and it is thought that the bill should not be passed if the lands are so required. Do you advise that this legislation be passed?

Respectfully,

SECRETARY CALIFORNIA STATE SENATE

Motion carried, and such was the order.

"(b) At any time, with or without application to him, and in order to determine its condition to examine or cause to be examined any warehouse or any grain stored in warehouses,

"(c) When, in his opinion, the extent of the infestation is such as to be a menace to other grain, to order the treatment of an infested warehouse or the disposal of infested grain therein."

Amendment adopted.

AMENDMENT NUMBER THREE.

On page 2 of the printed bill, strike out all of lines 6 to 51, inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"1260.15. It shall be unlawful to operate, conduct or maintain a public warehouse for grain storage without having registered such warehouse with the director. Such warehouseman shall pay a registration fee of ten dollars ($10) for each warehouse each year, but in no case shall the total of registration fees for one warehouseman exceed two hundred fifty dollars ($250) in any one year. If a warehouse is licensed and bonded under the provisions of Chapter 5 of Division VI of the Agricultural Code, the registration fee for such warehouse shall be waived

Each such licensee and warehouseman who registers one or more warehouses shall file with the director the address to which notices under this chapter shall be mailed and notices mailed to such address shall be conclusively presumed to have been received.

1260.2 The director at least once each month shall report to the State Comptroller the total amount of monies collected for fees, penalties, judgments or otherwise, and at the same time shall pay into the State treasury the entire amount of such monies, which shall be credited to the Department of Agriculture fund and expended in carrying out the provisions of this chapter.

1260.25 At least once each year the director shall make or cause to be made an inspection of each warehouse registered under the provisions of this chapter for the purpose of determining the extent, if any, of insect infestations existing in each warehouse or in any of the grain stored therein. A written record of the results of all such inspections shall be kept in the department and shall be available to all interested parties upon application.

1260.3 Every warehouse, and every lot of grain stored therein, infested with insect pests of stored grain is hereby declared to be a public nuisance and the director is hereby empowered to cause the abatement of every such nuisance found upon inspection made or caused to be made to him. Upon the finding of such infestation in any warehouse the director, in writing, shall notify the warehouseman that said warehouse or the contents thereof is a public nuisance in accordance with the provisions of this section. Such notification may be made by mail to the last address and shall require him to immediately abate or cause to be abated such nuisance and within the time specified in the notice.

1260.35 Every warehouseman who registers a warehouse under this chapter and with whom grain has been stored shall make periodic inspections of the grain stored therein and upon any finding of insect infestation in any such lot of grain he shall forthwith advise the owner of record of such grain of the fact.

1260.4 The director, in notifying any warehouseman that any lot of grain stored in his warehouse constitutes a public nuisance, shall supply such warehouseman with an additional copy of the notice. The warehouseman shall immediately deliver such copy to the owner of receipt of such grain accompanied by a statement requiring said owner to abate such nuisance either by removal of the grain or by its treatment to eliminate the infestation, provided, that in the event of a failure on the part of the warehouseman to give the owner the advice required by section 1260.35 of this chapter such warehouseman shall be liable for the cost of such treatment as the director may require.

1260.45 If any warehouseman shall fail before the end of the time specified in the notice from the director to abate or cause to be abated the nuisance therein specified, the director shall notify the district attorney of the county in which the nuisance exists and upon receipt of such notice such district attorney shall forthwith bring an action in the name of the people of the State of California against the warehouseman and the owner of infested grain to abate said nuisance.

1260.5 Any warehouseman who, after receipt of notice to abate such nuisance and before said nuisance shall have been abated, accepts for storage or does store any grain in the warehouse which or the contents of which is a public nuisance under the provisions of this chapter, shall be liable to the owner of such grain for any and all damages occasioned by subsequent infestation of grain so stored.

1260.55 In any case in which a lot of grain has been declared to be a nuisance and has been required to be abated, the director shall also require the warehouseman to eliminate or control any infestation of the premises resulting from or in the infestation of the grain.

1260.6 Within thirty days after receipt of the copy of notice and statement referred to in section 1260.4, the owner of any lot of infested grain specified therein shall either remove the grain from the warehouse mentioned in the copy of notice and statement or shall cause the same to be treated so as to eliminate the infestation. If such owner shall fail to remove said grain, or shall fail to cause its treatment or to authorize the warehouseman to treat the same, the warehouseman may sell said grain at public sale after advising the owner of record of such intention, or, if it can not be so sold, the warehouseman may make such other disposition of it as is possible and shall incur no liability by reason of any such disposition."

Amendment adopted.

AMENDMENT NUMBER FOUR.

On page 3 of the printed bill, strike out all of lines 1 to 34, inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"1260.65. From the proceeds of such sale the warehouseman shall satisfy his lien, including the reasonable charge of notice, advertisement, and sale. The balance, if any, of such proceeds shall be held by the warehouseman, and delivered to the person to whom he would have been bound to deliver or justified in delivering the goods.

At any time before the goods are sold any person claiming a right of property or possession therein may pay the warehouseman the amount necessary to satisfy his lien and pay the reasonable expenses and liabilities incurred in serving notices and advertising and preparing for the sale up to the time of such payment. The warehouseman shall deliver the goods to the person making such payment if he is a person entitled, under the provisions of Statutes of 1909, Chapter 290, as amended, to the possession of the goods on payment of charges thereon. Otherwise the warehouseman shall retain possession of the goods according to the terms of the original contract of deposit.

1260.7. In case the owner authorizes the warehouseman to treat the infested grain, the warehouseman shall proceed with such treatment as shall be prescribed by the director. The cost of such treatment shall become a lien against such grain.

1260.75. The director and the commissioner of each county of the State, his deputies and inspectors, under the supervision and control of the director, shall enforce this chapter."

Assembly Bill No. 354—An act to add two new sections, to be numbered 5.500a and 5.507 to the School Code, relating to teachers' tenure.

AMENDMENTS FROM THE FLOOR.

During third reading of Assembly Bill No. 354 the following amendments, offered by Senator Ingels, were read:

AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE.

Strike out the title of the printed bill, as amended, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"An act to add three new sections, to be numbered 5.500a, 5.501a and 5.507 to, and to repeal section 5.504 of, the School Code, relating to teachers' tenure."

AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO.

On page 1 of the printed bill, as amended, strike out line 20, and insert in lieu thereof the following: "to be numbered 5.501a and to read as follows:

5.501a. On the date when this section takes effect, all school employees of a school district of any type or class having an average daily attendance of less than eight hundred fifty pupils heretofore classified as permanent shall be classified as probationary employees, and shall be subject to all the provisions of this code relating to such probationary employees.

SEC. 3. A new section is hereby added to the School Code, to be numbered 5.507 and to read as follows:"

AMENDMENT NUMBER THREE.

On page 2 of the printed bill, after line 6, as amended, add the following:

"SEC. 4. Section 5.504 of the School Code is hereby repealed."

AYES AND NOES DEMANDED.

A roll call was demanded by Senators Jones, Ingels and Bush, on the adoption of amendments to Assembly Bill No. 354.

AYES—Senators Allen, Breed, Bush, Crittenden, Deuel, Dufam, Duval, Edwards, Gordon, Hays, Hulse, Ingels, Jepsen, Jones, King, McColl, McCormack, Mixer, Parkman, Perry, Petrovich, Powers, Rich, Riley, Schottky, Seawell, Sharkey, Snyder, Stow, Swing, Tickle and Williams. 31.

NOES—Senators Feltom, Harper, Linnau, Jones, McKinley, Rondollar, Slater and Wagy. 8.

CONSIDERATION OF ASSEMBLY BILL NUMBER THREE HUNDRED FIFTY-FOUR.

Senator Jones asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent for the consideration of Assembly Bill No. 354, without reference to print.

Bill read third time.

The question being on the passage of the bill.

AYES—Senators Allen, Breed, Bush, Crittenden, Deuel, Dufam, Feltom, Gordon, Harper, Hulse, Ingels, Jepsen, Jones, King, McColl, McCormack, McKinley, Mixer, Moran, Parkman, Perry, Petrovich, Powers, Rondollar, Rich, Riley, Schottky, Seawell, Sharkey, Slater, Snyder, Stow, Swing, Wagy and Williams. 35.

NOES—None.

Title read and approved.

Assembly Bill No. 354 ordered transmitted to the Assembly.

FURTHER PROCEEDINGS UNDER CALL OF THE SENATE DISPENSED WITH.

At twelve o'clock and twenty five minutes p.m., further proceedings under the call of the Senate were dispensed with, on motion of Senator Slater.

The Secretary was directed to call the roll, on passage of bill, of the Senators who had not answered to their names.

AYES—Senators Breed, Bush, Crittenden, Deuel, Dufam, Duval, Edwards, Feltom, Gordon, Harper, Hays, Hulse, Ingels, Jepsen, Jones, King, McColl, McCormack, McKinley, Mixer, Moran, Parkman, Perry, Petrovich, Powers, Rich, Riley, Schottky, Seawell, Sharkey, Slater, Snyder, Stow and Tickle. 34.

NOES—None.

Title read and approved.

Assembly Bill No. 1610 ordered transmitted to the Assembly.

RECESS.

On motion of Senator Breed, at twelve o'clock and thirty minutes p.m., the President of the Senate declared recess until two o'clock p.m.

RECONVENED.

At two o'clock p.m., the Senate reconvened.

Lieutenant Governor Frank F. Merriam, President of the Senate, in the chair.

Secretary Joseph A. Beek at the desk.

MESSAGES FROM THE ASSEMBLY.

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, May 11, 1933.

MR. PRESIDENT: I am directed to inform your honorable body that the Assembly on this day respectfully refused to recede from its amendments to Senate Bill

No. 531—An act to amend sections 2, 6, 7, 9, 14 and 18 of the "Act Concerning Cosmetology"—and appointed Assemblymen Hoffman, McBride and Cottrell as a Committee on Free Conference to meet a like committee from the Senate.

ARTHUR A. OHNIMUS, Chief Clerk.
By FRED J. DESCH, Assistant Clerk.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE ON FREE CONFERENCE.

The President announced the appointment of Senators Williams, Difani and Powers, as a Committee on Free Conference, to meet with a like committee from the Assembly, to consider Assembly amendments to Senate Bill No. 531.

Also:

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, May 11, 1933.

MR. PRESIDENT: I am directed to inform your honorable body that the Assembly on this day concurred in Senate amendments to Assembly Bill No. 2194—An act to amend section 588 of the Fish and Game Code, relating to kelp;

Also: Assembly Bill No. 1181—An act to amend section 3644 of the Political Code, relating to taxation of boats and vessels;

Also: Assembly Bill No. 1567—An act to amend section 4246 of the Political Code, relating to compensation of county and township officers in counties of the seventeenth class;

COMMUNICATION.

The following communication, offered by Senator Allen, was ordered printed in the Journal:

THE SOUTHWEST WATER LEAGUE,
LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, May 10, 1933.

To the Honorable Members of the State Senate of California,
Fiftieth Session, Sacramento, California.

Subject: Charges of Fraud and Irregularities in Southern California Water Development.

HONORABLE SIRS: In this letter of transmittal I submit reference to the evidence I have prepared in the accompanying document embracing 41 charges against officers in charge of the water developments in southern California. During the past five years I have given much time and thought to this subject and have made a careful investigation of the records pertaining to same in the offices of the United States Department of Interior, including the Geological Survey and Reclamation Service. These charges in part include the following subject matter:

1. The fraud committed by J. B. Lippincott against the United States government and the people in Owens Valley in favor of the Los Angeles land speculators and water board politicians.

2. The $100,000,000 of profit made by rich Los Angeles desert land speculators on 100,000 acres of San Fernando Valley land with the waters diverted from the farm lands of Owens River Valley.

3. The unlawful removal of $40,000 worth of live stock from land purchased for the city of Los Angeles by the land agent for the city who never paid for the live stock but diverted it to his own use.

4. The mysterious disappearance of $50,000 worth of trucks and traction engines from the Owens Valley aqueduct job paid for by the taxpayers of Los Angeles but never found or used.

5. The increase of $2,250,000 in interest charges on the Owens Valley aqueduct bonds to be paid for by taxpayers of Los Angeles over and above the prevailing rate of interest on this type of bonds.

6. The extra profit of $700,000 for feeding the laborers on the Owens Valley aqueduct, all over and above the amount called for in the contract signed with the city of Los Angeles by the contractor.

7. The fraud practiced against the voters and taxpayers of Los Angeles by the water politicians in urging the approval of $18,000,000 worth of bonds as an urgent need for the portable of water rights and diversion of waters from the Mono Basin in 1930 while now in 1933 these politicians claim that Los Angeles does not need these waters.

8. The withdrawal of hundreds of thousands of acres of government land in the Mono Basin by the government for the Los Angeles water department and the failure to restore these lands to entry, which the water department claims that the waters from the Mono Basin are not needed for the Los Angeles water supply.

9. The unlawful purchase of hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of private ditch stock by the Los Angeles water board contrary to the Constitution of California.

10. The unlawful removal and destruction of public records embracing the Los Angeles report of the Owens Valley Aqueduct investigating committee in 1912, and the burning of the documents.

11. The gross deception which the Los Angeles promoters of the Owens Valley Aqueduct practiced in President Franklin Roosevelt in getting him to sign the Aqueduct Bill.

12. The fraud practiced against the voters and taxpayers of Los Angeles by the water board politicians who have but years continued to publicize prior to each bond election that the issuance of water and power bonds have not cost the taxpayers a penny in taxes or assessments when the truth is that taxes and assessments have been heaped against the taxpayers for more than $50,000,000 to pay for principal and interest on bonds and other losses caused by these politicians.

13. An average of $500,000 per year being lost secretly against property owners by Los Angeles water board for water rates which should be paid for out of revenues according to city charter.

14. The unlawful transfer of $100,000 for the water board in Los Angeles was refused O.K. by assistant city controller who got fired because he would not play the "game" with the politicians.

15. One hundred twenty-five thousand dollars of power bureau money was rebated to special businesses, friends of one power bureau business agent, R. H. Moody employed by the Los Angeles water and power commission. The city lost that money.

16. Los Angeles water board permits large corporations to pump our underground waters for private use contrary to ruling of Supreme Court of California and then urges bond issues to get water for public use from the Colorado River and elsewhere.

17. Los Angeles bond control says Los Angeles water board refuses to cooperate or even confer on joint conservation of waters in metropolitan area surrounding Los Angeles, while water board plunging public into bonded debt by hundreds of millions of dollars for water hundreds of miles away.

18. St. Francis Dam on Owens Valley Aqueduct has built by Los Angeles water board over protests of ablest engineers in California. Its failure cost taxpayers $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 in damage claims and other losses. Engineers who built this death trap which killed over 600 people are still on water board pay roll with salaries 50 per cent greater than those of United States cabinet officers.

19. The destruction of an entire roomful of water and power board election records by three trusted employees who declared they burned said records. These men have not yet been prosecuted. The crime of destroying public records does not outlaw in California.

20. Two million dollars allegedly loaned by Los Angeles water board to the Metropolitan Water District which embraces 13 cities (12 of them outside of Los Angeles) contrary to law and without being secured to the taxpayers to whom this money belongs.

21. Fraud committed against the voters and taxpayers of southern California by political promoters of Metropolitan Water District aqueduct through gross misrepresentations regarding the need for the waters of the Colorado River and as to water titles and cost of delivering the water to the consumers in the cities in district.

22. Three million people can be provided with water from the Mono Basin and by conserving the Bond control waters of Los Angeles County for which approximately $60,000,000 has already been voted.

23. Metropolitan Water District has not title to "one gallon" of water in the Colorado River, declares Judge Jesse Olney of Ontario, California, which led Ontario citizens to remain out of the district.

24. Dr. Elwood Mead, United States Reclamation Commissioner, says that Secretary of Interior can not even designate ownership of waters released from the Boulder Dam; then how can he contract to sell it to the Metropolitan Water District, which believes that it has "title" to the water because of this contract?

26. San Bernardino and Colton, California, withdrew from the Metropolitan District when these facts became known. Riverside and Ontario voted by a vote of four to one to remain out of the district when those cities learned the truth about the aqueduct proposition. Long Beach citizens, 7250 in number, have signed petitions asking the council of that city to call a special election to withdraw from the Metropolitan Water District because of fraudulent statements made before election at which the $220,000,000 bonds were voted.

27. Brokers throughout United States refused to buy or make offer for Metropolitan Water District aqueduct bonds of $220,000,000. Reconstruction Finance Corporation loaned or authorized loan of $40,000,000 to aqueduct project contrary to law which provides it must be self-liquidating project and not depend on taxation. Nine million dollars has been received by water district, which refuses to accept all of balance at once because interest will have to be paid when money not needed. Aqueduct is not and will not be self-liquidating, so stated by the district.

28. No possibility of obtaining further first-lien loan for Metropolitan aqueduct because government will have the only first lien; all subsequent loans will have to be second mortgages. Who, do you think, will make a second-mortgage loan of $180,000,000 on a $40,000,000 first-lien job? Financing like this will kill California.

29. Five hundred seventy-two million dollars will be required to pay principal and interest on Metropolitan Aqueduct bond issue of $220,000,000, a large if not major part of which will have to be raised by direct taxation against properties.

30. The desert land-speculating promoters who have put the taxpayers of Los Angeles into bonded debt for a sum of from $75,000,000 to $90,000,000 for an aqueduct only half full of water which said promoters used to develop desert land in San Fernando Valley, are the same men who have promoted the metropolitan aqueduct scheme in order to bring Colorado River water to arid desert lands along the aqueduct route which they expect to sell to an unsuspecting public.

31. The metropolitan aqueduct land promoters have arranged for a water rate which will compel the city taxpayers to pay from $25 to $28 less for each acre-foot of water bought or used by the irrigationists along the aqueduct route. Millions of dollars annually will thus be lost by the city taxpayers who are bonded to pay for aqueduct.

32. Aqueduct promoters framed Metropolitan Water District Act so that the water directors are appointed for life to insure themselves protection in carrying out their desert land schemes.

33. Aqueduct promoters tricked and fooled and defrauded voters of 13 cities of southern California to vote themselves into the water district by assuring them that the waters brought from the Colorado River through the proposed aqueduct would be sold and used for "domestic" uses only. After all cities had voted to join the district the promoters had the law amended to permit the promoters to sell the water outside of the district for irrigation purposes at a rate which will be perhaps 10 per cent of the cost for city uses.

34. Metropolitan Water District charging $1.40 per day for board, bed and medical care from its day laborers on the aqueduct, when 75 to 90 cents per day is considered sufficient for this charge. Refer back to paragraph No. 6 of this letter for similar graft on the Owens Valley Aqueduct job. History repeats itself with these politicians.

35. Taxes have been levied each year for four years past by the directors of the Metropolitan Water District, $700,000 to $800,000 per year for incidental and political expenses, although they are but "appointive" officers. Elective officers only should collect or levy taxes under the guarantees of our Constitution which prohibit taxation without representation. These officers possess only delegated and secondary authority, beyond the reach of and choice of the electorate.

36. A simple majority vote of the electors to approve bond issues is provided in the Metropolitan Water District Act in contravention to the traditional rule of two-thirds majority vote required for all other political subdivisions under the State Constitution and the charters of the several cities in the water district.

37. A limit of 15 per cent of the assessed value of properties in Los Angeles and other cities in water district is fixed by charter provision for bonds for water and other general bonds. The metropolitan aqueduct promoters made provision in the Metropolitan Water District Act that another 15 per cent could be saddled on these properties for the same purposes, the limits already fixed by the charters notwithstanding. This provision has ruined the possibility of negotiating private loans on said properties.

38. Eight Cadillac automobiles allegedly given by Los Angeles water politicians to certain politicians in Utah to influence Utah Legislature to vote in favor of Colorado River compact.

39. Millions of dollars of Reconstruction Finance Corporation funds received by California Relief Division alleged to be used in Los Angeles County by supervisors for development of privately owned subdivisions by building roads through said subdivisions and using men who are paid out of charity or relief funds to improve these private lands. Photographs taken by the writer may be seen on request.

40. These Reconstruction Finance Corporation funds might well be used on San Gabriel Dam by these supervisors who could thereby save millions of dollars in interest charges on monies raised by sale of bonds.

41. Los Angeles County grand jury and district attorney refuse to investigate all the foregoing matters pertaining to the municipal affairs, they claim that their jurisdiction is confined to purely county and school district matters.

APPEAL TO THE LEGISLATURE FOR RELIEF.

It is because attempts have been made to bring the guilty parties to the bar of justice by complaining to the grand jury foreman and the district attorney of Los Angeles County without being able to get the desired relief, that I now, on behalf of the citizens of southern California and the taxpayers and citizens of the entire State of California who are at the constant mercy of those designing money getting politicians that I urge, yes, respectfully demand, that your Honorable Senate at once appoint a special committee to make a thorough investigation of these matters to the end that our citizens may be saved possibly hundreds of millions of dollars, and to the end that the flood control district of Los Angeles County, the Metropolitan Water District and the water and power commission of Los Angeles be made to get together in an honest effort to properly conserve and intelligently use and apply such waters as are now available in the metropolitan area surrounding Los Angeles, and also to determine the names of those who are guilty of having committed the several offenses above referred to and were completely referred to in the accompanying report so that the extent of their offenses might be fully determined and recommendations be made to the proper authorities for prosecution should the information warrant same.

ANDRAE B. NORDSKOG,

President of The Southwest Water League.

P.S. Hon. President of the Senate. It is hereby requested that you please have this letter of transmittal and the accompanying report which is signed by the writer entered in your records and published in the Senate Daily Journal for the convenience of your honorable members.

ANDRAE B. NORDSKOG

LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, May 10, 1933

To the Honorable Members of the State Senate of California.

Fiftieth Session, Sacramento, California.

HONORABLE SIRS: In support of the resolution submitted to the Senate on April 28, 1933, by the Honorable Senator James M. Allen relating to the mismanagement of the Los Angeles water department officials in Owens Valley and Mono County, and which resolution was unanimously adopted, I desire to offer the following information for your consideration with a view to having your honorable body make a thorough investigation of all matters pertaining to the operations of the officials of the water and power department of the city of Los Angeles and of the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California which is so interlocked with the Los Angeles water and power departments as to make them practically one unit so far as their political activities are concerned.

The Assembly (forty-seventh session) appointed a committee consisting of the following honorable members for the purpose of making an investigation of the Owens Valley Los Angeles water dispute: Messrs. Isaac Jones, Bradford Critten-den, T. M. Wright, Elbert G. Adams, Frank W. Mixer, Robert L. Patterson, Van Bernard and Roscoe J. Anderson. This was in the year of 1927. This committee made certain recommendations to the city of Los Angeles water and power officials, which, had they been followed out, would have ended all dispute regarding the transfer of the waters of Owens Valley to a point 250 miles to the south for the purpose of irrigating some 100,000 acres of land in San Fernando Valley, near Los Angeles. The Los Angeles officials ignored the recommendations made by the Assembly committee.

Conditions became worse year after year for the people living in Owens Valley, and the taxpayers and citizens of Los Angeles were desirous of cleaning up said conditions and to that end they went to the polls at a special election called in May, 1930, and approved a bond issue of thirty-eight million eight hundred thousand dollars ($38,800,000) by a vote of nine to one. Eighteen million dollars of this money was to be used for the purchase of water rights and water-bearing lands in Mono County in the Mono Basin and cost of tunneling same into the Owens River.

In 1931, the State Senate (forty-ninth session) appointed a committee of which the Honorable Senator James M. Allen was chairman for the purpose of investigating these same affairs in Owens Valley. This committee likewise made recommendations to the water and power officials of Los Angeles which recommendations were not followed nor acted upon, and the conditions in Owens Valley remain unsettled.

In order to prevent the not only possible, but the very probable recurrence of these conditions in southern California in the attempt of the Metropolitan Water District to obtain a water supply from the Colorado River by means of pumping said waters over a 1700 foot mountain range, I will give you a few of the highlights of the past activities of the water officials of Los Angeles.

1. In the year 1903, Mr. J. B. Lippincott, then supervising engineer of reclamation projects in California for the United States Reclamation Service, obtained releases from the residents of Owens Valley of their rights as they pertained to water and power developments in that valley by stating to them that he would develop a reclamation water system and develop an additional 100,000 acres of land in that valley and let them buy this newly developed land at the government cost of $1.25 an acre plus the cost of bringing the water to the land which, he alleged, would be about 823 an acre. After Mr. Lippincott thus obtained these releases from the residents of that valley, he trickily and treacherously turned over to the city of Los Angeles all of the valuable concessions thus obtained including all charts, maps, surveys, stream measurements, etc., for the small sum of fourteen thousand dollars ($14,000). These rights were alleged by the farmers of that region to be worth millions of dollars.

2. The voters of Los Angeles were advised through misleading and false propaganda sent out by the water officials of that city, that it was urgent that the city of Los Angeles obtain the waters from the Owens River Valley, 250 miles to the north, in order to provide an immediate increase in the domestic water supply of that city. The voters first voted in favor of a bond issue of $1,500,000 in 1905 with which to purchase additional water-bearing lands in Owens Valley. This money was used to purchase lands adjacent to the Owens River; the agent for the city of Los Angeles posed as an officer of the United States Reclamation Service, displaying a badge which was allegedly loaned to him by Mr. Lippincott, and secured the farmers into the belief that he could condemn these water-bearing lands under the United States Reclamation Act if they would not yield to the prices offered by this agent for Los Angeles. The farmers were told by this Los Angeles agent that he was buying the lands for the Reclamation Service in order to complete the reclamation project in Owens Valley. This gross fraud was carried on until the city of Los Angeles water officials and their rich speculating friends had obtained land frontage along the Owens River for about 50 miles. I have positive proof of these statements, which proof includes the acknowledgments of Mr. Lippincott's own superiors in Washington, D. C., that this practice was carried on.

3. The next move on the part of the Los Angeles water officials and the rich speculating friends who desired to develop 100,000 acres of desert land in San Fernando Valley with the waters thus taken from Owens Valley, was to urge the voters of Los Angeles to approve a bond issue of twenty-two million dollars ($22,000,000) with which to build an aqueduct from Owens Valley down to the city of Los Angeles. The people voted these bonds. But when the aqueduct was completed—then what? They found that it came only to the north end of San Fernando Valley, nearly 30 miles from Los Angeles. The poor gullible voters were then urged in 1913 when the first drop of water was brought through the new aqueduct to the head of San Fernando Valley, to vote additional bonds in the sum of one and a half million dollars ($1,500,000) in order to build an aqueduct into Los Angeles. In the final issue of the Los Angeles Municipal News, published Wednesday, April 9, 1913, on page 7, appeared the sample ballot for the election at which these bonds were voted. Proposition No. 2 provides for a bonded debt of $1,500,000 for: "Works for conducting water of the Los Angeles aqueduct supply from the end of the Los Angeles aqueduct in the San Fernando Valley to the city of Los Angeles." And proposition No. 3 on the same ballot provided for a bonded debt of $2,000,000 for: "Works for conveying and supplying surplus water of the Los Angeles aqueduct supply to consumers and users outside of said city in the San Fernando Valley."

4. In 1912 a special investigating committee was appointed under the direction of the city council of Los Angeles as the result of an election called for that purpose, several thousand voters having signed an initiative petition calling for said election, for the purpose of determining the extent of the fraud which was alleged to have been perpetrated on the citizens of Los Angeles by the promoters of the Owens Valley aqueduct scheme. This committee consisted of competent engineers, accountants and attorneys. The report they made contained about 640,000 words; it also contained scores of photographs showing the poor condition of the aqueduct in many places. This report revealed that in the Los Angeles River watershed there was enough water to care for a population of one million people. At that time Los Angeles had about 300,000 people living in the main city. The report further revealed that the agent who bought water-bearing lands for the city in Owens Valley, had unlawfully taken $40,000 worth of live stock from the lower Rieky ranch in Owens Valley which the city bought, to the upper Rieky ranch in Long Valley which the agent retained for his own use when the city refused to buy it. The report urged that a suit be filed to obtain judgment against this agent and also against the city attorney and water engineer of Los Angeles for having conspired to remove this live stock which the city had paid for.

5. The investigating committee of the city of Los Angeles in 1912 also revealed that traction engines and trucks valued at nearly $50,000 which were shipped to the Owens Valley aqueduct job at Mearns, California, never had been accounted for by the accountants on the aqueduct job. It also revealed that Mr. Lippincott, who was supervising engineer of U. S. Reclamation Service in California, had received nearly five thousand dollars ($5,000) allegedly as consulting fees from the water department of Los Angeles for surveys made in Owens Valley while also being paid by the government for exactly the opposite purpose. This matter was reviewed in my statements to the Senate committee of 1931 wherein I quoted from a letter written by Arthur P. Davis, Acting Chief Engineer of the Reclamation Service, to D. C. Henry, a government engineer who was a member of the governmental committee which investigated the Lippincott payoffs in Owens Valley. This letter, written August 14, 1905, reads in part as follows: "Of course the matter is at best a very delicate one, but would have caused little or no embarrassment if we had adhered to the law which requires our engineers to abstain from outside practice." Mr. Lippincott robbed the farmers of their rights in favor of the rich land speculators who later made $100,000,000 with the stolen waters in San Fernando Valley.

6. The report of 1912 also revealed that the city attorney of Los Angeles gave the Kuntze Brothers of New York the preference in the purchase of the aqueduct bonds at an interest rate which cost the taxpayers of Los Angeles $2,250,000 more than had the bonds been sold at the prevailing interest rate of four per cent.

7. The special privilege thus given to the Kuntze Brothers with an option to take or reject all or part of the bonds, led to their rejection of a portion of them; this tied up the aqueduct work for several months and 20,000 men were laid off which caused complete disruption of the organization. The Desmond Brothers had the contract to feed the men on the job for 25 cents per meal, but because of the disruption caused by the refusal of the Kuntze Brothers to take part of the bonds offered them, the Desmond Brothers insisted that they be allowed to violate their contract and charge 30 cents per meal from each laborer. Thus they did and with a force of 20,000 men this meant $3,000 per day extra revenue for the Desmond Brothers. In three years during which they collected this extra revenue on meals, if an average of 5,000 men being employed were considered, it would mean extra revenue to the Desmond Brothers of nearly $7,000,000 over and above the amount they contracted for.

8. When the voters of Los Angeles voted $38,800,000 in 1930 for the purpose of cleaning up the Owens Valley and Mono Basin situation, the Los Angeles water board requested Congress to withdraw some 280,000 acres of water-bearing land in Mono Basin in Mono County as part of the city's plan to divert the waters from the Mono Basin to the city of Los Angeles. Congress granted this request, thus making it further impossible for farmers in the Mono Basin to complete their mutual ditch plans for irrigating some of the lands available for farming. Mr. H. A. Van Norman, chief engineer of the Los Angeles water board, advised the voters in 1930, during the water bond campaign, that it was imperative that we should vote the bonds and purchase all remaining water rights in Owens Valley or the water board would have to order the discontinuance of lawn sprinkling during the summer of 1930 in Los Angeles, and he also stated in public print that unless we voted the bonds so as to provide $18,000,000 for the diversion of the waters from the Mono Basin by 1932 we would again be faced with a water shortage and have to dry up our front yards. In the fall of 1932, this same Mr. Van Norman stated in public print that the water board of Los Angeles had now discovered so much water in the upper reaches of Owens Valley that he could save the $18,000,000 which was included in the $38,800,000 budget for the diversion of the waters from the Mono Basin.

9. Four months ago I talked with one of the highest officials in the city of Los Angeles, one who is in constant touch with Mr. Van Norman and is well versed in what Mr. Van Norman is doing in the water department, and when I demanded to know from this certain official why he was in favor of spending $220,000,000 to go to the Colorado River for a water supply when Mr. Van Norman had publicized that we did not even need the waters of the Mono Basin for which bonds were already voted, this official replied in substance: "Well, you see Mr. Van Norman had political reasons for publicizing that he did not need the Mono waters for Los Angeles." I expressed surprise and said: "What can be the political reasons?" and the official replied: "Van Norman wants to scare the Mono County people into the belief that Los Angeles does not need the water from Mono Basin, and then he will be able to hammer the prices of the land down and buy the land at his own figure." So, it appears that the political methods of the Los Angeles water board have not changed since the days when Lippincott drove fast bargains in Owens Valley by loaning his badge to the water board agent who similarly scared the farmers into selling their lands cheaply for fear of condemnation proceedings by the government.

10. Although Mr. Van Norman has publicly stated that the water board of Los Angeles does not need the waters of the Mono Basin, the public lands which were withdrawn from entry in that basin have not been restored.

11. The water board of Los Angeles has purchased private ditch stock in Owens Valley in the sum of hundreds of thousands of dollars. This is contrary to the State Constitution and on two occasions the water board politicians have tried to amend the Constitution at two elections but on both occasions their designs were defeated. When a committee of which the writer was a member in Los Angeles called on a certain water commissioner and advised him that these holdings in private ditch companies were contrary to the Constitution and that the members of the water and power commission could be sued for every dollar thus expended, this commissioner resigned from the water and power commission within three weeks.

12. The Los Angeles aqueduct report of 1912, mentioned in paragraph No. 4 of this letter, was filed in the vaults of the city clerk after being officially adopted as part of the minutes of the meeting of the city council of Los Angeles. The city council appropriated the sum of $3,500 for the purpose of printing the aqueduct report and distribute same to the voters of Los Angeles. In 1930 a committee of which I was a member, called on the city clerk to obtain the council minutes containing the Aqueduct Report of 1912. After several searches over a three-month period it could not be found. We asked him for a copy of the printed document containing the full text of the report. There had been thousands of these printed and paid for out of the $3,500 appropriation set aside for that purpose. The city clerk, Robert Dominguez, advised our committee that he had put the printed copies into a truck and sent them to the city incinerator and burned them up. I printed a front page story of this startling confession in my journal, The Gridiron, in 1930. After making another search Mr. Dominguez uncovered a dusty package containing mutilated and marked copies of loose sheets of the 1912 aqueduct report. This apparently was the old copy which had been used by the printer for it was all marked up with printer's notations. All photographs were missing and it very definitely was not the official copy which we were under the impression had also been burned. In the vault of the city clerk's office is a placard saying that it is a "felony" to mutilate or remove any public document. And I think it is provided by our statutes that the crime of destroying or removing or mutilating our public records does not outlive in California. This deserves the particular attention of your honorable body at this time.

13. The water board proponents advised the late Theodore Roosevelt, then President of the United States, that the waters of Owens Valley would not be used for a large irrigation scheme near Los Angeles; and on this false promise they got him to sign the bill which permitted the city of Los Angeles to build the aqueduct through five government forest reserves. The ink had hardly dried until the deception showed up in all its ugliness and by referring back to my paragraph No. 3 you will see that they at once set forth to bend our taxpayers for pipe lines to serve territory in San Fernando Valley outside the city of Los Angeles. This crime is now being repeated by the same water-mad politicians in the Metropolitan Water District aqueduct scheme as I will show you later on in this letter. The Senate should make a thorough investigation into this entire matter for the protection of millions of defenseless citizens who are constantly being fleeced by these politicians.

14. The political proponents of the Owens Valley Aqueduct scheme obtained options on the vast acreage in San Fernando Valley near Los Angeles and, with the use of water taken from Owens Valley they have since made approximately one hundred million dollars ($100,000,000) profit on the subdivision and sale of that land. When they encountered the snag wherein President Theodore Roosevelt had specified that the waters thus diverted from Owens Valley should not be sold for irrigating purposes on a large irrigation scheme near Los Angeles outside of the Los Angeles city limits unless the water was sold for the same rate as prevailed inside of the city of Los Angeles, the promoters of the aqueduct scheme put on an annexation scheme, with William P. Whitsett (who later became president of the Los Angeles water and power commission, and who is now president of the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California) as chairman of the annexation committee. They thereupon annexed 100,800 acres of desert land to the city of Los Angeles. It then being part of the city they proceeded to classify the rates to be paid for water in contravention to the spirit of the promises and agreement made with the President of the United States. They gave to themselves as land speculators in San Fernando Valley a water rate for irrigation purposes which was approximately 10 per cent of the rate paid by the taxpayers of Los Angeles who were compelled to pay for the Owens Valley Aqueduct through which the water was delivered.

15. As late as the year 1923 (eight years after San Fernando Valley was annexed to Los Angeles) the irrigators in San Fernando Valley took the entire flow of the Owens Valley Aqueduct, even to the peak load of 470 second feet for a period of 30 days during that summer without one gallon of water from the aqueduct going into the municipal domestic supply of Los Angeles. This indicated that the main purpose for which the Owens Valley Aqueduct was built was to provide a water supply for the rich Los Angeles land speculators to irrigate the arid desert lands in San Fernando Valley, and to get in the sale of these lands. It is the very same group of politically-minded land speculators who are at present promoting the gigantic land-selling scheme in connection with the Metropolitan aqueduct that so smoothly saddled the Owens Valley Aqueduct scheme onto the backs of the tax payers of Los Angeles.

16. The promoters of the Owens Valley Aqueduct shrewdly from the house tops previous to each and every proposed bond issue through which they continued to pour with which to further their private land schemes, that the issuance of these bonds would not cost the taxpayers a penny; that all of the charges for interest and principal would be paid out of the revenues of the water and power departments. They publicized in the daily press and in their departmental literature and propaganda that these departments have always been self-sustaining; that the public has never been taxed one dollar to take care of the bonded debt of the water and power departments. The records of the city controller of Los Angeles show that the power department still owes the taxpayers nearly four million dollars ($4,000,000), and that the water department has taken directly out of taxes more than thirty-four million dollars ($34,000,000), and together with the meters practically stolen from the home owners under the classification of electricity in kind of reconstruction, wherein the water board secretly made charges for water meters and taps into the paying bills unknown to the taxpayers, and the tax funds taken to pay the damages suffered by the failure of the St. Francis Dam, the total losses paid for out of taxation and special assessment against the properties in Los Angeles, the total amount will exceed sixty million dollars ($60,000,000).

17. I succeeded in obtaining a specially prepared list of street improvement jobs in Los Angeles from the Board of Public Works covering over 400 jobs of putting in a three-year period from 1927 to 1930 wherein it is shown that the taxpayers were being compelled to pay on their paying bills more than $500,000 per year on the average for installations of water meters and taps which according to the terms of the city charter should be paid for out of revenues of the water department. This practice still continues greatly to the detriment and loss of the taxpayers. This practice, together with the practice of taking tax funds with which to redeem bonds and interest on same makes it possible for the water and power commission to "point with pride" at the water rates charged in Los Angeles. When of the entire truth of these matters was brought forcibly to the attention of the taxpayers and rate payers of Los Angeles they would be horrified to see how they had been fleeced all of these years and are still being fleeced by this politically-motivated water crowd which has governed Los Angeles for 30 years.

18. About four years ago one Mr. Abbot, who was chief accountant or chief deputy in the city controller's office in Los Angeles, came to my home and advised me that for seven consecutive months he had steadfastly refused to O.K. the transfer of certain water board funds because he claimed it was contrary to law; that he had O.K.'d the matter as to the availability of funds only, and that finally when he advised the water and power commission that he would not yield to their allegedly unlawful request because it would take the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) of public money for an illegitimate purpose, he was notified by his superior that he would have to resign. I made public a statement to that effect and exactly three weeks later the announcement of his forced resignation was announced in the daily papers of Los Angeles. The Senate should determine what became of this money if it was subsequently diverted from its proper use.

19. Three years ago Mr. Rudolphe Moody, business agent for the power department of the city of Los Angeles, was charged with having given rebates to friendly corporations on their electric light and power bills; the amount named in the daily papers was $129,000; a gesture was made to discharge him from duty, but he is now again on the pay roll of the water and power commission of that city.

20. Under the Spanish Grant of 1781 the Pueblo of Los Angeles was given perpetual water rights to the use of all surface and underground waters in the Los Angeles River watershed. In 1905 the city of Los Angeles brought an injunction suit against Rufington and others in San Fernando Valley to prevent these ranchers from even pumping water lying under their own lands. The suit was sustained by the Supreme Court of California and the ranchers were thereupon forced to sell their lands cheaply to the city politicians who later developed the lands with water taken from Owens Valley through our city-owned aqueduct and on which lands they made millions of dollars of profit. Today these same city politicians are permitting the subsidiary corporations of the Standard Oil Company and other large corporations to pump water from privately-owned ground right in the very heart of Los Angeles. The Peerless Laundry (on whose directorate and management is a man associated with a member of the water board) allegedly is pumping 700,000 gallons of water per day for private use in the laundry. This water, at the lowest commercial rate is worth $20,000 per year to the city. The many bottled water companies pumping these underground waters in Los Angeles are permitted to sell said waters for six hundred times the amount charged under the domestic water rate in Los Angeles. So far as is known these bottled water companies pay nothing to the city for this pumping privilege. It is because of the Supreme Court decision in 1905 in the Buffington case supporting the city's contention that all of the underground waters as well as the surface waters of the Los Angeles River watershed belong to the city, that I now insist that the taxpayers and citizens of Los Angeles have a right to know once and for all time—whether or not these private water bottling companies should pay for the waters thus taken from our underground sources. They not only sell these waters in Los Angeles but also in many cities and unincorporated territories outside of Los Angeles.

21. Three years ago during the water bond campaign in May, 1930, at which time the bond issue of $38,900,000 was voted by the people of Los Angeles, I talked with Mr. E. C. Eaton, chief engineer of the Los Angeles County Flood Control District, regarding the possibility of avoiding the necessity of building an aqueduct to the Colorado River for additional water supply for Los Angeles and adjacent cities. Mr. Eaton told me that in all of the years he had been chief engineer of the flood control district he had many times tried to get the water department officers and engineers of the Los Angeles water and power bureau to come together with the engineers of the flood control district with a view to coordinating their efforts in the proper conservation and development and the water resources in the metropolitan area surrounding Los Angeles. Mr. Eaton stated that the water department officers and engineers had ignored all of his attempts to get them together for this purpose. Mr. Eaton further stated that he had located seventy (70) dam sites in the mountains back of Los Angeles where flood waters could be harnessed and stored and used for distribution through a spreading system. Mr. Eaton stated to me and also publicly in the high school auditorium at Signal Hill, California, at the meeting held by the Southwest Water League, of which I am president, that with a conservation of 50 per cent of the flood waters in the hills back of Los Angeles, the sum of 225,000 acre-feet of water could be saved annually for domestic and commercial use in that area. This would provide for the needs of one and one-half million (1,500,000) people.

22. The history of the flood control district in Los Angeles County is one that inspires caution to the voter who has to pay the bills. Out of our recent bond issue of $35,500,000 for flood control work, approximately five million dollars ($5,000,000) was expended for a dam in San Gabriel Canyon. The contractors excavated in a region that had been condemned for a concrete dam so far back as the year 1906. Mr. Fred C. Finkle, one of the best known engineers in the State, condemned it after making a thorough examination of the character of the earth formation at that time. He examined it again when the proposal was made to build the gigantic San Gabriel Dam which was to cost thirty million dollars ($30,000,000) and condemned it then also. Professor Sedgewick, well-known geologist, cautioned the contractors in a report prepared for them that they should proceed with caution in building a solid masonry dam at that site. The entire dam site slid and fell and caused a loss of about five million dollars ($5,000,000) to the taxpayers who paid the bills.

23. St. Francis Dam was built over the protest of the ablest engineers in California. The Los Angeles water and power commission, with William Mulholland as chief engineer and H. A. Van Norman as assistant chief engineer, was warned in a public talk given by Major Jay Turley before the water and power committee of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, that a concrete dam in St. Francis Canyon at the site selected by the water board would never stand the test because of the earth fault in that region. Major Turley stated that the foundation was not fit for a solid masonry dam and that the earth would crumble and fall. Major Turley advised me that on the day he spoke before that committee he went to the office of William Mulholland and advised Mr. Mulholland and the late William B. Mathews (attorney for the water board) that they were committing a crime by building a dam of concrete in St. Francis Canyon, but that they ignored his advice and proceeded to build it. Mr. Fred C. Finkle, well known engineer, was employed by the Santa Monica Annexation Committee to investigate the feasibility of that city consolidating with Los Angeles in order to augment the water supply for Santa Monica. Mr. Finkle made the investigation and gave them a written report in which he stated that he had investigated the foundation of the St. Francis Dam (then under construction) and had taken to his laboratory fourteen (14) samples of the foundation material which was supposed to be rock. Mr. Finkle said that he put the 14 samples into tumblers of water and that within ten minutes to 30 days all of the samples had disintegrated into pebbles, grit and silt. This report was made public for the benefit of the people, but in spite of it the water board of Los Angeles proceeded to build a concrete dam at that point. Mr. Finkle stated that Santa Monica would have to bear its share of the anticipated loss if the dam should fail, which it did, true to the prognostications of Mr. Finkle and Mr. Turley.

The city of Santa Monica refused to connect into with Los Angeles when it received Mr. Finkle's report, and by so doing, saved itself millions of dollars by not having to pay its share of the huge damages when the dam failed.

22. Mr. Mulholland refused to connect into with the water tunnel of Los Angeles following his tragedy on the St. Francis Dam last winter. That time his political friends have defended him by keeping him on the water tunnel pay roll at five hundred dollars ($500) per month on cost of a pension. Just why he should be pensioned after he cost the taxpayers some $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 in damage claims is hard for the taxpayer to imagine. Mr. Mulholland and Mr. Van Norman, his assistant, were on top of the St. Francis Dam to prevent it from 12 hours before it failed; many reports had been received that the dam was leaking very badly. On March 12, 1928, these engineers were on top of the dam. Then, the very taker (according to testimony given by two power house employees at point No. 2 below the dam) was allegedly relieved by these engineers to keep the mouth shut about the weakness of the dam. They did not have to tell the story, but the two power house employees had talked with them that afternoon when they told them what the verdict of the engineer was. They went back to the top of the dam to come for it and watch over it, but he did not like to tell the rest of the story. The district attorney of Los Angeles George W. Smith, in 1928, these men for official criminal negligence although efforts were made by officers who offered to spend out such complaints against them.

23. With a record of such gross incompetence it would seem that men of this type would be retired to private life by the State. But Mr. Van Norman for a long time following this tragedy accepted a salary of $21,000 a year, nearly two and a half times the salary of the Governor of California, and nearly five times the salary of the Los Angeles county auditor who administered a budget of $10,000,000 of public funds annually. Since the depression hit us so hard, Mr. Van Norman is suffering about something as low as $18,000 per year. Mr. Smith, head of the power bureau working under the same water and power commission is receiving the salary. It is in the public interest at this time to know why these men should receive 50 per cent greater salary than the United States Cabinet officers who hold positions of trust second only to that of the President of this country.

24. Three years ago various charges were made against these men working for the water and power commission of Los Angeles for having removed an office room full of valuable election data from the offices of the water and power commission. It was alleged by these men that they had destroyed these records by burning them. In order to avoid criminal prosecution these men alleged that these election records were not the property of the city of Los Angeles and that therefore they could not be punished for this deed. The question then arises as to under what authority did they compile these records in order if they did not belong to the city. What right had these men and their colleagues to spend money belonging to the city for the purpose of electorating when such activity is contrary to law? Are they not guilty of having misused public funds for the purpose of electorating? And is not the water and power commission guilty of having misled and cheated these employees by giving them the use of a room in the water and power offices? A gesture was made to discharge these men but it is alleged that they are again on the pay roll of the water and power commission. So valuable was this election material supposed to be that each of these three men had special keys for that room and only they had access to it and at a time in three different shifts of eight hours each day, the room was never left unattended, so valuable was the information contained in these records. Public interest requires that the whole truth about this matter be known and the Senate should look into it fully.

25. It is alleged that approximately two million dollars ($2,000,000) of moneys belonging to the water bureau of Los Angeles has been turned over to the Metropolitan Water District which embraces twelve cities outside of Los Angeles. The mayor of Los Angeles advises me that he has not signed an order transferring these funds to outside cities and that he did not think the city council had ever authorized such transfers to be made. This money belongs to the taxpayers of Los Angeles and there certainly is nothing in our local or State statutes that provides that such transfers can legally be made. The condition of the Los Angeles treasury necessitates an immediate investigation into this matter because the people will be taxed for additional revenue if this is not returned to the city; and extra taxation at this time means confiscation of homes and other properties.

26. The political monuments of the Metropolitan Water District aqueduct which is supposed to carry water from the Colorado River to the coastal plain in southern California if it is ever completed, have publicly declared that there is an urgent need for the waters of the Colorado River in Los Angeles and other cities. They so scared the citizens into that belief that they went to the polls at a special election in September, 1931, and voted approval of bonds in the sum of two hundred and twenty million dollars ($220,000,000) with which to build an aqueduct to the Colorado River. The fact is that no such waters are needed at this time. Mr. H. A. Van Norman, chief engineer of the Los Angeles water bureau recently stated that he had discovered so much water in Owens Valley that it was not even necessary to purchase the water-bearing lands in the Mono Basin lying north of Owens Valley and that the city of Los Angeles could thereby save eighteen million dollars ($18,000,000) by not having to buy and divert the waters from the Mono Basin into the Owens River from which the city of Los Angeles has obtained a water supply since 1913. If Los Angeles needs additional water the citizens of that city may obtain enough water from the Mono Basin to care for an additional population of one and a half million (1,500,000); and if this is not enough, after we have expended the eighteen million dollars appropriated and voted for that purpose, it is possible, according to statements made by Flood Control Engineer E. C. Eaton, to obtain enough flood waters near Los Angeles even with 50 per cent conservation to provide a domestic water supply for an additional one and a half million (1,500,000) people, or for a total of three million people from the two sources mentioned in this paragraph. In a resolution adopted by the Los Angeles division of the California Taxpayers Association it is set forth that the estimated population for Los Angeles in 1980 will be 2,200,000; this resolution covered a study of the water needs of southern California and was presented to the Metropolitan Water District and to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation at the time the water district applied to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for a loan of $40,000,000. According to that estimate it will be nearer the year 2000 A.D. before Los Angeles will need the waters of the Colorado River.

27. The interest charges alone on the two hundred and twenty million dollar ($220,000,000) Metropolitan aqueduct issue will come to the stupendous sum of three hundred and fifty-two million dollars ($352,000,000), thereby requiring a total of five hundred and seventy-two million dollars ($572,000,000) to pay off principal and interest.

28. The Metropolitan Water District has not obtained title to a drop of water in the Colorado River. In a letter dated February 28, 1931, Dr. Elwood Mead, Commissioner of the United States Reclamation Service, wrote to Mr. S. C. Evans (late mayor of Riverside, California, now deceased), then executive director of the Boulder Dam Association, in part, as follows:

"It might not be amiss also to bear in mind that the Secretary of the Interior has no authority to designate the ownership of waters released from the Hoover (Boulder) Dam. The rights thereto must be determined by agreement of all interested parties or, in the event of disagreement, by decrees of competent courts."

The only claim which the Metropolitan Water District sets forth that it has to the use of water from the Colorado River is that it has a contract with the Interior Department of the United States for the delivery of 1500 second-feet of water. How can the Interior Department agree to deliver such water when, as Dr. Mead says in the letter above quoted, the Secretary of the Interior has not even any authority to designate the ownership of the water. If he can not say who owns it, how can he proceed to sell it?

29. Two years ago, in May, 1931, the city of Ontario, California, voted on the proposition of whether or not to join the Metropolitan Water District. Judge Jesse Olney of that city publicized a full page of water facts in the Ontario Daily Report and set forth that the Metropolitan Water District did not have title to a drop of water from the Colorado River; and that if the aqueduct was completed tomorrow they would not have a gallon of water to flow through it. He likened it to the proverbial play of "Hamlet" without Hamlet. The citizens of Ontario went to the polls and voted four to one to remain out of the district. Mr. Harbison, city engineer of San Bernardino and a director of the Metropolitan Water District representing that city, returned from a directors' meeting in Los Angeles and published a statement in the Daily Journal in his home city that the only thing he could do and retain his honor was to resign from the Metropolitan Water District board of directors and advise the citizens of San Bernardino to vote at special election to withdraw from the Metropolitan Water District of southern California. This they did and voted four to one in favor of the withdrawal after being a member for two years. The city of Colton likewise called a special election and withdrew from the district after being a member for two years. The city of Riverside voted at a special election to determine whether or not to join the district and with the facts in hand which led to the withdrawal of San Bernardino and Colton the citizens of that city voted four or five to one to stay out of the district. The citizens of the city of Long Beach some 7250 in number signed petitions requesting that a special election be held for the purpose of withdrawing from the district. The city attorney of Long Beach, who is also a director on the Metropolitan Water District Board representing Long Beach, obtained an injunction against the city clerk of that city to prevent him from certifying as to the sufficiency of the petitions signed by the citizens. This matter was taken to the Supreme Court and so far as I am at present informed is not settled as yet. Some 9000 citizens of Long Beach also signed referendum petitions protesting the increase of the Long Beach water rates which became necessary after that city joined the Metropolitan Water District in order to pay for the entrance into the district which amounted to about $163,000. The district became operative in 1929 and each city must pay its proportionate share of the incidental costs since the beginning of its operations. Under the Metropolitan Water District Act it is permissible to levy a tax of five cents per each $100 valuation of the properties in the district for the incidental operating costs. This tax at from three to four cents each year has yielded the district from $700,000 to $800,000 a year for the last four years, not for an aqueduct, rated even low for the purpose of building a political machine. This approximate three million dollars together with two million dollars allegedly borrowed from the Los Angeles water bureau, makes a total of five million dollars ($5,000,000), a large part of which, it is alleged by their own employees, has been used for political propaganda and numberless trips to Washington, D. C., by officers of the district, and in one case it was publicly alleged and not denied, that one director had paid his wife's traveling expenses along with his own to Washington out of the public funds thus raised by taxation. These matters are too important to be overlooked by the Senate.

30. Eastern bond brokers as well as western bond brokers would not make an offer to buy any part of the $220,000,000 worth of metropolitan water bonds voted in September, 1931. The directors of the district thereupon went to Washington, D. C., and placed an application with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the United States for a loan of $120,000,000. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation agreed to make a loan of $10,000,000 but no more. Three men representing the Building Owners Association of Los Angeles (owners of buildings valued at $150,000,000) filed an injunction suit in the District of Columbia Supreme Court to prevent the Reconstruction Finance Corporation from making the loan to the water district. The plaintiffs set forth in the complaint that the Federal law provided that such loans could be made to self-liquidating projects only, and that the law defined "self-liquidating" as meaning projects on which they did not resort to taxation of any kind, and that in the resolution calling for the election at which the Metropolitan aqueduct bonds were voted the Metropolitan Water District directors declared that the project was not and would not be self-liquidating and that therefore they ordered that taxes should be levied every twelve months in addition to all other taxes for the purpose of paying off the principal and interest on said bonds amounting in the sum total approximately five hundred and seventy-two million dollars ($572,000,000). Just two days before the presidential election in 1932 the court dismissed the injunction suit without even trying it on its merits, but by simply declaring that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation had discretionary powers to determine for itself whether or not the Metropolitan aqueduct project was self-liquidating. This is a very serious and important matter, for if it is to be conceded that an administrative tribunal is so far above all law that it can violate the law with impunity and not have its actions subject to review by any court in the United States then I think it high time to revise our system of jurisprudence so as to bring these bureaucratic departments of the government under the jurisdiction of our courts. The Metropolitan Water District has received two loans or more during the past few months, totaling, I think, some five millions of dollars ($9,000,000) from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, all contrary to the laws governing the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Under the same law it is impossible for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to loan more than "two and five-eighths per centum" of the total authorized capital stock and authorized bonds to be outstanding to any one project. The capital stock of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is $500,000,000, and the amount of bonds authorized to be outstanding is six and three-fifths times the capital stock, or $3,800,000,000 of both capital and bonds authorized. Two and five-eighths per centum of that amount is $99,750,000, which is the highest possible amount to be loaned to any single project.

31. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation has agreed to loan only $40,000,000 to the Metropolitan Water District; but even if it should loan as much as the law permits, namely $99,750,000, where does the water district expect to get the rest of the money for the completion of the project which calls for an initial expenditure of $220,000,000 and an ultimate expenditure of $283,000,000? Who will buy the bonds after New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and Los Angeles brokers have refused to even bid on these bonds? The government will have the "first lien" on the aqueduct project. All other subsequently issued bonds will therefore become second liens or "second mortgages" on the project, and who, do you suppose, will be gullible enough to buy such paper? This is one of the most important phases of this matter and should be looked into very carefully by the Senate.

32. It is alleged that Mr. John Bullock, a director representing Los Angeles on the Metropolitan Water District Board, is the owner of some 1200 acres of land through which the aqueduct is to pass at a point east of San Gabriel Canyon; and it is also alleged that Mr. Harry Hefner, director on the board representing the city of San Marino, was for 20 or 25 years the manager of the Vale estate embracing some 90,000 acres of desert land adjacent to the aqueduct line; and it is also alleged and has not been denied that certain other aqueduct officials are deeply interested in desert lands lying adjacent to the proposed aqueduct and are expecting to make millions of dollars in these speculations at the expense of the city taxpayers who are to pay for the aqueduct. Mr. W. P. Whitsett, president of the district board, who made his fortune in the land speculations in San Fernando Valley with waters taken from Owens Valley through the aqueduct paid for by taxpayers in Los Angeles, is alleged to be speculating now in desert and other lands adjacent to the Metropolitan aqueduct line. This needs investigation also.

33. The political organizers of the Metropolitan Water District succeeded in having the Metropolitan Water District Act so framed that they would be able to operate the district until death should overtake them by providing that the directors of the district (who are the original promoters of the scheme) should be appointed for "life." Just why these known desert land speculators should be appointed for life when other similar appointees are appointed for terms of from two to five years is indeed hard to understand. This part of the act should be amended so as to give the voters a chance to have men appointed of their own selection rather than to permit the continuance of a land-speculating oligarchy until eternity.

34. In Long Beach, California, in July, 1924, the Boulder Dam Association which comprised the present political proponents of the Metropolitan aqueduct scheme, adopted a resolution which reads as follows:

"(a) The water project should be carefully limited and defined at the very outset. When a great project such as this is generally discussed, it is almost inevitable that loose talk occurs. The whole situation affecting the Colorado River improvement is so delicate that such talk may do incalculable harm. For instance, if the idea spreads that the plan is to bring water to the coastal plain for general irrigation purposes, antagonism will be created which will be disastrous. Of course, as a matter of fact, any water brought here from the Colorado River will be too costly for economical irrigation. Hence the importance of making it perfectly clear from the outset that the plan is to bring in a supply for domestic purposes only."

"(b) That the plan or project of bringing water from the Colorado River to the coastal plain of southern California should be limited and confined to water for domestic purposes and uses." (The italics are as quoted in the bulletin published by the Boulder Dam Association, January 16, 1932, and given to all members and guests attending the luncheon given at Fullerton, California, on that date.)

It is plain indeed that these political promoters desired to convince the voters of the many cities anticipating entry into the water district that the waters of the Colorado River were to be used for domestic purposes and uses only. And that the use of these waters should be confined to such uses only. Yes, this was good propaganda to fool the voters with until they had navigated 15 cities into joining the district. The voters believed those stories; they trusted to the integrity and honesty of the promoters. When all the cities had joined, the aqueduct promoters got the Legislature, forty-ninth session, in 1931, to amend the Metropolitan Water District Act to provide that not only the member cities could get the Colorado River water, but that it might be used also for "beneficial uses" outside of those cities and outside of the water district. This must stand as an outstanding piece of fraud if there ever was one in this State.

35. It is estimated by competent engineers that it will cost from $35 to $38 per acre foot of water to pump it over the 1700-foot range of mountains from the Colorado River to the coastal plain. This is for pumping cost alone with some 21 or 22 pump lifts with pumps which are to cost about $200,000 for each unit. In a bulletin published by the water district, engineers Sonderogger and Weymouth (the latter being the chief engineer of the district) state that water from the Metropolitan aqueduct will be sold to irrigationists at from 88 to $10 per acre foot; subtracting these figures from the cost of pumping, namely $35 to $38 per acre foot, and it is found that the taxpayers will lose from $25 to $30 per acre foot for all water which is sold to the irrigationists. This will cause a loss of many millions of dollars per year to the people who are being taxed annually for the payment of the construction and upkeep of the aqueduct and the delivery of water through it. We have a precedent for this type of political fraud in the San Fernando Valley development wherein the Owens Valley aqueduct promoters and land speculators engineered the water rate so that they have been and still are getting our Los Angeles "domestic" water supply from Owens Valley for irrigation purposes in San Fernando Valley at only 10 per cent of the domestic rate in Los Angeles. In other words the city folks who are paying for the aqueduct out of taxes, are paying ten times as much for their domestic water supply as the irrigationists have to pay for the same supply. Please refer back to paragraphs No. 14 and No. 15 of this letter for facts regarding San Fernando Valley water supply. And please remember, that this is the same band of political desert-land promoters under the direction of Mr. William P. Whitsett, president of the Metropolitan Water District board and former member and president of the Los Angeles Water and Power Commission and who was the chairman of the San Fernando Annexation Commission which conducted the political campaign to force the annexation of San Fernando Valley of 100,800 acres of desert land to the city of Los Angeles in order to engineer into being an especially low water rate which they could not effect if the valley remained outside of the city. It is true that the State of California takes a hand in this important matter for the protection of all of our citizens who are at the mercy of these land sharks and promoters who have already made $100,000,000 at the expense of the taxpayers.

36. It is alleged that the Metropolitan aqueduct officers are charging the laborers $1.40 per day for board, room and general care. The sanitation division of the State of California advises me that this charge should not exceed 75 cents to 90 cents per day. For this kind of graft we seem find precedence on the Owens Valley aqueduct job where the Deceased Brothers were permitted to execute their feeding contract by taxing the laborers 15 cents per day extra above the contract price, thereby making a profit of some $700,000 some time they were entitled to when based on an average of 5000 men some a three-year period. Please refer back to paragraph No. 7 of the letter for reference to the Deceased Brothers contract.

37. The Metropolitan Water District officers levy a tax annually on all property within the district to pay for the aqueduct and interest on bonds and for maintenance charges and upkeep costs. These men are not elected to office, they are appointed by the mayor at will and the appointments are confirmed by the city council of each city. Under the present law we are not entitled to them have no power to levy taxes. If they did have, it would mean taxation without representation. The mayor has no power to remove these men from office after he appoints them no matter how they conduct the duties of their offices. They have life appointments. This constitutes an oligarchy which is in a class by itself in the State of California. The law should be amended to make these officers elective for a given period and subject to recall like other officers.

38. The Metropolitan Water District politicians also were able to amend the act so that bonds could be issued by a vote of a simple majority instead of by two-thirds majority vote. The State Constitution provides that no bonded debt shall be incurred by any "county, city, town, township, board of education or school district" unless it is approved by a two-thirds majority vote of the voters at an election. (See Article XI, section 16, California Constitution.) The Constitution certainly makes it plain that political subdivisions such as the Metropolitan Water District, which embraces thirteen cities or two and formerly in these counties, namely San Bernardino was a member city, should require a two-thirds majority vote for the approval of all bond issues to pay for expenditures when they are greater than the revenue in one year. With the very valuations placed on real estate by the assessor in Los Angeles County this year, the limitations for the issuance of bonds for general purposes in the city of Los Angeles have been exceeded by approximately six million dollars ($6,000,000) and the limitations for the issuance of bonds for water, power and harbor purposes have likewise been exceeded.

39. The charter of the city of Los Angeles and of other cities in the Metropolitan Water District provides that bonds for all purposes shall not be issued in excess of 15 per cent of the assessed valuation of the properties within the city. Now comes the Metropolitan Water District Act and opens the gates wide for additional bond issues for the purposes which are already provided for under the several charters so that these cities can be saddled down with bonded debt to the extent of an additional 15 per cent of the assessed valuation of these same properties. Then the act also provides that an additional tax levy of five cents per each one hundred-dollar valuation of such properties may be made by the water district for incidental expenses each year, so that at the end of 50 years (the life of the bonds) this item will become equivalent to another two and one-half per cent of the assessed valuation of said properties or a total possible debt load through bond issues of 32 1/2 per cent of the assessed valuation of said properties. The voters of Los Angeles and the other cities which became members of the water district had no knowledge that this bond load was made possible by joining the water district. The copy of the act was never mailed or given to the voters. The ballot which was mailed to the voters simply contained the following words in substance:

"Shall the territory embraced within the corporate boundaries of the city of Los Angeles become a part of the Metropolitan Water District." (Met. Water Dist. Act, Sec. 4 (h).)

This provision makes possible the saddling down of properties with bonded debt for public purposes that makes it impossible for the owners of these properties to negotiate private loans secured by said properties. It is tantamount to absolute confiscation of said properties by the State and or its political subdivisions. It is, as Mr. Harry Daum, then president of the Los Angeles Realty Board, said three years ago, driving us into communism through the back door. The State Senate can look into this matter with profit to all of our taxpayers throughout the State.

40. It has been alleged by the highest officials in Los Angeles that when the Legislature of Utah refused to ratify the Colorado River Compact which would lead to the building of the Hoover (Boulder) Dam, eight new Cadillacs were secretly shipped to public officials in Utah by officials in Los Angeles who allegedly used public funds for so doing, and that thereupon the Legislature of Utah voted to ratify the compact.

41. Money that is being borrowed by the Los Angeles County supervisors could well be used for legitimate construction work such as on the San Gabriel Dam; moneys that are being borrowed from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation at the present time are being wasted on the development of private subdivisions in the Palo Verde tract south of Redondo Beach and on the private estate of the Huntington Land Company in Redondo, California, and on several private subdivision schemes of which the writer has personal knowledge. Two weeks ago while in southern California I took a number of photographs showing hundreds of men working on these private jobs and getting their pay from the charity funds provided by the county of Los Angeles which were received through the State of California relief fund from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. I shall be glad to submit these photographs to any committee which the State Senate may appoint to examine into this matter. In doing this the supervisors are making the rich men richer and leaving the taxes for the poor people to pay. Hundreds of public jobs in Los Angeles County need funds and the public should be given the full benefit of all expenditures of charity money received from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation; and I now propose to your honorable Senate that civil suits be commenced at once against the public officials and the political friends for whom they are allegedly diverting public funds to the end that every dollar which is thus diverted may be returned to the proper charity fund for proper disposition for the public good.

Many of the foregoing facts have been published in more complete detail from time to time in my journal "The Gridiron" in articles written by myself and by articles written by officers and directors of the Southwest Water League among whom are the ablest engineers, geologists, accountants and attorneys in California. These matters have been discussed and debated in many cities in southern California, and members of the Southwest Water League have tried to bring some of these matters before the Los Angeles County grand jury but they were advised by the foreman of the grand jury and by the district attorney of that county that the grand jury had no jurisdiction over municipal affairs, and when the district attorney said he could only make investigations of such municipal affairs after criminal complaints were sworn to, our members declared they were ready right then to swear to such complaints but the district attorney refused to accept the complaints, stating that he did not have any funds with which to make the proper investigations in order to determine the truth of the several allegations made by the complainants.

For the foregoing reason it is necessary and imperative that the honorable State Senate appoint a special committee to investigate the foregoing matters during its period of recess in May, June and July, 1933, and that the committee be instructed to report its findings when the Senate convenes in July. The writer will be willing to aid such committee in its efforts to expedite the investigation of these charges.

Respectfully submitted,

ANDRAE B. NORDSKOG,
President of the Southwest Water League.

May 6, 1933, 6205½ South Vermont Avenue, Los Angeles, California.
Presented in person by Mr. Nordskog in Sacramento, California.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

The following message from the Governor was received and read:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE

SACRAMENTO, May 11, 1933

To the Honorable Members of the Senate of the State of California.

I have just affixed my signature to Assembly Bill No. 675 presented to me by the Legislature on Saturday, May 6, 1933, at twelve noon, and thereby approve appropriations for the support of the State government for the next biennial period. I perform this act with full realization that provision has not been made by the Legislature for meeting the deficit of the current biennium nor for meeting the appropriations provided for in Assembly Bill No. 675.

The attention of the Legislature is respectfully called to the fact that this Budget Bill, which is in the main a good job well done and is the result of four months' hard labor by the Legislature, provides only for the spending of the public money. The other onerous part of the legislative task is yet uncompleted, namely, the task of balancing the budget by providing the necessary revenues.

Legislation has not as yet been passed to provide revenues sufficient to meet the appropriations payable from the general fund and in addition you have before you numerous other special appropriation bills against this same fund.

The Legislature is about to take a long recess leaving that part of its task uncompleted. In my opinion it is a grievous mistake for the Legislature to recess for a long period in the present circumstance. Such a recess is, so far as I am informed, without precedent.

Realizing that the proposed expenditures for the ensuing biennial period exceeded the estimated revenue I recommended in the budget presented to you January 17, 1933, in accordance with section 34 of Article IV of the State Constitution, the means by which the budget could be balanced. You have not followed my recommendations in the major considerations and, therefore, I must presume that you have assumed this responsibility and have substitute plans which will effectively solve the problem of balancing the budget.

The effort to collect new and additional taxes from our people, instead of adopting the obvious, simple, business-like course recommended by me, is the reason for the recess and will be the reason for the session to follow the recess. And, at the end of your labors, the people of the State will find that, in this critical period, with all our population in financial distress, the Legislature, while having done its work well so far as reduction of expenses is concerned, has nevertheless imposed heavy additional taxes on the people of the State who can not afford to pay them.

May I urge you to give immediate consideration to the problem of balancing the budget not only for the ensuing biennium but also for the current biennium. The general fund for the current fiscal year ending June 30, 1933, is already overdrawn and it has become necessary to borrow from special funds in order to meet the usual current expenses of the State. Steps should be taken by the Legislature without delay to remedy this situation. In my budget message and in subsequent communications I have recommended that you authorize the transfer from the motor vehicle fuel tax revenues to the general fund an amount which will be equal to the requirement for the payment of interest and redemption of highway bonds for the current biennium. This would provide a sufficient amount to pay the obligations against the general fund of the State, making it possible to close the present fiscal year without a deficit.

I have also recommended and again urge that provision likewise be made to pay the interest and redemption of highway bonds for the ensuing biennium from motor vehicle fuel tax revenues. Unless such steps are taken immediately by you, you leave no other alternative except to call for an ad valorem tax on all property in the State as is prescribed in the Constitution. The Legislature has ample authority to make the needed transfers and to provide other alternatives to solve the problem with which we are confronted.

I expressed my approval today by message to you of your suggestion to submit to the people for their vote at the special election called for June 27th the Felloe Bill just passed by you, relating to the transfer of motor vehicle tax funds.

None of the constitutional amendments to be submitted to the people now before the Legislature are necessary or in any way affect the matter of meeting the deficit for the ensuing biennium. The constitutional proposals suggested to you in my budget for meeting the deficit without the imposition of any additional taxes have not been approved by you for presentation to the people. You have, therefore, assumed the responsibility of considering alternate suggestions.

The Governor is opposed to the levy of an ad valorem tax which would be merely an increase in the tax burden, believing that such a tax at this time would be in many instances of such serious consequence as to be considered in the nature of a calamity. I have consistently been opposed to the levy of any additional taxes and have recommended a procedure which if followed would have made possible the balancing of the State budget for the current biennium and the ensuing biennium without the necessity of levying more taxes. I again strongly urge that the Legislature eliminate the deficit for the current biennium and balance the budget for the ensuing biennium by making use of general and special fund revenues which are already available and that no new or added taxes be levied.

Thus far the Legislature has not been in accord with my proposal for the application of so much of the road tax revenues to general fund purposes as is necessary for the relief of the general fund in balancing the State budget. It is considering a number of additions to old taxes and some new taxes. May I suggest that, if these new exactions are to be levied, the present gasoline tax should be reduced by an amount equal to the additional revenue which is to be derived from the new and additional taxes, so that the net burden on the people may not be increased?

I give this counsel in a spirit of the utmost friendliness to the Legislature. Whatever course you may adopt, you will find me cooperating so far as cooperation is possible, in my opinion, in the interest of the people of California. I know that, whatever differences of opinion may have arisen during the course of this long session between the Governor and the Legislature, the Legislature is acting with sincere zeal for the public interest, and I know that the Governor is animated by the same sincerity and the same zeal for the public interest. These differences of opinion are not personal and should involve no acrimony.

I wish you a good rest from your labors during the coming recess and a return in July ready to close the fiftieth session of the Legislature feeling that we have accomplished beneficial results for the people whom we serve.

Very sincerely and respectfully,

JAMES ROLPH, JR., Governor of California.

APR 26 1935

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE.

SACRAMENTO, May 11, 1933.

To the Members of the Senate of the State of California.

1. Purpose of This Message.

A special investigating committee, of which Senator J. M. Inman is chairman, appointed to investigate any irregularities in any branch of the State government, has filed with the Senate a report conceived in hatred, written in venom, and tempered only by cowardice, and so biased and misleading that it becomes my duty as Governor to address the Legislature respecting that document, the persons by whom and the conditions under which it was prepared, and evidence presented to the committee and not mentioned in the report, as well as evidence which the committee refused to receive, so that the members of the Legislature and the people of California may not be deceived by that report respecting the conduct of public officials and the condition of the State government. In the course of this message I shall make certain recommendations which I deem pertinent.

2. Appointment of a Packed Committee.

The Senate, on representations made by Senator Inman, authorized the appointment of a special committee to investigate irregularities in any branch of the State government. With that action there can be no quarrel. But Lieutenant Governor

Merriam, himself an avowed candidate for the Governorship, packed the committee with a majority consisting of Senators Inman, Jones and Rich, who were, and are, notoriously, inveterate enemies of me and my administration. From that committee, selected by a political cabal, neither I nor officials of my administration expected or received fair or decent treatment.

The chairman, Senator Inman, dominated the committee. He had his office associate, Sheridan Downey, appointed counsel for the committee to do the ferret work. Before the committee had commenced to take evidence, Senator Inman declared that he intended to blow the doors off the State Capitol, thus virtually announcing in advance that his report would be adverse to my administration.

3. Efforts to Poison Public Opinion.

Day after day, Senator Inman and Mr. Downey, in an effort to poison public opinion in advance, fed the press with defamatory statements of what they expected to prove, with resultant headlines; and day after day the evidence failed to support these newspaper previews. Hostility of the majority of the committee to me and my administration was manifest throughout the hearings, in the treatment accorded witnesses, in the framing of leading and suggestive questions, in the evasive and spurious evidence conflicting with the sound newspaper judgments. In the end, the result was justly summed up, not in the committee's report, but in the remark of Senator Harper (manuscript page 1483) who, at the last public session of the committee said: "In all this investigation . . . there has not been one thing that involves Governor Rolph, not one."

4. Scope of the Investigation.

From the start, the solid majority insisted on proceeding as if the committee's task were to investigate the incumbent Governor and his appointees and nothing else. Yet the mandate given to the committee by the Senate, plainly expressed in the resolution creating the committee, was "to investigate any and all allegations of irregularities in any branch of the State government." That mandate included the legislative, as well as the executive branch, and did not confine the inquiry to the two years of my administration.

5. Request to the Governor for Information.

On January 9, 1933, and before the committee held the first session at which evidence was taken, I dispatched a letter (Exhibit "A" attached) to Senator Inman in which I pointed out the scope of the committee's duties and asked whether a transcript of the evidence would be available for the Governor.

Sensing, no doubt, that his unaccounted animosity to me was turning fair-minded people against him, Senator Inman replied (Exhibit "B") that a transcript would be available, and doubtless, with tongue in cheek, he added that "any suggestion that you may have to make to the committee, so early information that you desire to give will be cordially received." He reported this invitation to the committee at its first public session.

6. The Governor's Letters to the Committee.

Acting on this invitation, I presented to the committee, by Judge I. M. Golden, my representative, a series of communications giving complete information concerning a number of irregularities in the State government in which Senator Inman was involved. Copies of these communications are attached hereto as exhibits. To say that none of them or the information they contained was "cordially received" is surely not an overstatement.

In the first (Exhibit "C," dated February 6, 1933) I set forth in detail how Senator Inman agreed to accept a fee of $2,500, contingent on his procuring from one of my predecessors before the last day of his term as Governor, a pardon for a notorious abortionist, then a prisoner in San Quentin, and that the pardon was procured on the last day of that Governor's term and the fee paid to Senator Inman. I informed the committee where documentary proof of the charges could be easily obtained.

Although the facts charged in my letter were more scandalous and shocking than any of the matters on which the committee has spent its time and labor, the committee failed to make any inquiry into these facts.

7. The Committee's Precipitate Adjournment.

After waiting a decent interval in order to see what the committee would do respecting the subject of my letter of February 6th, and finding that they were doing exactly nothing, Judge Golden, on February 20th, telegraphed to the committee, then sitting in Los Angeles, as follows:

"Governor Rolph has commissioned me as his representative to present to you an official communication submitting to your honorable committee information respecting certain irregularities in the State government embraced within the scope of the Senate resolution under which your committee is acting. Will you please at earliest convenience advise me by telegram at my expense when and at what hour day or night I may appear before you at Los Angeles to present the Governor's communication.

I. M. GOLDEN, 1304 Mills Tower."

To this telegram, Judge Golden, on February 20th, received in reply a telegram from the committee then at Los Angeles, as follows:

"Committee will have no time while here to consider your communication. Committee will return to Sacramento first of next week. You can contact the committee there subject to committee's rules of procedure.

W. P. RICH, Vice Chairman.

HERBERT C. JONES.

WM. E. HARPER."

February 20th was a Monday. The "next week" referred to in the committee's telegram was the week commencing February 27th. But the committee, the following day (February 21st) terminated its sessions at Los Angeles and moved back to Sacramento where it next met publicly on Friday, February 24th. Judge Golden then went to Sacramento without waiting for notice or invitation and there, on February 24th, presented to the committee two letters, each dated February 20th (Exhibits "D" and "E"), one of which disclosed that in Governor Young's administration Senator Inman had received a fee of $1,000 from a prizefight promoter in consideration of having procured from State officials a permit for the promoter to hold prizefights in the State Armory at San Francisco; and the other of which reported that in December of 1930, during the closing weeks of Governor Young's administration, when the depression was a year old and all rents were falling, Senator Inman had induced certain State officials to renew, for six years, at a rental increased one-third over the old rental, the State's lease of a National Guard shooting range in Alameda County, in which Sheridan Downey, Senator Inman's office associate and counsel for the committee, had a proprietary interest, notwithstanding that the old lease had still ten months to run.

My letter dealing with the use of the armory for prizefights concluded with this significant sentence:

"I expect to supply you with information concerning other irregularities before your committee concludes its hearings."

These two letters manifestly caused consternation to members of the solid majority; so much so that the committee did nothing else that day but receive the letters, and it thereupon adjourned "to the call of the chairman." It was common report at the time, verified later by the event, that the committee would never hold another public meeting.

The committee never did hold another public hearing or give me an opportunity to present the other information which I offered. It is a fair inference from the circumstances that the committee ceased to hold public sessions in order to prevent me from submitting evidence of other irregularities. Had Judge Golden waited, as the committee requested, until the week commencing February 27th, he would never have had the opportunity to read to the committee my letters respecting the State Armory prizefights and the shooting range leases.

8. Efforts to Silence the Governor.

After the presentation of my first letter, the one respecting the peddling of pardons, an emissary of my political enemies came to San Francisco and solicited an interview with my counsel, Judge I. M. Golden, to whom he made the extraordinary proposal that if I would write no more letters to the committee, the recall movement against me, which was then being promoted by Senator Inman's political allies, would be dropped. Judge Golden refused to make any such bargain. My position, in public and private, from the commencement of this political investigation, has been that nothing must be concealed, nothing suppressed, no matter who might be hurt; but that the committee must not protect any guilty official even if he were a member of the committee. When the committee endeavored to shirk its full responsibility and buy my silence by filing only a partial report without recommendations, I demanded that a complete report be presented, and thus forced the remainder of the report tardily from the committee. Not until May 2, 1933, was the completing portion of the report filed.

In view of the circumstances, I now submit to the Senate the additional information which I would have presented to the committee through Judge Golden had the committee not denied the opportunity, in spite of my request, by its abrupt and wholly unexpected adjournment. That information is properly made public not only because it presents to the Legislature and the people significant facts concerning conditions in the State government but because it also will assist them in evaluating the fairness and reliability of the committee's report.

9. Senator Inman's Interest in the State's Purchase of Motorcycles.

One of the irregularities in the State government concerning which I would have supplied information to the investigating committee had my opportunity to do so not been so suddenly foreclosed, is Senator Inman's mercenary activity in procuring for a client a large order for supplying motor fuel for the State Highway Patrol.

Early in 1930, when Governor Young was in office, it became necessary to equip with motorcycles the State Highway Patrol, which had been established in August, 1929.

Naturally, dealers in various makes of motorcycle were eager to effect as large a sale and to have their respective orders accepted. Inasmuch the contracting awarded by the dealers delayed the purchase from September, 1929, until after the turn of the year.

One of the bidders was the Henderson Motorcycle Sales Company of Los Angeles, factory agents and dealers in Henderson motorcycles. This company, which was owned by two brothers, named respectively Willard W. Kemp and P. C. Kemp, employed Senator J. M. Inman as representative of the company. The Purchasing Bureau favored another make of motorcycle, the Indian motorcycle, which.

Although the records in the Department of Finance, which appear in the appendix of the committee's disclosure that the sale of the Henderson motorcycles was larger than that of the Harley Davidson, the State records show that 150 Henderson motorcycles from Senator Inman's client at a cost of $405 each, with an additional $5 charge on each of 70 motorcycles for luggage carriers. The total price was $61,000. Only 75 of the Harley Davidson make were purchased.

The first lot of 80 motorcycles was shipped to the county number 7758, issued by the Department of Public Works, Division of Motor Vehicles, for the sum of $32,400, payable to Henderson Motorcycle Sales Company, and the check bears the endorsement of that firm by Willard W. Kemp.

When time to pay for the second lot of 70 motorcycles approached, Senator Inman took the precaution of asking an auditor in the Division of Motor Vehicles that the check making the payment be delivered directly to him.

In compliance with this request, check No. 9510, of the Department of Public Works, Division of Motor Vehicles, for $28,700, dated March 25, 1930, payable to the Henderson Motorcycle Sales Company, was delivered to Senator J. M. Inman.

That check for $28,700, was, on March 26, 1930, either deposited to the credit of Senator Inman's firm, Inman and West, or cashed at the Central National Bank in Sacramento. It bears the endorsement, "Henderson Motorcycle Sales Company, by Inman and West, its attys." A photostatic copy of the check and endorsement is in my possession.

How much of that $28,700 Senator Inman retained as his fee for bringing about the purchase of those 150 Henderson motorcycles to the State does not appear from official records, but reference to the Inman and West account at the Central National Bank would probably have disclosed to the committee what portion of the $28,700 the check for which is thus traced to Senator Inman, was sent to the client in Los Angeles, and what portion retained as Senator Inman's compensation. The size of the fee and the basis on which it was determined have significance.

Mr. Willard W. Kemp of Los Angeles has stated in the presence of witnesses that Senator Inman's compensation was based on an agreement to pay him $10 for each motorcycle purchased by the State from Henderson Motorcycle Sales Company of Los Angeles. The committee would have been able to check Mr. Kemp's statement without difficulty. Both the Messrs. Kemp were available in Los Angeles on February 20th and 21st and could have been produced there, had the committee permitted Judge Golden to present this information there.

There is no reason, of course, why a person dealing with the State in a business matter should not be represented by an attorney, provided the circumstances do not create an impropriety. But when the attorney is also a member of the State Senate, and as influential as Senator Inman was in 1930, his intervention in as simple a matter as a sale of motorcycles to the State, under the circumstances outlined herein, suggests the reasonable, if not reasonable inference that it was the Senator rather than the attorney who was employed and that the purpose was to sell the motorcycles on a basis of political influence. The occasion manifestly called for salesmanship rather than professional legal service.

Last it be said that the purchase of the Henderson motorcycles at the price of $405 each was justified by their merit in comparison with other makes offered at lower prices. I refer to the very exact records kept by the motorcycle department of the performance of each motorcycle in the service of the Highway Patrol.

These records reveal that every Henderson motorcycle purchased through Senator Inman's intervention was turned in at a low and unsatisfactory mileage in comparison with the cheaper Indian motorcycles used by the department. The Henderson motorcycle is no longer manufactured.

10. Senator Inman's Campaign for Oil Exploiters.

No statute prohibits a member of the Legislature from taking pay for campaigning for or against legislation submitted to the people by initiative or referendum. But as the initiative and referendum are part of the legislative process in California, no member of the Legislature who heeds the necessities of conduct would go on the stump in such an election as a hired mouthpiece, especially when the subject of the initiative and referendum had been and might again be the subject of action by the Legislature itself.

Notwithstanding that the Legislature in 1929 had passed a law prohibiting any new permits for drilling for gas or oil on State tidelands, and notwithstanding that the people at the referendum election of May 3, 1932, on Chapter 326, Statutes of 1931, page 850, had declared themselves in favor of such legislation prohibiting drilling on public beaches, certain interests, intent on exploiting the oil resources of Huntington Beach, submitted to the people at the election held November 8, 1932, a proposed amendment to the Constitution granting to the city of Huntington Beach certain tide and submerged lands within the city boundaries, but belonging to the State, and empowering the city to exploit such lands for gas and oil. A private corporation had, meanwhile, received a lease of those lands from the city of Huntington Beach, on terms and conditions not very favorable to the city, and notwithstanding that the city did not own the lands.

Senator Inman took the stump in favor of this amendment and was paid for his campaign speeches. I am informed that he received about $1,000 plus his expenses. The paymaster was Allen Miller, a lobbyist for the interests which sought to secure the people's beach. I have in my possession a photostat of a check for $300, dated October 18, 1932, and drawn on the Sacramento main office of the Bank of America by Allen Miller in favor of J. M. Inman. The check was part of Senator Inman's pay. The endorsement shows that he collected the money.

These facts speak for themselves. I can not describe them more aptly than in phrases taken from the committee's report, for Senator Inman's conduct, while not criminal, reveals a degree of indiscretion and an ignorance or defiance of the rules of conduct which should actuate a public official unbelievable in one who holds the high position of a member of the Senate of California.

11. The Fees of Senator Jones.

Senator Herbert C. Jones, who lives in the odor of political sanctity, is properly severe in his comments on the use of public place for private thrift. But, in practice, apparently, he permits an occasional exception.

In the Legislature of 1929 Senator Jones introduced a bill, which was enacted, providing for the creation of water conservation districts with the right to condemn property, levy assessments, and, not the least important, to appoint attorneys.

As soon as the bill became effective, Senator Jones, with others, instituted proceedings under the act for the creation of the Santa Clara Valley water conservation district. The election was held November 5, 1929. As the 1929 act did not empower the district to issue bonds and its validity was otherwise in doubt, Senator Jones introduced in the Legislature of 1931 another bill providing for the creation of water conservation districts, which, by its terms, was to be construed as a continuation of the 1929 act, but enlarged the powers of the districts so that bonds could be issued and expressly validated proceedings taken under the act of 1929.

Senator Jones, by introducing the act of 1929, and by his other activities, made possible the creation of the district, and the district, in turn, being duly grateful, made Senator Jones its attorney. He charged a fee of $1,250 for organizing the district and a retainer of $100 per month.

As an indirect result of the activity of Senator Jones in putting the 1931 act through the Legislature, he has made a good deal of money out of the district. For example, in the eighteen months from January 1, 1931, to July 1, 1932, the district collected $114,197 in assessments or taxes, and paid Senator Jones' firm for legal services the sum of $9,748.69 or 8½ per cent of the total gross revenue of the district from taxation or assessment. Since that time he has received his retainer of $100 per month. I do not charge that the fees were excessive, for I am not informed on that point, but it may well be questioned whether the lawyer who is also a Senator has an ethical right to use his place in the Legislature for the purpose of procuring the enactment of statutes serving his clients, even if those clients be public districts or agencies, thereby putting himself in a position to make and collect fees.

Virtually $10,000 flowed into the pockets of Senator Jones' law firm in those eighteen months as an indirect result of the enactment of those two statutes which he introduced and sponsored. Senator Jones sets a correctly severe standard for other public officials and he can not complain if he is judged by those standards.

Senator Jones has signed the report criticizing my son, and, by implication, me, because of the fact that five large insurance companies for which my son's firm is agent, have written what the committee calls a very large portion of the indemnity bonds for various State agencies and officials, notwithstanding that the firm, which is one of the oldest in its line, has received, under previous administrations, a large volume of such business, a fact not mentioned in the report. I shall discuss later in this message the indemnity bond section of the committee's report. It suffices to say here that if my son must reject all such indemnity bond business of State agencies and officials and thus destroy a business that it has taken years to build up, then it is not asking too much from Senator Jones that he refrain from accepting employment from a public agency such as the Santa Clara Valley water conservation district, in view of his activity as a Senator in making possible the creation of that district.

True, the impropriety of such activity by Senator Jones is perhaps more debatable than that of Senator Inman mentioned herein, but in view of the circumstances, it is not unfair for me to paraphrase slightly and apply here language appearing in paragraphs of the Investigating Committee's report, to which the members thereof attached their signatures.

The legislator finds, not only of his opportunity, but of his responsibility, if he does not leave public respect for government a little higher and a little stronger when he retires from office than when he takes office. It is not sufficient that his conduct merely be such as to avoid violation of the law or technically within his rights. In this period of dire distress, when the farmer and the business man find it harder than ever before to exist, they are likely to become embittered when they find that the taxes or assessments wrong from them by a political subdivision of their government are expended in paying fat fees for the legal adviser of the district, who happens also to be the legislator who sponsored legislative authorizing and then engineered the creation of the taxing or assessing political subdivision or agency.

The Legislature would do well to consider the enactment designed to prohibit members from accepting employment from political subdivisions, municipal corporations, or State agencies created under legislation that such legislators had introduced, sponsored or supported.

12. The Federal Statute.

Judge Golden, in addressing the Investigating Committee on February 24th, aptly called attention to the fact that if California had a statute applicable to members of the Legislature in respect to State officers similar to the Federal statute that prohibits any member of Congress from taking pay for practicing before Federal bureaus or procuring contracts from the Federal government, some of the activities of Senator Inman would have been felonies and punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary. But as Judge Golden said to the committee, while such was not the California law, the Federal statute expressed a standard of ethical conduct and public morality that should be observed by all persons occupying legislative positions. I recommended that the Legislature enact a statute prohibiting members of the Legislature from activities with respect to State departments and contracts similar to those denounced by the Federal statute with respect to activities of members of Congress in practicing before Federal bureaus or procuring Federal contracts.

13. The Reference to the Judiciary Committee.

Because Senator Inman was a member of the Investigating Committee, that committee professed to feel embarrassed by the charges which I had made respecting Senator Inman and requested the Senate to refer these charges to another committee. The Senate then referred them to its Committee on Judiciary of which Senator Inman and all members of the Investigating Committee, except Senator Harper, are members. Thus the embarrassment was relieved. The Committee on Judiciary referred the whole matter to the Legislative Counsel with a request that he advise whether the charges, if true, would constitute grounds for removing Senator Inman from office or a violation of any duty or rule, or whether they would justify the hearing of evidence by the Senate. From the Legislative Counsel the Committee on Judiciary received a purely legalistic opinion giving an evasively negative reply to the questions propounded, and concluding with this sentence which fitly characterizes the opinion:

"In conclusion, it is for the Senate to decide whether or not the charges present a case for investigation."

The committee also concluded that it had no authority to subpoena witnesses.

Instead of dropping the matter, without further comment, if it wished to fall back on the Legislative Counsel's side-stepping opinion, the Committee on Judiciary, without conducting any investigation, permitted Senator Rich, my implacable political enemy, who was also a member of the Investigating Committee, to prepare and read, as the committee's report, one of the most singular and indefensible documents ever presented to a Legislature.

14. Senator Rich's Incredible Report.

The Committee on Judiciary, in its report, did not find that my charges against Senator Inman were untrue. On the contrary, the report assumes that they are true, but, referring to the specific charges, says that, if true, Senator Inman was acting within his prerogative as an attorney at law. The ethical aspects of the matter are not mentioned and apparently did not occur to the author of the report. Just it be suspected that my comment on this report is an overstatement, I quote its almost incredible language:

"In each instance mentioned in the charges filed by the Governor, Senator Inman was acting as an attorney. There is neither law, rule, nor reason which prevents him from appearing before any tribunal, department, or office of this State in the practice of his profession.

While it is possible to draw different inferences, we must assume that the Senator, when acting as such attorney, acted in good faith, and that he conformed to the code of ethics prescribed by the State Bar. If he did not, it is a subject for the State Bar Association and not for the Senate."

Senator Inman may be satisfied with that sort of a clearance, and with the doctrine on which it is placed, but the people of California are not satisfied.

15. The Double Standard.

Certainly Senator Rich sets up one standard when investigating Senator Inman and quite another when investigating other public officials.

Senator Rich in his report suggested that I made, filed and timed the charges against Senator Inman so as to harass and embarrass that statesman while performing a legislative function. Senator Rich ignores the potent fact that the Investigating Committee, through Senator Inman, had expressly requested me to supply information and that the matters presented in my letters were clearly within the scope of the committee's mandate.

To illustrate: The committee spent weeks investigating a charge that my son-in-law, who is not a public official, had persuaded the Director of Finance to execute a lease that was improvident for the State. That charge is not essentially different from my charge that Senator Inman, who is a public official, had persuaded the Adjutant General to execute a lease of a shooting-range that was improvident on the State's part. The committee investigated various charges that official action had been induced through influence in the selection of roads and hospital sites; yet my charges that Senator Inman, for fees, had used his political influence in procuring a pardon for Dr. Card, and in procuring a lease of State property for a prizefight promoter are dismissed as immaterial and made for an ulterior purpose.

Senator Rich assumes that Senator Inman's attacks on me are actuated purely by disinterested zeal for the good of the State, while my attacks on him are inspired by malice. Whatever may be the motives of Senator Inman in his attacks on me, my motive in attacking him is to render the public service of exposing one whom I regard as an unworthy servant of the State; and, by exposing him, to render him less dangerous to the public welfare. I am naturally indignant at his unjust treatment of me and mine, but my indignation is not mixed with malice.

I may properly conclude this section of my message by saying in language paraphrased from the Investigating Committee's report that, if any facts herein stated tend to cast reflection upon any legislator then the fault lies with such legislator and but indicates the necessity of our public servants so conducting themselves that no shadow of suspicion should be created in the minds of the people that the office they occupy is being used for their personal profit.

16. The Evidence Respecting Conduct of Directors Toner and Vandegrift.

Because a majority of the Investigating Committee from the beginning was determined, regardless of the evidence, to report adversely on me and my administration, and because the report is obviously unfair in its incomplete statements of the evidence and its comments thereon, the findings, recommendations, and comments of the committee, as such, are entitled to no weight and no respect.

Despite the fact, however, that the investigation was so unfair in purpose and method, if the record discloses credible evidence of wrongdoing, official misconduct, unfitness, or incompetence on the part of any official, it is my duty as Governor to take cognizance of it.

Unquestionably, the committee's report contains statements of alleged evidence which, if correct and uncontradicted or unqualified, can not be ignored. Those statements in the report reflect on Rolland A. Vandegrift, Director of Finance, and Dr. James M. Toner, Director of Public Institutions. As neither Mr. Vandegrift nor Dr. Toner was accorded full opportunity to cross-examine hostile witnesses, I called on Mr. Vandegrift and Dr. Toner respectively to prepare statements of the facts concerning their actions with which the committee deals in its report, and also to submit such an analysis of the evidence and such comments as, in their opinion, will bring out the truth and present their respective sides of the episodes and actions which the committee condemns.

A copy of Mr. Vandegrift's statement marked Exhibit "F," and a copy of Dr. Toner's statement, marked Exhibit "G," are filed herewith as parts of this message.

While I have requested the several officers criticised in the report to make their own replies, and the replies, as exhibits, are part of this message, I deem it well to refer here briefly, and necessarily incompletely, to the most important topics on which the investigating committee's report touches.

17. The Criticism of Mr. Rolland A. Vandegrift, Director of Finance.

(a) Purchases and Sales of Bonds.

The Legislature has cast on the Director of Finance the duty and authority to make purchases and sales of bonds in which State funds are invested. In a fluctuating market, such as prevailed in recent years, his duty, like that of the president of a life insurance company or a bank, is to watch trends and exercise foresight to the best of his ability, in order to avoid loss.

Looking backward with the wisdom of hindsight, the committee sees that Mr. Vandegrift made some errors of judgment both as to methods and results. But the committee does not charge or find and on the evidence could not find that in any instance he acted dishonestly or made or sought any profit for himself or had any personal interest in the transactions, or that his bond transactions taken as a whole resulted in a loss. On the contrary, the transactions, as a whole, resulted in a gain to the State's funds. Instead of telling those facts frankly, in vindication of Mr. Vandegrift, and giving him credit for the creditable transactions proved in the record, the committee, without having been guilty of wrongdoing, has clouded its report on the bond transactions with rhetorical questions and artful language tending to create an impression that there was something sinister in his purchases and sales of bonds. Perhaps Mr. Vandegrift made a political mistake in not washing his hands of all responsibility by dropping on the market the entire portfolio of bonds in the general fund purchased mostly in prior administrations, at a loss to the State of half a million dollars, but he questioned the constructive course of accepting the responsibility imposed on him by law in order to protect the State's investments, even at the risk of being criticized by political enemies. With the committee's opinion that the purchase and sale of bonds should not be delegated to one official, I agree, and that situation will be corrected by legislation; but Mr. Vandegrift is not responsible for the statute under which he acted.

(b) The State Building Annex in San Francisco.

An unfortunate and regrettable incident of the leasing of the State Building Annex at 450 McAllister Street, San Francisco, is that my son-in-law, Mr. John P. Symes, a young man inexperienced in political matters, had a prospective interest, although entirely without my knowledge. His connection with the transaction was honest but imprudent. The imprudence consisted in having an interest in the contract with the State, in view of his relationship to me. But for that relationship his connection with the transaction would not have had the slightest significance.

The committee in its report suggest that the lease was improvidently made without competition by Mr. Vandegrift, but the evidence on which the committee relies is partisan opinion testimony and the abundant evidence that the lease was provident on the part of the State is ignored. There was no competition respecting sites because a particular site on the Civic Center was desired.

The actual cost of the building was proved by documents and by reliable witnesses whose testimony is not mentioned in the report. Opinion evidence is improper to determine the cost of a completed building when conclusive evidence of the actual cost is available. The committee does not say what is the proved fact, that the building is a class "A" structure especially and well designed for the State's purposes. Instead, the committee remarks, without affecting the correctness of the opinion stated, that "this building was described by one of the witnesses, who qualified as an expert, as a 'very cheap type of school property'." This is a most unfair characterization of the building in view of the indisputable evidence in the record.

Equally unfair is the committee's statement that "the committee has on file a written, firm proposal from a reputable maker and builder of San Francisco agreeing to reproduce said building equal or superior in every respect to the building now occupied by the State for an annual rental of $27,500," and to give the State an option to purchase for $275,000. That offer was, obviously, an idle tender on which the man in question was well aware that he would not and could not be required to make good. His interest and partnership are demonstrated in Mr. Vandegrift's discussion of this transaction. The bid referred to was made long after the time when the building was contracted for and it is common knowledge that building costs were greatly lowered in the meanwhile. In short the committee's report on this transaction is highly colored and unfair.

The attack on the lease, and the State's refusal to pay rent under it, forced the owner into a position of financial peril. Threatened with the loss of the building under a deed of trust, the owner, since the close of the investigation and in order to make some salvage, offered to sell to the State for $355,000, a sum considerably less than the proved cost to him of $366,821.05. The State, taking advantage of the owner's necessity, and with the approval of the Governor and the members of the Legislature, including the members of the investigating committee, has since purchased the building for the price offered, notwithstanding the committee's intimations that the building was worth only $275,000 or less.

While I do not attempt to decide whether the rent which the State agreed to pay for the building was more than it was worth, the record discloses ample evidence to support the conclusions that Mr. Vandegrift exercised an honest judgment in the matter and that his judgment was predicated on reasonable grounds. I may add that the interest of Mr. Symes has been completely erased with his consent by the State's purchase of the building.

(c) The Ventura Hospital Site.

The committee's discussion of the Ventura Hospital site is manifestly unjust and malicious. There can be no question, in view of the overwhelming evidence in the record, that the site was excellent for the purpose and that the price was reasonable and, indeed, low. The committee does not find otherwise but nowhere in its report does the committee concede these facts. It lays great stress, however, on two unfortunate incidental circumstances, one relating to Mr. Vandegrift and the other to Dr. Toner, which they respectively discuss in their reports to me made a part of this message, but which call for comment by me.

(d) Mr. Vandegrift's Purchase of Adjoining Property.

The Ventura Hospital site was purchased by a unanimous vote of the purchasing commission on May 27, 1932. The fact was then public knowledge. Nearly three months afterward, on August 15th, Mr. Vandegrift who was one of the five members of the commission purchased from the same owner a parcel of land adjoining the hospital site. He paid a higher price in proportion than the State paid for comparable land and the same price at which the land was offered to the general public. There was no concealment of Mr. Vandegrift's purchase. The deed to him was placed on record. The same owner still has comparable land in the same vicinity for sale at the price paid by Mr. Vandegrift. Mr. Vandegrift did not use any secret information to his own advantage in making the purchase. He has owned other land in Ventura County for years.

In my opinion Mr. Vandegrift made a political blunder and exposed himself and the administration to misconception by his purchase; but I am convinced that the transaction on his part was honest in fact and in intention. Mr. Vandegrift possesses great intelligence, a thorough knowledge of the State's fiscal affairs, and of taxation, and is an indefatigable, courageous, and invaluable public servant, and I am confident that the criticism of his purchase, mostly from those who were not correctly informed, is an ample and indeed excessive penalty for the blunder and has taught him that a man in public life must avoid the appearance as well as the actuality of wrongdoing and must ever be on guard against laying his conduct open to malicious misinterpretation by political opponents.

18. The Criticism of Dr. J. M. Toner, Director of Institutions.*(a) The Commission Received by Mr. Jack Kuhrts.

Dr. Toner, the Director of Institutions, a member of the commission charged with the duty of selecting the hospital site, made a grave error in suggesting in any fashion to the owner of the Ventura site that he employ Mr. Jack Kuhrts as a real estate man competent to present the merits of the site. There is no evidence to warrant a finding or suggestion that Dr. Toner intended more than merely to do Mr. Kuhrts a favor. Mr. Kuhrts received a broker's commission of $20,250. He had considerable difficulty in explaining what became of $19,000 of that commission. He testified that he kept it all, and paid none of it to any public official, but that in the wish to conceal it from his wife, with whom he was having marital difficulties, he juggled it about and finally placed it in a safe deposit box. His explanation may be true but it is not impressive. A vigorous endeavor was made by the Investigating Committee to trace some part of this commission to Dr. Toner or some one else connected with the State government. Not a scintilla of evidence tending to support the committee's suspicion was produced. The committee does not find or suggest that Dr. Toner received any portion of the commission, but, on the contrary, acquits him with the grudging statement that "the exact relations between Dr. Toner and Mr. Kuhrts were never satisfactorily explained."

It was an impropriety for Dr. Toner to have suggested a broker to any person tendering a site to the State. He testified, however, that he made the suggestion at the owner's request and mentioned the names of two brokers, one of whom was Mr. Kuhrts; that he mentioned Mr. Kuhrts as an agent who had ably presented other sites to the commission; and that he neither received nor had any agreement about receiving any portion of Mr. Kuhrts' commission. There is no evidence in the record contradicting Dr. Toner's testimony.

(b) Administration of the Whittier State School.

The Whittier School is a corrective institution. It is not a kindergarten. In such an institution a certain amount of trouble must be expected. Some of the boys kept there are really bad and virtually all of them are problems.

To find the right man for head of any penal institution, especially one for boys, is a task of difficulty and delicacy. Whittier is fortunate in the fact that a group of well-meaning citizens take a keen interest in the institution. But, like most good things, that situation has the defects of its qualities. It is doubly difficult to find a superintendent for the Whittier School who can do the job well and, at the same time, satisfy all well-meaning persons who, in their not always practical zeal for the welfare of the institution, wish to impose their own ideas on the management. The Investigating Committee spent much time listening to more or less trivial complaints and gossip respecting the management of the institution under Dr. George C. Sabiehi and his predecessor. Much of the testimony was hearsay and some of it ludicrous. Not a little was concerned with differences of opinion respecting details of management.

Although the Investigating Committee made no recommendations respecting the administration of Whittier School and was content with stating in its report the criticisms made by the various witnesses but none of the defensive testimony, I felt that the investigation itself, rather than anything brought out therein, had made it desirable to reorganize the school management so as to establish cordial relations between the head and the "committee of one thousand" citizens interested in the institution. Dr. Sabach has retired at his own request, a new superintendent has been appointed, an advisory committee has been formed to help him, and I trust that the result will be efficiency and harmony at Whittier.

(c) The Journey of J. M. Toner, Jr., to the Orient

During the investigation much publicity, inspired by the counsel or some members of the committee, was given to the fact that James M. Toner, Jr., a son of Dr. Toner, holding a place in the department at a salary of $3,225 a month, was on some sort of joy ride to the Orient at the State's expense. In its report the committee's sole and complete comment on that matter was:

"Dr. Toner testified that a position was created known as assistant director, at a salary of $3,225 a month and his son, J. M. Toner, Jr., was appointed thereto. He also testified that, at the time of his testifying his son had been gone a month or six weeks, would probably be gone some months, to the Orient. When asked if it would not have been cheaper to send an ordinary attendant than his son who was drawing $3,225 a month, his response was: 'I would. Since you bring it to my attention, I do take it into consideration, yes, sir.'"

In that statement the committee said either too much or too little.

The facts are that J. M. Toner, Jr., at the time of the hearing was en route to the Orient in charge of not one but 67 insane patients who were being returned to the various countries of their nativity in order to save the State of California the expense of their maintenance. The reason being, as delivering such irrational persons safely to their homes is serious and the task requires a responsible executive to be in charge of the group. This is a regular function of the department. It would have been cheaper manifestly to send a low-salaried employee in charge of the patients and their attendants, but cheapness is not the sole test of sound administrative discretion in such a matter.

The committee quotes Dr. Toner as testifying that 50 or 60 per cent of the employees in the Department of Institutions were appointed on recommendations from the Governor's office.

This testimony was obviously an inadvertence on Dr. Toner's part and several members of the committee must have known it. The great majority of positions in that department are filled by certified eligibles on the Civil Service list. There are relatively few appointments outside of the Civil Service and most of those require highly technical and professional qualifications.

The Investigating Committee may regard the appointment of relatives or recommendation by the Governor to heads of departments as political sons, but that can hardly be the opinion of the majority of the Legislature in view of the number of relatives of legislators holding public place and of the number of times that legislators have requested me to recommend friends or relatives for appointments in executive departments.

Because of the committee's for the most part unmitigated criticism of his administration of the Department of Institutions Dr. Toner informs me that he thinks his usefulness as Director of Institutions has been impaired and he requests that I transfer him to some other position. I am seeking an opportunity to do so, in view of his request.

19. The Selection of Secondary Highways.

The second section of the committee's report, filed May 2d, deals with two subjects, the selection of secondary highways and the matter of indemnity bonds.

Mr. Earl Lee Kelly, Director of the Department of Public Works, has at my request written a commentary on that portion of the Investigating Committee's report which deals with the subject of roads and his commentary is attached herewith, marked Exhibit "II" and made a part hereof. To that commentary is added a copy of the petition respecting the so-called "Alpine Road" designated by the committee, for political purposes, as the "Rolph Road", which is attached also to this message and marked Exhibit "I."

(a) The "Rolph road"

The committee's report deals with the so-called "Rolph road." So far as I am aware, it was never called the "Rolph road" until sessions of the Investigating Committee commenced. Colonel Garrison, whom I had dismissed from the office of Director of Public Works, testified that I had told him in the presence of Earl Lee Kelly, then Chairman of the California Highway Commission that I wanted this road included. The implication is that the road served the Rolph ranch which formerly belonged to me but has been for years the property of my son. This testimony was flatly denied by Mr. Kelly in his testimony. I also flatly deny it.

Neither I nor my son has or ever had the slightest personal interest in the construction of the so-called "Rolph road." The publicity which this road has received from the Investigating Committee has created the impression that the State has built at enormous expense an otherwise useless road leading to a ranch in which I am interested. Nothing could be further from the truth. The road has never been constructed. The plans for it are not drawn. It is a phantom road. When, if ever, built, it will not in any event approach the Rolph ranch nearer than one mile and, as the line is laid out, may be at least four miles away from the Rolph ranch. My son's ranch is now amply served by good county roads running directly to the ranch. An additional road would be of no service to my son's ranch. The road can not be built without action by the Legislature. The Highway Commission and the Department of Public Works under the law are required to make a study and report of roads which may be eligible or qualified for inclusion in the State highway system. The determination as to whether all roads or no roads shall come into the system is made exclusively by the Legislature. The Governor has nothing to do with it and neither has the Highway Commission. The "Rolph road" was selected for recommendation on the application of a large number of the principal property owners in San Mateo County and not on the recommendation of any member of the Rolph family. The investigation of this phantom road was political propaganda of the most unscrupulous sort.

(b) Cobb Mountain Road.

In its report the committee intimates that the Highway Commission recommended the Cobb Mountain Road in Lake County because it would serve Adams Springs, owned by W. R. Prather, concerning whom the report says: that "Mr. Tibbals, our engineer, testified that he made inquiry in Lake County and was told that * * * Prather was campaign manager for Governor Rolph in Lake County." On such hearsay is the report built. Tibbals is a handy engineer witness who testified for Mr. Sheridan Downey as a supposed expert in connection with roads, ranches, water, beans, political managers, and other matters.

The fact is that Mr. Prather was not campaign manager for Governor Rolph in that county or elsewhere. Mr. Sam Hill of Lakeport was the Governor's campaign manager. The road was a useful and necessary road opening up the resort district of Lake County. It was selected as a result of demand from many hundreds of persons in that county.

(c) Orange County Roads.

The fact that Orange County received such a seemingly disproportionate share of secondary roads attracted the committee's attention. The committee in its report says on the subject of Orange County roads:

"The fact that Mr. Philip A. Stanton lives at Santa Ana and has large interests at Seal Beach and Stanton, and that some of these roads, either traverse or lead to these properties was considered by the committee. Mr. Stanton vigorously denied any special benefit or that he used his official position to secure these roads."

The Investigating Committee seems to regard the location of roads as political patronage which ought to be evenly apportioned among the counties and sees a sinister significance in the fact that Orange County has more roads than some other counties of the same size and population.

Every road recommended in Orange County was recommended by the Engineering Department of the Division of Highways, without regard to county lines, but with a view to the development of a unified system. Orange County, by reason of its geographical location, controls approaches to the most densely populated section of the State, Los Angeles County. The roads in question are connecting links. They must of necessity traverse Orange County. The criticism leveled at the roads in Orange County indicates to what lengths of absurdity and malice the Investigating Committee was willing to go in order to find fault with the Rolph administration. Some members of the committee indeed seem to have labored under the delusion that to them and not to the Highway Commission has been deputed the responsibility of recommending roads for the highway system.

20. Indemnity Bonds.

The weakness and cowardice of the report of the Senate Investigating Committee on "indemnity bonds," written through my son's firm, Rolph, Landis and Ellis, as general agents of various insurance companies, becomes apparent on the most casual reading.

The implication that the committee found it impossible to secure full information is utterly false, for that firm offered to admit the committee to its office and access to all its files, to rummage through them as it saw fit, which opportunity the committee discreetly declined.

The statement that the committee found it impossible to obtain the information "it would have liked" is probably true, for the committee did not "like" any information favorable to that firm or the administration. It purposely ignored the evidence showing that Rolph, Landis and Ellis wrote no such business directly, but only through brokers, and as general agents received only 5 to 10 per cent of the premiums, that the firm lost heavily in its casualty insurance divisions in the years 1931 and 1932, and that its total profits for its entire business for the year 1932 were only $33,231.47, extremely small when compared with the extravagant figures given to the newspapers by the committee and its counsel.

The public business is only a small portion, not exceeding 5 per cent, of the aggregate business of the firm. Much of that public business has been received by the same companies through the same form of fee paying advertisements.

Much other pertinent and believable evidence showing that this firm was conducting a perfectly fair and efficient business was intentionally omitted. The report is so drawn as to leave the impression, without the honesty of possibly stating it, that improper practices were indulged in by that firm, and that it acted unfairly through political influence. And finally the cowardice of the report is shown by the committee's failure either to give a summary of the evidence, or draw any conclusions, or make any recommendations. It did not even have the courage to conclude that the facts tended to cast reflection on any State official, not contented with throwing out innuendo to that effect. Does the Senate feel enlightened by such a report, and does it feel that the State's money was well spent to obtain it?

It is unfortunate that in these times of distress, while we should have been devoting our time solely to helping the people in all their problems, four months have been occupied by the Investigating Committee with parties and personalities under the guise of a serious investigation.

Character assassins have never reduced one dollar of taxes for the people. Tearing down men's reputations will never build up the economic structure of the State. The committee has believed and professed nothing. It has shown about political honesty, but itself has shown no honesty of purpose.

The fiftieth session of the Legislature will be remembered by the people not for its venom and political filibuster, but for the few constructive measures we have been able to rush through in the hour of State emergency and in spite of the political and personal animosities engendered by the Investigating Committee.

Respectfully,

JAMES ROLPH, JR., Governor of California.

EXHIBIT "A" ATTACHED TO THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE IN REPLY TO THE INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE'S REPORT

January 9, 1933

Hon. J. M. Inman, Chairman of the Special Investigating Committee of the State of California, 5000 Marshall Way, Sacramento, California.

DEAR SIR: Your committee was appointed and empowered to investigate any and all alleged irregularities in any branch of the State government or to initiate investigations of its own concerning any and all such matters.

I am informed by the public press that among the branches of the State government which you propose to investigate are certain departments under the jurisdiction of the Governor. For that reason, I wish to procure a copy of the transcript of the testimony taken and copies of any documents filed or received in evidence.

Will you please inform me whether the committee intends to have the stenographic report of the proceedings of the committee, and if so, will a copy of that report be available for the Governor?

Yours truly,

(Signed)

JAMES ROLPH, JR., Governor of California.

January 10, 1933

J. M. INMAN, SEVENTH SENATORIAL DISTRICT, SENATE, 506 K Street, Sacramento, California.

Hon. James Rolph, Jr., Governor, State of California, Sacramento, California.

MY DEAR GOVERNOR: Replying to your letter of January 9th, this is to advise you that we expect to have all testimony before the committee reported and I shall be happy indeed to furnish you with a copy of the same as fast as it is typed.

I wish also to inform you that the committee is prepared at any time to extend any courtesies to you or your office and any requests from you will be given the most courteous and careful consideration. Any suggestion that you have to make to the committee or any information that you desire to give will be cordially received.

With kindest personal regards, I am

Sincerely yours,

(Signed)

J. M. INMAN.

EXHIBIT "C" ATTACHED TO THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE IN REPLY TO THE
INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE'S REPORT

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA, February 6, 1933.

To the Special Investigating Committee of the Senate of California, Senator J. M. Inman, Chairman, State Capitol, Sacramento, California.

Subject: "The Pardon Racket."

DEAR SIRS: Your committee has been appointed to investigate any alleged irregularities "in any branch of the State government."

With respect to scope, the appointing resolution does not confine you to any particular department or any particular class of irregularities.

With respect to time, the resolution does not confine you to the current biennium. Through your chairman, the committee, as the record of January 10th discloses, has invited me to make suggestions and supply information to the committee.

Purposely I have delayed action on your invitation until the variety of rumors and false charges respecting my administration that emanated from your committee had been exploded for lack of evidence after a full hearing. Now the time has come for me to communicate to you in a series of letters the facts of certain irregularities as yet unmentioned which call for your inquisitorial attention.

One irregularity to which I direct your attention is the so-called "pardon racket" by which prisoners in the penitentiaries or their relatives or friends are induced to pay sums of money to attorneys or others supposed to possess political influence in order, through such mediation, to obtain pardons or clemency of one kind or another.

Ordinarily a prisoner does not, and most certainly he should not, need to hire political influence or employ an attorney at that stage of his case to aid in the presentation of a plea for pardon. Indeed, the Advisory Pardon Board does not permit attorneys to appear at their meetings representing prisoners. Applications made to me as Governor receive equal consideration whether the applicant be represented by an attorney or otherwise.

Much complaint of the "pardon racket" by which prisoners and their friends are bled for the purchase of supposed influence has been voiced in the press.

Public officials should be extremely scrupulous to avoid even the appearance of selling political influence or peddling pardons to prisoners or trafficking in human liberty.

With this preface, I lay before you facts respecting the mercenary activities of Senator J. M. Inman in the matter of certain pardon applications.

Case of Dr. Card.

Dr. William S. Card was a notorious abortionist in San Francisco. He had been arrested 22 times before the offense of which he was convicted, but he had plenty of money and had managed on each occasion to slip out of the law's grip.

Finally, he was caught, after the death of one of his patients, and on conviction of second degree murder, was sentenced to serve from ten years to life in San Quentin. He was received into San Quentin on July 1, 1919.

The case was of sensational character and filled the newspapers for weeks. The public, as well as the medical profession, felt that the law had done a good job when the prison gates were locked behind Dr. Card.

In December, 1922, one month prior to the end of Governor Stephens' term, representations were made to Mrs. Myra B. Card, wife of Dr. Card, that a pardon or commutation of sentence would be procured for Dr. Card, provided she would pay well.

Pursuant to these representations, Mrs. Card, on or about December 8, 1922 deposited with the Bank of Italy at its head office in San Francisco the sum of $12,500, in a secret escrow, with instructions to pay to Attorney William R. McWood the entire sum of $12,500, if a pardon were granted to Dr. Card on or before January 8, 1923, the last day of Governor Stephens' term, but only $7,500 if his sentence were commuted without a pardon before that date.

Thereupon Mr. McWood made a "deal" with Senator Inman by which Senator Inman undertook to work on Governor Stephens and was to receive $2,500 if a pardon were granted to Dr. Card but only $1,250 if the sentence were commuted, by January 8th, in accordance with the escrow instructions. Senator Inman, however, before commencing operations on Governor Stephens, required that written instructions securing his fee be given to the bank as part of the escrow. Such instructions were filed about ten days prior to January 8, 1923.

Senator Inman, having thus been hired to "spring" the notorious abortionist, began to solicit Governor Stephens for executive clemency for Dr. Card. The record does not indicate that Senator Inman disclosed to the Governor the mercenary motive of Senator Inman's solicitude for the prisoner.

Governor Stephens, yielding to solicitations from Senator Inman, finally agreed to grant a pardon to Dr. Card conditioned on his leaving California and never coming back.

The conditional pardon was actually held up until a writing was obtained from Mrs. Card signifying her agreement that such a conditional pardon would be a complianee with the escrow conditions and such a letter was obtained on December 29, 1922.

Senator Inman procured such a conditional pardon for Dr. Card from Governor Stephens. The pardon was granted officially on January 8, 1923, the last day of Governor Stephens' term, and the record of the pardon discloses Senator Inman as one of a list of persons who recommended the pardon, but does not mention him as attorney for Dr. Card.

Early in the forenoon of January 9, 1923, a check for $2,500 was paid to Senator Inman at Sacramento, out of the $12,500 so deposited by Mrs. Card, and on the same day the remaining $10,000 was paid at San Francisco to William R. McWood, who cashed the check at the bank and took the money away in his pocket.

I charge that in so selling his political influence Senator Inman committed an "irregularity" of the kind mentioned in the resolution appointing this Investigating Committee.

Your committee can doubtless obtain documentary confirmation of these charges by issuing a subpoena to the chief trust officer of Bank of America National Trust and Savings Association (formerly Bank of Italy) 1 Powell Street, San Francisco, requiring production of the entire file of the escrow in question.

For the information of the committee, I add that when Governor Richardson succeeded Governor Stephens, although unaware of any of the facts herein stated except that a last minute "conditional" pardon had been granted to a notorious short-cut, he signified his protest against the performance by granting an unconditional pardon to Dr. Card on January 13, 1923, saying that if the evidence recited in the pardon petition as presented was true, Dr. Card was entitled to an unconditional pardon, but that in any event Californians had no right to lose its undesirable citizens on other States.

These sensational facts, long hidden, have only recently come to light.

Case of Brewster L. Grettenberg.

Brewster L. Grettenberg was convicted at Los Angeles of first degree robbery on a plea of guilty and was received at San Quentin on June 16, 1928. He applied April 2, 1930, to Governor C. C. Young for a pardon. The Advisory Pardon Board on April 1, 1931, recommended that pardon be denied.

The prisoner's attorney at his trial was Charles M. Street of Los Angeles, but his plea for pardon was presented to Governor Young by Senator J. M. Inman. Senator Inman presented the application in the Governor's office, although Mr. Street was also representing Grettenberg in the pardon matter. Senator Inman also wrote to the State Board of Prison Directors, on September 22, 1930, soliciting favorable consideration for Grettenberg.

Mrs. Ada Grettenberg, of Los Angeles, states that she paid a fee of $200 to Senator Inman for his services in connection with the pardon application.

Case of Marco Albori.

Activities of pardon peddlers in extracting money from Marco Albori have recently been aired in the press.

Albori is under sentence of 14 years in San Quentin for assault with a deadly weapon. The crime was committed in Los Angeles. He is supposed to be a man of wealth.

Senator J. M. Inman, of Sacramento, represented Albori on appeal from the conviction in Los Angeles, and, Albori states, received a fee of $500 for such services.

Senator Inman and Mr. Sheridan Downey, representing your committee, occupy law offices in common in Sacramento.

Mr. Joseph H. Stephens, banker, of Sacramento, is a member of the Board of Prison Terms and Pardons and has been a member since the organization of the board in August, 1931. Mr. Stephens has known Sheridan Downey well for years.

Mr. Stephens states that on an occasion approximately six months ago Mr. Sheridan Downey visited Mr. Stephens at the bank of which Mr. Stephens is president, and Mr. Downey then asked Mr. Stephens if he was familiar with the case of Albori, an inmate of San Quentin. Mr. Stephens replied that he knew of the case. Mr. Downey then suggested that Albori had received rather a long sentence and asked whether something could not be done for him. Mr. Stephens replied that, so far as he was concerned, the case was closed. Mr. Downey then said that Albori was a man of means and that he, Downey, felt that something should be done for him. Mr. Stephens replied that he was not interested.

As Governor of California, I demand that the aforesaid and all activities of Senator Inman in the procurement of pardons be spaded up and exposed to public view and that a complete investigation be made of the "pardon racket" which has recently been a subject of discussion in the press.

Respectfully,

(Signed)

JAMES ROLPH, JR., Governor of California.

EXHIBIT "D" ATTACHED TO THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE IN REPLY TO THE INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE'S REPORT

February 20, 1933

To the Senate Investigating Committee, Senator J. M. Inman, Chairman, the State Building, Los Angeles, California.

Subject: Senator Inman's Activity in Procuring a Long-term Extension of State's Lease of Land Belonging to Sheridan Downey and Others at Increased Rentals in the Closing Days of Governor Young's Administration When Rental Values Were Falling.

DEAR SIRS: There is a tract of 418 acres in Alameda County which the State holds under lease as a rifle range for the National Guard.

Sheridan Downey and his wife, while not the sole owners, have a large proprietary interest in the tract.

On April 20, 1928, this land was leased to the State for a period of 24 years, commencing April 30, 1929, and terminating October 31, 1931. As rent the State agreed to pay $2,000 down and $375 a month.

It will be noted that when Governor Rolph came into office, January 1, 1931, the lease had still ten months to run.

At the beginning of October, 1930, when the lease had 13 months left of the term, and while Governor Young was yet in office, Senator J. M. Inman conducted negotiations on behalf of the owners with Adjutant General R. E. Mittelstaedt for an extension of the lease. By this time the depression was a year old, the rent values of all sorts of land had tumbled, landlords were reducing rents even when leases were in force; but Senator Inman's proposal was for an increased rent.
In his letter of October 1, 1930, addressed to Adjutant General R. E. Mittelstaedt, which was written not on his law office stationery, but on his letterhead as a member of the State Senate, Senator Inman proposed a lease for five years at $500 a month. He also asked that the State pay the taxes, amounting to $1,800 a year.

After an exchange of correspondence (in which Senator Inman's letters were written on his senatorial letterhead) it was agreed that the lease should be for six years from the termination of the existing lease at a rental of $500 a month, the State to pay the taxes also for the final two years.

In accordance with that correspondence, which is in the official files, a lease was executed on December 17, 1930, in the closing days of the Young administration, by which the rifle range was leased to the State for six years from November 1, 1931, at a rental of $500 per month; a substantial increase over the rent fixed by the then existing lease. At $125 a month, the increase amounts to $9,000 in the six years. The lease was executed for the State by Adjutant General Mittelstaedt with the approval of Lyman D. King, Director of Finance.

Section 675 of the Political Code contains no restrictions on the length of term for which the Director of Finance may hire property for the State. Senator Inman has introduced in the present Legislature Senate Bill No. 293 which limits to two years the term for which the Director of Finance may hire or lease real or personal property.

When the 6-year lease of December 17, 1930, was made the land stood of record in the name of a bank which, apparently, held it for the real owners. But on April 10, 1931, the bank conveyed the land by deed to Harrison Gilbert, who, on the same day, executed a deed of trust on the land securing certain purchase-price notes executed by Harrison Gilbert, Sheridan Downey and Helen Downey, who appear to have purchased the land from the bank. On April 23, 1931, the record showed that Harrison Gilbert held a one-fourth interest, Suburban Holding Company, a California corporation, a one-half interest, and C. J. Keenan and Marie Keenan, his wife, a one-fourth interest. The Keenans received their one-fourth interest from Sheridan Downey and Helen Downey, his wife, under an agreement of April 8, 1931, which recites that as the Downeys owe the Keenans $14,169, the Downeys "shall cause to be conveyed" to the Keenans a one-quarter interest to be held by the Keenans on certain terms and conditions designed to secure payment of the indebtedness owing from the Downeys to the Keenans. The quarter interest is to be reconveyed if the debt be paid. In other words, the document discloses that the Downeys are the real owners of at least a one-fourth interest in the rifle range.

The assessment roll ascribes a three-fourths interest to the Suburban Holding Company and a one-fourth interest to C. J. Keenan and Marie Keenan. The land is assessed for $31,000 and the improvements for $300.

These transactions will suggest to your committee several questions for which you will naturally seek answers from Senator Inman and Mr. Sheridan Downey, namely:

1. Why was the new lease of the shooting range rushed through in such fashion during the final days of the Young administration, although it still had nearly a year to run?

2. Why was the rent increased at a time when all other rents were falling?

3. Why was the new lease made for six years which would carry it beyond the term of Governor Rolph?

4. Why did Senator Inman conduct the negotiations on his senatorial stationery, although the Legislature was not in session and not on his law office stationery?

This communication is a further response to the invitation conveyed to me in your letter of January 10, 1933.

Respectfully,

(Signed)

JAMES ROLPH, JR., Governor of California.

EXHIBIT "E" ATTACHED TO THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE IN REPLY TO THE INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE'S REPORT

To the Senate Investigating Committee, Senate J. M. Inman, Chairman, the State Building, Los Angeles, California.

Subject: The State Armory Prizefight Permit.

DEAR SIR: Still responding to your invitation to lay before you information respecting irregularities in the State government, I suggest that you investigate the following transaction:

In January, 1928, Ansel Hoffman, a prizefight promoter, who operated in the name of Monarch Athletic Club, a corporation, had a quarrel with the owners of Dreamland Pavilion in San Francisco, and in consequence, wished to hold his boxing matches in the State Armory at Fourth and Mission Streets in San Francisco. There was much opposition to such use of the State's property. In this situation Ansel Hoffman hired Senator J. M. Inman to procure the desired permit from the proper State officials at Sacramento. The permit was speedily procured by Senator Inman and the Monarch Athletic Club on February 1, 1928, paid Senator Inman $1,000 for that service. The payment was made by Monarch Athletic Club's check No. 744, drawn on the Anglo and London Paris National Bank, at San Francisco, in favor of "Jack Inman," and it bears Senator Inman's endorsement.

A photograph of the check and endorsement is attached hereto.

It is doubtless unnecessary to suggest that when a member of the State Senate accepts money (not to emphasize the large sum of $1,000) for his services in persuading State officials to lease a State Armory for prizefight purposes, the transaction comes distinctly within the class of irregularities in the State government which it is your duty to investigate.

When you commence your investigation of this matter, I shall be pleased to suggest the name of a witness who will testify to further details, if subpoenaed.

I expect to supply you with information concerning other irregularities before your committee concludes its hearings.

Respectfully,

(Signed)

JAMES ROLPH, JR., Governor of California.

EXHIBIT "F" ATTACHED TO THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE IN REPLY TO THE INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE'S REPORT

April 15, 1933.

Hon. James Rolph, Jr., Governor of California, State Capital, Sacramento, California.

MY DEAR GOVERNOR: I have the honor to transmit herewith my answer, together with facts and comments, to the partial report filed by the Senate Investigating Committee with the Senate of the State of California, as requested by you in your communication of March 24, 1933.

It is my sincere belief that my answer effectually and completely refutes each and all of the charges made by this committee against your administration.

Yours respectfully,

ROLLAND A VANDEGRIFT, Director of Finance.

Hon. James Rolph, Jr., Governor of California, State Capital, Sacramento, California.

DEAR SIR: Pursuant to the request contained in your communication of March 24, 1933, I have made a careful examination of the partial report of the Senate Investigating Committee pursuant to Senate Resolution dated January 5, 1933, filed with the State Senate on March 24, 1933.

The Senate Investigating Committee report, in so far as it refers to me, is replete with erroneous, biased and prejudiced conclusions alleged to be based upon testimony taken at the various hearings. To rebut those conclusions, and to show the foundations thereof to be based upon testimony adduced through leading questions from picked witnesses, and without the opportunity of cross-examination or unrestricted privilege of presentation of facts, has required many hours of painstaking examination of the 1,600-page transcript.

The statement which follows wholly answers each and every of the material allegations contained in said report.

The Director of Finance obtains his authority and power to purchase and sell bonds by virtue of four acts of the Legislature, all of which were enacted prior to your induction into office as Chief Executive of the State of California. These four acts provide for the investment of surplus moneys in the general fund, the investment of moneys in the school land fund, the investment of moneys in the estates of deceased persons' fund, and the investment of moneys in the public school teachers' annuity and retirement fund. In addition, the Director of Finance is a member of the board of administration of the State Employees' Retirement System, which board has the exclusive control of the administration and investment of the moneys of said system. In each of these acts, with the exception of the last named, the Director of Finance is under an absolute duty to invest the surplus moneys of the various funds.

The class of securities in which investments may be made is limited by law to those named in the various acts, and before the purchase may be made, the Attorney General must have approved the legality of each particular issue.

In the report of the Senate Investigating Committee, of which the Honorable J. M. Inman is chairman, it is stated:

"The powers and duties of the Director of Finance are set forth in Part III, Title I, Chapter III of Article XVIII of the Political Code of the State of California."

It is true that some of the powers and duties of the Director of Finance are set forth in that article. However, it happens that the absolute duty to invest surplus moneys of the public school teachers' annuity and retirement fund and the duty to invest surplus moneys of the general fund do not appear in said article. Thus the first few lines of the subsection of the report entitled "Findings relative to the purchase and sale of bonds by Rolland A. Vandegrift, Director of Finance," give a good cross section of the gross and absurd inaccuracy of the findings in general.

The report proceeds as follows:

"However, it would appear therefrom that the Director of Finance has power to buy and sell bonds for the State of California, the buying and selling to be limited by his judgment in most cases."

There is no occasion to define the powers and duties of the Director of Finance in a report such as this since a reference to the said statutes will show exactly the powers and duties the Director of Finance has in this field. These powers and duties are mandatory and were not sought by your Director of Finance, but were in effect when he was appointed by Your Excellency, and your Director of Finance, as he will subsequently show you, notwithstanding insinuations, innuendoes, close-to-libelous statements set forth in this report, has at all times exercised judgment commensurate with that of highly paid bond investment boards of some of the largest corporations in the United States. The portfolio of investments of the State of California over which your Director of Finance has statutory control will compare favorably with the portfolios of leading investment corporations of the United States.

It is interesting to note throughout this section of this vicious, unfounded and unfair report, the lack of intestinal fortitude on the part of the member or members of the Senate Investigating Committee to declare "a spade a spade." After weeks of investigation on the part of undercover agents, with the source yet to be disclosed from which their salaries and expenses were paid, the grilling examinations on the part of "the patriotic and unselfish attorney" of the Investigating Committee, Mr. Sheridan Downey, the mountain labored and produced a report which was presented to the Senate of this State, and not once charging your Director of Finance with dishonesty or lack of judgment. It is true there are approaches, couched in carefully selected language, which to the casual reader may imply dishonesty or lack of judgment, all of which go to stress the vain attempt to crucify an appointee of yours, solely for political reasons. Here are a few samples:

"The first bond transaction that was called to the committee's attention that appeared to have some irregularity attached to it and which aroused the suspicion of the committee * * *

The Director of Finance followed neither procedure, and if what follows impugns his motives or reflects upon his integrity, then the Director of Finance can blame no one but himself * * *

Such a procedure is unethical, has at least the appearance of fraud if not something worse * * *

From this firm they received a favorable opinion and thereupon they proceeded to carry out this peculiar if not illegal contract * * *

If this transaction was not fraudulent, what could it be called? * * *

It is for you to say whether there was any judgment at all used in this transaction or whether there was some other motive behind it * * *

Therefore it appears to be a question as to whether or not the sales of bonds subsequently and pursuant thereto were not illegal and void. * * *

As above mentioned, this section of the report does not charge the Director of Finance with dishonesty, it does not charge him with lack of judgment, it does not charge him with failure to obey the statutes prescribed for the sale and purchase of bonds, and it does not charge that the State of California suffered a loss through the purchase and sale of bonds by your Director of Finance. With the exception of the vicious attempts to cast reflections upon your administration of the State government, the report contains nothing. It does not even suggest helpful legislation for the guidance of the Legislature. Opinions of the highest courts and leading constitutional attorneys of the Nation are far astray if the legal existence of this committee can be justified upon any basis other than to make recommendations for new legislation.

Now, let us look at the financial situation which existed in the United States early in the fall of 1931. In September of that year England went off the gold standard. Prior to the first of the year, the United States government securities were selling at 15 points or more below par. To stabilize the market and strengthen the credit structure, the Federal reserve bank advanced over three quarters of a billion dollars in cash in securities of the government of the United States. This was a most unusual procedure and a demonstration in an economic emergency as measured by previous experience to be almost identical with our conditions. This action of the Federal Reserve Bank in purchasing bonds in such large amount would naturally have the effect of taking up or supporting the price not only for securities of the United States Government, but also for State and municipal bonds. The question in the minds of all bond holders was, how soon will the effect be shown. A second question of great importance was, would this result in an improvement of the price of government bonds.

During this period, on September 1, 1931, the State Treasurer advertised for sale $6,000,000 of veterans' bonds at four per cent interest rate. On October 1, 1931, the date of sale, no bids were received. During this emergency, contacts with veterans' associations, the sum of $1,000,000 was in course and negotiations and appraisals for $2,000,000 were pending the sale of these bonds to provide funds for the purchase and construction of homes for the veterans. With the release of the proceeds of these bonds, a part of them, thousands of men and women would be put to work at the preventing of a terrible and the reconstruction of homes. To alleviate this situation, your Director of Finance on November 2, 1931, at the request of the Veterans' Welfare Board and at the suggestion of the Honorable Charles G. Johnson, State Treasurer, purchased with surplus funds, $3,000,000, at par, of the $6,000,000 four per cent issue.

The balance of the value of $3,000,000, was again advertised and sold at an interest rate of four and one-half per cent, an increase of one-half per cent. This transaction had, among others, two outstanding features of advantage to the citizens of this State. It raised $3,000,000 in cash directly for the citizens of this State of the State of California, and it made effective a saving in the interest charge to the veterans of $273,000. This amount is the difference between four per cent interest rate and four and one-half per cent interest rate on the $3,000,000 veterans' bonds purchased by your Director of Finance. Did the Senate Investigating Committee commend your Director of Finance for this direct action which had the double effect of helping relieve unemployment by putting men and women to work, and at the same time saving the veterans $273,000 in interest? No comment was made in the committee's report on what is generally admitted to be an advantageous and creditable transaction, a transaction which necessitated using money in the general fund in the amount of $3,000,000 and which constituted more than fifty per cent of the entire bond transactions offered by this committee. No. The Senate Investigating Committee failed to mention this creditable piece of work as it failed to mention every other item of credit to Your Excellency's administration performed by your Director of Finance.

In this same connection it might be mentioned that your Director of Finance also agreed to purchase $278,000 worth of bonds of the American River flood control district out of funds under his control so that the American River flood control project might be carried on. This was done when it was found that the bonds of this district could not be sold in any other way. The American River flood control project could not have been consummated without this assistance. It is generally admitted that this is a matter of economic importance to thousands of persons, and that Your Excellency's administration should take credit for forwarding this project and for making possible its consummation through the action of your Director of Finance in the purchase of these bonds. The Senate Investigating Committee did not see fit to consider this matter, either to criticize it, or commend it. Ignorance of the matter can not be entered as a plea for this omission for the chairman of the Investigating Committee, Honorable J. M. Inman, introduced the three bills affecting the American River flood control district, that of 1927 creating it, that of 1929 appropriating $30,000 as a loan to the district, and that of 1931 appropriating an additional $20,000 and providing for the bond issue. The benefit of this bond purchase and the appreciation of the American River flood control district are set forth in a letter of January 10, 1933, from the district engineer to your Director of Finance. The letter is as follows:

"Mr. Rolland A. Vandewert, Director of Finance,
State Capitol, Sacramento.

DEAR SIR: Recognizing that such progress as has been made upon the American River flood control project could not have been accomplished without your helpfulness and assistance, the members of the board of trustees direct that again you be assured of their appreciation of your interest in an important public undertaking.

While primarily the successful outcome of the enterprise is the problem of the board of trustees, the project is of immeasurable importance to the thousands of people to be benefited, and in reaffirming the obligation under which the members of the board rest, they feel they are likewise speaking for the people of the district.

Yours sincerely,
(Signed)

A. M. BARTON, District Engineer,
American River Flood Control District."

Numerous other bond transactions of particular and peculiar benefit to the State of California could have been cited which were consummated by your Director of Finance if the committee had been interested in a fair consideration of the entire matter.

There was almost a complete disappearance of any dependable price for bonds during the spring and summer of 1932. Bond experts were in a quandary. There were almost as many opinions as brokers with respect to expectancies, and most of these opinions were at variance with each other. All this time there existed imperative prospective need, emphasized by decreasing revenues, to sell bonds and restore cash to the general fund. The State Controller had earlier advised that cash must be provided to pay the operating expenses of the government and that bonds in the general fund account must be sold. Your Director of Finance could at this time have dumped the entire portfolio of bonds in the general fund, purchased mostly by prior administrations, upon the market at a loss in round figures of one-half million dollars to the State. In fact, reputable brokers, in view of conditions then existing, coupled with the rapidly approaching need for cash, advised this step. Large corporations and investment companies in need of cash were following this practice. Several reasons presented themselves to your Director of Finance against this procedure. To dump these bonds held in the general fund in the sum total of $6,846,950 would have impaired the credit of the State of California, its political subdivisions and public corporations, not to mention a loss of a half million dollars to the State of California. The other alternative was to dispose of the $3,000,000 group of Veterans' Welfare bonds at par and thus stabilize the market. This your Director of Finance proceeded to do. Three hundred thousand dollars of the issue was sold to Anglo California Company at par plus accrued interest, and the balance of $2,700,000 at par plus accrued interest to a syndicate operating through Donnellan and Company.

There may exist some question as to the reason for the sale of the bonds in the general fund. The explanation is simple—the State of California has its surplus moneys in the general fund invested in bonds. When the revenues fall off, the State must have cash to pay its bills just as an individual or a private corporation. These obligations cannot be paid in bonds but must be paid in cash which necessitates the sale of bonds in the general fund.

Now, there has been a great deal said in the report of the Investigating Committee inferring that your Director of Finance entered into an illegal contract with Donnellan and Company in the sale and purchase of bonds for the State of California. Here are the facts:

My problem at that time was to sell bonds in the general fund to get cash to pay the expenses of the State government. To this end, I conferred with National City Company, R. H. Moulton and Company, Geo. H. Burr, Conrad and Broom, Anglo California Company, Smith, Camp and Riley, Ellworth and Company, and Donnellan and Company, and other bond brokers. My plan was to obtain the cooperation of a bond house in the liquidation of the general fund. An arrangement was finally made with the syndicate headed by Donnellan and Company. I desire here to emphasize that this sale was one transaction and not a series of separate transactions as the committee would have you believe. It may be compared with the purchase of commodities from any seller over a period of time. There was but one purpose and that was to turn the general fund into cash by selling the bonds in which moneys of this fund were invested at no loss to the State of California. This critical situation demanded the use of sound judgment coupled with courage since the easier way would have been to unload these bonds at the best price obtainable and at a loss to the State. The testimony taken before the committee, and there are pages and pages of it, fails to show any loss incurred by the State of California through sale of bonds of the general fund. On the other hand, I state to you as your Director of Finance, and without fear of contradiction, that the State of California actually showed a gain at the consummation of this tremendous task. This gain is a conservative three per cent on all the money invested in these bonds, many of which had been purchased by prior administrations at par and above par.

There is one feature of this entire investigation which I desire to stress. The Investigating Committee has approached the problem with the benefit of hindsight. When I had to deal with the problem, nothing but chaos faced me. Whatever limitations I may have, I am sure, Your Excellency will agree that I possess a more profound knowledge in the realm of bond transactions than did the committee at the time of the filing of its report. Again I estimate, as the result of my policy in the sale and purchase of bonds, which the committee has attacked, the State of California realized a profit as against an approximate loss of $500,000, which would have accrued had I dumped the bonds on the general fund, and had I done that, no criticism could possibly have resulted to my administration. All the blame could have been placed upon the preceding administration which had acquired the bulk of these bonds. The net result is a saving to the State of California of approximately $500,000, plus a conservative net profit of three per cent on the bonds which I bought and sold.

As I have heretofore mentioned, the committee would have you believe that your Director of Finance is an unscrupulous rogue whose energies are devoted wholly to an attempt to tear down the State government and to demolish your administration. I now charge that the findings of this committee are not based upon evidence adduced at the various hearings. As I (Mr. Downey) submit me to quote the testimony of Mr. Victor E. Breeden, vice president of R. H. Montton and Company, the outstanding municipal bond house in the Pacific Coast, given before the Senate Investigating Committee on February 8, 1933, to interrogatories of Mr. Downey:

Mr. Downey: "Well, was Mr. Vandegrift * * * or did you and he discuss * * * or did he, rather, we will say, discuss or propose some sort of a trading arrangement under which they and possibly would act?"

Mr. Breeden: "Oh, the matter was discussed in a general way, yes. I think Mr. Vandegrift's transactions, as I see his problems, were entirely justified in view of the conditions of the market as we saw them then, and if the transactions were worked out in the way of an exchange and a fair price, market price, occurred on both sides, I don't think there is anything that is wrong."

Mr. Downey: "That is, the discussion with Mr. Vandegrift perhaps could have been worked out fairly and equitably to both sides?"

Mr. Breeden: "I have reason to believe it was."

Mr. Downey: "I mean that it could have been?"

(Note here the effort of Mr. Downey to force Mr. Breeden to testify that the transaction was not worked out fairly and equitably in so far as the State was concerned.)

Mr. Breeden: "Yes, but it might * * * you might be in the position of just this very same thing happening, of not having the transactions thoroughly understood. In other words, the bond business is a somewhat technical business, and there are not very many people who understand how it is conducted."

The committee and Mr. Downey obviously placed great value to the testimony of Mr. Breeden for Mr. Downey referred to Montton and Company in the following gratuitous terms:

"I want, in justice to the fourth estate, the newspaper gentlemen, to state that, that they were entitled to point what they did, because I did ask the questions of Mr. Vandegrift how much business was done by the State with Montton and Company, and he said, as I recall, in excess of 40 per cent, and I then brought out the fact that Mr. Seares was employed there, the Governor's son-in-law leaving the inference to be drawn. I was asking questions, as it was my duty, and now it appears there was no basis for the question. I am not criticising the newspapers * * *"

Again Mr. Downey stated:

"Mr. Breeden, the firm of R. H. Montton and Company is one of the best known and largest bond firms in the State of California, isn't it?"

At this hearing Senator Jones, a member of the Investigating Committee, stated as follows:

"I think today's testimony perhaps reflects on this committee and the Legislature. We have given you (Mr. Vandegrift) power to do what you are doing * * * and it is a question, I think, whether we need some new legislation * * * perhaps, instead of criticising you, we should be criticised, giving you this power."

As explained by Mr. Victor E. Breeden, dealing in bonds is a highly technical procedure. An opinion, therefore, of a reputable California bond broker, who has viewed the problems of the State of California, and its bond transactions over many years, would be of considerable aid to Your Excellency in arriving at his conclusion. I have such an opinion from Anglo California Company, upon which I know you can rely, and I am invoking the liberty to quote herewith a communication containing such opinion:

"ANGLO CALIFORNIA COMPANY, SAN FRANCISCO, April 14, 1933.

*Mr. Rolland A Vandegrift, Director,
State Department of Finance,
Sacramento, California.*

DEAR SIR: In response to your request for comments on the California municipal bond market during the past two years, I am glad to submit the following information:

The market for California municipal bonds for the past two years has been subject to large price fluctuations. For a considerable portion of this time, the market has been a 'thin' one in which large amounts could not be sold without depressing prices seriously.

The market for municipal bonds during this time has shown, as a whole, a tendency to decline, reflecting the liquidation of financial institutions and private investors. Market values of municipal bonds are particularly low at the present time. The market has also been very selective. While, at times, there has been a good demand for the bonds of the larger cities and counties, there has been little demand for the bonds of the smaller and less known communities and the fluctuations in price on such names have been particularly great. The small differential in yield between the bonds of the leading cities and counties and those of the small towns and school districts that existed in past years has given place to large differentials and at times to such a lack of demand for small but sound names that it has resulted in price reductions on such securities unjustified by their investment merit.

The following table of yields on long term bonds of four leading California municipal bonds roughly indicates the swings in the California municipal bond market. Fluctuations in prices of the bonds of small municipalities have been even more violent.

	California State	San Francisco	East Bay M. T. D. 5s	Los Angeles
	4½s	4½s		4½s
	per cent	per cent	per cent	per cent
June, 1931	3.55	4.05	4.20	4.10
January, 1932	4.10	4.75	4.80	4.90
June, 1932	4.20	5.00	4.90	5.25
January, 1933	3.65	4.25	4.30	4.45
April, 1933	4.15	4.80	4.70	5.50

When it is considered that each .05 per cent fluctuation in 'yield price' of a 20-year bond means a change in 'dollar price' of approximately $6.50 on a $1,000 bond, while on a 30-year bond it means approximately $8.00, and on a 40-year bond approximately $9.00 on a $1,000 bond, the extent of the fluctuations in price on the leading California municipal bonds can be judged from the above table.

Your problem in liquidating more than $8,000,000 of State and municipal bonds held by the general fund was one that required considerable skill and judgment to handle properly. It has required selling at both rising and falling prices near the top of these price swings and cessation of selling or even buying at the bottom of these price swings.

The wisdom of liquidating the bonds in these funds is manifested by the present condition of the general fund. The gradual liquidation of this large investment over a considerable period of time was necessary in order to secure fair prices and to avoid serious disturbance to the California municipal bond market.

Very respectfully yours,
(Signed)

PAUL B. KELLY, Vice President."

Even should we disregard all statements which have been made herein by your Director of Finance in support of the policies pursued by him in the purchase and sale of bonds on behalf of the State of California, the opinions expressed herein by recognized experts in the field of investments, must be accepted for the proposition that the financial situation as it existed in 1931 and 1932 constituted the most serious experienced by the nation and California in many years gone by, that no one could foresee with any degree of accuracy the outcome of this situation even as late as the summer of 1932, that the general fund contained bonds purchased by prior administrations at par and above par difficult of sale, that the general fund had to be liquidated, that it was liquidated at no loss to the State of California but at a profit to the State estimated conservatively at three per cent, that needed cash was provided for the operation of the State government, that $3,000,000 was made available to assist the veterans in home building and to relieve distress, that the portfolio of investments now held is of higher quality and better earning power than previously enjoyed, and finally, the policy adopted by your Director of Finance in the liquidation of the general fund, notwithstanding half-truths of the Investigating Committee, was ethical and lawful and wholly justified in view of the great emergency then existing.

I now desire to address my remarks to that section of the report of the Senate Investigating Committee entitled "San Francisco State Building Annex." In the third paragraph of said section of the report, the committee states that $250,000 was given by the State Architect as the probable or possible cost of a building to be erected in accordance with plans and specifications furnished by your Director of Finance to the State Architect. This will again illustrate to Your Excellency the careless manner of the committee in the compilation of this entire report. The sum should be $275,000. There can be no mistake as to this since the original letter of the State Architect containing this figure was handed to the committee for its information and guidance.

Now the committee states:

"Upon this perfunctory estimate, hastily arrived at, and with no complete plans or specifications a lease for 25 years was entered into on July 28, 1931, between the State and one Harry S. Burke, admittedly a 'dummy'."

This conclusion of the committee is based upon the testimony of one Carl E. Berg, an estimator for a long period of years in the Division of Architecture, Department of Public Works, and under the direct supervision of the State Architect. This was the employee to whom the State Architect referred my request in 1931 for an estimate of the cost of the building with preliminary plans and specifications which I enclosed with my request. I learned for the first time from the testimony of Mr. Berg before the investigating committee that he prepared the estimate which the State Architect forwarded to me under date of June 24, 1931.

Your Excellency will agree that one of the duties and purposes of the Division of Architecture is to provide accurate estimates of the cost of construction of buildings to be constructed by the State and to be constructed for the State. Relying upon this purpose and duty of this division, I requested the State Architect to give me an estimate of the cost of the building to be constructed in accordance with plans and specifications furnished with the said request. Unknown to me, and I do not contend that it should have been known to me, the State Architect, as was brought out in the testimony before the Investigating Committee, ordered the said Mr. Berg to prepare an estimate of the cost of the building. As before mentioned on June 24, 1931, I received a reply from the State Architect, in part, in words and figures, as follows:

"We have made a hasty check of the probable cost of proposed building for the use of the State to be built in the block west of the State Building in the Civic Center, San Francisco, and have arrived at a tentative figure of $375,000 which we estimate is an outside figure.

* * * Please find returned herewith the five sheets of blueprints, also letter of June 22d to you from Mr. Killam with attached skeleton specification."

Your Director of Finance naturally assumed that the estimate furnished was accurate and that reliance could be placed upon it. With this estimate, many calculations were made in the Department of Finance to determine the approximate gross return which the owner would receive from the rental to be paid by the State. The broker representing the owner, after many conferences, agreed for the owner that the building would be constructed at a rental of 11 cents per square foot per month to the State. This rental seemed fair in consideration of the rentals which were then being paid by various scattered agencies in the downtown and other sections of San Francisco, coupled with the fact that most of the State agencies would be housed in the immediate vicinity of the State Office Building, thus affording a convenience to the public, and facilitating public relations with the Federal, city and county, and State agencies. I then had figures from which I did determine the approximate gross return to the owner. They are as follows:

Estimated cost of the building	$375,000 00
Known cost of the lot	40,000 00
Total cost of project	$415,000 00
Estimated net rental area, 40,000 square feet, rate per square foot per month	11
Yearly rental to the State	52,800 00
Gross return to owner, per cent.	12 1/2

From this gross return, the owner would have to deduct taxes, insurance, management, overhead and contingencies.

From the above calculations, Your Excellency will appreciate that the return to the owner on such a project, special in its nature, was most conservative. After many calculations, checks and rechecks, and following hours of negotiation with the broker, on July 28, 1931, I executed the lease on behalf of the State.

Bliss and Fairweather, architects upon the State Building at San Francisco, were selected as architects for this building. Barrett and Hilt, reputable contractors of San Francisco, contractors on many State and city projects, were selected as the builders of this project. I had every reason to believe that the State would, with these architects and these builders, together with the supervision by the State Archi-feet, as provided in the lease, obtain a building constructed in accordance with standard State specifications, and I have had no reason, up to the date of this report to Your Excellency, to change my opinion. Before the construction was commenced on the building, progress plans and specifications were prepared by the architects and submitted to the State Architect for his approval. Now, I desire to tie in at this point testimony of Mr. Berg before the investigating committee.

Mr. Downey: "Well, we have been informed here, Mr. Berg, that you prepared an estimate showing that the cost of this building would run about $7.50 per square foot."

Mr. Berg: "Yes sir."

Mr. Downey: " * * * Is that building that was actually erected there the type of building upon which you gave your estimate?"

Mr. Berg: "No sir."

The State Architect approved the detailed plans and specifications for the building and yet Mr. Berg testified that such plans and specifications did not follow the mental picture formed by him and upon which he based his estimate of $375,000. Why did not Mr. Berg enter an objection at the time the plans and specifications were presented instead of waiting until almost a year following the completion of the building to make such a disclosure?

If Mr. Berg is the competent estimator as contended by the Investigating Committee, he should, in accordance with the ability of men in his profession, estimate the cost of such a structure upon such plans and specifications furnished to him, within 10 per cent of the cost. Subsequently, in his testimony before the committee, he stated that the fair cost of the building at the time of its erection was $237,000. Adding to this, items aggregating $29,000 which, according to the best authorities, were omitted from Mr. Berg's second estimate, he is still $118,000 lower than the estimate furnished to me prior to the commencement of the construction of the building—approximately a 32 per cent variance. Certainly no reliance can be placed in Mr. Berg's estimate.

At the initial open hearing of the Senate Investigating Committee on January 11, 1933, the Investigating Committee produced a witness by the name of K. Robson, also known as Kernan Robson, a resident of San Anselmo, but engaged, according to his own testimony, in the business of real estate and building at San Francisco. This witness testified, according to the transcript of the testimony taken at the hearing, that the cost of this building referred to by the committee as the State Annex Building was not more than $125,000, which was the amount, he testified, of the building permit taken out by the builders. The records of the City and County of San Francisco show that Barrett and Hilp, the builders, took out permits for the construction of the State Annex Building aggregating $325,000. This is a public record in the City and County of San Francisco and the committee, had it so chosen to examine the record, could easily have determined just the amount of the permit, but instead, it preferred, for reasons which are all too apparent, to accept the testimony of K. Robson.

K. Robson further testified before the Investigating Committee that the building was poorly constructed, that it was not a typical class "A" building, and that, all in all, in his opinion, the State had made a very unfortunate deal. He also alluded to the lease as a poorly drafted instrument. However, as Your Excellency knows, the Supreme Court had the instrument before it and prior to the injection of collateral questions found that the lease did not conflict with the Constitution of the State of California. You are perhaps wondering, as many others, what incentive prompted K. Robson to give such testimony before this committee. I have documentary evidence which presents in no uncertain terms the factors which motivated K. Robson. I quote herewith from a communication dated March 4, 1932, a few days after an injunction was sought in the City and County of San Francisco by "Irene Bryan, a taxpayer," to prevent the State from occupying the State Annex Building:

"SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA, March 4, 1932.

DEAR FRANK: I am sorry that I could not see you today to explain my position with reference to the suit that was filed on account of the erection of the building to be leased to the State near the city hall.

On account of our long friendship I regret very much that my name was mentioned in connection with this matter, as I had nothing at all to do with it, only that in a general way I knew that Mr. Kernan Robson was having Mr. Sweeney, his attorney, file the action, which I thought would be against the State officials and the owners of the property, and at all times I understood that you were not involved in any way. Otherwise I would have not only helped you, but would have tried to stop the bringing of this suit.

Upon investigation this morning, I found that there was no charge in the complaint against you at all and that you are only named as defendants on account of having erected the building. It is very unfortunate that the newspapers handled the story as they did, for had they read the complaint properly and interpreted it as they should have your name need not have been mentioned in the newspapers.

I regret exceedingly that this has happened and wish to assure you that I am sincerely, as ever,

Your friend,
(Signed)

HARVEY M. TOY "

"The patriotic and unselfish" Mr. Downey, attorney for the Investigating Committee, grilled Harry H. Magee, vice president of Thomas A. Magee and Sons, realtors at San Francisco, in an effort to establish that Mr. Magee had offered to sell the said lease prior to the commencement of the construction of the building. As will be alluded to subsequently in this report, I had taken, in addition to the option contained in the lease, a second option to the State of California to purchase the project whereby the profit of the owner of the building was limited to $100,000 upon the actual cost of the entire project. The $100,000 profit, of course, represented the maximum to which the owner would be entitled in the event of the exercise of the option. The second option was not recorded as was the lease which happened to contain an option of different terms. It was Mr. Downey's purpose to show that Mr. Magee had attempted to sell the project for $550,000 without disclosing the existence of the second option. According to Mr. Downey, the second option not being of record in the City and County of San Francisco, as was the lease, anyone purchasing would take without notice of the existence of the second option and not be bound by the terms of said second option. Subsequently, Mr. Downey admitted before the Investigating Committee as follows:

"I might state, Mr. VanDusen is right. I have yet to find a single case in which anybody had ever placed of record one option and had kept off the record another option at a smaller price, so the question has never arisen

With respect to this point, it is an elemental principle known to all attorneys that a purchaser is not an innocent purchaser without notice unless he not only examines the record but also makes inquiry of the one in possession as to any rights claimed by that one in possession. To conclude this phase, had any prospective purchaser made inquiry of me, I should have advised him of the existence of the second option. Furthermore, a copy of the second option was at all times in the files of the Department of Finance constituting a public record and available to anyone for examination.

I have established by the letter of Mr. Harvey M. Toy that K. Robson employed a Mr. Sweeney, attorney, to institute the action to prevent the State from occupying the State Annex Building upon the completion of the same.

I have evidence to show that an agent who claimed to represent K. Robson had endeavored to purchase the building from Mr. Magee prior to the filing of the said action in the City and County of San Francisco and it is my belief, based upon this evidence, that K. Robson caused this suit to be filed for no other purpose than to obtain revenge against the lessors and at the same time to force the lessors to sell the project to him. There is evidence to show that K. Robson through agents had endeavored to obtain the contract to erect a building for the State. In support of the foregoing, I quote herewith the affidavit of Sanford M. Dickey:

"State of California )
City and County of San Francisco } ss

Sanford M. Dickey, being first duly sworn, deposes and says:

In reference to the State lease in which Harry H. Magee is interested:

Pursuant to a conversation with an acquaintance of mine, I called upon Mr. Magee with reference to a possible sale of the property subject to this lease. Mr. Magee, in our first conversation stated emphatically that he did not care to discuss the sale of this property and that it was not for sale for the following reasons: In the first place, that he was not the sole owner. In the second place, that he had no idea of the ultimate cost of the building; and further, that there was a supplemental option to the State, based on cost, which had, of course, at that time not been determined and which, therefore, rendered any deal impossible.

In this conversation I also told Mr. Magee that the man whose name had been suggested to me as a prospective purchaser was Mr. Kernan Robson of San Francisco. Mr. Magee told me, in answer to that, that he was more than positive that Mr. Robson would not be interested in the property under any consideration, because he was more the type of a speculative buyer—this in view of the fact that the profit in this deal was very limited.

At this time I do not remember who the acquaintance was who suggested that I call on Mr. Magee with reference to a sale.

This conversation took place sometime early in December, 1931.

In spite of Mr. Magee's very definite statement that the property was not for sale, I made many subsequent calls upon him with the view of getting his consent to some sort of a deal. In one of these conversations I asked Mr. Magee for a copy of the State lease so that I might show it to a prospective purchaser whom I had in mind, but whose name I did not disclose. He gave me a lease, which he stated very clearly at the time, was not a true copy of the actual lease, but set forth, in a very general way, the conditions of the original, with the exception of the supplemental agreement which was mentioned in the first paragraph of this affidavit. I took this lease and submitted it to Mr. B. J. Dunn without Mr. Magee's knowledge. I had promised to return this lease within a period of twelve hours, but because Mr. Dunn said that he was unable to get hold of his principal, he kept the lease in his possession. As a matter of actual fact, it has not been returned to this day.

I would like to state that in all of our conversations Mr. Magee said repeatedly that the property was not for sale, so finally one day I asked him if he would have any objection to my making a commission if a sale was made by me. He stated that there was no one he would rather see make the commission, and on the strength of that I tried to get an offer which Mr. Magee told me he would have to submit to his principal, in view of the fact that he was a very small stockholder in the company that owned the building. Mr. Magee at no time gave me any figures as to costs or any price at which his associates would be willing to sell the property; merely saying that if an offer was made it would be up to him to submit to his principals.

In my last conversation right in the middle of a most serious conversation, Mr. Magee, knowing my natural aversion to snakes, pulled a live snake, which to me looked about eight feet long, from his pocket and thrust it in my face. The conversation ceased abruptly as I flew out the door. I assume that this was done with malice of forethought in the hopes that I would either die of fright or definitely terminate my visits. Failing to die, I have never been back to his office again.

[SEAL]"

Now let us look at the actual cost of the State Annex Building. Officers of the corporate owner of the building have testified under oath that the cost of the project to the corporation was $371,755.02. From this should be deducted an excess interest during the construction charge of $1,933.97, making a legitimate cost to the owner of $369,821.05. The American Appraisal Company, an international organization engaged in making appraisements, has estimated the cost of the building at the date of said construction at $253,986.50. This figure does not include the cost of the lot, architect's fees, attorneys' fees, interest on the investment, interest during construction, and many other inescapable items of cost. With these legitimate additions added to the estimate of the American Appraisal Company, the cost of the project would be the sum of $359,755.02.

William F. Dunn, licensed real estate broker, 369 Pine Street, San Francisco, in communication dated January 16, 1933, sets the reasonable value of the property or reproduction cost to be approximately $369,000. Mr. Dunn states:

"Contrary to rumors, examination discloses the fact that the building is in every respect a class 'A' structure, and as well equipped as the majority of first class buildings in the downtown area of San Francisco, where average rental charges are considerably in excess of that paid for the premises in question."

W. H. Manaton, real estate investments, 210 Kearny Street, San Francisco, California, in communication dated January 16, 1933, states:

"After careful survey and a thorough investigation of the property at 450 McAllister Street (State Annex Building) I am of the opinion that the value of this property in its completed form is $370,000, and that my investigation further proved that it cost $ 70,000 to construct."

"* * * it is my judgment that the State of California has a splendid class 'A' structure built for its individual needs, at a very reasonable rental, and that this building could not be duplicated and rented for a lower rental by any persons, real estate operator or promotor."

William H. Woodfield, Jr., real estate investments, Russ Building, San Francisco, in communication of January 16, 1933, stated:

"I have made a thorough investigation as to the value and cost (of the State Annex Building) as of the above date, and it is my opinion that the cost was in excess of $370,000 and that this sum represented a true duplicating value on the property as of that date."

In analyzing the question as to whether or not the rent was out of line with the cost price, I reached the following conclusion. The total rent per year of $60,816.48 as against a total expense of $27,550, leaves a net income of $33,266.48, which equals about 8.9 per cent net on the original investment of $370,000, leaving the operator in a position to offer the property to the investor and make a profit above outlined on a 7½ per cent net basis."

The approximate average cost of the project as estimated by Mr. William F. Dunn, Mr. W. H. Mortenson and Mr. William H. Woodcock, Jr., all experts in the field of real estate investments, checks closely with the cost to the owner and is but $45,000 less than the estimate given by the State Architect prior to the execution of the lease as heretofore mentioned.

Prior to the completion of the annexing, it was necessary to make certain additions, a portion of the cost of which was borne by the State through an increased rental, which brought the rental to $9.1577 per square foot per month. Adding $0.04 per square foot per month for all necessary repairs and repairs, the total rental to agencies occupying the State Annex Building would be $9.1577 per square foot per month, which compares favorably with rentals as high as $9.25 per square foot paid by agencies in the downtown area at the time of the execution of the lease.

In concluding my reply to this section of the report of the Senate Investigating Committee, may I point out to Your Excellency the many advantages to the State of California arising from this lease.

Rentals were reduced from a rental as high as $9.25 per square foot per month to $9.1577 per square foot per month, numerous State agencies were located at the Civic Center, thus affording easy access in dealing with Federal, city and county, and State offices, utilization of steam plant and other facilities in the State Building for service to the State Annex Building, resulting in reduced costs, the most desirable, a clean, comfortable, well lighted, hygienically ventilated, class "A" structure was obtained, as well as the ability to provide a great service to the people of the State of California by having State offices grouped in one locality.

Before entering upon a discussion of the section of the report relating to the Ventura Hospital site, I desire to advert to statements made by the Investigating Committee in its report with respect to the relationship of Mr. John P. Symes to the State Building Annex transaction. In order that there will be no misunderstanding, I desire to state in unequivocal terms that my first knowledge of an interest of Mr. Symes in the Realty Income Association, a corporation owned by the State Annex Building, came at the time Mr. Symes gave his testimony before the Investigating Committee in 1933. According to the agreement to which Mr. Symes testified, he would have realized handsomely had the building been sold to the State at the option price which was the highest price that the State could have paid. However, the fact remains that Mr. Symes has not made a cent out of the entire transaction and will undoubtedly sustain a considerable loss.

The section of the report of the Investigating Committee entitled "Ventura Hospital site" occupies approximately five pages of the Senate Daily Journal. In so far as the quotation of actual figures is concerned, I find it reasonably accurate. However, there are many misstatements of fact. For example, the report states:

"Mr. Earl Jensen, Director of Public Works during the administration of Governor C. C. Young, testified that the committee during the Young administration rejected the Ventura site * * *

At various other times it is stated that the property purchased had been rejected by the Young administration committee. In the first place, Mr. Earl Jensen was Director of Institutions and not the Director of Public Works during the administration of Governor C. C. Young, and in the second place, from the emphasis of the report to the effect that the Young committee had rejected the site, the Investigating Committee must have considered it of extreme importance, however, the fact is that the hospital site selected and purchased by the Young committee contained only a small portion of the site considered by the Young committee. The testimony of Mr. Jensen supports this.

Mr. Jensen: "Well, when the property was originally submitted to the committee, of which I was the chairman, it included only a portion of the property which was subsequently bought by the State."

Early in this section of the report it is stated:

"The desirability of the Ventura site is a subject of controversy, and of the most conflicting opinions."

If any of the evidence produced before the committee was unfavorable to the desirability of the Ventura site, that evidence was produced by one C. L. Tibbals, a civil engineer employed by the Senate Investigating Committee. During his examination, he admitted that he had spent but a few hours at the site and his testimony was based principally upon his observation together with some reports which he had read. Obviously, the testimony of Mr. Tibbals was just what the committee wanted for the reason that the committee summed up as follows:

"This site (Ventura Hospital site purchased in June, 1932) was subject to criticism. It had been rejected by Governor Young's administration. There were all the drawbacks of spotted soil, alkali water, severe winds, torrential washes, questionable sewage disposal, and uncertainty of permanent water supply."

The testimony of Mr. Tibbals aroused the citizens of Ventura County since, if uncontradicted, it constituted base calumny and would lead one to conclude that no part of Ventura County is fit for human habitation. At once offers were received by leading citizens in Ventura County to give testimony in contradiction to that of Mr. Tibbals. On account of the shortage of time your attorney, Judge Clark, was unable to examine all those citizens who volunteered. However, the offer of Hon. Walter H. Duval, State Senator, to testify before the committee concerning all of the features and characteristics of this property and of Ventura County in general, criticised and condemned on the unsupported testimony of Mr. Tibbals, was accepted.

While it is unnecessary to mention here that Senator Duval is one of the outstanding members of the State Legislature and is of unquestioned integrity, yet it should be stated in order to appreciate his qualifications to pass upon such property as that of the hospital site, that he has lived within a relatively short distance of the hospital site for his entire life—58 years. He is president of the Ventura Mortgage Loan Corporation, the Farmers Realty and Investment Company, Union National Bank, the Saticoy Citrus Company, associated with the Saticoy First National Bank, is vice president and a director of the Santa Clara water conservation district of which C. C. Teague is president and of which organization Senator Duval was president during the absence of Mr. Teague in Washington some time ago, and has for many years represented the Security First National Bank as its appraiser in Ventura County, and is the largest operator of agricultural projects among the members of the Legislature, having some seven ranches.

The testimony of Senator Duval with respect to the Ventura Hospital site covers about 15 pages so I will not attempt to set it forth in detail. As to the value of this property at the time it was purchased for approximately $415,000, Senator Duval stated that it was then, "worth fully that." And as to whether it is worth $415,000 today, testified, "I think it is."

In reply to a question of Hon. Herbert C. Jones, a member of the Senate Investigating Committee, he stated that the land was worth $400 per acre unimproved. The State paid slightly in excess of $300 per acre for the arable land and nothing for 439 acres of hill land.

With respect to its agricultural qualities, Senator Duval stated that the soil was suitable for the growing of alfalfa, peas, beans, walnuts, citrus fruits, sugar beets, and vegetables.

Great emphasis had been placed by Mr. Tibbals upon the lack of a sufficient quantity of water and the inferior quality of water, at the Ventura Hospital site. In reply to the question whether there is sufficient quantity of water, Senator Duval stated:

"I think they have more water developed on the property (Ventura Hospital site) than is needed. I think 800 miner's inches, probably, which is more water than is needed for approximately 1200 acres; I think, that is susceptible of irrigation."

Then Senator Inman stated:

"As far as I am individually interested, as one member of the committee, the amount of water apparently is sufficient. We are concerned more with the quality of it."

Senator Crittenden, a member of the committee, then presented to Senator Duval a report of a Los Angeles testing laboratory purporting to show the mineral content of the water. Afterwards Senator Crittenden asked this question:

"* * * Now, I want to ask you if you know in your experience, or in any way, how great a percentage of salt water solution water can have and still be suitable for irrigation purposes?"

Senator Duval then stated that in so far as the said report was concerned, he could not conclude that the water was suitable for irrigation but in reply to this question,

"In your opinion is that water (water at Ventura Hospital site) suitable for domestic purposes?"

he replied,

"Yes, that is what we have used."

Then he went on to explain that it is a much better quality of water than that used by the city of Ventura. With respect to the use of water for agricultural purposes he stated that it was suitable for peas, alfalfa, beans, walnuts, citrus fruits, sugar beets, and vegetables.

With respect to the general suitability of the Ventura Hospital site, Senator Crittenden asked this question:

"From your wide experience, then, you believe this is a good buy for the State of California for the purposes of a hospital?"

Senator Duval: "I don't think there is any question about it."

Of course, the features contained in Senator Duval's testimony are secondary in the purchase of a hospital site. The first consideration is the suitability of the site for the rehabilitation of patients committed there. Repeatedly, the Psychiatric Society of Southern California, an organization composed of physicians, psychiatrists, scientists, specialists and other substantial citizens, interested in the diagnosis, treatment and rehabilitation of the mentally sick, urged upon the commission that a site be selected in close proximity to the ocean so that those countries such as California might have the advantages of the beneficial effects of a coastal climate, and that this demonstration might be an example to the medical profession and psychiatrists of the world. I desire to add that the same report and purchased by your commission has the full and complete approval of this organization.

It was on May 27, 1932 that your committee purchased the Ventura Hospital site. Several weeks after that, when I was in Los Angeles, I discussed with Mr. Frank T. Skinner and L. A. Ivey, the purchase for myself of the property from Properties, Incorporated. I finally bought the property on August 15, 1932, and shortly thereafter returned the price, and the newspapers carried the story that I had made the purchase. This was quite months prior to the opening of the Senate Investigating Committee, when the Investigating Committee took up this phase of the investigation this information was generally known.

In dealing with my personal purchase of the property from Properties, Incorporated, a corporation, the Investigating Committee announced that I acted upon secret information obtained by me as a member of your committee for the selection of a hospital site, and that this information was supposed to select a location as farther removed from the beach. In the first place, the Ventura Hospital site was purchased at a price agreed upon by each member of the committee, and the transaction wholly consummated before any negotiations were begun by me for the purchase of any land from the same vendor. The land which I purchased was offered for sale and could have been purchased by any person long prior to the acquisition of the Ventura Hospital site, and possibly at a price less than paid by me. The price which I did pay was $100 in arrears, but the State land for comparable land, and furthermore, the same vendor now has and offers for sale to my purchaser land of equal quality.

It should be noted further that I have been the owner of some 60 acres of land in Ventura County for a number of years and that the purchase of this particular piece of land followed naturally from my other investments in that county. I believed the State secured a bargain in the purchase of the Ivey property and I openly and frankly without concealment or evasion availed myself of the same opportunity to secure similar land at favorable prices. No rule of conduct or consideration of public policy was violated by my purchasing this property.

The committee had all the information which I have just given supported by testimony of Mr. Frank T. Skinner, vice president of Properties, Incorporated, a corporation, and L. A. Ivey, an official of Properties, Incorporated, a corporation, and vice president of the Citizens National Bank, and yet in the face of this, they again showed their bias and unwillingness to accept facts when they stated in the report:

"The situation in which Mr. Vandegrift has placed himself is that the suspicion can never be lived down nor hushed up that in the back of his mind was the prospective profit from the converting of his farm into business property by reason of its proximity to the hospital."

This statement is characteristic of the whole report. It is purely a creation of a member of the committee spawned in a mind prejudiced against your administration and not based on facts.

This entire statement is unsupported by any evidence. It is picked out of thin air by this committee. It intempers the future, the need, and the creation of an individual and alleges a possibility as an accomplished fact, a possibility that has not the remotest probability of materialization.

And, now, Your Excellency, I conclude my answer to the partial report of the Senate Investigating Committee in so far as it affects me. In the preparation of my answer, there has been exercised a consistent effort to be brief. There is much additional pertinent matter which I might present on all sections of the report, and, of course, I shall should you so require. It must be clear to Your Excellency merely from a reading of the Investigating Committee report that it is biased, prejudicial and wholly unsupported in its attempt to discredit your administration, this, even though you were not aware of the obvious purpose of the entire expedition to cast adverse criticism upon your administration through innuendo, self-serving declarations, and selected witnesses and testimony. In closing, permit me to state, that I submit the foregoing in the sincere belief that it constitutes a full and complete answer to all the charges made against your administration and your Director of Finance.

Respectfully submitted,

ROLLAND A VANDEGRIFT, Director of Finance.

EXHIBIT "G"—ATTACHED TO THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE IN REPLY TO THE INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DEPARTMENT OF INSTITUTIONS,

SACRAMENTO, April 10, 1933.

Hon. James Rolph, Jr., Governor of California, State Capitol, Sacramento, California.

DEAR GOVERNOR ROLPH: In accordance with your letter of March 24th, in which you request the actual facts and circumstances surrounding the Senate Investigating Committee's report of the conduct of the Department of Institutions, we respectfully transmit herewith our answer.

We have consistently adhered to concrete facts in our reply, which we believe completely answers and wholly negatives the committee's vague allegations and innuendoes.

Respectfully,

J. M. TONER, M.D., Director of Institutions.

When I assumed office as Director of Institutions, a land submittal was under consideration by the previous committee charged with the duty of making a selection of a site for a mental hospital in southern California. This property was known as the W. J. Hole Estate, located near Arlington, Riverside County. There was some question as to the legality of title to the property and I, therefore, requested the opinion of the Attorney General. His opinion was adverse on account of water rights.

The new committee composed of the following members: Colonel Walter E. Garrison, then Director of Public Works; Hon. Rolland A. Vandegrift, Director of Finance; Hon. Herman Michel, mayor of Santa Monica; Mrs. Carrie Parsons Bryant; and your director, Dr. J. M. Toner, as chairman, immediately started to consider and view properties which had been submitted to the previous committee together with other submittals. After a period of 14 months investigation and viewing approximately 170 properties in Southern California, the entire committee selected two properties, one of which was to be chosen for the mental hospital site. These properties were known as the Kramer ranch located near Chino in San Bernardino County, and the Lewis ranch located near Camarillo in Ventura County. However, it must be emphasized that the new submittal of the Lewis ranch was entirely changed from that submitted to the committee under the former administration.

The committee had agreed that five cardinal features be considered and approved before any detailed submittal of property should be acceptable. These features were as follows:

1. Acreage and price.
2. Accessibility to commitment center (city of Los Angeles).
3. Adequate water supply.
4. Soil adaptability to institutional agricultural activities.
5. Climate.

The committee visited the Lewis ranch and did not give favorable consideration to the proposal that was then made. It was sometime in the late fall of 1931 that through the instance of one J. G. Kuhrtz, of Van Vranken Realty Company of Los Angeles, a new submittal of this property was made. It included approximately 600 additional acres of arable land, together with the home place with improvements thereon consisting of valuable buildings, which are at the present time housing a number of patients working on the property, and also the necessary utility structures.

Investigation on the part of various State experts and agencies disclosed sufficient water of satisfactory quality and quantity, soil adaptable to institutional agricultural activities, climate invigorating and favorable to the mentally ill, and Los Angeles, the commitment center, being 54 miles distant, therefore making a minimum cost in transportation of patients. In support of this statement, we refer to reports filed by:

1. Professor W. W. Wier, University of California, on soil analysis.
2. D. G. Milbrath, Chief of the Division of Plant Pathology, Department of Agriculture.
3. W. H. Rockingham, principal mechanical and electric engineer, Division of Architecture, Department of Public Works.
4. George B. McDougall, State Architect, Department of Public Works.
5. Harold Conkling, principal engineer, deputy in charge of water rights, Division of Water Resources, Department of Public Works.
6. R. H. Jamison, Division of Water Resources, Department of Public Works.
7. Committee from the Los Angeles Psychopathic Society on the Climate and Topography with regard to hospital administration.
8. Dr. Herman Adler, professor of psychiatry of the University of California.

9. Ventura Chamber of Commerce, Oxnard Chamber of Commerce, and the Camarillo Chamber of Commerce, and all the aforesaid agencies and experts recommended the property as a desirable purchase.

Copies of indorsement of this property attached as supplementary to this report.

The Senate Investigating Committee alleged that a committee from Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce found the Lewis site unsuited for the purpose desired. No such report was ever filed by that organization with this office. On the other hand, various landowners and well-known citizens of Ventura County in no uncertain language testified as to the qualifications of the site selected by the committee for a mental hospital. It was written into the record that this land had been an abundant producer for years. Many prominent citizens and taxpayers of Ventura County appeared before the Senate Investigating Committee. We quote the testimony of two, namely, Mr. Thomas McCormick, who has lived in this territory for 35 years and who has farmed part of this property, and Hon. Walter B. Duval, State Senator from Ventura County. Their testimony is as follows:

(Mr. Thomas McCormick testifying.)

Q. You never made any test of the water in that neighborhood?

A. No, I am not a chemist.

Q. Has the water been there for a number of years for the house and drinking purposes?

A. We are using ours for 35 years and never had any sickness in the family.

Q. Are your wells similarly situated with reference to elevation and otherwise?

A. Well, I am a little higher. I am in a northwesterly direction from the corner of the property but it is the same kind of water as far as alkali is concerned.

Q. Some alkali in it?

A. Alkali in all that water clear down to Oxnard.

Q. As a taxpayer and citizen, in your opinion was that a favorable or unfavorable buy for the State of California?

A. I think they got a good buy.

(Senator Walter Duval testified in part as follows:)

Q. Can you tell the committee, in your opinion, as to the quality and quantity of the water there?

A. Why, I should say it was comparable with the other water in Ventura County used for agricultural purposes. Practically all, or nearly all, of the water in Ventura County that we use on the ranches is what we term hard water, and it carries a certain amount of salt and solids, but we have used that water in many sections of the county for the last 35 or 40 years for irrigation and up to the present time, except where they have over-irrigated some lands, we have not had any detrimental effect.

Q. In your opinion, is that water suitable for domestic purposes? I refer now to drinking.

A. Yes, that is what we have used.

Q. It is the same water you have used?

A. Practically the same.

Q. Is it used—is it about the same water that is used by the city of Ventura?

A. It is better than the water used by the city of Ventura as a whole because some of their water is from the oil fields where there is an infiltration of salts from the oil wells. They use some water in the city of Ventura from the Beach Wells. There is one in the Avenue Oil Field where some of the water comes from, there is a high salt content.

Q. In your opinion, would it be necessary to treat this water for use in boilers?

A. It would be advisable, yes.

Q. I believe you are familiar with the amount paid for this site, are you not, Senator—$415,000?

A. I understand some such sum as that.

Q. In your opinion, was the property worth that at the time it was purchased?

A. I think it was worth fully that.

Q. Do you think it is worth that today?

A. I think it is.

The hospital site committee was unanimous in their vote that the Lewis ranch possessed the best qualifications of any and all properties submitted for the proposed State mental hospital.

It is essential at this point to bear in mind that the site selected was: First, the best one available in southern California; second, that the Director of Institutions was only one of a committee of five who selected the site, and third, that the entire committee voted for the particular site, and fourth, that prior to the Senate investigation no objection or protest was ever voiced against the selection from any individual or organization(s).

Indeed, the Senate Investigating Committee on page 26 of its report substantiates the well-considered judgment of the committee-of-five on site selection, by the following language:

"On the other hand different county residents who had been familiar with the property for years denied the findings of the engineers and experts. Senator Walter Duval, for example, declared he had been familiar with the property for years, that excellent crops had been raised on it, that the water was suitable for domestic purposes, that the flood menace did not require the building of levees, that the property was well worth the price of $415,000, that the State had paid for it. Senator Duval placed the valuation of the bare land at $400 an acre and the portion set out to walnut trees at $800 to $1,000 an acre. Senator Duval's opinion was corroborated by a number of old time residents and ranchers in the locality of the State property."

One Mr. C. L. Tibbals was called by the Investigating Committee and he reported adversely to the acquisition of the property, but in this connection attention is called to page 1134, lines 17 to 19 of the transcript of the proceedings wherein Mr. Tibbals' lack of knowledge in dealing with the site is made clear.

The following is a question asked of him by the Honorable Judge Clark and his answer thereto:

"Q. Do you know how long they have been pumping water there?
A. Judge, I told you I have not had time."

(See also page 1111, lines 16 and 17, in which Mr. Tibbals says under cross-examination, that he did not have time to make a thorough investigation of the Lewis ranch.)

The calling of Mr. Tibbals as a witness is but another manifestation of the unfair tactics of the hostile committee in summoning to the stand a witness who they undoubtedly knew had not made a sufficient investigation, as he himself admits on the stand, who they knew would disparage and belittle the painstaking efforts of the committee on selection and whose sole and only purpose seemed to be to carry out the predetermined wishes of the committee by declaring that "all was wrong" in the selection of the site.

This property, during the State's first six months of ownership, produced over $26,000 worth of agricultural products. In comparison with all other State institutions this property is most desirable. The fact that there is sufficient acreage for ample growth is significant because in many instances in other State agencies it has become necessary to purchase additional lands at a high price in order to absorb the natural growth of any institutions of this nature.

With reference to the payment of two commissions, the first intimation I had that these commissions were paid was during the Senate Investigating Committee's hearing held in Los Angeles when two persons, namely, J. G. Kuhrtz and George Cuthbert, testified they had each received a commission from the Citizens National Bank. I can only assume that the bank had contracted with these two men and was forced by law to pay them.

In reply to the innuendo of the committee that "the exact relations between Dr. Toner and Mr. Kuhrtz were never satisfactorily explained," I desire to make the following answer and comment:

Solely to expedite negotiations concerning a site which might be suitable for a mental hospital, I acquiesced to the request of Mr. Skinner in suggesting someone who might better present the Lewis ranch. I suggested two persons, namely, Mr. Agee and Mr. Kuhrtz, as individuals who had been impressive in presenting other Ventura County properties.

When called as a witness, I answered all questions propounded by the committee in a willing and complete manner. It is inconceivable, then, that the committee exhibited any degree of sincerity when it expressed itself as above set forth. First, because the explanation had been given to the committee in answer to its direct questions. Secondly, if the explanation was not satisfactory, it was their duty to so signify before dismissing me from further questioning. I was not interested in, nor do I know what disposition Mr. Kuhrtz made of his commission. Furthermore, it is obvious that I am in no manner responsible for his acts or statements either on the witness stand or in his business life.

The Investigating Committee after its exhaustive examination and having access to all of the records of my department and the records of the hospital site committee, and with power to call whomsoever the Investigating Committee wished as witnesses, produced no evidence whatsoever showing any illegal transaction between Mr. Kuhrtz and the Director of Institutions. Every principle underlying the manner in which an accusation should be made declares that the accused must be advised of the charge against him. This Investigating Committee does not fairly or in any other manner accuse me of any illegal transactions with Mr. Kuhrtz. In an informal manner, and with a gesture of indifference, the committee remarks, "the exact relations between Dr. Toner and Mr. Kuhrtz were never satisfactorily explained." The only explanation that should be made is the fact itself and that is this: that never has there been nor is there now any relation between Kuhrtz and myself save and except the fact that Mr. Kuhrtz has (presently) presented sites to the hospital site committee, consisting of myself and four other members. That is the bare, naked fact. I have not before, nor do I now believe that I was unfaithful to my office when I advised Mr. Skinner and Mr. Hart that Mr. Kuhrtz and Mr. Agee seemed to be capable in the matter of presenting Ventura County property to the hospital site committee. Certainly, Kuhrtz and Agee had presented Ventura County property and the property that Mr. Skinner and his bank were presenting was located in that county.

In substantiation of the testimony given by the Director of Institutions relative to Mr. Kuhrtz, the following evidence will be found on page 978, line 32, and continuing to page 979, line 2, of the transcript:

"Addressing Mr. Kuhrtz:

Q. You had not conversed with him (referring to Dr. Toner) from the time that the deal was closed until the day you were in Sacramento recently; is that what you say?

A. I didn't see him then even."

The Director of Institutions has been willing at all times and is now willing that the hostile Investigating Committee have access to all books, papers, records, documents, boxes and depositories directly or indirectly under his control. All these are at its disposal without subpoena or demand. This offer is likewise true of any other committee or person who may be appointed now or at any other time. He fears not the most thorough and searching inquiry, but rather he welcomes and demands it. Furthermore, not a scintilla of evidence was produced by the Investigating Committee to show that one cent of any commission went to the Director of Institutions or any other public official of the State government, and it is the positive belief of the Director of Institutions that no such evidence can be produced by said Investigating Committee nor any other committee or person, either within or without the State of California.

Mr. Hart was permitted to testify (questioned by Mr. Downey):

"Q. Did Mr. Hutchons come back to you, Mr. Hart, with any proposition from Dr. Toner or from Mr. Kuhrtz?

A. About a month ago Mr. Hutchons came to my office and my brother and Mr. Getchel, who is my chief assistant were in the office with me, and stated that Dr. Toner had asked him for a cash consideration for his assistance in putting through the sale of the Dunn ranch to the State."

This incident will illustrate the deliberate unfairness of the committee. Mr. Hart did not pretend that he heard me make this statement. He said Mr. Hutchons told him. Mr. Downey privately interviewed Mr. Hutchons after Mr. Hart testified and was informed by Mr. Hutchons that I had never made such a statement. Mr. Downey had Mr. Hutchons on the stand but refrained from asking him any question that would negative Mr. Hart's hearsay testimony and Mr. Downey permitted Mr. Hart's uncorroborated hearsay to remain in the record without contradiction and thus deliberately suppressed the truth. The committee in its report seemed to sense the injustice it had done and the unfairness of its tactics, by saying on page 33 thereof:

"* * * but Mr. Hutchons did not say that Dr. Toner had suggested that any portion of the commission should go to him (Dr. Toner)."

On page 15 of the Senate Investigating Committee's Report, it is stated that the committee did not have sufficient time to investigate other institutions, and the general policies regarding Whittier State School, they believed, could be safely assumed to apply to other State institutions. This inference is absolutely illogical and can not be substantiated in any manner, since in no place in the entire testimony was any other State institution mentioned.

The records show that Mr. Elmer R. Murphey strongly criticised the administration of the school, but the testimony reveals that when Mr. Murphey was cross-examined by Judge Robert M. Clark it was ascertained that Mr. Murphey never has had any actual experience in an institution for juvenile delinquents. It is further disclosed that Mr. Murphey had retained a publicity staff to circulate distorted information about Whittier State School throughout the State. Again, Mr. Murphey has really constituted himself a committee of one to promote this propaganda. It has been averred that inefficient and incompetent individuals have been employed, whereas certain vacancies were filled by persons whom the executive office of the Department of Institutions and the Superintendent of Whittier State School determined were best qualified. Examinations have since been held, and as in other divisions of government and other institutions comprising this department, positions are now occupied by certified eligibles who have successfully passed the Civil Service examinations in accordance with existing law.

Mention is made as to Claude Smith, who held the superintendency of Whittier State School for a short period of time. When it became evident to this office that Mr. Smith did not possess the qualifications which his recommendations stated and which are necessary for the administrator of an institution of this character, Mr. Smith was asked to resign and in his stead was appointed G. C. Sabichi, M.D. Dr. Sabichi is a graduate of St. Vincent's College, Los Angeles, where he received his bachelor's and master's degrees, matriculated at the University of California, Berkeley, and received his doctor's degree at the University of Southern California where he later became a member of the faculty. Dr. Sabichi later took post-graduate work in the Columbia University, New York. He belongs to a number of medical associations and is a past national president of the Exchange Clubs and is an executive member of the National Boys' Committee representing the Exchange Clubs of America.

Reference is made in the report to the monitor system being revived at the Whittier State School. The records in the office of the Department of Institutions show that this system was used during the previous administration and that in the late fall of 1932 this system was entirely abolished and the "boy leader system" substituted therefor, except in the lost privilege cottage, where one or two boys are designated as messengers. This word completely defines their duties. Boy leaders are assistants to the supervisors and perform important functions in any group of boys. Whittier State School requirements are that they show real qualities of leadership and that no physical abuse be countenanced, and that they do not "bully" the other boys. The boy leaders are chosen by the group supervisors. There is a well established merit system at Whittier State School which is the same system used at the Preston School of Industry and at other leading correctional schools throughout the country. A boy chosen to be a messenger has gained this distinction through the merit system. No disciplinary measures are used at Whittier other than confinement in the lost privilege cottage.

Reference is made to the alleged plot to "bump off" Mr. Elmer R. Murphey. This entire testimony was related by one Alfred Urbach who was discharged from Whittier State School after a careful investigation had been made relating to his duties as a placement officer in the institution. The testimony in this instance reveals that this witness was governed entirely by personal bias and animosity toward his superior officer, whom he deemed directly responsible for his dismissal from the institution. When this matter was brought to my attention, I immediately issued an executive order to the superintendent to make a thorough investigation and report at once. The answer to my inquiry indicated that there was nothing factual about the entire situation. It is felt that the foregoing requires no extensive remarks to show that it was merely a figment of the imagination of the witness which was grasped in despair by malicious-minded men to disparage and besmirch decent public officials who were attempting to faithfully discharge the duties of their office in the interest of the welfare of the people of the State of California.

There is also mentioned one W. H. Crowley, who was employed as a group supervisor, and that he had asked that he be allowed to carry a gun. This matter was never brought to the attention of this office, but under no circumstances would an executive of the institution or the Department of Institutions consider that firearms should be carried by the personnel of Whittier State School.

Considerable mention is made of the relationship between Mr. J. W. Souther, assistant superintendent and business manager, and Mr. H. S. Barden, director of education. As a result of a reorganization of that institution, Mr. Barden, the director of education, and Mr. Souther, assistant superintendent and business manager, were placed on a parity. Mr. Souther's activities are confined to the business administration of the institution and Mr. Barden taking direct charge of education, supervision, and placement. As a result of this parity, there would appear an incongruity between these two officials, which prompted the remarks Mr. Souther made at the conference held October 12, 1932, in the Los Angeles office of the Department of Institutions. This condition has been satisfactorily adjusted and a spirit of harmony now exists between these two officials.

Individuals from various organizations have criticised Whittier State School and certain conditions which were alleged to exist there. However, careful investigation has proved that their charges are hearsay and baseless, generalities without specific foundation or proof. This office is in receipt of numerous communications from many organizations complimenting the administration of Whittier State School and its accomplishments. Mr. O. B. Mathews, prominent Boy Scout leader, testifies that in his opinion the present administration of Whittier State School could not be criticised in any just manner. Mr. Mathews has been closely identified with the institution for a number of years and is familiar with the management under other administrations.

Human relationship in institutional life is bound to create conditions, the facts concerning which could be distorted and magnified and be made to appear to be more serious than the actual occurrence. It is necessary for the personnel of the institutions to live without the grounds or in the immediate vicinity. The mere fact the abnormal persons are confined therein is bound to bring about certain conditions of human behavior, which can and which are always adjusted by proper institutions.

administration. It would not be difficult to investigate almost any well managed institution in the United States and find certain conditions which might be criticized.

In so far as the testimony of the Senate Interrogating Committee shows, there is no single incident of maladministration at Whittier State School. The evidence in its entirety was one-sided and I reiterate was given by persons under personal bias and animosity.

The Senate committee's report states that Mr. Frank Burger had been asked to investigate the superintendent and business managers of the various institutions at the direct suggestion of your Director of Institutions. The facts in this case are that Mr. Burger voluntarily came to the office of the department in Sacramento, early in January, 1931, and stated that he knew of certain conditions existing within the institutions that would necessitate correction. While complaints of this nature are not infrequently received, I asked Mr. Burger to present some factual evidence that these conditions existed. Thereupon, he assumed the responsibility at his own expense, and without approval of this department, to investigate several institutions, and thereafter related certain conditions existing which assertions were without foundation. It was later brought out that Mr. Burger had been discouraged from three institutions for various reasons. He has a general reputation of being a troublemaker, an agitator, and a person not temperamentally suited to engage in institutional work.

My son, Joseph Toner, at the time of the hearing was en route to the Orient taking 67 insane patients to the countries of that vicinity. The responsibility for delivering these institutional patients home safely is great and I differ with the committee that a lower salaried person would be as efficient. The magnitude of the task required that a responsible executive be in charge of the group. In this procedure I am in accord with customs of prior administrations.

I am happy to state that Joseph Toner has returned from the deport and his report on file with my department sets forth that the 67 patients were safely delivered to their destination.

It is alleged that the superintendent of the Mendocino State Hospital was discharged because he had a "Young" banner attached to his automobile. This statement is absolutely untrue. The resignation of this superintendent was accepted after it was proved that his activities were confined more to political matters than to the administration of the institution which was being neglected.

The report shows that when your Director of Institutions was interrogated relative to the number of employees recommended to this department from the Governor's office that inadvertently he stated that probably 50 per cent or 60 per cent were recommended. This was entirely erroneous, since the majority of positions existing in the Department of Institutions are filled by certified eligibles on the civil service list. There are comparatively very few temporary authorizations issued for any employment except those positions of a high professional nature.

Permit me to conclude by saying: I welcome the Senate committee's extensive investigation. My department is now, as it always has been, open to the closest scrutiny. I always have been and always will be an all out struggle in public and private life ready to entertain and adopt any worthy recommendations as to the proper course of conduct to pursue. As to the Ventura Hospital site, there is expressed an opinion of one expert that seems in some respect to conflict with opinions of capable State experts and State agencies. Differences of opinion have existed since the beginning of man. I have no control over men's opinions. I can only control my own course of conduct. The State was in need of the site in Southern California and the thorough investigation by those whose duty it was to select the site resulted in the unanimous agreement that everything considered the Lewis ranch was the most suitable for its intended purpose. I was only one of the persons constituting the State's agency in the final action. I was convinced and so were the others. I am still convinced and propose to carry out the purposes for which the purchase was made.

As to the administration of the Whittier State School, I desire to point out that throughout the history of the government of California, similar movements have been instituted by those entitled to criticize and attack the Governor and his administration and charge maladministration of some particular institution. That has been particularly true of our prisons, hospitals and educational institutions, and reviewing my experience with public life in California I do not think there has ever been a State administration free from such attacks, either prompted by political motives or motivated by an obsession that those launching the investigation were endowed with learning and qualities which specially fit them to govern. But a few years ago and under a previous administration the Glick School at Ventura suffered from such an onslaught to the great injury of the institution. Happily, it has recovered and like the Whittier School, is regarded as a model institution of its kind.

We are giving special attention to the Whittier School and making every effort to maintain it efficiently and to put into execution plans which will insure such a condition with an eye single to the welfare of its students and the good of the State.

I am pleased to report that the institutions under my care are in a wholesome condition, despite the fact that the most legal account is being furnished. Thus I am sure reflects credit upon your administration and your political and social action interest in the institutions being treated and cared for in California.

The committee did not give attention to feeding the press with false information concerning what they expected but actually failed to receive. It has succeeded in obtaining part of the accusations made against the big institutions and other wise. The committee report contains what must be to some degree to the public but the committee did not emphasize the investigation with an open mind or an attitude of fairness, but was bitter upon accusing their power for the purpose of having a political attack on the Governor through the department heads he had appointed.

Respectfully submitted,

When he told the board that Ventura County supervisors are opposed to the building of State Hospital in county and I see the just reason with reason sound in so. Am well acquainted with the Oxnard site. Am sure it would make an ideal location and prove to me. I am unqualifiedly in favor of it being built here and that same thing is the sentiment of a great majority of Ventura County citizens.

J. M. Toner, M. D., Director, State Department of Institutions,
Sacramento, California.

DEAR DOCTOR: I was indeed pleased to receive your letter of the eighth inst., and hasten to state that we deeply appreciate your kind sentiment as expressed herein.

As chairman of the site committee as stated in one of our previous letters, you are deserving of highest commendation for the wise selection of this site. It surely one of the most beautiful you could have picked, backed as it is by hills, open country to the "front" and the ocean just a few miles distant. We know that the inmates and employees connected with the new institution could hardly wish for a better environment. And from a financial standpoint, your committee did exceptionally well.

The community of Oxnard has maintained a friendly attitude from the start. It is our hope that this splendid feeling of cooperation between the State and this community will continue and increase to our mutual benefit.

It gives us pleasure whenever we are called upon to render some sort of aid. We were particularly happy at being able to straighten out what might have been an unpleasant incident following the filing of Thornhill Broome's suit against the bank over a road right of way. It seemed such a small thing to quarrel over. Our committee, consisting of H. H. Eastwood, E. H. Agee, assisted by Adolfo Camarillo, worked swiftly and successfully in having the board of supervisors align a new right of way and abandon the old roads through the property. We were gratified to hear the entire deal was consummated this week.

I want to thank you for that very nice personal letter you wrote me while en route east. I did appreciate it and will always keep it among my treasured assets. I realize you were extremely busy and thought it splendid of you to take the time while on board to pen those pages to me when you could have been doing so many other things, more interesting and enjoyable.

We in Oxnard would be happy to have you with us for a visit at some future date when you will be in Ventura County. Just drop us a line stating when you will be here as we would like to have a few of the representative men of the community meet you personally.

The Chamber of Commerce is planning a little barbecue, the real old Spanish type, to be given in Oxnard the day ground is broken for the new hospital. It will be our pleasure on that day to have you, your committee and State officials connected with the hospital development as our guests for at least a part of the day. We will let you know more of this later. It is our sincere hope you will find it possible to favor us with your presence at that time, along with the Governor, Mr. Vandegrift and others. I am sure the event will be a memorable one.

We are of the opinion that ground will be broken about August 1st. If you have any idea of the approximate date we should appreciate further information in that regard.

Many thanks again for your kind letters which are appreciated not only by myself but the directors of the chamber and others interested who, like the community, are overjoyed that the State is to build this fine hospital in this vicinity.

Yours very sincerely,

JACK C. MILLER, Secretary.

OXNARD, CALIFORNIA, March 7, 1931.

*Dr. J. M. Toner, Director of Institutions,
Sacramento, California.*

DEAR DOCTOR: We wrote you February 21st in care of the Biltmore Hotel, Los Angeles, regarding the possible establishment of a State Hospital for Feeble-Minded near Camarillo and we are writing again to assure you of our support in case there is any location in Ventura County that meets your requirements.

It has come to our attention that your department is favorably considering a site of approximately 1100 acres on the old Lewis ranch, south of Camarillo, and the consummation of the deal may be expected in the very near future. Naturally we are greatly interested.

The Oxnard Chamber of Commerce, with a membership of 450, represents a fairly good cross section of the territory adjacent to the proposed location and many of our members are property owners in the immediate vicinity or residents of the Camarillo section.

The proposed development was discussed at length by our board of directors at their last meeting. Of the 18 out of 21 directors present there was not one who suggested any opposition to the plan of establishing such an institution in the vicinity, or anywhere else in Ventura County. To the contrary, all were highly in favor of the project.

A committee was named to confer with the Camarillo Chamber of Commerce on the matter and last night the proposition was considered by that body. Our committee was assured that such an institution would be welcomed there. No doubt you will hear from the Camarillo chamber regarding their attitude.

While in every community there are some who disapprove any form of development, we are writing at this time to inform you that so far as we can learn, the great majority of people in this district, which includes Oxnard, Camarillo and the territory south of the Santa Clara River in Ventura County, are favorable to the establishment of such an institution here or anywhere else in Ventura County that would meet with your requirements.

If this organization can be of assistance to your department in any way please do not hesitate to call on us for aid. We would be happy to assist in locating the hospital somewhere in this district.

Sincerely yours,

J. LEROY FULTON, President.

EXHIBIT "H"—ATTACHED TO THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE IN REPLY TO THE INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE'S REPORT

CALIFORNIA HIGHWAY COMMISSION.

SACRAMENTO, May 8, 1933.

Reply of California Highway Commission and the Director of Public Works to the Final Report of the Senate Investigation Committee, Headed by Senator J. M. Inman.

We submit that the motive behind the Inman Senate Investigation was a dastardly, cowardly and slanderous attack upon Governor Rolph. The final report of the committee shows an evident malicious intent to impugn the motives of the California Highway Commission which is without parallel in the political history of California.

It is significant that the Inman investigators say in their report that they are "making no recommendations nor commenting upon the evidence adduced."

After reading this report it is not surprising that recommendations could not be offered, nor comments made, since the evidence adduced is supported only by testimony of Walter E. Garrison, an ousted and discredited former public official, and by C. L. Tibbals, Sacramento engineer who, in the role of a hired witness, gave "expert testimony" on roads, highways, rights-of-way, ditches, drains, real estate, beams, water, and for that matter, anything under the sun. He could not qualify as an expert in any court of our State concerning all the many matters upon which he gave his so-called "expert opinion."

The report in its entirety confines itself to trivial questions, is based upon unsupported testimony, and in no particular exhibits any degree of fairness by quoting evidence either aimed to refute or favorable to the administration.

The carefully selected testimony of Walter E. Garrison, former Director of Public Works, was that Governor Rolph, in the presence of Earl Lee Kelly, then Chairman of the California Highway Commission, informed Garrison that he wanted a road included in the State highway system which would lead past the Rolph ranch in San Mateo County.

That testimony by Garrison was vigorously denied on the stand by Kelly, during which denial Kelly stated: "That if I had not already been well aware of the fact, from what I have heard today I would be convinced that Garrison is a colossal liar." Kelly continued that no such statement was made by the Governor. It is significant that Kelly's testimony does not appear in the final report.

The record further shows that Fred Grumm, engineer in charge of surveys and plans with the Division of Highways, testified that "it would be engineeringly unsound and impractical to follow the present traveled way of the San Mateo Road and the final alignment if that road ever were built, would be at least a mile away from the so-called 'Rolph ranch' and might be as far away as four miles," instead of going "through" the ranch as C. L. Tibbals had testified.

Where does that appear in this eminently "fair" report of the Inman investigators?

The Department of Public Works has in its records a copy of a petition, a telegram signed by property owners, copy of which is attached, and a complete file which show that the campaign to include this road in the highway system was commenced long prior to the date when James Rolph, Jr., was a contender for the governorship. The campaign began during the administration of former Governor Young when Fred S. Moody was Highway Commissioner from that section.

It is interesting to note that Walter E. Garrison, although he disclaimed on the witness stand any responsibility for recommending to the Legislature that this road be included in the system, actually did concur in writing with all the findings of the Highway Commission and made the same recommendations to the Legislature as the commission did. This is the same Walter E. Garrison who declared that he had protested the recommendation of such a road as "full of political dynamite." The same Garrison who righteously declared upon the stand that Governor Rolph had requested him to include the road. The same Garrison whose personal signature is upon the report submitted to the Legislature recommending the very road which months later, after he had been dismissed as Director of the Department of Public Works, he told the committee was a political road.

Material portions of Garrison's testimony claimed that he received orders from James I. Herz, also ousted and discredited former official in the Department of Public Works, who purported to give orders as coming from the Governor's office, many of which orders never were sent out from the Governor's office. No comment is made on these matters in this answer save that the said Herz was never called as a witness in this investigation for reasons probably best known to the Investigating Committee.

In all its investigation, the Inman Senate committee seems to have lost sight of the fact that the Highway Commission and the Department of Public Works, under Senate Resolutions No. 10 and No. 18, are required to make a study and report on roads which may be eligible or qualified for inclusion in the State highway system. They apparently did not want to realize that the determination as to whether all roads or no roads should come into the system is a matter to be exclusively decided by the Legislature of California. Neither the Governor, the Highway Commission, nor the Department of Public Works can make such determination.

The testimony of the same trusted and discredited public official, Walter E. Garrison, and the unqualified expert engineer, C. L. Tibbals, has been swallowed whole by the committee in so far as it relates to the Cobb Mountain Road in Lake County. They attempted to show that this road was a "political" road built to tap the property of W. R. Prather because he was county campaign manager of the Governor and his friend.

As a matter of fact, Prather was never the Governor's campaign manager, but one Sam Hill of Lakeport was.

Agitation for this road was of long duration and the Highway Commission in recommending it, knew that it would open up one of the greatest resort areas of our State, now practically inaccessible, since there are more health giving springs in this county than any other like area in the whole world.

It would indeed be difficult, nay impossible, to recommend any road for inclusion in the highway system that would not touch property of those who are friendly to the Governor, since his friends are legion in every section of the State.

In passing, it might be pointed out that in 1931 no less than 700 persons appeared in behalf of this road before the Legislature as a result of which Senator Ingels introduced a bill to have this road included. Indeed Lake County united from Middletown to Lakeport and Upper Lake for this demonstration before the Legislature. Schools and business houses were closed in this great appeal for the Cobb Mountain Road. In effect a holiday was declared in this area.

The Inman committee has carefully refrained from drawing attention to these facts and to the testimony of a delegation of Lake County business men who appeared before it and outlined the history of the fight to have this road favorably considered. The testimony clearly showed that the road was recommended as a public necessity, that it had been long sought and that its inclusion was in no possible manner a matter of politics.

The unqualified expert engineer, Mr. C. L. Tibbals, attempted to make much of the alleged disproportionate share of secondary roads in Orange County, the home of P. A. Stanton, a member of the Highway Commission. The allegations are hardly worth mentioning or worthy of attention, for every road recommended in that county was first quantified by the Engineering Department of the Division of Highways. In recommending roads, county lines must be eliminated in looking at the State as a whole for development of a unified system. Orange County, by reason of its geographical location, is the back and front entrance to the most densely populated section of the State—Los Angeles County. The roads which the investigators sought to make so much fuss about, are connecting links between Los Angeles County, San Diego County, San Bernardino and Riverside counties, and other areas north and south. They must, of necessity, pass through Orange County. And it is interesting to note that these roads, built with in their entirety, have a greater mileage outside Orange County than within it.

In passing, we draw attention to the pertinent fact that these roads followed Resolutions No. 10 and No. 18, were requested by Senators and Assemblymen, chambers of commerce and civic organizations as well as qualified by the Division of Highways engineers. Copies of the requests referred to, were filed with the Inman committee, but no mention is made of this in the final report.

Mr. Tibbals, the "expert experter," also sought to show that a large percentage of mileage, recommended by State engineers, was rejected by the Highway Commission and that many of the roads included in the recommendations by the commission, do not meet the requirements of the Highway Act.

The "expert" certainly showed a total lack of understanding of the duties and functions of the commission. Neither he nor the investigators knew that in the recommendation of roads the commission must be guided by Senate Resolution No. 10 and Senate Resolution No. 18. The "expert experter" predicated all his testimony on the former, which relates to engineering study of roads. Being ignorant of Resolution No. 18 he radically ignored its provisions, equally important to those of No. 10, which made it mandatory upon the commission to consider roads in their relation to the development of the natural resources of the State, and the improvement of agricultural marketing facilities and the scenic beauties of California.

The final report of the Inman committee touches upon the innuendo that the Governor personally had selected State contracts for friends, without competitive bidding. This charge springs from the unsupported testimony of Walter E. Garrison and, despite the fact that it was vigorously refuted, is placed in the report.

It is inconceivable that Governor Rolph should ever have requested Garrison to do the things that Garrison said the Governor asked him to do. And if Garrison understood the functions of the department over which he was then head, it must have been patent to him that he could not have done those things for the Governor even if the Governor actually had asked him. For, under the system built up over a long period of years by the Department of Public Works and modeled after that of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads, it is absolutely impossible either to tamper with contracts or award contracts so that any particular firm or individual can be favored.

Bids for contracts are sealed, kept in a strong box and opened in the presence of four employees at a public meeting attended by contractors and materialmen, and the qualified low bid secures the contract. Therefore, it must be obvious that no contractor need fear the Director of Public Works, nor is it possible for pressure successfully to be brought to bear upon him.

There were many, many more misstatements and inaccuracies made at the hearings and contained in the report. The undersigned have been content to answer the more important of these.

And, in so doing, the members of the Highway Commission and the Director of the Department of Public Works have no hesitancy in declaring the report unfair and untrue.

EXHIBIT "I" ATTACHED TO THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE IN REPLY TO THE

Re: Alpine Lateral Road to Skyline Boulevard

I am presenting herewith:

1. A copy of the petition we filed with the Highway Commission for our Alpine Road.

2. Map of peninsula district showing the importance of the road to the San Francisco peninsula.

3. A copy of the telegram sent by some of the petitioners on behalf of all of them to the Senate Investigating Committee.

To give you a picture of the whole situation, let me set out the laws under which these roads are included by the Highway Commission into the State system.

The California Statutes, Political Code 363 as amended in 1929, set out the authority of the Highway Commission as follows:

"Except as may be otherwise expressly provided by law, the commission shall have power at any time and from time to time, to select, adopt and determine the routes for new State roads and highways and, from the moneys and funds available therefor, to allocate moneys for the construction or repair of the various roads and highways or portions thereof under the jurisdiction of the Department of Public Works and to determine in each case the maximum sum of money that shall be made available therefor and to conduct preliminary surveys for the determination of the advisability of including in or excluding from the State highway system any road or portion thereof."

In considering this clause it should be borne in mind that Governor Young on March 12, 1929, in his "Message on Highways" said:

"While it might be questioned whether authority can be delegated to a highway commission actually to 'adopt' new roads into the system without legislative ratification, the Highway Commission can at least, after proper study, submit these to the Legislature and include them in its proposed highway budget, thus making certain that they can be cared for as State highways two years from next July."

In pursuance to this very reasonable qualification, the Legislature has, each succeeding biennium, that is in 1929 and 1931, enacted concurrent resolutions known as Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 19 in 1929, and Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 10 in 1931 both of which have the same purpose and are incidentally almost identical in wording.

They provide in substance as follows:

"Resolved, That the California Highway Commission and the Department of Public Works be and they are hereby directed to make a careful study of the State highway system to ascertain and determine routes not now in the system which, either by reason of the large volume of State traffic that they are now carrying, or by reason of the relief that they would afford to heavy traffic upon present State highways, or as highways serving as important interstate links, might properly be included and added to the State highway system; and be it further

Resolved, That this study shall * * * include an investigation into the engineering, economic and traffic facts involved in the matter; that a comprehensive report shall be made to the * * * Legislature embodying such recommendations as the investigation may disclose as proper and a recital of such facts as may have been taken into account; * * * and that pending the adoption of such report authority be hereby given to the California Highway Commission to take into consideration for its next budget such roads as it is thus designating and bringing to the attention of the Legislature at its next session."

From the above excerpts it will be seen that the California Highway Commission and the Department of Public Works were called upon to make this report. As you no doubt are aware, the Department of Public Works acts through its director and it is he who generally contacts the Highway Commission. His statutory duties are as follows:

"363c. Director of Public Works. Duties, Powers, and Jurisdiction. The Director of Public Works as head of the Department of Public Works shall perform all duties, exercise all powers and jurisdiction, assume and discharge all responsibilities and carry out and effect all purposes now or hereafter vested by law in the Department of Public Works, except such duties, powers, jurisdiction, responsibilities and purposes as are vested in the California Highway Commission or in the chief of a division of the Department of Public Works by express provision of this article or of any law hereafter adopted."

There seems to me, then, an effort in all this legislation towards giving the Highway Commission a very high discretionary power to act in the matters of secondary road inclusions in the California highway system.

Further, if I may add: The case 100 C. A. 523 (1930) contains the following statement:

"By the terms of Political Code 363(h) as amended in 1927, the Legislature has delegated to the Highway Commission, which thereby becomes a quasi judicial body for the purpose, the exclusive authority to determine the public necessity for a designated highway, that a particularly described property is necessary therefor, and that the proposed improvement is planned and located in a manner which is most compatible with the greatest public good and the least private injury; and where these matters have been judicially determined by the commission in the manner provided by law, a resolution to that effect becomes conclusive evidence which in the absence of fraud, bad faith or an abuse of discretion, may not be disputed."

In addition, the 1931 Legislature enacted Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 18, which provides as follows:

"Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That the California Highway Commission and the State Department of Public Works are hereby requested and urged, when planning, constructing or improving the State highway system, to give due consideration and regard to the development of the natural resources of the State and the improvement of agricultural marketing facilities, as well as to traffic needs."

I think it is clear, then, that (1) the Highway Commission has the absolute discretion with the aid of the Board of Public Works, presumably in an engineering capacity, to determine proper routes for new secondary roads, and (2) this authority is exclusive and can not be set aside unless it can positively be shown that there was fraud, bad faith, or an abuse of discretion.

Now, we can see many reasons why the Highway Commission saw fit to overrule the recommendations of the Department "engineers" on the matter of the Alpine Road.

The Alpine Road is now dangerously narrow. Its traffic count is not large. People are discouraged from using it. I know that there are other roads in the San Francisco peninsula that have larger traffic counts. But they are better roads; they encourage travel. I know positively that they carry traffic that would prefer the Alpine Road if its condition were better.

To show you the futility of relying on traffic counts which, as you know, is a typical engineering standby, consider the present Skyline Boulevard. This road was practically nonexistent before the State took it over, about 10 years ago. Its traffic count at that time was nil. The whole purpose of the road was to open up some of the most beautiful scenic vistas in northern California that were not previously accessible. The road was built—miles of it, with a capacity of hundreds of machines per hour, and there it stands without one single State highway feeder from one end to another—a total distance of about 40 miles. At the Senate investigation it was brought out that in the Los Angeles area in the same distance there are nine cross laterals to assist in traffic equalization.

One of the petitioners has referred to the Skyline Boulevard as a house without steps to get into it—and that is just what that road is. It can easily serve the purpose of relieving traffic on the other two parallel highways on the San Francisco

Peninsula, but the present feeders to it cause a motorist to spend as much time getting to Skyline as it would to travel many miles along a congested highway.

Feeders such as the Alpine Road would serve a dual purpose: (1) They would render easily accessible the scenic beauty of the Skyline from the lower part of the San Francisco Peninsula, and (2) they would relieve traffic from other arteries and laterals which are now naturally overburdened because they are carrying more than their proper share.

You know, engineers are sometimes misguided in their judgment by trying to apply specific remedies at the points of trouble rather than, like a good physician, looking for a more remote and less evident basic cause of the trouble. It is my belief that in this case, the engineers are too much concerned with trying to widen present congested roads and do not realize that those roads would not be congested if they had proper feeders—feeders like the Alpine Road.

There are other reasons, too, why the Alpine Road is needed. As you know, there are two bridges bringing people from the coast here to the San Francisco Peninsula. The northernmost bridge comes in at San Mateo and feeds the San Mateo Half Moon Bay Road. The southernmost or Dumbarton Bridge comes in at Menlo Park and feeds our Alpine Road. Both of the bridges are patently overused. I know that the policy of the State is not to take patronage arteries and obviously to give one of these bridges an outlet and deny the other one an outlet as the engineers you refer to attempted to do, was to use a very beautiful highway. Both bridges have a distinct usefulness and both come in for proper and useful use equal treatment.

It would agreeably surprise anyone to see the beautiful country that this Alpine Road will open up. It will be the quickest and most direct route to such points of general interest as the Island Redwood Shore, the San Mateo County Memorial Park, and the California Redwood Park. It will bring important coast points such as San Gregorio, Pescadero, La Honda and many beautiful coast beaches closer in point of time to San Francisco, San Joaquin Valley points and lower San Francisco Peninsula sections.

The large number of people to be benefited by this road would more than offset its cost to the State.

While I appreciate that the State is not interested in providing roads for county needs, still necessity for State roads often arises from particular conditions within the counties themselves. For instance in San Mateo County and the northern part of Santa Clara County there can be considered two important sections: (1) The Palo Alto, Menlo Park, Stanford University section in the south which would be served and aided by the Alpine Road if constructed, and (2) the San Mateo section in the north which is served and aided by the San Mateo Half Moon Bay Road. As a matter of fact, the point of greatest interest on the peninsula to people the world over, is Stanford University with its distinguished alumnus' home, that of Herbert Hoover, and this attraction is best served by the Alpine Road. What a force it is to encourage people to visit our State and to see its beauties and then to build a scenic road such as the Skyline Boulevard which they might use and enjoy in going to points of interest on the San Francisco Peninsula but can not because of present unsafe lateral outlets such as the Alpine Road.

I wonder if you recall the bridge near Stanford University that had been neglected by county authorities several years. Incidentally, it was on the approach to the Alpine Road. The bridge was neglected probably because the road was not thought important enough. A bus load of tourists visiting Stanford University drove over the bridge and it broke down, injuring many of the passengers. Afterwards, it was realized that the bridge and road were "very important" and were forthwith replaced by a most magnificent concrete bridge and approach—too late, of course, to save the accident that brought it about.

Again, we should consider the residents of San Francisco and all those motorists who travel southward, from San Francisco, having as their destination the Santa Clara Valley, Palo Alto, Menlo Park or Stanford University. Must it be said as it is now, that these people can not, in order to reach these points quickly and safely, travel over the Skyline Boulevard because when they approach their destination on that road there is no safe lateral to use to travel eastward?

And, those motorists who want to reach San Francisco from Menlo, Palo Alto and Stanford University and northern part of Santa Clara Valley—must they also be denied the use of the Skyline, in the interests of safety, because the Alpine Road, which is a most natural route for them to use, is not safe or expeditious?

I know the answers to all these questions more than bring out the necessity for the Alpine Road as a secondary road in the State system. There are many of these considerations that cannot be gleaned from "slide-rule" analyses. Many of these points the Highway Commissioners must have considered in reaching their final conclusion, and shall I say, in overruling the recommendations of competent department engineers?

I don't know whether you are familiar with the fact that at first we (the petitioners) desired the 13-mile stretch from Menlo Park to the Skyline included in the secondary system while the San Mateo people wanted the road from San Mateo to the town of Half Moon Bay included—a total of about 9 miles. The final result was that we both got about one-half of what we wanted. We have been contented to abide by the decision of the commission and I understand the San Mateo contingent is now also content. As a matter of fact, did you know that San Mateo road proponents appeared before the Highway Commission on August 26, 1932, and endorsed the action of the commission on both roads? They also showed how the Alpine Road fits right into the San Mateo County planning commission's layout of the county road system.

Needless to say, we are very much surprised that the inclusion of this road has been referred to as a "Rolph favoritism" road. Our activities on behalf of this project date back long before Mr. Rolph was a serious contender for the governorship. Late in 1929 we first became actively engaged in pushing the project. Early in 1930 we contacted Mr. Fred S. Moody, a highway commissioner under the Young administration, relative to the inclusion of the road. He informed us that his recommendations for that biennium had been practically made up and that we should wait until the next year, 1931, to present our road before the Highway Commission.

In the interim we appeared before the San Mateo board of supervisors and asked that they join in our campaign. They felt that inasmuch as they had already inaugurated their campaign for the San Mateo-Halfmoon Bay Road, they would not want to interfere with those plans and support another road also.

Pursuant to Mr. Moody's suggestion, we prepared our petition for the Alpine Road and it was presented personally by Mr. Herbert Law before the Highway Commission in Sacramento on January 29, 1931. In August, 1931, we again appeared before the commission in Sacramento on behalf of our road.

With all of these efforts on behalf of our road, we naturally are surprised that it has even been suggested that Governor Rolph used his influence to help it.

Mr. Law, as one of the most active of the petitioners, has not seen Mr. Rolph since he has become Governor, nor has he ever discussed this matter with him.

Reference has frequently been made to the fact that James Rolph III owns property at the Skyline terminus of the present Alpine Road. We are informed that when the road is improved by the State it will not go near the Rolph ranch. The Skyline Boulevard now passes directly through the Rolph ranch and we have been told that James Rolph III does not want another road running through his ranch. We can not conceive of any direct benefits that a State road would bring to the property. His ranch certainly is not suited for subdivision purposes. Its only value lies in its privacy—something that would not be furthered by the Alpine Road. We can not see any reason why the Governor should desire to "order" a road through his son's property. The Senate Investigating Committee does not seem to have found any either.

I have in this summary, endeavored not only to justify the action of the Highway Commission in including the Alpine Road in the State secondary system, but I have summarized some of the important reasons why we are backing this road.

(Signed)

PHILIP LAWLOR,
Secretary for the Petitioners.

PETITION.

January 14, 1931.

To the Honorable California State Highway Commission, Sacramento, California.

GENTLEMEN: Since the new Skyline Boulevard has opened, there has been need for a better connecting highway than now exists between the Peninsula Highway and the Skyline Boulevard, at a central point in the lower San Mateo County Peninsula area.

The increasing traffic due to the completion of the Skyline Boulevard has rendered present facilities inadequate to carry all traffic safely and quickly. As this lateral highway is necessary for travel not originating wholly within the Peninsula area, the undersigned are of the opinion that such a route should be made part of the State highway system.

It is our opinion that the most necessary route for this lateral highway is over the Menlo Park-Portola Road, in San Mateo County, and thence directly over the Alpine Creek and or Corte Madera Creek Road to the Skyline Boulevard.

THEREFORE, in the interests of utility, safety and development of a complete State highway system, we, the undersigned residents of California, petition your honorable board to consider the establishment of this lateral as an addition to the State highway system.

Respectfully submitted,

Senate Investigating Committee, State Capital Building, Sacramento

The undersigned on their own behalf and on behalf of all those who signed the petition dated December 14, 1931, for a better road, a secondary road of State highway system and whose names are as follows: Herbert L. Ford, Edw. Stanley W. Morsehead, Merrill Morsehead, Wm. H. Woodside, Jr., Marshall P. Madison, Frank B. King, Nat. T. Messer, Mark A. McGinn, Robert G. Henson, Geo. H. Tent, Rudolph Seidling, O. E. Perry, Wm. A. Lange, Timothy Hopkins, Frank T. Densy, John G. Sutton, J. O. Tobin, Louis O'Neal, W. D. Wasson, C. S. Cray, A. J. Welch, Dent MacDonough by Paschel, Philip P. Paschel, Ira S. Lillick, E. C. Pringle, Thos. E. Shumate, John Tonningsen, John W. Poole, W. R. Bartley, Norwood B. Smith by N. B. Smith, Jr., Paul B. Fay, Alfred B. Swinnerton, respectfully protest against any attempt or influence which may be used to cause your committee to effect that movement for this road was not instituted in good faith and for benefit of taxpayers or in any way originated from or was impelled by political motives. This proposed road will, if completed, provide a valuable link connecting Bayshore Highway and main highways from the valley via Dunbarton Bridge with Skyline Boulevard en route to ocean and to Santa Cruz, the Redwood Park, Shriners Grove, Pescadero and Half Moon Bay and the ocean, marine and fire houses to the skyline, a scenic boulevard, capable of providing pleasure to many and built at great expense to the State and its citizens. An improvement of existing roads and connecting links to this boulevard will establish inadequacy of same, and inaccessibility, particularly from East Bay and San Joaquin and Santa Clara Valleys, Menlo and Palo Alto, one of the most populous and largest taxpaying sections. None of the signers above-named, in the services they have rendered in pushing this project forward, have been actuated in any degree by political motives. This is one road which will perform a real service to countless citizens and render accessible to them the many beautiful picnic and pleasure opportunities afforded by the wide beaches and pleasant beautiful landscape of the Pacific Coast, along San Francisco Bay and making possible to citizens of San Francisco and other nearby communities the citizens of Menlo, Palo Alto and the valley towns, who, because of localities in which they live, have far greater need for these pleasures and opportunities. Traffic counts at present could not bear out importance of this road because people naturally avoid its use because of its present undeveloped and dangerous condition. This road is necessary and a connecting road and will relieve congestion on Bayshore Highway and El Camino Real. This road should be constructed. We respectfully petition, in investigating this matter, you give earnest consideration to existing facts and needs of citizens you represent and that no insinuations or statements of political or other ulterior motive lead you to any conclusion at variance with such facts.

MESSAGE FROM THE ASSEMBLY.

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, May 11, 1933

MR. PRESIDENT: I am directed to inform your honorable body that the Assembly amended, and on May 10, 1933, passed as amended, Senate Bill No. 400—An act to add a new section to the Political Code, to be numbered 3714b, relating to annual financial estimates from special tax and assessment districts—and respectfully requests your honorable body to concur in said amendments.

ARTHUR A. OHNIMUS, Chief Clerk.
By FRED J. DESCH, Assistant Clerk.

THIRD READING OF ASSEMBLY BILLS—(RESUMED).

Assembly Bill No. 517—An act to amend section 1985 of the Code of Civil Procedure, relating to subpoenas.

Bill read third time.

The question being on the passage of the bill.

The roll was called, and Assembly Bill No. 517 passed by the following vote:

AYES—Senators Breed, Bush, Crittenden, Deuel, Difani, Fellom, Harper, Hulse, Ingels, Inman, Jespersen, Jones, King, McColl, McKinley, Mixter, Powers, Reindollar, Schottky, Seawell, Sharkey, Slater, Snyder, Stow, Swing and Wagy—26.
NOES—Senators Perry and Rich—2.

Title read and approved.

Assembly Bill No. 517 ordered transmitted to the Assembly.

Assembly Bill No. 520—An act to amend sections 5 and 29 of an act entitled "An act authorizing the establishment of municipal courts, prescribing their constitution, regulation, government, procedure and jurisdiction, and providing for the election and appointment of the judges, clerks and other attaches of such courts, their terms of office, qualification and compensation and for the selection of jurors therein," approved May 23, 1925, and to repeal section 27a thereof, relating to municipal courts.

Bill read third time.

The question being on the passage of the bill.

The roll was called, and Assembly Bill No. 520 passed by the following vote:

AYES—Senators Breed, Bush, Crittenden, Deuel, Difani, Fellom, Gordon, Harper, Hays, Hulse, Ingels, Inman, Jones, King, McColl, McKinley, Mixter, Moran, Parkman, Pierovich, Powers, Reindollar, Schottky, Seawell, Sharkey, Slater, Snyder, Stow, Swing, Tickle, Wagy and Williams—32.
NOES—Senator Perry—1.

Title read and approved.

Assembly Bill No. 520 ordered transmitted to the Assembly.

Assembly Bill No. 1130—An act to amend section 4189 of the Political Code, relating to service of writs, notices and other process.

Bill read third time.

The question being on the passage of the bill.

The roll was called, and Assembly Bill No. 1130 passed by the following vote:

AYES—Senators Breed, Bush, Crittenden, Difani, Edwards, Fellom, Gordon, Harper, Hays, Ingels, Inman, Jespersen, Jones, King, McKinley, Mixter, Moran,

Parkman, Perry, Pierovich, Powers, Reindollar, Rich, Schottky, Seawell, Sharkey, Slater, Snyder, Stow, Swing, Tickle, Wagy and Williams—33
 Nays—None.

Title read and approved.

Assembly Bill No. 1130 ordered transmitted to the Assembly.

Assembly Bill No. 1357—An act to add a new section to the Probate Code, to be numbered section 1026, relating to distribution of an estate where no heirs appear in the course of administration and claim the estate or some part thereof.

Bill read third time.

The question being on the passage of the bill.

The roll was called, and Assembly Bill No. 1357 passed by the following vote:

AYES—Senators Bush, Crittenden, Dillon, Edwards, Fellom, Gordon, Harper, Hays, Ingels, Inman, Jaspersen, Jones, King, McKinley, Miller, Moran, Parkman, Perry, Pierovich, Powers, Reindollar, Rich, Seawell, Sharkey, Slater, Snyder, Stow, Swing, Tickle, Wagy and Williams—31.
 Nays—None.

Title read and approved.

Assembly Bill No. 1357 ordered transmitted to the Assembly.

Assembly Bill No. 977—An act adding a new section to the Civil Code to be numbered section 131a, relating to divorces.

Bill read third time.

The question being on the passage of the bill.

The roll was called, and Assembly Bill No. 977 refused passage by the following vote:

AYES—Senators Crittenden, Duval, Edwards, Harper, Perry, Pierovich, Powers, Reindollar, Schottky and Snyder—10.

NOES—Senators Bush, Deard, Fellom, Gordon, Hays, Ingels, Inman, Jaspersen, Jones, King, McCormack, McKinley, Moran, Rich, Riley, Seawell, Sharkey, Slater, Stow, Swing and Tickle—21.

Assembly Bill No. 716—An act requiring public awarding bodies or officers withholding penalties or forfeitures from contractors for violations by contractors or subcontractors of any public works labor acts carrying penalties or forfeitures from the contract payments to transfer such penalties or forfeitures to the State Treasurer to become a part of the general fund of the State ninety days after completion of the contract, unless suit is brought and formal notice of suit is given, requiring any court collecting criminal penalties or fines under such acts to likewise transmit same to the State Treasurer to become a part of the general fund of the State, providing for the temporary retention of such penalties or forfeitures by the public awarding body or officer pending litigation in cases where suit is brought and formal notice of such suit is given within ninety days after completion of the contract, limiting the time for action by the contractor or his assignee for the recovery of the said penalties or forfeitures to the said ninety-day period, making such suit the exclusive remedy of the contractor or his assignee with reference to such penalties or forfeitures and providing that suit shall be brought without permission from any State or other authority and be limited to the recovery of such penalties or forfeitures without prejudice to the contractor's or assignee's rights in regard to other matters affecting the contract but with the burden on the plaintiff to establish his right to the penalties or forfeitures withheld.

Bill read third time.

The question being on the passage of the bill.

The roll was called, and Assembly Bill No. 716 passed by the following vote:

AYES—Senators: Crittenden, Duval, Edwards, Fellom, Gordon, Harper, Hays, Ingels, Jespersen, Jones, McKinley, Parkman, Perry, Pierovich, Powers, Reindollar, Rich, Schottky, Seawell, Sharkey, Slater, Snyder, Stow, Swing, Tickle and Williams—26.

NOES—None.

Title read and approved.

Assembly Bill No. 716 ordered transmitted to the Assembly.

Assembly Bill No. 1228—An act to amend section 1461 of the Probate Code, relating to guardians of insane and other incompetent persons.

Bill read third time.

The question being on the passage of the bill.

The roll was called, and Assembly Bill No. 1228 passed by the following vote:

AYES—Senators: Breed, Crittenden, Duval, Edwards, Fellom, Gordon, Harper, Hays, Ingels, Inman, Jespersen, Jones, McCormack, McKinley, Moran, Parkman, Pierovich, Powers, Reindollar, Rich, Riley, Schottky, Seawell, Sharkey, Slater, Snyder, Stow, Swing, Tickle and Williams—30.

NOES—None.

Assembly Bill No. 1228 ordered transmitted to the Assembly.

Assembly Bill No. 953—An act to amend section 2,806 of the School Code, relating to duties of the district attorney.

Bill read third time.

The question being on the passage of the bill.

The roll was called, and Assembly Bill No. 953 passed by the following vote:

AYES—Senators: Breed, Crittenden, Duval, Edwards, Fellom, Harper, Hays, Ingels, Inman, Jespersen, Jones, King, McCormack, McKinley, Moran, Perry, Pierovich, Powers, Reindollar, Rich, Riley, Schottky, Seawell, Slater, Snyder, Stow, Swing, Tickle and Williams—29.

NOES—None.

Title read and approved.

Assembly Bill No. 953 ordered transmitted to the Assembly.

Assembly Bill No. 2078—An act defining the operation and effect of full pardons and restoring the rights, privileges and franchises of persons granted such full pardons.

AMENDMENT FROM THE FLOOR.

During third reading of Assembly Bill No. 2078, the following amendment, offered by Senator Schottky, was read:

AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE.

On page 1, line 14, of the printed bill, as amended, strike out the period after "therein", and insert a comma and the following: "or the power or authority conferred by law upon any board that issues a certificate which permits any person or persons to apply his or their art or profession on the person of another."

Amendment adopted.

CONSIDERATION OF ASSEMBLY BILL NUMBER TWO THOUSAND SEVENTY EIGHT

Senator Schottky asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent for the consideration of Assembly Bill No. 2078, without reference to printer.

Bill read third time.

"SEC. 28. All the provisions of that certain act of the Legislature approved June 10, 1929, and entitled "An act providing for the supervision of dams by the Department of Public Works through the State Engineer for the purpose of safeguarding life and property, defining powers and duties concerning the supervision of dams, providing for the enforcement of said supervision, and providing penalties for violations thereof and making an appropriation therefor," are hereby made applicable to dams and restraining works constructed under this act across natural streams and or rivers for purposes herein authorized and the Department of Public Works is hereby invested and required to administer and exercise through the State Engineer the duties, powers and jurisdiction conferred by said act of June 10, 1929, in regard to such dams and restraining works.

Before approving plans for any such dams and restraining works, the State Engineer must take into consideration the damage likely to be done to the streams and property situate below such dams and restraining works in case of their destruction or failure, and no plans for any dams and or restraining works shall be approved unless the State Engineer shall be satisfied that such dam and/or restraining works will be when constructed of a permanent nature.

SEC. 29. In case any dam has been constructed by a district across any natural stream or river, the lands thereof shall thereafter be liable for the perpetual maintenance of the same, and said district shall be continued in existence for said purpose. Said district may be dissolved for all other purposes as in this act provided, but the order dissolving said district shall contain an express provision that it is continued in force for the purposes in this section specified. From and after any such order of dissolution, the board of supervisors in which said district or the larger portion thereof is situate shall be and constitute the ex officio board of trustees charged with the duty of perpetually maintaining such dam.

In case any such dam is not maintained by such board of supervisors for said district, then the State Department of Public Works may require its maintenance and take such steps against said district, continued in existence for the purposes of maintenance, as aforesaid, and against the board of supervisors as the ex officio board of trustees thereof.

SEC. 30. The rights now existing of private persons, associations, companies and corporations and of public and quasi public corporations, including the State of California, counties, municipalities, irrigation, levee, reclamation and other districts to injunction, damages and other legal remedies for injuries done or threatened to be done to their property, or to property of any of them, are hereby preserved, and nothing in this act shall be construed as altering, infringing upon or in any way destroying such rights."

URGENCY CLAUSE.

SEC. 13. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution and shall, therefore, go into immediate effect. The facts constituting such necessity are as follows:

It is imperative at the earliest possible date to provide adequate funds for the administration and enforcement of the act hereby amended, the present funds therefor being insufficient and the existing rate of license being inadequate, and the rate in this act fixed will make possible the accomplishment of the intended object. The amendments to the act in other respects are equally imperative, as to raise the license fee without amending the act in the other particulars provided for herein would constitute such a burden upon those required to obtain licenses under this act as to seriously cripple the agricultural industry.

ASSEMBLY CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT No. 35

A resolution to propose to the people of the State of California, an amendment to section 11, of Article VI of the Constitution of the State of California, relating to courts.

Resolved by the Assembly, the Senate concurring: That the Legislature of the State of California at its fiftieth regular session, commencing on the second day of January, 1933, two-thirds of the members elected to each of the two houses voting in favor thereof, hereby proposed to the people of the State of California that section 11 of Article VI of the Constitution of the State of California be amended to read as follows:

Sec. 11. In any city or city and county which is governed under a charter framed and adopted under the authority of this Constitution containing a population of more than forty thousand inhabitants, as ascertained by the last preceding census taken under the authority of the Congress of the United States, a municipal court may be established as in this article provided, nothing in this Constitution to the contrary notwithstanding. For each such municipal court at least one judge with such additional judges as may be determined by the Legislature shall be elected by the qualified electors of the city or city and county at the general municipal election. In any city or city and county in which such municipal court shall be established for which there shall be more than one judge the judges of such court may hold as many sessions thereof at the same time as there are judges thereof, and the business thereof shall be apportioned among such judges in the manner prescribed by law.

The Legislature may provide by general law for the establishment of such municipal courts in cities or cities and counties in this section specified and for the constitution, regulation, government, procedure and jurisdiction thereof.

The manner in which the time at which the term for which the judges, clerks and other attaches of municipal courts shall be elected or appointed, the number and qualifications of said judges and of the clerks and other attaches, except as such matters are otherwise provided in this article, shall be prescribed by the Legislature.

In any city or city and county where such municipal court has been established, and in townships situated in whole or in part in such city or city and county, there shall be no other court superior to the superior court, except that the Legislature may provide for the establishment of such inferior courts.

Pending actions, trials and all pending business of inferior courts within a city or city and county or township upon the establishment of any such municipal court therein, shall, unless otherwise provided by law, be transferred to and become pending in such municipal court, and all records of such inferior courts shall be transferred to, and thereafter be and become records of, such municipal court.

Upon the establishment of any such municipal court, and until the first election and the qualification of the judge or judges thereof, and the first appointment and the qualification of the clerks and other attaches thereof, the judges or justices, and the clerks and other attaches, of any existing inferior courts in such city, city and county, or township shall become and act as the judges, clerks and attaches respectively of such municipal court. Whenever any city leaving a municipal court is formed into a consolidated city and county with the combined powers of a city and county, under proceedings therefor as elsewhere in this Constitution provided, such municipal court shall thereupon and thereby be and become the municipal court of such city and county.

The compensation of the justices or judges of all courts of record shall be fixed, and the payment thereof prescribed, by the Legislature.

ASSEMBLY CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT No. 79.

A resolution to propose to the people of the State of California, an amendment to the Constitution of said State by adding to Article XX thereof, a new section to be numbered 22, relating to legal rate of interest.

Resolved by the Assembly, the Senate concurring. That the Legislature of the State of California at its regular session commencing on the second day of January, 1933, two-thirds of the members elected to each of the two houses of the said Legislature voting therefor, hereby proposes to the people of the State of California, that the Constitution of said State be amended by adding to Article XX thereof a new section to be numbered 22, and to read as follows:

Sec. 22. The rate of interest upon the loan or forbearance of any money, goods or things in action, or on accounts after demand or judgment rendered in any court of the State, shall be seven per cent per annum but it shall be competent for the parties to any loan or forbearance of any money, goods or things in action to contract in writing for a rate of interest not exceeding ten per cent per annum.

No person, association, copartnership or corporation shall by charging any fee, bonus, commission, discount or other compensation receive from a borrower more than ten per cent per annum upon any loan or forbearance of any money, goods or things in action.

However, none of the above restrictions shall apply to any building and loan association as defined in and which is operated under that certain act known as the "Building and Loan Association Act," approved May 5, 1931, as amended, or to any corporation incorporated in the manner prescribed in and operating under that certain act entitled "An act defining industrial loan companies, providing for their incorporation, powers and supervision," approved May 18, 1917, as amended, or any corporation incorporated in the manner prescribed in and operating under that certain act entitled "An act defining credit unions, providing for their incorporation, powers, management and supervision," approved March 31, 1927, as amended, or any duly licensed pawnbroker or personal property broker, or any bank as defined in and operating under that certain act known as the "Bank Act," approved March 1, 1909, as amended, or any bank created and operating under and pursuant to any laws of this State or of the United States of America or any nonprofit cooperative association organized under Chapter 4 of Division VI of the Agricultural Code, in loaning or advancing money in connection with any activity mentioned in said title or any corporation, association, syndicate, partnership, company, or partnership engaged exclusively in the business of collecting agricultural, horticultural, viticultural, dairy, and stock products and by products on a cooperative basis, in loaning or advancing money in the business of collecting or in connection with any such business of any corporation, association, syndicate, partnership, company or partnership credit bank, organized and existing pursuant to the provisions of an act of Congress entitled "Agricultural Credits Act of 1916," as amended, in loaning or advancing credit so secured, nor shall any such charge of any such exempted classes of persons be considered in any action at law or in equity, or in remission of or in setting of or as connected with the rate of interest herebefore fixed. The Legislature took from time to time pursuant to the maximum rate per annum of, or provided for the supervision, or the filing of a schedule of, or in any manner by, statute or law, the fees, bonus, commissions, discounts or other compensation which all or any of the said exempted classes of persons may charge or receive from a borrower in connection with any loan or furnishing of any money, goods or things in money.

The provisions of this section shall supersede all provisions of this Constitution and laws enacted thereunder in conflict therewith.

URGENCY CLAUSE.

SEC. 2. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, and shall therefore take effect immediately. The following is a statement of the facts constituting such necessity: The State has at the Chicago World's Fair Centennial celebration a considerable amount of property and several employees. At the present time there is no means of protecting the State against liability to considerable loss which may arise out of damage to the said property or injury to the persons. This act will make it possible to secure such insurance, thereby avoiding the danger of that loss and should therefore take effect immediately.

ASSEMBLY CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT No. 73

A resolution to propose to the people of the State of California an amendment to the Constitution of said State by amending section 6 of Article VI thereof, relating to superior courts.

Resolved by the Assembly, the Senate concurring. That the Legislature of the State of California at its regular session commencing on the second day of January, 1933, two-thirds of the members elected to each of the two houses of the said Legislature voting therefor, hereby proposes to the people of the State of California, that the Constitution of said State be amended by amending section 6 of Article VI thereof, to read as follows:

Sec. 6. There shall be in each of the organized counties, or cities and counties, of the State, a superior court, for each of which at least one judge shall be elected by the qualified electors of the county, or city and county, at the general State election or selected in the manner then provided elsewhere in this Constitution. There may be as many sessions of a superior court, at the same time, as there are judges elected, appointed or assigned thereto. The judgments, orders, and proceedings of any session of a superior court, held by any one or more of the judges sitting therein, shall be equally effectual as though all the judges of said court presided at such session.

For the purpose of selecting judges of a superior court within any county having a population of more than one million inhabitants as determined by the last preceding census taken under the authority of the Congress of the United States, the Legislature may divide such county into judicial election districts, and may provide from time to time for the apportionment of the number of judges of the superior court of said county among said districts, in which event the number of judges apportioned to each district shall be selected from among the residents of such district in the manner then provided for the selection of judges of the superior court in such county.

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Senator Inman arose to a point of personal privilege in answer to the charges appearing in a message submitted by Governor James Rolph, Jr., and printed in the Senate Journal of May 11, 1933.

The following statement with attached letter and affidavit was ordered printed in the Journal:

On May 11, 1933, Governor James Rolph, Jr., caused to be filed with the Senate a message referring to the report of the Senate Investigating Committee wherein reference was made to certain alleged transactions wherein Senator Inman was a party. These included the State Annex Building, known as the "Burke" Building, a transaction with the Henderson motorcycle sales agency and a transaction with one Grettenberg.

Senator Inman asked for, and was granted, leave to print in the Senate Journal certain checks, letters and documents in connection with those matters. They are as follows:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF THE CONTROLLER.

SACRAMENTO, May 12, 1933.

Hon. J. M. Inman, State Senator,
State Capitol, Sacramento, California.

In re—H. S. Burke Building.

MY DEAR SENATOR INMAN: You have requested the Controller to advise you concerning the saving that will result from the purchase of the Burke Building at a price of $318,000, as compared with the lease and option to purchase previously entered into on the part of the State with respect to this property. The original lease was for a period of 25 years with a total payment of $1,520,406. Amortizing the building upon a basis of 40 years and with interest at 5 per centum, the cost to the State for the same period of years will be $417,000, or a net saving to the State of $1,103,406. The original option purchase price was $550,000. The State now takes the property for $318,000, a direct saving of $232,000, as compared with the prior option.

Trusting this information will be sufficient for your purposes, I am,

Very truly yours,

Mrs. Ada Grettenberg, 1256 W. 29th Street, Los Angeles, California.

MY DEAR MRS. GRETTENBERG: I have investigated somewhat hastily the case of your son, and I have come to the conclusion that I can be of no service to you in the premises. Without making it as a definite assertion without further investigation, I am convinced that your son must serve seven years before he is eligible for a parole, if I understand the matter correctly, and if that is so I can be of no assistance to you in the premises.

I would like very much to aid you, but I can not accept your money under the circumstances.

I am sending, under separate cover, your transcript.

Yours very truly,

JMI-K

Charles M. Street, Esq., 808 Law Building, Los Angeles, California.

DEAR SIR: After a cursory investigation of the matter of the son of Mrs. Grettenberg, I am convinced that I can not render her any service in the premises. I find that the minimum sentence under which this young man is confined is seven years, and I am of the opinion that taking money from this woman would be an inexcusable thing for me to do, and I must very respectfully decline to proceed further in the matter.

I thank you very much indeed for the confidence which you have shown in me, and for sending the business to me, and I shall be glad to cooperate with you in any matters wherein I feel I can earn a fee legitimately.

Yours very truly,

AFFIDAVIT OF PAUL R. KEMP

 County of Los Angeles ) ss.

Paul R. Kemp, being duly sworn, states that he is and at all times herein mentioned was the president of Henderson Motorcycle Sales Company, a corporation, that the office of said corporation is at 1116 South Main Street, Los Angeles, California, that his brother, Jack Kemp is and at all times herein mentioned was the secretary and treasurer of said corporation, and that both have been and are actively engaged in the business of buying, selling and repairing motorcycles and automotive equipment. That W. W. Kemp is a brother of affiant, but that he has not been in the employ of, or an officer or director of Henderson Motorcycle Sales Company for more than six years last past. That the said W. W. Kemp was the factory representative of the Excelsior Motor Manufacturing and Supply Company of Chicago, Illinois, for several years past preceding the time that the factory ceased to manufacture new motorcycles about the year 1931.

That in the year 1929 the Henderson Motorcycle Sales Company was advised that the State of California desired bids on motorcycles in that it intended to purchase machines for the Highway Patrol. That Henderson Motorcycle Sales Company had no office or representative in the northern part of California, and thereupon communicated with W. W. Kemp who placed a bid on behalf of the Henderson Motorcycle Sales Company. That Henderson Motorcycle Sales Company had not previously bid on any State purchases. Affiant is informed and believes and on this ground alleges that the Excelsior Motor Manufacturing and Supply Company of Chicago, Illinois, also was unfamiliar with the procedure to be followed in bidding on State contracts, and that for this reason the said W. W. Kemp did decide to consult an attorney, and that he was referred to J. N. Inman as an attorney qualified to advise him with reference to the State law and the procedure with respect to such matters.

That neither affiant nor Jack Kemp talked to or were in correspondence with the said J. N. Inman. That Henderson Motorcycle Sales Company was awarded the contract for eighty machines and shortly thereafter received an additional order for seventy machines, all being at the price bid. That the orders were filled by the factory, the machines being sent to the Henderson Motorcycle Sales Company at Los Angeles and deliveries made at Los Angeles, Fresno and San Jose in accord with instructions from the Division of Motor Vehicles. That said bid provided for the sale of motorcycles at about $140 less than list price on each machine and that the price thenon was low with less than the usual profit for governmental organizations. That affiant did not intend to use any political pressure or influence and knows of no attempt to use any political pressure or influence to obtain the bid. That affiant can demonstrate and easily show that the motorcycles delivered were superior in many ways to those offered by other bidders, the same being special police machines constructed in accord with the wishes of law enforcement departments of various governmental bodies throughout the United States.

That neither affiant nor the said corporation heard anything from the State of California or anyone with respect to said transaction until after the Legislature of the State of California started an investigation of the acts of State officials and appointed Senator Inman as chairman of the Senate Committee. That shortly thereafter affiant was called upon by Otis R. Bohn who delivered to him a printed card to the effect that he was assistant coordinator, Department of Finance, and that Bohn stated to him that he was also the chief investigator for said department. That this was about the latter part of January, 1933. That said Bohn stated that he wanted the details of the transaction with respect to the purchase of the State motorcycles, inasmuch as an investigation was being made of activities of State Senator J. N. Inman. That at various times totaling not less than 15 times the said Bohn has called at the office of Henderson Motorcycle Sales Company and remained as long as one-half hour, coming at various times of the day and evening. That affiant has told him all that he knows with respect to the transaction in question and advised him to get in touch with W. W. Kemp for all details of the transaction with J. N. Inman. That the said Bohn has attempted to have affiant and Jack Kemp agree to testify and to make an affidavit that J. N. Inman was hired by the Henderson Motorcycle Sales Company for his political influence and his ability to obtain State contracts, and also to intimate that the transaction in question was not entirely honorable. That the same is incorrect, and affiant refused to sign an affidavit to such an effect, but agreed to give an affidavit setting forth the true facts as known to him.

That affiant is informed and believes and therefore alleges that a similar attempt was made with respect to his brother, Jack Kemp. That the said Bohn in an effort to induce affiant and his brother to execute such an affidavit and to assist him or the administration to attack State Senator Inman, did further offer, promise or state as follows:

That he, the said Bohn, was in a position to deliver anything that he wanted, that he thought should be delivered, and that he could deliver to Henderson Motorcycle Sales Company a frame straightening table purchased by the State about a year ago for five hundred dollars ($500), for the sum of seventy-five dollars ($75) (affiant is informed and believes, and therefore alleges that shortly after the Rolph administration started the State ceased to do its own repair work, but that he does not know whether this has resulted in a saving or a loss to the State): that he would make arrangements so that the Henderson Motorcycle Sales Company would have a valuable contract for the furnishing of gas and oil to highway patrol motorcycles in the southern portion of the State of California; that he believed that he could sell to the State of California on behalf of Henderson Motorcycle Sales Company two motorcycles equipped with line painting machines for painting of lines on public highways. That he also made other statements of benefit that he could be, the exact nature of which affiant does not now recall.

PAUL R. KEMP.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this twenty-first day of February, 1933.

Jack Kemp, being duly sworn, states: That he is the party mentioned in the foregoing affidavit of Paul R. Kemp as the secretary and treasurer of Henderson Motorcycle Sales Company, said affidavit consisting of four and one-half pages; that he has read the foregoing affidavit and that the statements affirmatively made therein are true, and as to the matters therein stated on information and belief, he believes it to be true; that the said Bohn has talked to affiant individually and that he has seen him talking to his brother, Paul R. Kemp individually, and that both of them together have talked to Bohn and heard him make the offers mentioned in the affidavit of Paul R. Kemp.

AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO.

On page 6 of the printed bill, as amended, between lines 23 and 24, insert the following new paragraphs:

"The Department of Public Works shall annually expend from the State highway fund an amount equal to one-quarter of one cent per gallon tax on motor vehicle fuel, after the proportionate payments therefrom into the "Fuel tax enforcement fund" and after the proportionate refunds shall have been made, within the incorporated cities and cities organized under freeholder charters, in this State, for the purposes specified in this section, and such expenditures shall be made within each such city within the State in the proportion that the total population in each city bears to the total population in all such cities in this State. For the purpose of this section the population in each city is declared to be that determined by the last preceding Federal census.

The expenditure of the money hereby allocated to each incorporated and charter city shall, in the discretion of the Department of Public Works, be made first for the acquisition of rights of way for, or the construction or maintenance or improvement of State highways or portions thereof within such city.

In the event that the amount of money allocated to any one incorporated or charter city is greater than is necessary to adequately maintain and improve to adequate standard all State highways within such city, then any surplus amount accruing to such city shall be expended for the acquisition of rights of way, or the construction, or maintenance or improvement of other streets of major importance within such city as may be agreed upon by the Department of Public Works and the legislative body of such city.

With respect to any expenditure within an incorporated or charter city herein authorized, the Department of Public Works may delegate any such expenditure to the legislative body of such city when and if said department is satisfied that such city is equipped to conduct such acquisition, or construction, or improvement work in an efficient and economic manner.

The legislative body of any incorporated or charter city may authorize the accumulation of funds accruing to it over a period of years, or authorize the advancement of moneys to accrue to such city over a period of years to permit the accomplishment of a major project in its entirety. No such accumulation or advancement of funds shall be made without the approval of the Department of Public Works.

The legislative body of any incorporated or charter city may authorize the allocation and expenditure by the Department of Public Works of any money accruing to such city hereunder upon any State or other major street or highway outside the limits of such city. The provisions of this section shall be construed as a guaranty for the expenditure of not less than the amounts herein provided within each city, but shall not be deemed to prevent the expenditure of any larger amount by the Department of Public Works upon any State highways or portions thereof lying within an incorporated city or city organized under freeholder charters in this State."

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION No. 34.

Relative to memorializing the President of the United States to increase the customs duties on certain fish products and to negotiate treaties concerning the conservation of fish.

WHEREAS, The customs duties fixed by the laws of the United States on the importation of fresh, frozen and canned fish, fish meal and fish oil do not equalize the differences existing in the costs of producing such articles in this country and the costs of producing such articles in foreign countries; and

WHEREAS, Unless such differences in the costs of production are immediately equalized the acute unemployment problem existing in the industries marketing fish and fish products can not be solved; and

WHEREAS, Persons engaged in the fishing industry of this State are subject to strict regulations enacted in the interest of the conservation of such natural resources; and

WHEREAS, It is necessary that the United States enter into treaties with adjoining nations in order that the supply of fresh fish in Pacific waters be conserved for future generations, and in order that the fish industries of this State from which many thousands of the citizens of this State gain livelihood be not placed in a disadvantageous position with similar industries existing in foreign nations; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly and Senate of the State of California, jointly, That the Legislature of the State of California respectfully urges the President of the United States to request an investigation by the United States Tariff Commission for the purpose of raising the customs duties on fresh, frozen and canned fish, fish meal and fish oil, in order that the differences existing between foreign and domestic production costs be equalized; and be it further

Resolved, That the Legislature of this State respectfully urges the President of the United States to approve and proclaim an increase in the customs duties on these articles; and be it further

Resolved, That the Legislature of this State respectfully urges the President of the United States to negotiate with the nations adjoining the United States treaties leading to the conservation and protection of fish and other animal life existing in the waters of the Pacific Ocean; and be it further

Resolved, That duly authenticated copies of this resolution be forwarded to the President of the United States, the Chairman of the United States Tariff Commission and the Senators and Representatives of this State in Congress.

THIRD READING OF ASSEMBLY BILLS—(RESUMED).

AMENDMENTS FROM THE FLOOR.

During third reading of Assembly Bill No. 2145, the following amendments, offered by Senator Harper, were read:

AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE.

On page 1 of the printed bill, as amended, strike out lines 1 and 2, of the title, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"An act to amend section 360c of the Political Code, relating to the California Highway Patrol."

Amendment adopted.

AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO.

On page 1 of the printed bill, as amended, strike out lines 1 to 23, inclusive, and strike out all of page 2 thereof and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"SECTION 1. Section 360c of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

360c. (a) The Division of Enforcement, to be known as the California Highway Patrol, shall be conducted under the control of a chief of said division to be known as the Chief of the California Highway Patrol. The Chief of the California Highway Patrol shall be appointed by and hold office at the pleasure of the director, subject to the approval of the Governor, and shall receive an annual salary of seven thousand two hundred dollars. Before entering upon the duties of his office, the Chief of the California Highway Patrol shall execute an official bond to the State of California in the penal sum of twenty-five thousand dollars.

(b) The Chief of the California Highway Patrol with the approval of the director may appoint one assistant chief and such deputy chiefs of the California Highway Patrol as may be necessary. The assistant chief shall serve at the pleasure of the Chief of the California Highway Patrol and his salary and the salaries of the deputy chiefs shall be fixed by the director, with the approval of the Department of Finance. The Chief of the California Highway Patrol may appoint a secretary and a stenographer whose salaries shall be fixed by the director, with the approval of the Department of Finance. The positions of assistant chief and secretary as may be necessary are hereby declared to be exempt from the provisions of the Civil Service Law. The chief and assistant chief of the California Highway Patrol shall succeed to and be vested with all the duties, responsibilities, powers and jurisdiction and shall exercise all powers and jurisdiction of the superintendent and assistant superintendent of the California Highway Patrol.

(c) The Chief of the California Highway Patrol, with the approval of the director, shall appoint, in accordance with the provisions of the Civil Service Act, all necessary inspectors, deputy chiefs, captains, traffic officers, traffic clerks, and other employees, for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of the California Vehicle Act, with such salaries as may be fixed by the director, with the approval of the Department of Finance.

All members and employees of the patrol holding their positions under civil service rating on the day this act takes effect shall retain their civil service status. Such specialized positions as shall be designated by the Chief of the California Highway Patrol with the approval of the director and the Civil Service Commission, shall be filled from open competitive examinations held pursuant to the Civil Service Laws.

(d) The Director of the Department of Motor Vehicles, the chief, assistant chief and deputy chiefs of the California Highway Patrol, and the inspectors, captains and traffic officers as provided herein shall constitute the California Highway Patrol and are hereby vested with the authority of peace officers for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of the California Vehicle Act in any part of the State, and shall also have the power of serving warrants relating to the enforcement of the provisions of the California Vehicle Act, issued by any court of this State in any portion thereof.

(e) The division shall in counties having charters, other than counties of the first and second class, and may from time to time, in such localities of the State, as it shall deem most suitable, establish headquarters or substations for the efficient performance of the duties of the California Highway Patrol and for that purpose may lease or purchase lands and buildings.

(f) The division is hereby authorized to:

(1) Establish a school for the training and education of the members of the California Highway Patrol in traffic regulation, their duties and the proper enforcement of the California Vehicle Act.

(2) Create districts within the State in the organization of the California Highway Patrol.

(3) Adopt rules covering the policy, procedure, regulation and administration of all activities of the California Highway Patrol.

(g) The division shall issue to each member of the California Highway Patrol a badge of authority with the words "California Highway Patrol" encircling the same the seal of the State of California in the center thereof, and below the designation of the office held by each member thereof.

No badge shall be issued by the Director of the Department of Motor Vehicles, chief of the patrol or any other person to any person who is not a duly authorized employee and acting member of the California Highway Patrol.

(h) Any person who without authority wears the badge of a member of the California Highway Patrol or a badge of similar design which would tend to deceive anyone shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

(i) Any person who impersonates a member of the California Highway Patrol with the intention to deceive anyone shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

(j) Applicants for examination for captains, traffic officers, and traffic clerks, shall be limited to citizens of the United States who shall have for at least one year immediately preceding the date of any such examination maintained a bona fide residence within one of the counties in which the highway patrol is established.

When appointments are to be made of inspectors, captains, traffic officers and clerks to serve in any county of the State, the board of supervisors of such county shall be notified by the division of such contemplated appointments and thereupon the said board of supervisors shall submit to the division a list of names of proposed captains, traffic officers, and clerks. No person shall be eligible for any such appointment unless he shall have been a resident of the county in which he is to serve at least six months prior to the date of his appointment. Such persons shall be required to take an examination in accordance with the Civil Service Act and appointments shall be made from the eligible list resulting from said examination. If any board of supervisors should fail or refuse to submit a list of names for such appointments and examination, the division shall submit a list of names to the Civil Service Commission for examination, and appointments by the Chief of the California Highway Patrol, subject to the approval of the Director of Motor Vehicles, shall be made from the eligible lists, resulting from said examination. Every supervising inspector, assistant supervising inspector, district inspector, inspector, captain, sergeant, traffic officer and traffic clerk duly appointed hereunder, must serve a probationary period of one year and if, upon the expiration thereof, he retains his position, he shall acquire permanent civil service status. All such officers shall be rated as to efficiency by the Chief of the California Highway Patrol in accordance with the Civil Service Laws. All appointments to the grades of supervising inspector, assistant supervising inspector, district inspector, inspector, captain and sergeant shall be made from eligible lists resulting from promotional examinations; provided, however, that promotions shall be made from the next lower grade. No officer shall be a candidate for promotional examination until he has served the probationary period of one year in the next lower grade; provided, that any officer holding a position under temporary authorization on January 1, 1933, who has had permanent civil service status in any lower grade or any officer who now holds and for more than one year prior to the effective date of this enactment has continuously held a position under temporary authorization, although having no civil service status, may be a candidate for promotional examination for his present position. For the purpose of recruiting, the grade of assistant supervising inspector shall be considered on a par with that of district inspector, the grade of inspector shall be considered on a par with that of captain, and the grade of sergeant shall be considered on a par with that of traffic officer. Whenever any civil service position of promotional grade is abolished, eliminated, or made unnecessary, the member of the California Highway Patrol holding such position shall, upon the termination of such position, be assigned to a position in the next lower grade with the civil service standing, rank and salary of such lower grade. The specific position to which such officer shall be assigned in the next lower grade shall be that occupied by the officer in said lower grade having the lowest efficiency rating. Any officer so assigned to a position in a lower grade shall, without further examination, be given preference for a position of the same or equal grade to the one he formerly held, should the abolished position or position of equal grade be reestablished or established.

The chief of the division whenever in his opinion an emergency in the enforcement of this act exists, is hereby authorized to assign the members of the "California Highway Patrol" for service in any portion of the State; provided, however, that no member of the "California Highway Patrol" appointed to serve in any county shall be assigned for service outside said county for a longer period than one week, without the consent of the board of supervisors of that county.

(k) In appointing prior to December 31, 1933, members of the California Highway Patrol to serve in any county in which is maintained a traffic patrol at the time this amendment takes effect, the Chief of the California Highway Patrol, subject to the approval of the Director of Motor Vehicles, upon requisition of the board of supervisors of that county may appoint the traffic officers of such county who have held their positions as such, for one year previous to the date of such appointment. Members so appointed under this subdivision holding their positions after the expiration of a probationary period of one year shall automatically acquire permanent civil service status without examination and shall be rated as to efficiency by the Chief of the California Highway Patrol in accordance with the terms of this act.

(l) The chief of the division shall make adequate provision for the patrol of the highways both day and night.

(m) Members of the California Highway Patrol guilty of any of the offenses or violations set forth in section 14 of the Civil Service Act, or the rules and regulations of the Division of Enforcement, shall be subject to the penalties set forth in said section 14 of the Civil Service Act, after trial and hearing by a trial board of three officers of equal or superior rank, who shall be designated as such by the Chief of the Division of Enforcement.

(n) Members of the California Highway Patrol shall not be subject to the penalties set forth in section 14 of the Civil Service Act until after a fair and impartial trial before the trial board upon a verified complaint filed with such board setting forth specifically the acts complained of, and after such reasonable notice to them as to the time and place of hearing as such board may, by rule, prescribe. The hearing shall be held at a place to be designated by the chief of the division within the county in which the offense charged is alleged to have been committed. The accused shall be entitled, upon hearing, to appear personally or with counsel and to have a public trial.

(o) The findings of the trial board shall be submitted to the Chief of the Division of Enforcement for his decision, and such decision, when approved by the Civil Service Commission, shall be final."

AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE.

On page 1 of the printed bill, strike out all of the title, lines 1 to 5, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"An act to amend section 159 of the California Vehicle Act, relating to the motor vehicle fund and the disposition of moneys placed therein."

Amendment adopted.

AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO.

On page 1 of the printed bill, strike out all of lines 1 to 24, both inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"SECTION 1. Section 159 of the California Vehicle Act, as amended, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 159. (a) There is hereby created in the State treasury a fund which shall be known as the "motor vehicle fund." The State Treasurer shall deposit all money received by him from the division or otherwise under the provisions of this act into the motor vehicle fund.

(b) There is hereby appropriated out of such fund all moneys received as transfer fees, operators' and chauffeurs' license fees, and duplicate operators' and chauffeurs' license fees and in addition thereto such portion of the remainder of such motor vehicle and not exceeding in any registration year thirty five per cent thereof as may be necessary for the maintenance of the division of motor vehicles to be expended by the division in carrying out the provisions of this act; and the Division of Motor Vehicles is hereby authorized out of said funds to purchase real estate and erect such buildings as it may require, subject to the approval of the Department of Finance. There shall be deducted from the sums which the division is allowed to expend hereunder such amount as may be allowed to said division in each calendar year under budget appropriation by the State Legislature. The division may draw, without at the time furnishing vouchers and itemized statements, sums not to exceed in the aggregate one hundred thousand dollars, said sums so drawn to be used as a revolving fund where cash advances are necessary. At the close of each fiscal year the moneys so drawn must be accounted for and substantiated by vouchers and itemized statements submitted to and audited by the Department of Finance and by the Controller. The balance of said fund, after the expenditure of so much as may be permitted by this act for the support of the Division of Motor Vehicles, shall be known as the "net receipts" and shall be devoted to the purposes and in the manner herein specified.

(c) One-half of such "net receipts" is hereby appropriated and shall be paid from the motor vehicle fund to the counties of this State in proportion to the number of vehicles registered in such counties as determined by the places of residence of the owners to whom the registration certificates are issued. All amounts paid under this section to the counties shall be deposited in the road funds of the several counties receiving the same and shall be expended by such counties exclusively in the construction and maintenance of public roads, bridges and culverts; provided, that the board of supervisors of any county may in its discretion expend any portion of such sums so received by such county in the construction, maintenance and repair of streets, bridges and culverts within those incorporated cities therein the legislative bodies of which by ordinance or resolution authorize such work of construction, maintenance and repair. The board of supervisors of any county, or city and county, may also in its discretion expend any portion of such sums so received by such county, or city and county, for payment of interest upon, or redemption of bonds, the proceeds of which have been used for the construction, maintenance and repair of streets, bridges and culverts within such county, or city and county. The board of supervisors of any county, or city and county, is hereby empowered to expend any portion of the amounts paid to the said county, or city and county and deposited in the special road improvement fund or other road fund thereof, as herein in this section directed, and for the construction of public highways outside of its corporate limits; provided, however, that the construction thereof is authorized by ordinance or resolution if the board of supervisors of the county or city and county, in which said highway is to be constructed. Where such authorization is given by ordinance or resolution as herein provided, the board of supervisors of the county, or city and county desiring the said construction, may, through its own boards, officers or commissions expend the amounts herein authorized to be expended, or may, by resolution of its board of supervisors, transfer said amounts to the account of the highway commission of the State of California or to the account of the Secretary of Agriculture of the United States and may by said resolution specify and determine the route and type of construction of said highway, and the said amount thus transferred shall, if accepted by the said highway commission or said Secretary of Agriculture be expended for the purpose specified and determined in said resolution and not otherwise.

(d) The board of supervisors of each county in the State shall establish a road fund in the county treasury for the receipt of such funds received, as hereinbefore provided, and shall also make an annual report to the State Department of Public Works not later than three months after the close of the counties' fiscal year, upon forms to be provided by the State Department of Public Works, showing the amount of moneys received from the motor vehicle fund during the preceding fiscal year and the disposition of said moneys, specifying in such detail as may be required by said department the roads, bridges and culverts constructed or maintained out of said moneys and the sums applied to the several items of such construction or maintenance.

(c) The State Controller shall in the months of February and August of each year draw his warrants upon the motor vehicle fund in favor of the county treasurer of each county for the amount to which said county is entitled hereunder, except that the State Controller shall not draw his warrant upon the motor vehicle fund in favor of the county treasurer of any county which has not established a road fund, as required hereunder, or which has failed, neglected or refused to file the report showing the amount of money heretofore received by such county from the motor vehicle fund and the disposition thereof, as hereinbefore required, until such county has established a road fund and shall make the reports herein required; provided, however, that in cases where the actual domicile, residence or place of abode of an owner, or part owner, of any motor vehicle, trailer or semitrailer is in a different county than the place which such owner has designated as his place of residence in his registration certificate, the county auditor of the county receiving such funds from the State as hereinabove provided may draw his warrant in favor of the county containing the actual domicile, residence, or place of abode of such owner, or part owner, in such sums as may properly be attributed to the latter county.

(f) All moneys remaining in the motor vehicle fund after the expenditures herein before in this section authorized, together with all sums that have been heretofore or that may be hereafter appropriated by the Legislature for the same purpose, shall be paid into the State highway maintenance fund and shall be expended under the direction of the State Department of Public Works for the maintenance, repair, widening, resurfacing and reconstruction of State roads and highways under the jurisdiction of said department and for the maintenance, repair, widening, resurfacing and reconstruction of roads and highways in State parks, subject to the approval of the official or officials charged by law with the management and control of such parks, such money to be so drawn from the motor vehicle fund for the purpose of such maintenance, repair, widening, resurfacing and reconstruction upon warrants executed by the State Controller upon demands made by the State Department of Public Works and allowed and audited by the Department of Finance."

MESSAGE FROM THE ASSEMBLY.

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, May 12, 1933.

MR. PRESIDENT: I am directed to inform your honorable body that the Assembly on this day passed passage to Senate Bill No. 1035—An act to transfer the lands, powers, purposes, responsibilities and jurisdiction of the Department of Public Lands and appurtenant to Sutter's Fort to the Division of Parks of the Department of Natural Resources of the State of California, changing the said Division of Parks with the administration thereof and the execution of the laws concerning the same authorizing the employment of employees, abolishing certain offices and positions authorizing the expenditure of certain funds, and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith and making an appropriation.

ARTHUR A. OHNIMUS, Chief Clerk.
 By FRED J. DUNN, Assistant Clerk.

Senate Bill No. 1035 ordered to Committee on Engrossment, Enrollment and Printing.

THIRD READING OF ASSEMBLY BILLS.

Assembly Bill No. 2362—An act to authorize the incorporation and to provide for the organization, powers, duties, regulation, and liquidation of nonprofit corporations organized for the purpose of administering community land chests, to limit the use of the terms "land chest" and "community land chest" in corporate names, to prescribe penalties for the violation of the provisions of this act, and to declare the urgency of this act and to provide that it shall take effect immediately.

URGENCY CLAUSE.

SEC. 21. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure, necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, and shall go into immediate effect. The following is a statement of the facts constituting such necessity:

It is necessary in the public interest to make provision for housing families of low income outside of the city populated areas and to provide for the elimination of congested housing conditions which exist in certain areas of the State and which are a menace to the health, safety, morals, welfare and reasonable comfort to the citizens of the State. It is now impossible to provide such housing for families of low income, and to correct these unsanitary and congested conditions, it is essential that provision be made for the construction of new housing facilities in rural and suburban localities under proper supervision and in accord with proper standards of sanitation and safety and at a cost which will permit monthly rentals or sales prices which persons and families of low income can afford to pay.

The United States of America, through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, has made funds available to corporations of the type to be formed under the provisions herein specified and provided. Since the building trades in the State of California are now dormant, it is of vital interest to the people of this State that corporations may be formed as provided in this act to take advantage of such proffered assistance to the end that such building trades be again revived and many thousands of people now unemployed be put to work. The funds now held by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation will be available, for a limited time only, to assist such corporations in the construction of their projects, and it is therefore necessary that this act take effect immediately.

Urgency clause read.

The question being on the adoption of the urgency clause.

The roll was called.

CALL OF THE SENATE.

Pending the announcement of the vote, Senator McKinley moved a call of the Senate.

Motion carried.

The Secretary was directed to call the roll.

STATEMENT CONCERNING ASSEMBLY BILL NUMBER TEN.

The following statement by Senator McKinley, concerning Assembly Bill No. 10, was ordered printed in the Journal:

Assembly Bill No. 10 reduces the salaries of the judges of the superior court of Los Angeles County from $10,000 to $8,000 per annum. It is with some reluctance that I present a measure which reduces the salaries of the Los Angeles judges below that provided for in the bill fixing the salaries of the San Francisco judges, since in the past the same salary has been paid in both counties.

However, the Los Angeles bill was amended from $9,000 to $8,000 in the Assembly with almost all of the Los Angeles County Assemblymen supporting the amendment. Subsequently, the San Francisco bill was amended up to $9,000 with no opposition on the part of the Assemblymen from Los Angeles County. Both the bill fixing the Los Angeles judges' salaries at $8,000 and the one fixing the San Francisco judges' salaries at $9,000 passed the Assembly with only scattering votes against them from the Los Angeles delegation.

The Assembly having thus not only by an overwhelming majority fixed the salaries of the Los Angeles judges at $8,000, but also having established a differential by supporting the San Francisco bill at $9,000, I can not help but feel that I would be taking upon myself, as the sole representative of the county in the Senate, a dictatorial power that might well be resented by the people of Los Angeles County if I attempted to change the amount provided for the judges' salaries in Assembly Bill No. 10.

J. W. McKINLEY.

URGENCY CLAUSE.

SEC. 2. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, and shall go into effect immediately.

The following is a statement of the facts constituting such necessity: In certain irrigation districts at the present time large quantities of water are being held on land for a long period of time for the purpose of raising and maturing crops. Such water seeps and percolates to the adjacent land, forming stagnant pools thereon, which are a menace to health, injuring growing crops and causing the lands to become unfit for cultivation and habitation. This act enables the board of directors of an irrigation district to remedy such conditions and should go into effect immediately.

Urgency clause read.

THIRD READING OF ASSEMBLY BILLS—(RESUMED).

Assembly Bill No. 715—An act to abolish the death penalty as a punishment for crime, except in certain cases, and to provide for the punishment for crimes in cases where the death penalty is abolished.

AMENDMENTS FROM THE FLOOR.

During third reading of Assembly Bill No. 715, the following amendments, offered by Senator Deuel, were read:

AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE.

Strike out the title of the printed bill, as amended, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"An act to submit to the electors of the State of California the question as to whether or not the Legislature of the State of California should enact legislation abolishing the death penalty as a punishment for crime, except in certain cases, as herein set forth."

AMENDMENT NUMBER TWO.

On page 1 of the printed bill, as amended, strike out lines 1 to 15, inclusive, and on page 2, strike out lines 1 to 22, inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"SECTION 1. There is hereby called a special election to be held throughout the State of California in the year 1934 on the same day as the November election in said year is held, for the purpose of submitting to the electors of this State the question as to whether or not the Legislature should enact a law containing the provisions and in the form hereinafter set forth.

SEC. 2. The special election provided for in this act shall be proclaimed, held, conducted, and the ballots shall be prepared, marked, voted, counted, canvassed, and the results shall be ascertained and the returns thereof made in all respects in accordance with the provisions of the Constitution applicable thereto and the law governing general elections in so far as provisions thereof are applicable to the election provided for by this act; provided, however, that the governing boards or bodies charged with the conduct of elections in the counties or cities and counties may consolidate the precincts of the counties and cities and counties for the purposes of this election and shall also appoint as officers of this election one inspector, one judge and one clerk, who shall receive as compensation for their services a sum not to exceed three dollars each, which sum shall be paid out of the treasuries of the counties or cities and counties by which such persons are employed.

SEC. 3. At such election the ballot shall state in substance the following: "Should the Legislature enact legislation abolishing the death penalty as a punishment for crime, except in certain cases, as such legislation is set out in Chapter (here insert number of this chapter), Statutes of 1933?" Opposite such statement, in separate lines, the words "Yes" and "No" shall be printed. To the right of said words and separated therefrom by a light line shall be two squares in either of which may be stamped a cross ( - ) which shall be counted as a vote for or against the enactment of such legislation by the Legislature, as the case may be. If an elector shall stamp a cross ( - ) in the voting square after the printed word "Yes" his vote shall be counted in favor of the enactment of such legislation and if he shall stamp a cross ( + ) after the printed word "No" his vote shall be counted against enactment of such legislation.

SEC. 4. The Speaker of the Assembly shall immediately appoint one member of the Assembly to draft an argument giving the reasons for the adoption of the legislation hereinafter set forth and one member to draft an argument against the adoption thereof. Each argument shall consist of not more than five hundred words in length and shall be submitted by the author or authors to the Secretary of State within five days after this act takes effect.

SEC. 5. The legislation upon which the advisory vote shall be taken is as follows:

An act to abolish the death penalty as a punishment for crime, except in certain cases, and to provide for the punishment for crimes in cases where the death penalty is abolished.

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The death penalty is hereby done away with and abolished as a punishment for crime except in the following cases: (1) Those crimes denounced in section 246 of the Penal Code, (2) for murder committed by a person while confined in prison, (3) for murder by an escaped prisoner undergoing a life sentence in a State prison, and (4) those cases provided for in the Articles of War as adopted by section 1918 of the Political Code.

SEC. 2. In every case where by provision of the Penal Code or by provision of any other statute of this State, a crime is now punishable by death except in the following cases: (1) Those crimes denounced in section 246 of the Penal Code, (2) for murder committed by a person while confined in prison, (3) for murder by an escaped prisoner undergoing a life sentence in a State prison, and (4) those cases provided for under the Articles of War as adopted by section 1918 of the Political Code, the punishment for said crime henceforth shall be life imprisonment in the State prison, either with or without possibility of parole, at the discretion of the jury trying the case, or, upon the plea of guilty or trial by the court, the court shall determine the same.

SEC. 3. In any case in which the sentence of life imprisonment without possibility of parole shall be imposed, or in which such sentence shall be recommended by the jury trying the case, no application for probation or parole shall ever be considered or granted by any court or by the State Board of Prison Directors, or the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles, nor in such case shall the term of imprisonment be decreased by any court or by said board or commission for any reason whatsoever."
